COLLEGE FRIENDSHIPS . . .

The close of the college term is a good time to here, to look back and see what lasting values we ing degree of emphasis on the different phases of coincide. The pursuit of learning has been the tion to the extensive field of extra-curricular still others have reserved their best efforts gained valuable experience and knowledge, which is more important than all the others whole system is geared to encourage the of university life and the example of which serve to foster friendship here. All had an opportunity to contribute curricular records, and our exploits depart and soon are obscured by follow the same course, it is with Lee will help to keep our "closest years, that we give you this 1952

DEDICATION

In every university there are certain professors who are remembered as men long after the knowledge they imparted has become muddled and faded. This does not mean that they have failed in their primary objective, for by our association with them we gain lessons in human relations far more valuable than the abstract fragments of learning with which they sought to inoculate us. The man to whom we dedicate this yearbook is that sort of professor. He has been able to preserve the student outlook which he acquired during his own undergraduate days at Washington and Lee and to inject it into his teaching and his extra-academic relations with students. His interest in campus affairs has been manifested by his twenty-five years of service on the Publications Board and by his unflagging participation as a faculty member of ODK. His warm, man-to-man manner toward the individual student has endeared him to those that know him and has fostered an ideal faculty-student relationship. This easygoing familiarity has bred no contempt but rather sincere respect and genuine fondness among a large part of the student body. Their attitude toward him has been summed up innumerable times in words similar to these—"No one should go through W. and L. without taking a Hig course."

We join with his other admirers in dedicating this 1952 CALYX to Mr. John Higgins Williams.
Mr. John Higgins Williams
OUR COLLEGE FRIENDSHIPS SOON MUST SEVER...
AND FADE AS DOES THE DYING DAY
OUR CLOSEST BONDS MUST ALL BE BROKEN
As through this world we wend our way...
BUT YET WHATEVER BE LIFE'S FORTUNES...
THOUGH FRIENDSHIPS FAIL AND FRIENDS BE FEW
WE LOVE THEE STILL The UNIVERSITY
To the Seniors:

At some culminating, triumphant moment many little unrelated things may fall into coherence. From the isolated fragments, a mosaic of importance emerges.

The separate notes of music are with us constantly, sometimes annoyingly. Give these notes to the composer—do you remember Browning?

"—each tone of our scale in itself is nought; It is everywhere in the world—loud, soft, and all is said.

Give it to me to use! I mix it with two in my thought And there! Ye have heard—; consider, and bow your head."

Thus may the little academic chores, the fractions of curriculum, the separable privileges of organized activity and of casual friendship, may all be given unity of the great person, of cultural appreciation, of honorable performance, of dedication to the service of man and to the Kingdom which is not of this earth.

THE COACHES

Faced with the loss of 18 seniors from last year's conference champions, Coach George Barclay and his veteran staff were saddled with a rebuilding job which was enough to stagger even the survivors of Hiroshima. Among the returnees from last season's powerful aggregation the coaches found only six of the offensive team and five of the defense. A lot of hard work on the part of both coaches and players, and some skillful shuffling on talent by the staff, filled gaps in the ranks, and the opening of the 1951 season found the Generals much stronger than many had anticipated. The loss of Walt Michaels and Jim Stark led to the necessary improvement of their passing game, and Bocetti's tosses to Thomas, Hedge, and Broyles accounted for almost as much yardage as the Generals' ground attack and gave them a better-balanced offense than last year's. The rapid development of several sophomores and juniors, including Wes Abrams, Warren Moody, Bill Scott, Ciro Barcellona, and Jack Garst in the backfield and Dan Popovich, Bill McHenry, Tom Fieldson, and Bill Trollingar in the line gave the team depth which it lacked at the season's start. Several freshmen from this year's prize crop also broke into the starting lineup, and these, coupled with the above-mentioned players, should provide a seasoned nucleus for next year's squad.

The season’s record of six games won and four lost seems more creditable when it is considered that two of the losses were to the nation's number one and three ranked teams, Tennessee and Maryland. The highlight of this season, indeed of the last thirteen seasons, was the drubbing of a Virginia team that went on to win the rest of its games. The 1951 Generals' perfect intra-state record won them the Big Six crown, a title which, anomalously enough, last year's Southern Conference champions were denied because of their loss to Virginia.

The final victory over Richmond rang down the curtain on the Washington and Lee football careers of a group of players who began as a championship freshman team and during their three years of varsity competition performed with equal credit. Led by co-captains Gil Bocetti, who for three years piloted the offense with a skill which ranked him in the minds of many as the nation's top split-T quarterback and gained for him a place among W. and L's all time grid greats, and Rollo Thompson, steady, dependable bulwark of the defensive line, this fine group of men and players deserve the salute of every student of Washington and Lee. Their exploits will be remembered and their presence sorely missed in the seasons to come.

DEFENSIVE TEAM
Complete to Trammell

Rushees and fraternity men were treated to an easy date on the last night of a hectic rush week, as the Generals overwhelmed a game Furman 27-7, relying on a deceptive offense of passing and pitchouts. Newly-elected co-captain Gil Bocetti, picking up where he left off in the last game of his junior year, was the main cog in the decisive win; while Wes Abrams at fullback demonstrated his ability as a broken field runner. Tel Trammel was instrumental in his position of offensive end and defensive halfback.

This was the first game since the 1947 season in which first year men were eligible to play varsity ball, and Don Weaver, though a freshman, started at one of the two defensive linebacker posts. Other frosh showed signs of giving the returning lettermen a run for their money in the games to come.

In the first home game of the season, the Maryland Terps came to town with the pre-season reputation of being the favorite for the Southern Conference Title. Despite the size of the visitors, some of the Minks thought that this was as good a chance for an upset as any game was. Then it was announced that Bocetti would be out, and the Old Liners took good advantage of it.

Without the regular quarterbacking, the Generals suffered from fumbleitis; and when that was cured, the Terps’ Shemonski, Fullerton, and “Mighty Mo” Modzelweski, tremendous fullback, took over. By halftime, this trio had helped the visitors to run up a 21 point lead over the stifled W. and L. team. Bocetti, in for just a few plays, scored one of the host team’s touchdowns, but sub Ray Leister’s passing kept the Generals sputtering offense alive. The versatile Leister passed for 217 yards, connecting with one toss for 70 yards to Bob Thomas for a T.D.

W & L . . . 34; WEST VIRGINIA . . . 0

At Morgantown, the Mountaineers from W. Va. were shown just what the Generals could do when their starting lineup was in shape to play. It was a resounding defeat for the Mountaineers who were reputed to have any number of outstanding sophomores up from last year's championship freshman squad. The victory was the second conference win for the Generals and their first shut-out of the season.

Randy Broyles came into his own for the first time of the season as he scored two of the five touchdowns and broke away for two runs of 49 yards and several for lesser yardage. Trammell and Thomas played beautifully at the end positions, Thomas scoring one; and Trammell setting up two touchdowns while intercepting a W. Va. pass to stop a potential threat.

Bocetti hit his highest aerial percentage of the still young season, successfully passing ten times out of sixteen. Meanwhile, the pass defense, which had been spotty the week before against the Old Liners, held the Mountaineers every time the Morgantown team got its hands on the ball. Dave Waters, out because of an injury previous to this contest, was in excellent form as safety man; while Bill Trolinger, Charlie Smith, and Co-Captain Rollo Thompson stood out in the defensive line.

Another Wahoo bites the dust!

WE FINALLY

For at least five days previous to this game, everybody's thoughts were centered around the question whether "this was the year" at last. Unscored on in two games, the Virginia team had shown signs of being the finest since the near-Sugar Bowl squad of 1949 when Johnny Papit Inc. would have been New Orleans bound had they whipped North Carolina. The outfit that moved into Lexington on the 13th of October boasted a superior passer in Rufus Barkley, a fine running team of Hook, Pete, and Lesane, a set of tackles that is not outweighed in the conference, and a tradition of beating Washington and Lee that dated back to 1937. The general feeling was that we would be lucky to win. The game turned out to be what every General fan had hoped but had not dared to expect.

The Minks went wild when, after Tal Trammell nailed Tata on the Va. four yard line, a partially blocked kick put the ball on the 28. After Broyles ran it to the nine, Bocetti threw it to Thomas in the end zone. Jay Handlan converted to make it 7-0. Before the crowd had a chance to sit down, however, Jim Ashwell—behind beautiful blocking—tackled Chuck Rauh's long kick on his own five and streaked 95 yards for the score. A conversion tied it up, and things quieted down for the moment.

Within five minutes the Generals retook the lead by a combination of runs by Garst, Broyles, and frosh Carl Bolt and the second touchdown pass from Bocetti to Thomas. Handlan converted, and W. and L. was ahead to stay.

The deception of the afternoon came in the second quarter when Bocetti faked to Abrams, whom the Wahoos and everybody else thought had the ball. It was Thomas who...

that turned the ball game into an incomparable, long-cherished rout.

In the second half, the fired-up Blue team continued to click, with Hedge recovering a fumble in the end-zone for another TD and Broyles crashing across in the final seconds for the final one. Jay Handlan converted his sixth straight to make it a perfect day. Linebacker Paul Giordani played the best game of his career, and the Generals defensive backs held Virginia's passers to three completions.

had taken the handoff on an end around, and the result was the third General touchdown. Handlan made it three for three.

With only a few minutes remaining in the first half, Randy Broyles took the ball off tackle and showed the now-despairing Wahoos the speed he is capable of. He went all the way on a 77 yard touchdown run, the run
With the victory over the Wahoos under their belts, the Generals traveled confidently to Miami and the Orange Bowl where they ran up against eleven potent Hurricanes.

When the storm was over, the Miami squad had outrun W. and L. by a score of 32-12, mainly because of the explosive running of Frank Smith, flashy halfback.

The Generals scored once in the first quarter after a sustained drive from their own territory. Bocetti set up the score on an optional keep play that netted 28 yards; Barcellona carried to the five; and Broyles made it a first down on the four. After passing to Trammell on the one, Bocetti sneaked across.

The only other Washington and Lee score came after the local squad had gained a sufficient lead. From his defensive halfback position, Tal Trammell, who was a starter for the first time in the tiered stadium of his hometown, intercepted a Miami pass at midfield and ran all the way for the score. Again the attempted conversion was unsuccessful.

Miami was playing the game without the services of Jack Hackett, but the Hurricanes found a fine signal caller in Mallios, just out of high school. Bocetti, however, completed eight passes for ninety-five yards; while the W. and L. nation leading pass defense held the Hurricanes to 47 yards in the air.

Two Wildcats waylay speedy Warren Moody

W & L .... 34; DAVIDSON .... 0

Before an unsurprisingly small crowd of alumni and visitors, the Generals were hosts to the Wildcats of Davidson College in the annual homecoming game, and the last of the season on Wilson Field.

The Wildcats, who had suffered a demoralizing 53-0 defeat here two years ago on the same occasion, were up for the game and held the sluggish Washington and Lee gridders scoreless for the first half. Though they didn't score themselves, they came within a breath of touchdown three times in the first two quarters, in which there were four fumbles within a space of five minutes.

The outstanding play of the day did come in the second quarter when Warren Moody, who was outstanding in the Generals' offense, took a handoff from Bocetti and after being trapped by three tacklers, lateraled to Dave Hedge. Hedge then passed it back to guard Dick Schaub who chugged 51 yards before being tackled by a Davidson back. Pepped up by the halftime intermission, during which the snappy Charleston High Band entertained, the Generals came back to score quickly on another handoff from Bocetti to Moody. Lafferty converted for the first of four successful attempts. That broke the dam and W. and L. scored three more times in the third quarter on a run by Randy Broyles, a pass by Joe Lindsey to Trammell, and another run by Broyles. Lindsey, subbing for Bocetti, showed up well in his varsity debut on Wilson Field.

In the last quarter, the Wildcats all but stifled were unable to stop another General drive, and Bay Arnold plunged over to make the final score 34-0.
Trammel and two Wildcats provide gridiron ballet.

Flying Saucer????

String of Davidson tacklers fail to halt Joe Lindsey.
The rampaging Generals handed the hapless "Hokies" from Blacksburg their worst defeat in fifty-nine years of football. A small band of faithful W. and L. followers saw the Big Blue push nine TD's across, all via the ground route. Warren Moody and the ever lustrous Bocetti were the big guns in the General ground attack, along with Ray Leister, Randy Broyles, and Wes Abrams. Coach Barclay cleaned the bench in the third quarter, and the eager subs continued the scoring parade. Dave Hedge, subbing at offensive end for Trammell, made several circus catches and turned in a fine defensive game as well. The hard charging defensive team held the Gobblers to a net gain of only 76 yards on the ground, while the nation's leading pass defense was equally thrifty in allowing Tech's vaunted passing game to garner only 51 yards, their exact average per game at that point.
This time the Generals were on the receiving end, as Tennessee's number one ranked Volunteers avenged last year's "moral victory" by the Blue. W. and L.'s scores came in the second and fourth quarters as the result of drives, both climaxed by Bocetti's passes to Bob Thomas. The first was started by Dave Water's pass interception on his own eighteen, and ended with Bocetti, who played one of his best games against the overwhelming Vols, passing eleven yards to Thomas, who made a leaping catch in the end zone. Jack Garst's forty yard punt return ignited the second drive, and he and Bocetti drove down to the Tennessee thirty-five, from where Gil tossed again to Thomas for the score. It is doubtful whether players, coaches, or fans will mourn the dropping of Tennessee from the 1952 schedule.
It was just "one of those days" against Louisville. The Generals' offense was cold and the Cardinals' defense hot in a game everyone had figured in the win column. Louisville scored both its touchdowns before Bocetti and company could scratch—one on a fifty yard pass and the second on a ninety-four yard return of the second half kickoff. The Generals put on a momentarily burst of their customary offensive power in the third quarter, with Bocetti, Broyles, and Abrams doing the ball-carrying, and Broyles going over from the ten for the lone touchdown. Lafferty's extra point gave hope for a tie, but the Generals failed to capitalize on a break they got shortly thereafter. Dan Popovich recovered a Louisville fumble on the thirty-nine and the Generals rolled up a first down on the seventeen. The drive bogged down there, however, and Coach Barclay's "snake-bite" charges could not generate another before the game ended. It was the first in which the Generals had scored less than two TD's.
The 1951 Generals closed their season with a decisive Thanksgiving Day win over the Richmond Spiders, with sophomore Cy Barcellona leading the way. The speedy fullback, who entered the game with a ten yard per try average, scored twice on 55-yard sprints, aided by Bocetti's usual adroit ball-handling. Broyles, Abrams, and Trammell also scored, along with Pete Debeer, 210 pound freshman back, who dashed forty yards with an intercepted pass to score on the final play of the game. Dave Waters played his usual fine game at safety man, setting up the third General touchdown with a 79-yard return of an intercepted pass.

BASKETBALL

With a few cheering exceptions, the winter of 1951-1952 was a long cold one for Coach Scotty Hamilton's Blue Comets. The Washington and Lee basketeers, handicapped by lack of experience and of reserve strength and playing one of their toughest schedules since the war, were able to salvage only four games from their 27 game slate. Sparked by All-Southern Jay Handlan, who scored his two-thousandeth point in the final game of the season to become the third player in the history of the game to accomplish this feat, the Comets were offensively one of the best of the post-war squads, averaging nearly seventy points a game, but inability to control the backboards and a defense which was too often inadequate in other respects proved to be a weakness which this impressive point-making was not able to offset.

The Comets began the season with a win over Norfolk Training Station, then lost the next two to Maryland and Kentucky, the nation's number one team. They evened the count in the best possible manner by dumping Virginia, but then dropped nine in a row, including conference losses to Davidson, Furman, and Maryland. The Comets finally pulled out of their disastrous holiday nosedive by beating Richmond, and then lost a heartbreaker to William and Mary at the V.M.I. fieldhouse. Holding a fourteen point lead at half-time, they weakened in the third quarter and lost in the final seconds by a single basket. The next game with George Washington was equally disheartening, with the Comets losing by six points in the last minute. With the exception of a second victory over Richmond they lost the remainder of their games, including two to West Virginia, the conference champions.

The talent displayed by freshman forward Charlie Topp, who lived up to his advance notices and then some, and the increasingly smooth playing of sophomores Warren Dean and Jim Rich, help to brighten the prospects of next year's squad, which will also have the services of Ben Walden, who played consistently well at guard this year, and Bill Scott, whose speed and ball-handling ability mark him as one of the best playmakers on the team. Also back will be Jack Holler, Jack Osborne, and Ken Groenveld.

Graduating are Dave Hedge and Jay Handlan, both of whom played first team during their four years at W. and L. Hedge was the team's best rebounder and contributed his share of points; he will be sorely missed next year. Not enough can be said in praise of Jay Handlan, who was the big gun of the Comet attack from his freshman year on and captained the team his last two years. His four year total of 2,002 points is even more amazing when it is considered that he was usually guarded by two and sometimes three opposing players and that he never played on a team that won more games than it lost. He shone in all phases of the game, was a great leader at all times; and rates in the opinion of many the greatest all-around basketball player ever to attend Washington and Lee.
Jay Handlan fires his deadly push-shot.

WRESTLING

Fresh from a creditable job of rebuilding the General's football line, Coach Russell Crane found himself faced with a more serious reconstruction job in the wrestling department. The material cupboard was so bare as to make Mother Hubbard's seem a cornucopia by comparison—gone were the Sconces, Finley's Lonerghans, and Jacks who had kept Washington and Lee among the wrestling elite during their four years on the mat. To take their places were only two battle-wise veterans from last year's Southern Conference runners-up, Captain Howie Davis in the 121 pound class and Morgan Lear at 177. Coach Crane set about undaunted to from his prevailently green prospects into the methodically efficient muscle-benders of the past four seasons.

Considering that experience is something that no coach can teach, Coach Crane turned in another commendable job and deserves a lot of credit. The General grapplers started off in championship fashion, winning their first three matches over Duke, V.P.I., and North Carolina by large margins. Then, hampered by injuries and colds, they were squeezed out by West Virginia and Davidson and decisively beaten by Virginia, a new power among the section's wrestling squads. This change of luck followed them to the Conference, where they had to settle for ninth place among the field of fourteen entries.

Diminutive Howie Davis, the team captain, was the most consistent winner in dual meet competition, losing in the finals of the tournament; his hard work and hustle set a fine example for the younger members of the team. Paul Weill at 130, "Tiger" Sipple at 137, and Watty Bowes at 147 all improved greatly with experience and contributed their share of points. Fred Stanton, the pull-up king, and Bob McCubbin, both up from last year's J.V., held down the 157 and 167 classes respectively, while Morgan Lear, considered one of the best wrestlers at his weight in the conference, was the 177 pound entrant. Chuck Rauh in the heavyweight class is one of the better newcomers to the conference ranks and should go far in the future. Using the stock explanation for an inconspicuous season, this was a "building" year. With four of the regulars returning next year's grunt-and-groan contingent should be greatly strengthened.

Captain Dick Smith, the veteran coach of the baseball team, went through the 1951 season with a .500 average, nine wins against nine defeats. The Generals met such teams as Maryland, Navy, William and Mary, and the University of Virginia. The reason for the only fair season, says Captain Dick, was the lack of power behind the plate.

The Generals opened their 1951 season with two straight wins. They defeated MIT two to one under the fine pitching of veteran Jack Eubanks, and then defeated Colby 6-1 with the help of Dave Waters' four straight hits. The next game with the Wolverines was rained out. Then the big nine ventured south where they split, losing to Richmond, 5-0, and defeating William and Mary, 10-4, in their Southern Conference debut. The Generals returned home to whip the Richmond Spiders, 4-3, not to leave out their 7-0 upset over George Washington. The W. and L. nine then proceeded to Annapolis where they trounced the Middies, 10-4. Still on the road the Generals were beaten by William and Mary, 4-3, in a return engagement. West Virginia joined W. and M. by taking a double header, 2-8 and 4-5. This gave the Generals a record of seven wins and four losses with a four to four record in the Southern Conference.

At Virginia the Cavaliers won a close one 4-2, and while still on the rebound G.W. revenged their earlier defeat by a 6-1 win over the W. and L. nine. This season was wound up with a 10-6 defeat by the Cavaliers and a 6-4 win over V.P.I.

"THE 1951 GENERALS"
After a successful season in 1950, Coach Anderson and his crew set their sights on a Dad-Vail Trophy, as a souvenir of the 1951 season. After defeating Rollins for the first time since Crew was activated at W. and L., the varsity squad proved too powerful for the Florida Southern boaters. Moving on the Dartmouth, the W. and L. "shellers" broke the course record by eight seconds. Marietta College was overwhelmed by both the varsity and JV oarsmen of Lexington, the squads returned home for competition on James River. The Crew then ventured to Philadelphia where Lasalle took a close one, winning by one stroke.

The Dad-Vail Regatta, which consisted of ten entrants, was decided by one stroke, as Lasalle nosed out our men. However, this race, undoubtedly the most important and exciting of the season, offered the W. and L. Crew a second place award. This was without question proof of the extremely fine coordination and ability of the W. and L. Crew of 1951.

LACROSSE

Under the new management of Coach Wilson Fewster, two year All-American lacrosse man from Johns-Hopkins, the W. and L. stick men produced a green yet highly spirited eleven. Although twelve men of the preceding year's varsity squad were absent, key men such as Spence, Wagner and Bien added the needed sparkle. Throughout the season the team showed great potentiality, although their record of three wins and five losses was none too impressive.

After starting the season against the powerful Maryland team, the team returned to Lexington to defeat Kenyon, 13-9. After brilliant play against such outstanding lacrosse squads as Duke, University of Virginia, and Loyola, a close thriller was lost to the University of Baltimore. Then, when North Carolina invaded Lexington, W. and L. gained a decisive win. The season ended with an overwhelming defeat of V.P.I., who scored two goals to W. and L.'s fifteen.

The '52 squad will include all but four men from this year's team, and will gain 15 men from the freshman squad, all of whom are extremely capable. "The future looks bright."

Captains Ryer and Bien discuss strategy with Coach Fewster.
Although Coach Fewster began the season with a relatively few experienced men, he was able to field a well coordinated eleven. As the season progressed improvement was seen in each phase, and as a result the season ended with the "blue shirts" recording a better than .500 average.

The season opened with an overwhelming 10-2 defeat of Roanoke College. The Generals then suffered a defeat at the hands of powerful Maryland, but got back on the victory trail when they invaded Charlottesville and turned back the Cavaliers by a one goal margin. North Carolina's team proved to be quite strong; however, the squad battled to a 1-1 tie.

Another win over Roanoke College, a defeat by Duke, the loss of a close one to North Carolina followed. The season ended with the Generals defeating the Wahoos for the second time.

Carl Rump, Horace Deitrich, and Gil Gillispie deserve special mention for their outstanding play, as they provided the needed finesse which the squad lacked as the season began. Sophomores Blume, Ray and Smith showed great potentiality and will figure strongly in the '52 competition.

Danu and Cohen were the most outstanding booters from the freshman contingent.

Many members of this year's squad will return, and a decidedly stronger team should prove outstanding in Southern Conference competition next year.
This season proved to be one of the best for the blue shirts as they again captured the state championship, twenty-two strokes ahead of second-place William and Mary. Aside from their outstanding play in the state competition at Hot Springs, Coach Twombly’s squad finished third out of sixteen teams in the Southern Conference.

The season opened with a match against Holy Cross, who were the first to fall at the hands of the Washington and Lee "clubbers." V.P.I., Virginia, and William and Mary also suffered decisive defeats by the strong "blue team." In a quadruple match between Colgate, Ohio, Harvard, and Washington and Lee, the team finished third, only one point behind second place Ohio.

The freshman squad was exceptionally strong, led by Ennes and Broudy. With the supply of previously experienced which will return, the 1952 squad should prove even stronger.

TENNIS

In 1951, for the first time in several years, the Washington and Lee netmen hit the .500 mark in intercollegiate tennis competition. Under the able supervision of Coach Bouldin, the team had the top strength which was lacking from the teams of previous post-war seasons. Ken Rockwell, ranked number one this season, proved to be one of the finest racket handlers ever to invade Lexington. Sonny Schlesinger, ranked number two, also outstanding, his consistency being unsurpassed. Knudson, Henry, Mohr, and Creson rounded out the singles competitors.

Rockwell teamed up with Knudson, Henry with Shannon, and Creson with Garrecht to handle the doubles matches. These duos brought many a match this season out of the fire in favor of W. and L.

It was a fine season, and the team has great expectations for the coming year. W. and L. tennis is on the upgrade.
Coach Cy Twombly's swimming team splashed their way to one of their best records in recent years, winning five out of seven meets during the 1951-1952 season. Blessed with a bountiful supply of experienced swimmers and several talented newcomers, the genial Mr. Twombly did a splendid job of welding his material into a well-balanced squad.

Outstanding for the "Blue Trunks" throughout the season were Parker Smith, Tom Reid, and Bob Goodman in the dashes; this threesome, along with Fred Shand, a promising freshman, also teamed up in the 400 yard relay to provide a consistent point-producer. Alex Devolpi and Tom Kenny paced the breast-strokers, while Williamson, Thayer, and Dickens showed up well in the longer races. Versatile Ray Leister, Coach Barclay's "utility" football player, and Tom Gardner were the team's springboard artists, ranking among the best in the area. The return of most of the key men of this year's squad tints the future with a rosy hue.

A stimulated group began, with the help of Coach Bob Smith, to organize what they hoped would be a championship Cross Country squad. Coach Bob Smith, ex-W. and L. tackle, coordinated the team and supplied the needed supervision.

The season opened with a meet against Roanoke College where the "distance men" made a fine showing, yet suffered a defeat. Walter Diggs, the season's high scorer, led the team, and proved to be a definitely superior trackman. After the match with Roanoke, a triangular meet with Hampden-Sydney and Randolph Macon was scheduled. The "Blue Shirts" placed second; however, many events were extremely close. The season ended with a defeat at the hands of Davidson by a 46-16 score.

Coach Smith hopes that next year he will be able to get a more complete schedule, as he expects many of the fine prospects of this year's squad to return.
Although an all-time Washington and Lee football team has never been officially selected, there are a number of candidates for consideration. One who has stood out from the crowd is Jay Handlan, a senior who has earned the respect of his teammates and coaches alike. Handlan has been a key player for the Generals, leading them to success in numerous games. His exceptional performance on the field has earned him a place in the team's record books.

Handlan's senior year was marked by his leadership and dedication to the team. He was named as the team's captain, a position that he held with distinction. His performance on the field was nothing short of extraordinary, as he led the team to victory in several key games.

Handlan's contributions to the team are not limited to his athletic abilities. He is known for his strong work ethic and his commitment to improving himself and his team. He is a true gentleman in the finest tradition of Washington and Lee, and his contributions to the team will be long remembered.

The Calyx Salutes Jay Handlan for his outstanding contributions to the team and for his dedication to the sport of football. The Calyx wishes him the best in his future endeavors.

The Campus Club, organized only three years ago, has met heartening success in its endeavor to furnish non-fraternity men with a well-balanced social and fellowship program. In its short history it has capably competed with the fraternities in athletic and scholastic contests. Its re-furnished lounge in the Student Union building has become the scene of many "happy hours" for both non-fraternity and fraternity men. The campus club has met a need at Washington and Lee, and in meeting it, has established itself as an outstanding campus organization.
I. Oh, Bo, you say the cutest things!! 2. Don't think I'm trying to push you, Fred—3. Just came over on the Queen Elizabeth. 4. This is a posed picture. 5. Is it Goldie-locks or the bear? 6. Could it have been Communists? 7. Rush Week can be fun.

The Executive Committee is a representative group made up of the president, vice-president, and secretary of the student body and an elected member from each of the classes in the academic and law schools and from the Publications Board. As the main agency of student self-government, it exercises control and supervision over all campus activities, its most important function being the interpretation of the Honor System.

R.O.T.C. TRANSPORTATION CORPS UNIT

To the amused chuckles of the neighboring VMI Keydets, Washington and Lee this year went military for the first time since World War II. Under the capable direction of Lt. Col. Richard W. Jones and his staff, an R.O.T.C. Transportation Corps Unit has been established and after a semester's organizational period is now in full swing. More than 300 freshmen and eligible upper-classmen are at present enrolled in the unit, which offers a reserve second lieutenant's commission to those satisfactorily completing the full four-year course. At the beginning of the semester, student officers and non-coms were chosen from among those having the widest military background and showing the best military aptitude during the first semester's training. Trainees in the four-year course will attend a summer training camp at Fort Eustis, Virginia, between their third and fourth years. Included in the unit is a thirty-five piece band, which provides the music for R.O.T.C. parades, pep-rallies, and football games and gives W&L its first marching band since the war.

Bottom: Captain Brashears explains loading procedure.

THE HIGH COMMAND
The first awkward, heel-scutting drills to the accompaniment of Sgt. Foster's frustrated commands and the jeers of the "non-military" bystanders; the mysteries of map-reading, as explained by Capt. Brashears; the "instructional" movies which produced either sleep or nausea; the endless monotony of the manual of arms; the off-beat rhythm of the R.O.T.C. band in the battalion parades; "Casey" Jones and his railroad club; "Those dirty shoes will cost you a brownie!"; the increasing precision of platoon drill—all were a part of the process of shaping a smoothly-functioning military unit in a strictly non-military atmosphere.

Don't think the Keydets aren't laughing.

There's something about a home town band!

SPRING DANCES

A background mural of an old colonial house and a lattice work of pink and white flowers formed a picturesque setting for the "Peach Blossom Time" theme of the 1951 Spring Dance Set. In keeping with this nostalgic atmosphere, dance president Bob Griffith led his partner, Miss Claire Hardwick of Atlanta, Georgia to the melodious strains of Claude Thornhill's orchestra.

Vice-presidents of the set included I. M. Sheffield, accompanied by Miss Totty Matthews, John Allen with Miss Barbara Ballard, Henry Litchfield with Miss Ruth Saunders, and Ed Streuli with Miss Clare Webb.

Saturday afternoon the Phi Dels entertained with an open-house lawn party, after which the Thirteen Club gave an informal dance in the Doremus Gymnasium, featuring the smooth rhythm of Darrin O'Brien and his orchestra. The customary Thirteen Club figure was replaced by thirteen seconds of silence, which proved to be the quietest part of an otherwise howling week-end, marking the official return of spring to the Washington and Lee campus.

FINAL DANCES

Finals, the climax of the 1951 dance season, was set to the theme of "My Blue Heaven." The festivities officially opened with a cocktail party given at the PIKA house on Wednesday afternoon. The lure which brought the Goshen Pass contingent in from their woodland retreat.

That evening Jack Kay, president of the dance set, with his lovely escort, Miss Betty Thomas of Charleston, West Virginia, led the grand march which marked the last college mile for many seniors. Also in the vanguard of the figure were the vice-presidents of the set, Jim Gallivan with Miss Mary Hunter Sloan, Howard Bratches with Miss Pat Kelly, Park Smith with Miss Claudia Wannamaker, and John Boardman with Miss Marilyn Moore.

The gym was transformed into a likeness of the Hayden Planetarium, with blue-spangled wall drapes which reached upward to form an authentic Blue Heaven. A huge mural of the solar system at the east end of the gym added to the celestial atmosphere. The music of Charlie Spivak, who proved to be one of the most popular maestros to play at W. and L. in recent years, the light-hearted gaiety which always follows the close of the school year, the decorations, and the festivities blended well to insure a galaxy of fun for all and to provide a source of many happy memories for the departing seniors.

OPENING DANCES

Following an open house cocktail party given at the Mayflower Hotel by the Zeta Beta Taus, the '51-'52 dance season opened officially to the strains of one of America's most popular dance bands, that of Ray McKinley. The theme of the dance echoed the dominant theme of the fall season—football. Doremus Gymnasium was transformed into a gridiron for the weekend.

Dance president, Hugh Glickstein, led his date, Miss Nancy Cohen of Washington, D.C., through the goal posts at the ends of the gym, accompanied by his four vice-presidents and their dates: Bill Guthrie with Miss Lucie Turner of Hollins College; Chet Smith with Miss Trudy Stickle also of Hollins College; Bob Goodman with Miss Nancy Stern of Colby Junior College; and Evins Ham with Miss Ann Kilby of Sweet Briar College. This impressive Cotillion Club figure marched past rows of blue and white streamers and pennants and a token of the season's greatest triumph, the grave of U.Va.'s football team.

The festivities continued through Saturday, with a concert of Shep Field's rippling rhythm from three till five. At four-thirty the Sophomore honorary societies, Pi Alpha Nu and Whitefriars, held a cocktail party, and finally at nine the Sophomore Prom began. Leading the figure was Class President Fletcher Lowe with his date, Miss Patricia Anne Jones of Greenville, S.C. Other class officers and their dates in the figure were Bill Cabell and Miss Carol Lee Sutherland of Norfolk, Virginia; John McDonald with Miss Patricia Collins of Washington, D.C.; Chuck Reul with Miss Alice Fader of Shaker Heights, Ohio; and Knox Chandler with Miss Patricia Trotter.

Openings was truly a bright beginning for a gay social season to follow.

FANCY DRESS

The World of Shakespeare was the theme for the 1952 edition of Fancy Dress Ball at Washington and Lee.

The weekend began with an open-house given by the Phi Delta Theta fraternity at the Mayflower Hotel Friday afternoon. That evening dance-set president I. M. Sheffield, as William Shakespeare, led his date, Miss Mary Katherine Doss of Florence, Alabama, as Anne Hathaway, past large mural scenes from “Hamlet,” “The Merchant of Venice,” “As You Like It,” “Romeo and Juliet,” and “Henry V,” which decorated the gym walls. The colorful decorations had been painstakingly and successfully patterned into a replica of the Globe Theater, authentic enough to fool the play-goers of Shakespeare’s day.

Accompanying “Shakespeare” in the figure were ten of his most famous literary creations: “Orlando” and “Rosiland” as portrayed by Jim Shoppard and Miss Nancy Hamilton of Middlebury College; “Hamlet” and “Ophelia” were Dan McGrew and Miss Margaret Barker of Parkersburg, West Virginia; “Bassanio” and “Portia” were enacted by Jack Osborne and Miss Nancy Rohrbough of Greerfield, West Virginia; Jim Foltz and Miss Anne Waller of Shoket Heights, Ohio came as “King Henry V” and his “Lady Katherine”; and “Romeo” and “Juliet” were represented by John Phillips and his date Miss Patricia Matteo of Southern Seminary.

Living up the Sixteenth Century atmosphere of the evening was band leader Jimmy Dooley, who with his famous orchestra, lent a gay Dixieland touch to the festivities which was not altogether in period.

Saturday afternoon Hal McIntyre gave a preview of his sweet danceable music which was to resound at the Junior Prom that evening, followed by a junior class-sponsored set-up party in the Pine Room from four-thirty till six.

The dance Saturday night was highlighted first by the traditional junior class figure, terminating in the melodic strains of Haydn Carithers’ “Star Dust,” and later by the gay antics of the Sigma Us.

The picturesque weekend was covered by “Life Magazine,” and in keeping with the success of its predecessors, this year’s Fancy Dress Ball again marked the most famous of collegiate social affairs.

1. Romeo and Juliet times three, 2. The Junior Class parades through a disenchanted Globe Theater, 3. This does not count as parallel for English.
4. Genius at work recreating the Globe. 5. Phi Dels make with the cheesecake. 6. King Henry V and Lady Catherine step out. 7. "This is Jimmy Dorsey coming to you from the Globe Theater in downtown London."

A Memorable Year

- Congratulations to the Student Body and Faculty of Washington and Lee for completion of another outstanding year of accomplishments.

- The Staff of your annual has worked exceedingly hard to give you a superb book and one which portrays the highlights of memorable activities.

- Neither time, effort nor expense have been spared to provide you with a permanent record, attractively presented and complete in every detail.

- To preserve the photography and literary efforts of the Staff, the best grades of material have been combined with skilled workmanship to provide the finest quality yearbook.

- We are proud that the 1952 Staff selected us to help design, print and bind the "Calyx." We have earnestly endeavored to fulfill the confidence placed in us.
