TROTTER CAMPAIGN ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

Nine Meetings Here Well Attended; Many Take Advantage of Interviews.

Mel Trotter and his party are gone, but his influence will be felt on the campus for many years to come. The success of his campaign has never been in doubt; three such faithful men as "Ham," "Hern," and "Mel," could not have failed to get results. Nine meetings were held in the chapel, and each was well attended. In addition to the greater part of the Student Body, many of the townspeople attended the noon and night services. Many took advantage of the invitations for interviews, and were all greatly benefitted by talking to these men of God.

We will probably not have Mel here again for several years, but we shall always love him and honor him for the work he has done at Washington and Lee. In his farewell letter one may see his love for the students:

"Good-bye, Washington and Lee.

"What a good time Ham and Herm and I have had with you men this visit. We have been made very happy to come in contact with some of the old men who took the stand for Christ last year, and to find many of them standing true. I trust our stay together this time has helped these men in their Christian life.

"Let me congratulate the men who have taken the stand this year for the first time. May your Christian life mean much to you and may Jesus Christ become more and more real as the days go by. We get out of our Christian life just what we put into it. Don't let a day go by without prayer and Bible reading, and speaking to some other man about the Christian life.

"God be with you till we meet again. We will be thinking and praying for you this year. Never shall we forget you and the good time we have had; here's hoping we will get to come back sometime.

"Pray for us and we will pray for you. I am

"Yours for Washington and Lee,

"MEL TROTTER."

The quartet and part of the orchestra will present some snappy music and a few hits listed for the Thanksgiving show. The Troubadours, now making a great reputation both locally and nationally, will make their first grand opening at Lexington on Tuesday, November the twenty-ninth, for the coming season. This production may even surpass the famous February show of last year, which starred Dayton Carter, and which was gladly welcomed at Charleston and Huntington, W. Va. CENTRE RALLY IS BIGGEST YET

Coach Raftery and Capt. Moore Make Talks; Team Shows Up In Beautiful Form.

In keeping with the hardest game of the season, the students staged the biggest rally of the year Thursday afternoon. The grand stand was packed and enthusiasm ran wild. The band started the ball rolling and yell followed yell.

Coach Raftery made a speech to the students in which he complained of the fact that news had leaked out to several Virginia papers that W. & L. was working on a new shift for Centre. He said that in spite of this they had plenty of surprises in store for the Colonels, and that he was confident that they were going to give them more than they were looking for. He also said that the team had been working for some time on Centre's plays and that he thought they had the Colonel's offense pretty well covered. Raftery praised McMillin's coolness during a game and his ability to direct plays, but said that he was not as good a player as Covington.

Lindsay Moore followed with a speech in which he said that he realized that the odds were against them, but that it would only make them fight harder. He said that the whole team was determined to give the Kentucky team the hardest fight they have ever had.

The team then went through a snappy drill for the benefit of the students and ran a series of new plays and shifts that looked like trouble for the Colonels.

The send-off at the station showed even more spirit than the rally on the field, and left no room in the minds of the men that they were all backing them to the limit. The band added harmony to the unholy hin and rousing yells were given for all members of the team. The train pulled out with the team full of the "Old Fight" as the crowd sang the Swing.

W. & L. PUBLICATION BOARD IS FORMED

Ring-tum Phi, Calyx, The Mink and Press Club Represented; To Better Publications.

The editors and business managers of the three publications and the Press Club met recently and organized a general board for the supervision of publications, for co-operation in publication matters, and for unity of action in general.

This board will be known as the Washington and Lee Publication Board and will be composed of the editors and managers of the publications and the Press Club, one faculty member and one alumni member.

Officers for the ensuing years were elected as follows: Chairman, T. J. Ellis, Jr., editor of the Ring-tum Phi; vice-chairman, D. R. Snively, Managing Editor of the Calyx and Business Manager of the Press Club; secretary, L. G. Benford, Business Manager of the Mink. The other members are: A. J. Lester, Business Manager of the Calyx; W. E. Holt, Jr., Business Manager of the Ring-tum Phi; J. W. Bowyer, Editor of the Calyx; W. K. Smith, Editor of the Mink; J. C. Morrison, President of the Press Club; E. D. Campbell, and Dr. D. B. Easter.

Committees were appointed and are now at work drafting a constitution and by-laws, and an amendment to the Student Body Constitution to provide for recognition of the new body.

The need for such a general board has been felt for some time and there are many opportunities for betterment of publications and safeguarding of the Student Body by means of such a plan. The board proposes to oversee budgets, fix reasonable subscription rates, and cut expenses of individual publications by arranging for common use of certain facilities and materials. Continuity of policy, by which each year's staffs will have the benefit of the experience of previous staffs is expected especially to produce beneficial results.

HEAD CHEER LEADER

E. H. Carr, wishes to thank the student who sent him the football songs recently, and regrets that they were too late to be used against Centre, although it is probable that they will be used later.

BIG BLUE TEAM IS NO MATCH FOR PRAYING COLONELS ON MUDDY LOT

Washington and Lee Holds Centre's Wonder Team for Downs Three Times In Shadow of the Goal

The "Wonder Eleven" of Centre College fairly and squarely defeated the Washington and Lee Generals by the score of 25 to 0 in the classic gridiron struggle of the South in Louisville this afternoon. Fifteen thousand frenzied rooters crowded Eclipse Park to see the Generals put up a defense that was magnificent with a fighting spirit that was superb. Beaten thirty-five points before they stepped upon the mud-soaked field, they played a strictly defensive game and five times held the almost invincible Colonels for downs within fifteen yards of the goal. On two of these occasions the ball went over on the Generals' two yard line and on another the pigskin nestled exactly one foot from the last white line after the determined attack of the Danville eleven had failed.

There are no alibis to offer. Our hats are off to the Kentucky team. They have a wonderful array of stars and their teamwork is precision itself. All the more glory to Washington and Lee then, who entered the contest under a tremendous handicap and offered an admirably stubborn resistance against the powerful attack of the Southern Champions. When the Generals had possession of the ball they made substantial gains, notably long passes and end runs, but frequent penalties at crucial moments offset the profit in yardage.

The details of the epochal battle follow:

Tucker Returns Twenty-two.

First quarter—Capt. Moore won the toss and elected to receive at the North goal. Roberts kicked off to Tucker on his 10 yard line. He returned twenty-two yards to his own 32 yard line, where he was down by James. Centre was penalized on the first formation, giving W. and L. first down on her 37 yard line. A line plunge by Tucker failed. Mattox shot off tackle for four. Frew dropped back and punted to McMillin on Centre's 35 yard line. McMillin was dropped in his tracks by Bemis. Snoddy made two yards thru left guard. On a punt formation Roberts carried the ball to Centre's 35 yard line. Roberts punted to Tucker on the Generals' 35 yard line. Tucker ran the ball back to midfield where he was forced out of bounds. Two line plunges by Mattox and McDonald gave the Generals three yards. Another plunge by Mattox failed, and Frew punted to McMillin on Centre's 15 yard line, on the next play McMillin skirted left end and was forced out of bounds on Centre's 35 yard line.

Roberts Fails To Gain.

Roberts crashed thru center, but was hurled back for no gain. McMillin then shot a short pass to Snoddy, the ball barely clearing the line of scrimmage, and Snoddy was downed before he could gain. Frew was hurt tackling Snoddy, and took time out. The ball was at this time resting on W. and L.'s 43 yard line. Frew back again. Roberts hit tackle but failed to gain; then made first down on a yard plunge at center. McMillan swept right end and was tackled by five of the Generals' linesmen, the play netting a scant two yards. Snoddy hurdled the Generals' forward wall for three yards; time out for W. and L. Roberts made first down over center. Snoddy followed with a dash around left end, and he was downed on the Generals' 17 yard line where the period ended. Score, end first quarter: Centre, 0; W. and L., 0.

Armstrong Goes for Twenty Yards.

Second quarter. Gibson went in for Jones at left guard. Centre's ball on W. and L. 17 yard line. McMillin makes two around right end, giving Centre first down on W. and L.'s 15 yard line. Another smash at center by McMillin gained on yard. McMillin tried a pass to Roberts who fumbled it on the Generals' 1 yard line. McMillin tried another pass to Snoddy but it was wild. McMillin refused to kick and tried another pass which was grounded. W. and L.'s ball on their own 13 yard line. Frew gained five yards around left end. Frew again attempted to carry the ball around right end, but was downed by Roberts for a yard loss. A center plunge failed. Frew then punted to McMillin, who ran the ball back to the Generals' 35 yard line. Covington went in for Armstrong, and skirted thru a broken field to the Generals' 10 yard line, being tackled by Mattox. Covington tried left end but was downed for no gain. Snoddy got two at right end; McMillin attempted a pass which was grounded, the ball going to W. and L. on their 8 yard line. Cameron hit the line for no gain. Frew dropped back to kick, but the play was turned into an off-tackle smash which failed to gain. Frew punted out of bounds on the Generals' 25 yard line. Arbogast went in for Herndon at right end.

McMillin Makes Touchdown.

Covington gained six yards around right end; McMillin failed thru line; Time was called to chase the crowd from behind the goals. McMillin circled right end for three yards, placing the ball on W. and L.'s 5 yard line. Roberts punched center for two yards, making first down. On another center smash he failed to gain. McMillin slipped thru the Generals' line for the first touchdown of the game. He failed to kick goal. Washington and Lee kicked off to James on Centre's 15 yard line, and he ran it back to his own 35 yard line, before being downed. Covington

RALLY!

Rally 'round that football team when the Creeper backs in once more with W. & L. men on board, unmindful of whether they won or lost. They alone did not reach heights of victory or succumb before the smashing attack of a greater gridiron machine, but Washington and Lee climbed to a higher plane. Those eleven men gave just as much for the University in either case, and we are proud of them, grateful to them for representing W. & L.'s true fighting spirit before the world.

No one who heard the speeches made on Wilson Field Thursday, the faithful, constant cheering at the station, or who sensed the feeling in the daily practice, can hold a doubt that the Generals prepared and left in dead earnest with but one sole and absorbing aim—to give all their strength and effort for Alma Mater. We know they did.

It is an easy matter to find men who will celebrate wildly an unusual and credible victory. It is likewise no arduous task to meet those who make overcautious predictions and "knock" the team or the coach in the event of a defeat. Any fool can shout and proclaim his all-abiding faith when the bells are pealing to victory, but the actual love for a team and appreciation of its work is indubitably shown when the score is recorded against them and the "I told you so's" ring mocking in your ears.

When the gang that battled Georgia Tech off its feet in 1919 came back later from Georgetown, defeated but not beaten, they were welcomed and honored in such a manner as to belie and ridicule the mere score into the background of inconsequentalities. The spirit of the Student Body rose above the level of cold figures!

Welcome that team when they come back from Louisville. If the men who held such a defiant celebration last night will all be at the station with the same confidence and belief in the Generals, instead of holding forth hilariously elsewhere or discussing the reasons for failure to make a better showing, then indeed can we say with swelling pride, "It is our team, we are the Fighting Generals."

WIRELESS OUTFIT TO BE INSTALLED

Part of Apparatus for Receiving Station Already Here; More To Come.

The Physics Department is planning the installation of a wireless station at W. & L., according to announcement by Dr. R. W. Dickey, who is in charge of the work. A part of the apparatus necessary for a receiving station has already arrived, and the remaining equipment is expected in time for erection by January 1.

The instruments, which are of standard construction, are now being made up by the Westinghouse Electric Company. A sending outfit will be contemplated if good results are obtained from the receiving set. The wireless will be used for experimental purposes by Physics students, in addition to being used for securing general information sent out from the big eastern stations. It is, of course, not yet known just how much value the station will have for the latter purpose, and considerable experimentation will probably be necessitated with the type and position of the antenna wires. These will be strung from Reid Hall or the Power House stack to some other convenient building.

For advertising purposes the "Praying Colonels" are a better asset to Kentucky than the tobacco crop.

HEARD THROUGH A DORM TRAMSOM

Sweeten up, Joe, cough up a seed,
Don't be so awful modest;
Get in the game or else get out,
Don't gum this lovely cardfest.

And you, too, Runt, don't be so tight,
(Pass us a cig, please, Dick);
It's opened is it? Well ,here's my tax,
I see enough to stick.

How many do I want? Good Lord, Mike,
Do you think I'm out for fun?
Just flip me that nearest pasteboard,
Slip me the usual one.

Bet 'em, do you? Well, up she goes,
It'll cost you a couple more;
All the pickers better stay out,
Or somebody's goner get sore.

Hiked again, eh? Well, that suits me,
But I hate to take yours, Bill,
You'll be all in when you see this hand—
Unless you happened to fill.

Call me? Huh? Well, what you got?
Four lovely chambermaids!
Tough luck, son, just glance at these,
From the deuce to the six—all spades.

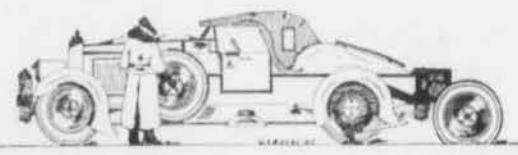
THE EXCHANGE



To those interested in a developing national standard and national unity in higher education it will be welcome news that the Carnegie Foundation has added two more Southern institutions to its list of associated colleges and universities. The two institutions are Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., and Converse College, Spartanburg, S. C.

Few educational institutions have their roots so deep in the historic past of America as Washington and Lee, which began as an academy in 1749. Half a century later George Washington transferred to its securities given him by the state of Virginia and specifically authorized it to use his name. The Society of the Cincinnati and John Robinson, one of Washington's soldiers, added to the endowment in 1802 and 1826. "Light Horse Harry" Lee was one of the early graduates and supporters of the institution, and the body of General Robert E. Lee, president from 1856 to 1870, rests in Lee Chapel, with his recumbent statue by Valentine visible from the auditorium.

The addition of Washington and Lee University and Converse College to the Carnegie list brings the number of associated colleges up to eighty- two, of which forty-three have adopted the foundation's new plan of retiring allowances. Of these institutions seven are in the south, the other five being Johns Hopkins, the University of Virginia, Centre College in Kentucky, Vanderbilt University, and Tulane University at New Orleans.—Copied from The Wild Cat, Louisiana College.

During drill period on Armistice Day, November 11, 1921, V. P. I. held its Monument exercises in memory of the Tech men who made the supreme sacrifice during the World War. This ceremony, which was inaugurated last year by Major Williford, P. M. S. & T. of V. P. I., will be held annually by the Corps of Cadets. The ceremony last year was very impressive, and with a few minor changes will be practically the same this year.—Va. Tech.

New Sport At Georgia.

One of the innovations fostered by the Military Department in its increased program of athletic activity is the game of polo, a sport that has found thousands of followers all over the country. Recent developments indicate that its popularity at Georgia is practically assured. A polo association was recently organized, and plans were mode for putting the local team on the same high class basis as that of other teams over the country.

(b) Every voter shall number candidates for each office in order of choice.

(c) In counting votes, tabulation shall first be made of first choice votes only, and where any candidate receives a majority of first choice votes he shall be declared elected. Where no candidate has such majority to first choice votes enough names shall be dropped of those receiving the fewest first choice votes to leave one more candidate than the number to be elected; and the ranking choice vote of each of those whose first choice was for one of the candidates dropped (and of those only) shall be tabulated. Then to the number of first choice votes of each of those candidates remaining in the race shall be added the ranking votes of those candidates as ascertained above and the candidate or candidates receiving the highest number shall be declared elected.

U. D. C. PROVIDES FOR LEE CHAPEL

Will Aid In Safeguarding Lee's Tomb and Furthering His Plans.

In an address before the national convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy which met in St. Louis last week, President Henry Louis Smith presented resolutions providing for an appropriation by that organization to be used for the building of a new memorial chapel on the site of the present one. The following resolutions as drafted and presented by Dr. Smith were unanimously adopted by the convention and a request was made that plans for the new chapel be drawn at once:

Resolutions.

Passed by the Annual Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, St. Louis, Mo., November 12, 1921.

1. The United Daughters of the Confederacy recognize General Lee's University at Lexington, independent of both church and state, as peculiarly belonging to the whole South, at once his greatest monument and the chief agent in propagating his influence and carrying on his life-work.

It rejoices in the success of the alumni movement to increase the general endowment, and in the effort of the U. C. Veterans and the Sons of Veterans to raise a half million dollars to endow and equip his School of Engineering. It commends most heartily the great movement undertaken by the editors of the South to re-establish and endow General Lee's original School of Journalism by a simultaneous appeal for funds during the coming winter in every Southern community, thus focusing anew the gaze of the whole South on the matchless character of its Christian hero.

2. In behalf of the patriotic women of the South, it reverently assumes, as its share of this great memorial movement, the enlargement of the chapel that enshrines his sacred dust, that it may continue the work for which he erected it, may be made more worthy of his name and fame, and that it may be protected from the ever-present danger of total destruction by fire.

3. It hereby requests the University to secure through its architect tentative plans for such enlargement, and requests its President-General to appoint an advisory architectural committee of five members of which she shall be ex-officio member and chairman to act in conjunction with the University authorities in planning the enlargement and reconstruction of this sacred shrine, that its mausoleum and General Lee's own office may be preserved unchanged and the memorial nature of the building may remain, as far as possible, unaltered.

DR. RILEY COMPLETES NEW BOOK ON LEE

New Book Is Biography of Great Man While President of Washton College.

"General Lee After Appomattox," Dr. Riley's new book, is now in the hands of the printer and will in all probability be out by December 1. Dr. Riley, who is at the head of the history department, has during his career as a writer and editor, written five history books of distinction and has edited forty-one.

This book was written as a memorial to the great Southern leader and is made up, in addition to the parts which Dr. Riley himself wrote, of a collection of papers written by students and professors who were at Washington and Lee while General Lee was its president. The papers deal with incidents of Lee's life and work after the Civil War and the volume as edited by Dr. Riley constitutes the University's tribute to the peace-time services of the idol of the South.

The University of Utah has a girls' riding class according to the Utah Chronicle. The fair equestrians had their first jog over the roads on horseback last week under the supervision of the riding instructor.

Greatest difficulty was encountered by the girls in saddling the animals, timidity and fear dictating that they keep their distance from the beasts. It is also reported that ladders for mounting purposes are being constructed.

WORD FROM CHINA TO THE STUDENT BODY

The Clovis Moomaw Memorial Fund is bearing rich fruit according to advices received from H. B. Graybill, '02, Principal of the Middle School of the Canton Christian College in Canton, China. Many students are desirious, no doubt, of learning to what use their money which they contributed last year is being put to. A perusal of Mr. Graybill's message will satisfy any one.

"We were surprised to find that there were 923 students during the last year. Of that number 448 were enrolled in my department, the middle school," Mr. Graybill writes. "They registered from Canton and Hongkong chiefly, but others came from Africa, India, America, Peru, the Philippines, Java, Siam, etc., etc.

"Another sort of job was the fixing up of boys who wanted to go to America to college. Two headed for W. L. U. and one for V. M. I. I hope they turn up and make good. I hope they will discover that 'God's Country' is not exactly as the movies in China would naturally lead the Chinese to picture it. It looks to a movie fan at this distance as if American life were one long hairbreadth escape.

"The mission boards in the U. S. have sent out a commission, headed by Dr. Burton of Chicago, to study the Christian educational situation in China. I have been asked to join them.

"Then I had promised the publishers in Shanghai to prepare manuscript for a fourth text book in English for Chinese students.

"Perhaps you know that T. D. Sloan is now superintendent of the Rockefeller hospital in Peking and Ran Shields is head of the medical college at Tsinanfu. So W. L. U. alumni are taking no small part in medical affairs up north.

"I have learned from the office in New York that you fellows at W. L. U. have been putting your hands into your pockets and making sacrifices to back me up here in the work for the Chinese. It was a great source of satisfaction to find so many shoulders at the wheel. Things began to move along more easily as soon as I noted the fact."

Clovis Moomaw was a Professor in the Law School before leaving for Europe in 1914, where he lost his life in the Great Cause. While he was in college he was very active in mission work and it was a fitting memorial to him that this fund was raised in his name to carry on the mission work.

O. W. Howe, Delta Tau Delta, was elected to lead the Sophomore team in the approaching round of interclass games at a meeting of the class held recently. Otis played end with last year's Freshmen, and should prove a worthy captain for '24.

FOCH TO BE HERE THANKSGIVING DAY

Probability States Latest Report; Assembly To Be Held; Will Address Students.

President Smith was recently notified that in all probability Marshal Foch will arrive in Lexington on Thanksgiving Day to visit the tomb of General Lee. Plans are being arranged for an assembly on that day in which appropriate exercises will be held as a welcome to him.

Marshal Foch will place a wreath on Lee's tomb as part of the exercises after which the degree of L. L. D. will be conferred on him in the chapel by Dr. Smith. Following this Marshal Foch will make a brief address to the students.

At present Marshal Foch is touring Eastern Virginia and is receiving most hearty welcomes wherever he goes. Before sailing for this country he expressed a desire to visit the final resting place of General Lee, and it is hoped that Lexington will give him an outstanding reception.
