Washington, D.C.
26 June 1834

My dear Mr. President,

I am forwarding to you the enclosed letter of the 3rd instant. It contains the instructions of the committee to which the resolution was referred. I am informed that the committee have recommended the passage of the resolution, and I am now forwarding it to your attention. It is to be read carefully, and the committee will be called upon to act on it. The resolution will be read and the matter referred to you, if not already done.

I remain, your obedient servant,

[Signature]
able to agree to go on the 30th.
If the 31st day has been fixed it appears almost impossible to get through the dense winter bosom of that time.

No announcement is in a state of considerable confusion. Mr. Land has resigned. It is feared that will succeed him. They will certainly be rejected.
It is thought that R. Benton will be nominated to fill his place. Stevenson momentarily will be cited on today. It will be evident. It will not be in my power to take Edgefield in my my hand. I wish to take the most direct route. My importance to return is great.

I shall refer to being the death of Mr. Smith. Her death is an important step to her husband & family. I send the intelligence of it through Dr. Sastor of the George Bruce, who arrived here a few days since. He looks remarkably well, and intends he informs me to remain the summer in town.

I hope the darkness will make me more amiable to her & the friends who love me to be with me Equal To esteem your friend,

S. C. Blossom

Col. A. N. [illegible]
