BY THE STUDENTS AND FOR THE STUDENTS.

VOL. VIII WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY, SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1905 NO. 23

Y. M C. A. PRESIDENT'S REPORT FOR 1904-'05.

Much hard work and earnest looking to God for results has characterized the work of the leaders whose term of office has just expired, and as a result of their efforts, with God's blessing, the past year has, in many respects, been the very best in the history of the Association.

Through the kindness of the members of the Faculty the Association has been given a large and attractive meeting room in Engineering Hall, which has proven a great assistance in carrying on its work.

Special commendation is due the membership committee, through whose efforts the Association membership has been increased about 50 per cent. over the membership of previous years, the present membership embracing nearly one half of the Student body. Doubtless much of the enthusiasm with which this committee has done its work is due to the inspiration of the chairman and the members of the committe who attended the Southern Student Conference at Waynesville, N. C., last June.

The chairman of the Devotional Committee has furnished very excellent leaders and speakers for the Sunday afternoon meetings. Among the special speakers and workers from a distance who have addressed these meetings are Mr. D. H. Rolston of Union Seminary, Dr. Forrest of the University of Virginia, Mr. W. B. Pettus of New York, Mr. Mr. W. D. Weatherford of the International committee, Mr. Mathews from Oxford, England, and Mr. Sweets from Louisville, Ky. Dr. Morrison from Luebo, Africa, Dr. Ran Shields now of China, and Rev. R. C. Jett of Staunton, have conducted strong missionary meetings. The average attendance on the meetings for the year has been 47, as opposed to a previous best average of 40.

Increased interest in missions has been evidenced by the fact that the number of volunteers in College has been doubled within the present scholastic year, there being eight Student volunteers at Washington and Lee at present. Further evidence of increasing missionary interest is the fact that three mission study classes have been carried on during the year, when previously we have had but one. Not only this but about 20 new books have been added to the mission library in the Y. M. C. A. office during the year. Contributions to missions also show an increase, the amount subscribed to Mr. Hubbard's support in Cuba being about $55.

Group prayer meetings have been held once a week in the New Dormitory on Tuesday night and in the Association room on Friday night. The regular meetings of the Volunteer and Ministerial bands are held alternately every two weeks at the close of the Friday night service.

The ministerial band, composed of the 18 candidates for the Christian ministry in the University has been conducting a weekly prayer-meeting service at Beechenbrook, and has supplied teachers in various mission Sunday schools in the community.

The most gratifying feature of the work of the Association during the past year has been the marked increase in Bible study. An aggressive committee under a very able chairman has made this work a telling feature for good in the College. In this work the Association at Washington & Lee is in the lead of all the Virginia student associations.

About 130 men are enrolled in the various Classes which are with one exception under student leadership. A new feature of the work is the forming of Fraternity Bible classes. Three such classes have been organized this year in Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta.

The Washington and Lee association is among the first of Southern institutions to introduce this rapidly spreading feature of Bible Study work.

Three special series of evangelistic services have been held during the year. Two of these were conducted by Mr. W. D. Weatherford of the International committee, one in April of last year; the other in January of this session. The last series of services was conducted by Mr. Mathews of Oxford, England, in February of this year. These services were all blessed of God in stimulating the interest in the Christian work of the college.

For all this we should return thanks to God who gave the increase, and pray Him for still greater blessings during the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

T. DWIGHT SLOAN
President.

Base Ball Games

The reports which we have had from our special correspondent at the front have been so meagre that we cannot give our readers a very elaborate write-up of either game. The score in the A. & M. game was 26 to 3, and the Trinity game was 9 to 3. Rain prevented the other two games and they had to be called off.

In the A. & M. game 'tis said that the farmers batted like fiends and knocked Johnson out of the box in two innings. Loval, a semi-professional from South Carolina, is pitching for them, and last year he played in the Mountain league. The entire A. & M. team is fast, and that combined with the youth of our team is largely the reason for the score. The Trinity game was fast and interesting and the Tarheels won by superior stick work. They are a fast lot of ball players and have possibly the best college pitcher in the South in Bradsher.

While we lost both of these games by rather large scores we should not be discouraged. We can win all the rest of the games by good hard work and plenty of spirit and backing. The team is young and has had little practice. They are all practically new in their positions and need practice. We still predict that the season will be a success.

Comic Opera at Virginia

The Arcadians, the dramatic club at the University of Virginia, will present as their Easter play this year the comic opera success, "The Khan of Kathan," composed and staged by the Students of Columbia University, and performed in New York last month. Frank Lea Short, the well-known dramatic coach, who trained the Columbia performers, is training the cast and chorus at Charlottesville. There will be two performances during Easter week, April 28 and 29, and the preparations for costuming and scenic effects are reported unusually elaborate.

Especial interest attaches to this undertaking, because of the fact that the opera is wholly the work of university students, and is the first of Columbia's annual plays to be staged by another university cast.

The dancing class will have its first meeting next Monday night, April 10, at 8 o'clock. Lessons 25 cents each.

Moot Court

The court convened Thursday evening with Hon. M. P. Burks presiding. Rules were entered against Messrs. Gibson and Phillips for being absent at last term. Mr. Gibson was excused and Mr. Phillips was fined. Mr. Gibson, on motion recovered judgment on bond in favor of Leo Weinberg, made by J. V. Walton. The Court handed down opinion in the cased of Brown vs. Bank and decided in favor of the defendant. Mr. Crabill was directed to draw up the proper order.

When the case of Bradham vs. Green was called. Mr. Withers demurred to plaintiff's declaration. Mr. Tillman joined in the demurrer and argued the demurrer. Mr. Withers replied and court reserved its decision until next term. There being no further business the court adjourned.

A very interesting case is to be tried sometime in May. The record in the case of State vs. Wilcox, better known as the Nelt Cropsy case has been obtained, and this will be tried. Messrs. Stokes and English are the prosecuting attorneys while Mr. Withers and Mr. Tillman have been retained for the defense. This case should prove very instructive and interesting.

Tennis

If the weather will permit the tennis courts will be the scene of great activity within the next few days. The courts have now been rolled and the recent rain has put them in good condition. The tennis tournament will be held in May.

T. N. E.

There will be a meeting of the T. N. E. fraternity tonight at 9 o'clock at LaRowe's pool room. Every member is requested to be present in person or by proxy.

Livingston Barbour in His Dramatic Interpretation of Rip Van Winkle

To many in Lexington Mr. Barbour needs no introduction, for who that had the good fortune to hear him four years ago in his interpretation of David Copperfield can forget his inimitable Micawber, or his powerful description of the shipwreck scene? "His personality is so strong that without the accessories of stage or costume he holds his audience spellbound by the charm of his own individuality."

Mr. Barbour's greatest work is his interpretation of Rip Van Winkle, which he will give in Washington and Lee university chapel on Friday evening, April 14th.

EDITORIAL

The recent long continued spell of wet weather has called forth a great deal of discussion with regard to the need of some improvements to the walks through the University grounds, but before these said avenues are put into good condition through the kindness of nature there is one further fact regarding them that might be mentioned before some other excitement receives the attention of the population.

In the period during which the walks and the University authorities have been under the fire of adverse criticism it has been quite noticeable that a large volume of that criticism has come from the citizens of Lexington, the great majority of whom are in no way connected with this institution. Now we hold the citizens of Lexington in very high esteem, perhaps even as high as they themselves think they should be held, but we, however, respectfully beg their permission to call their attention to a few pertnent facts, of which they do not seem to be in possesion at the present time. In the first place, the town people are allowed to use the private avenues of the University for public highways, the longest walk in particular being used almost exclusively by persons not connected with the University. In the second place, during the long history of the University, including its struggles, its trials and its successes, we do not remember ever having heard of the people of Lexington contributing one dollar toward the maintainance of this institution, only the existence of which keeps Lexington on the map.

Nearly $200,000 in cash is annually deposited in Lexington by the students and faculty of Washington & Lee University, and how much, let us ask, has ever been returned in the shape of public donations or gifts to the town's mainstay? How many persons in Lexington not connected with the University, draw their entire incomes from its students and faculty, either directly or indirectly? How many business houses would go into bankruptcy if the University were suddenly removed from the town? The answer is easy. Half the business enterprises in the town are, in the long run, dependent upon the University for their very existance.

Considering these facts, any criticism of University property should be left to the students and faculty. The town has received much at the hands of this institution. It is hardly a gracefully thing to ask for more. It were vastly more proper for the Lexington people to attend to some of their own dirty alleys and leave the University walks to us.

Last week's issue of the RING-TUM-PHI was an extra, made possible by special exertions of several members of the board, since it is not customary to get out an issue so soo after exams. It will therefore be necessary to cut some future issues in order to bring the total number for the year within the 30 contracted for by the printers. There will then be no issue on April 15, since there is only one ball game that week, which will be reported on April 22, and future issues will be as follows:

No. 24, April 22.
No. 25, April 29.
No. 26, May 6.
No. 27, May 13.
No. 28, May 20.
Nos. 29 and 30, double Commencement number, about June 15th.

Dr. Whaling Resigns

To many of the present body of Students, as well as to his Student friends of the past, it will be a source of regret to learn that Dr. Thornton Whaling has severed his pastoral relations with the Presbyterian church of this place, and will in a short time assume the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of Dallas, Tex. Dr. Whaling is one os the most learned and eloquent men in the Southern Presbyterian church and in his nine years' pastorate of the Lexington church has charmed his listeners and endeared himself to his congregation and neignbors.

Don't fail to hear Mr. Barbour next week. It will be a treat to you and the proceeds are to go to athletics.

---

Dr. Quarles returned from Washington Thursday.

GYM EXHIBITION

The Annual Gymnastic Tourney, held in the gym last night before a fairly good audience, was a complete success in every sense of the word, this being the first year that the team has ever shown up so well in so varied a performance, and although there was not the excitement usually attending a meet with outside teams the men were liberally applauded on each piece of apparatus.

In the competition for the all-round championship there were but three entries, Withers, Moffet, and Boice, the medal being won by the last named. Their work was very evenly matched and the winner was hard to pick until the decision had been announced. On the mats Pruit easily won the medal at tumbling. His work in that line was up to the best ever seen in Washington & Lee gymnasium. The fake fall which he accomplished from the parallel bars attracted loud applause and several old ladies in the audience went down in their pockets after smelling salts. To all appearances he had broken his neck and many people did not believe otherwise until he walked calmly off on his hands.

At parallel bar work A. M. Withers carried off the prize. His vaious feats were difficult, and were carried through with fine execution and good form. All competors on the parallels did excellent work and the features introduced were all new and well executed.

The competition on the horizontal bar was close, the medal going to H. W. Withers. His combinations were great, and their difficult execution well carried out. His combined front and forward sole-grind and back flip from the bar was loudly applauded.

The work of H. N. Clendening on the german horse easily won for him the medal given for the best work on that piece of apparatus. His movements were graceful and agile and his combinations were all carried through without a break.

F. McCutchan, Jr., easily demonstrated his right to the medal given for the work on the flying rings. Notwithstanding the fact that he recently had a severe fall from the rings, which came near putting him out of the exhibition entirely, he went at it again, and last night appeared as if nothing had ever happened to him. His work fully deserved the prize and every round of applause it received.

W. H. Dunlap, "the man who beat himself swinging indian clubs," was awarded the medal for that work. His performance was all to the good and held the attention of the audience better than any other number on the program.

An exhibition of double tumbling and a series of graceful pyramids ended the performance, and the winners were announced and awarded the medals by Dr Harry Campbell. Mr. J. S. Adkisson, physicial director at the V. M. I., acted as judge, and the fact that not a single complaint or objection to his decisions has been heard is evidence of his good work and fairness.

As a whole, the exhibition was without doubt the best yet. The work was varied, new and well done and Dr. Bitzer cannot be too highly complimented on his careful training. The work of the team was evidence of what compliment the men themselves deserve. They have brought the gym-team into the front rank of athletics at W. & L. and in the future it will be as much an honor to make the gym-team as any other team in college. The full list of the men is as follows:

H. W. Withers, captain, E. S. Boice, L. M. Moffett, managers, A. M. Withers, C. P. Light, W. R. Hudson, D. E. Pruit, F. McCutchan, Jr., H. N. Clendenning, L. T. Stoneburner, T. G. Stone, G. M. Miles and W. H. Dunlap.

The team extends its most sincere thanks to Lyons & Co., who presented one of the gold medals, and also to Jahanke & Co., Strain & Patton, and W. C. Stuart, whose contributions helped make the exhibition a success.

In the College World

Dartmouth now offers a number of new courses in written and spoken Japanese.

Columbia has eight student publications, one daily, two weeklies, one semi-monthly, one published every three weeks, one every six months and two annuals.—Ex.

The world's shot-put record formerly held by the giant, Ralph Rose, of Michigan, was broken recently by W. W. Coe of Massachusetts, who put the shot 49 feet 1 7-8 inches.—Ex.

Push ball, instead of hazing, will probably be used in the future at Columbia to settle under-class disputes. A ball six feet in diameter will be used and 20 men from each class will enter the struggle.—Ex.

A new building is just being completed at the University of California in whose construction no wood has been used. The floors will be of concrete and will be covered with cork carpets.

Next year a course in public health will be given at the University of Pennsylvania. This innovation looks to the filling of a constantly growing demand for officials especially trained in matters pertaining to public health.

Personals

Stokes spent several days at home this week.

McCorkle, after a few days visit to his home, has returned.

Tom Bledsoe was in Staunton Monday and Tuesday.

Rankin has returned to college after a week's visit at his home.

John Lewis was in town several days during the first part of the week.

Miss Rosa Tucker of Washington city, is the guest of Mrs. Morgan Pendleton.

Dr. Davis and Mr. Dabney Davis of Lewisburg, W. Va., are visiting their sister, Mrs. J. W. Kern.

Mr. Osman Garrison Villard of New York, was the guest of Dr. Denny this week.

The correspondent of the Richmond Times-Dispatch at Washington on Saturday, writes: Dr. James Addison Quarles, professor of moral philosophy at Washington & Lee university, will be married in this city on the 27th of this month to Mrs. Eleanor Morehouse of Washington.

Team Returns

The baseball team returned from its Southern trip yesterday at 12.45. The team undoubtedly had hard luck on the trip for we know that the scores do not represent the relative strength of the teams. Our game with A. & M. of North Carolina was just played on an off day. The team was also prevented from playing the last two games on account of rain. Four innings were played with Davidson, the score at this point being Davidson 1, W. & L. U. 0.

The Shenandoah Valley Club

The Shenandoah Valley Club met in the rooms of J. Olin Faulkner at the Dormitory Saturday night, April 1.

President Magruder called the meeting to order and after transacting some business the members partook of a delightful repast.

Vocal and instrumental music was a special feature of the evening's enjoyment.

About 20 members were present.

University Chapel

The next meeting of the University assembly will be held Wednesday, April 12th, at 8.45 a. m.

GEO. H. DENNY, President

It is reported that several very good contributions have been made to the $50,000 fund for the new library. Every student and alumnus who is able should contribute to this.

Philosophisms

Virtue in woman is the rule, in man the exception.

The man who can withstand a woman's tears is either a brute or a hero.

Judge a man according to his opportunities and attainments rather than his color or ancestry.

Hold your ground until you are whipped then get on the other fellow's side with both feet and monopolize his thunder.

"How firm a foundation" shouts the hypocrite as he attempts to balance himself on the broken straw of assumed piety.

If some of the people get to heaven who expect to their heads will be so small that a new lot of crowns will have to be ordered that a fit may be obtained.

If the Lord measures out his grace in proportion to the amount of sweets that workers at a church bazar measure out, some people will have to throw themselves upon the bounty of their friends.

Gen. G. W. C. Lee, ex-President of Washington and Lee, says that Livingston Barbour is "One of the most charming and entertaining recounters of of prose and poetry that I ever heard. His recital was an education.
