of tradition through the years...
We endeavored to acclimate ourselves to and take advantage of its ideal and tradition, "to trust the student with self-mastery in the wide range of conduct and achievements, and yet to create within him the desire for right choice and the inner strength to make that desire effective."
The Classes

Where we met in conventional dress, an atmosphere of friendliness, hard work and a sense of achievement. We came in contact with our most cherished tradition—"a simple acknowledgement that students are to be in matters that represent manifestations of personal honor"—our Honor System.
The Fraternities

A tradition which led to friendly competition in scholarship, athletics, and social life, exerting perhaps one of the strongest influences in the development of personality and character, were our fraternal organizations. It was here that our closest bonds of affection and friendship were formed.
Activities

Self-government, enforcement of the Honor Code, participation in the varied organizations which supplemented our formalized educational curricula, and recognition of leadership and achievement—a tradition which provided us with a means of self-expression, development, and experience as we acquainted ourselves with the tools and materials of a free education.
With a tradition of a vast and varied athletic program, which was not opposed to, but an integral part of our primary education, each of us found a means of acquiring skill and developing good sportsmanship. Spectators and participants alike found enjoyment in both intramural and intercollegiate sports competition.
Features

All was not work in our collegiate life, for with our traditional dances and other entertainment, we found the necessary sources of relaxation and enjoyment. From spring house parties, dances in the gym, to cocktail parties, and band concerts we lived in and gave expression to the "other side" of our college days.
The merit of an educational institution is valued to a great extent in terms of the men upon whose shoulders rest the concurrent responsibilities of instructing, inspiring, and counseling her students in the processes of intellectual achievement and understanding. And among those men are a few who rise above the standard of excellence which we come to expect and, combining not only the characteristics of professor, but those more informal traits of friend and helper, become justly worthy of the appellation "Educator."

In a world filled with tension, conflicting currents of thought and ideology, changing values and unrest, it is of the utmost importance that we be constantly challenged by a superior intellect, one which possesses that rare gift and ability of discerning with equal honesty and objectivity all aspects and facets of the problems which face us and to instill in others an appreciation of and desire to attain that same ability.

We feel that "the Griff" has become to countless students the epitome of this superior intellect, of friend, helper, and educator. He has enriched and inspired our lives with his stimulating spirit, his intellectual wisdom, and the sincerity of his warm friendship. Thus, it is with humble pride that we dedicate this, the 1953 CALYX, to Dr. Edwin Claybrook Griffith.
The University

"... To create within him the desire for right choice and the inner strength to make that desire effective."
 Removed now by long decades from my own student days, I am frequently impressed by what little memories of that period mean to me. They are more than pleasurable recollection; they are renewals of something I need.

From such items, let me predict, you will from time to time capture again the strong enthusiasm, you will thrill to a sweet joy, you will be reminded of the purpose you made.

Thus I suggest that you treasure this book. It will be for you an echo more eloquent as each swift year goes from you. And may the Year-Book inspire your loyalty to the finest aspiration you knew in the happy days recorded.

In Memoriam

To

as friend and medical advisor to the students of Washington and Lee for more than twenty years, a man of untiring energy who gave his every effort unceasingly, not only to the students, but to men in every walk of life, a man who denied himself in order to bring health and happiness to others . . . we pay our modest tribute.

Virginia Beta of Phi Kappa Psi founded in 1855, the first fraternity on the campus ... only inactive periods have been during the Civil War and World Wars I and II.

Occupying a white-pillar house on the most spacious and best landscaped fraternity location at the University, Phi Psi has since the war given the campus such outstanding figures as a president of the student body, a basketball player who scored over two thousand points for W. & L., an editor of the Law Review, a managing editor of the Ring-tum Phi, a president of the Christian Council, two senior managers of the basketball team, and several members of Phi Beta Kappa and O.D.K.

In intramurals Phi Psi has also tasted many honors, and the Chapter's card room gleams with numerous gold and enamel trophies emblematic of athletic conquests.

Footballers include Bill Scott, Buck Pratt, and Bob Lefert ... Basketball standouts are Charlie Tepp and Stu Atkinson ... while Walt Diggs and Cy Barton mainstay the track team.

Tom Domwood, Phi Beta Kappa, is Editor of the Law Review ... Frank Parsons, fraternity house manager, is managing editor of the Ring-tum Phi, and Frank Phillips is also senior basketball manager.

In the field of parties, those of Phi Psi, whether formal affairs at the house or picnic outings at nearby Cave Mountain Lake in the Spring, have been met with enthusiasm by the lasses of neighboring girl schools.

PHI KAPPA PSI ... "Diversified Excellence."

Rhode Island Chapter of Beta Theta Pi was founded at Washington College in 1856, reactivated in 1960 as members joined Liberty Hall Volunteers. 1878 reactivated, taking name of Alpha Rho, 1921 reactivated . led by Donald Blaine and James Howe (son of the present retired Dr. Howe of this University) . Trident Club formed . accepted into Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Rho Chapter, 1921. 1925 . Chapter house built . reactivated in 1946 after World War II.

The Betas have always been known as one of the strongest and most diversified of the fraternities at W. & L. . One can hardly turn around on campus without finding a Beta already there . . . Jack Osborne, our past president, wears the coveted O.D.K. key, lettered in basketball, and was President of Fancy Dress . . . Scholastically, the Betas have always remained among the top five fraternities . . . Eric Gambrell wearing the Phi Beta Kappa Key . . . The men of Alpha Rho also seem to do well in publications . . . Beau Redmond, besides being a Sophomore E.C., is Assistant Editor of the CALYX . . . Jim Reeder, the Class Editor . . . Bill Guthrie, O.D.K., our president, is Editor of the CALYX . . . Ray Smith of Shenandoah fame and Jim Terry on the Ring-tum Phi. In sports there are "Stumpy" Johnson, Guy Drake, "Ding" Woodring . . . soccer and lacrosse . . . Rella Wettol, soccer . . . Pete DeBeer, football . . . Alex DeYules, the breast-stroke wizard . . . Tom Wall and Al Viamonte of golfing fame . . . Roy Herronkohl and Andy Dalton are members of the Christian Council.

Besides being prominent, Alpha Rho is also a fraternity in the true sense of the word . . . genuine fellowship exists among her men . . . a good share of the truly home-like atmosphere must be given to our wonderful Housemother, Mrs. Martin . . . she has added that final touch that gives true zest to everything we do . . . and her appreciation of the honors which the chapter has gained is a treasured and honored feeling . . . she is our "mom."

At Washington College in December of 1865 four students—James Wood, William Scott Stanhope, and William Walsh founded the Alpha Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Order. They met daily in the room of William Walsh in the South Dormitory of the College which is now Robinson Hall.

The first regular meeting place of these four founders was the Ann Smith Academy in Lexington. In 1868, the Beta Chapter of Kappa Alpha was formed at V.M.I. As the fraternity expanded, Alpha found she could not control all of the chapters, so a national headquarters was established in Louisville, Kentucky.

At the time the Order was founded, General Lee was President of the college, and it is to him that the Kappa Alpha Order owes much of the tradition and high idealism that still prevails throughout the customs and rituals. Robert E. Lee has been considered the Spiritual Founder of the Order. For had it not been for the guidance offered by him to the four young men who conceived the Order, we could not stand united at this time.

Also due to the guidance of Lee, membership to the Order is limited to the southern area of the United States as a fitting tribute to a gentleman soldier, and a scholar who nobly upheld the traditions of the Old South.

The Kappa Alpha Order today consists of eighty active chapters with a total membership of over 35,000.

Sigma Chi is internationally known for its White Cross and the Sweetheart song. It was founded June 28, 1855 at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. At the present time there are 124 active chapters and more than 100 Alumni associations organized throughout the United States and Canada. With Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi forms the famed Miami Triad.

Zeta Chapter was established at Washington and Lee on December 10, 1866, just after the Civil War. It was organized here chiefly through the efforts of J. P. Billups, a Sig Chi who transferred to W. & L. after the war. It thus became one of the first national fraternity chapters on the campus.

The present house was built in 1934 to replace the old one which burned the year before. It is located at 2 Lee Street, adjacent to the campus. The chapter now has fifty-two active members and pledges.

Local alumni include Dr. George H. Donny, past president of Washington and Lee, and Chancellor of the University of Alabama; General Charles E. Kilbourne, ex-Superintendent of V.M.I.; Dr. James G. Leyburn, Dean of the University; and Dr. Kenneth P. Stevens, Chairman of the Biology Department. Ted Robbins, composer of the Washington and Lee Swing is an alumnus of the Zeta Chapter.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded at the University of Alabama in March, 1856 by eight students who had become hard and fast friends. Through the energies of its outstanding leaders the fraternity has expanded in all directions, and its members have taken high and respected positions in society. SAE has 130 collegiate chapters as of the beginning of 1953.

Virginia Sigma chapter at W&L was founded in 1867 by Frank Bell Webb. He initiated six chapter members by himself and since that time the chapter has grown and prospered on the campus. Today Virginia Sigma has 33 members. The Sig Alphas have permeated into the scholastic, athletic, social and other campus activities. Hunter Lane has been the chief big wheel on this campus for many years. Hunter is an honor student, President of ODK, and Secretary of the Student Body. He also served as editor of last year's CALYX. Another outstanding campus leader is Bill McClintock, our past Eminent Archon, who is President of the IFC and a member of ODK. In the publications the Sig Alphas seem to have a strong foothold. Bill Jones is Business Manager of the Ring-tum Phi; Walter Smith is Sports editor of the CALYX and assistant Business Manager of "The Southern Collegian"; and Dick Busch is Managing Editor of the CALYX. Virginia Sigma is represented in other campus activities such as the Troubadours, Christian Council, Glee Club, and Dance Board. In athletics, Fletcher Lowe was an Honorable Mention All American Lacrosse player, and other Sig Alphas participated in soccer, golf, baseball and swimming. Scholastically, Virginia Sigma has always done well. It now holds the Province Gamma Scholastic Trophy for attaining the highest chapter scholastic standing for the past two years. Five men in the chapter wear the Phi Beta Kappa key—George Maynard, George St. Clair, Bill McClintock, Harold Quinn and Bob Paxton.

This year marks the 85th anniversary of Zeta Deuteron’s existence on the campus of Washington and Lee. Founded on the campus of Washington College, Phi Gam has continued to enjoy progress and strength through the years.

Having been the first chapter on the campus to own its own house, Phi Gam now boasts their residence in the “Old Nelson Home,” which was purchased in 1921. The house was completely remodeled in 1936, giving the Fiji’s an outstanding home in Lexington.

Miss Laura Belle McCauley has been a faithful and diligent house mother to Zeta Deuteron since 1937, and has watched the growth of the chapter as it has expanded both internally and on campus.

Last summer saw the 104th birthday of the national fraternity celebrated at the Ekklesia in Toronto, where more than a century of fun and fellowship was commemorated.

Kappa Sigma was founded at the University of Virginia with the Chapter at Washington and Lee becoming the third national chapter 80 years ago. Since its founding, Mu Chapter has always played a bright role in all phases of campus life.

Members active in campus life this year include: John Bowman, President of the "13" Club, student representative on the Athletic Committee, and Vice-President of Spring Dances, Evins Hamm and Charlie Tucker served as Senior Class and Senior Law Class representatives respectively on the Executive Committee of the Student Body. Bentz Howard has been named as Valedictorian of this year's Senior Class.

Athletically, John Williamson and Freshman Guy Smith did a fine job on the Swimming team. Ellis Drew promises to be a valuable addition to the pitching staff of the baseball team. John Bowman served as Senior Football manager with Freshman Bennett Meador and Lee Anthony as his assistants.

Socially, this year has been marked with many parties and picnics, the climax being the never-to-be-forgotten Black and White Ball in February. Rushing was a particular success, with Mu chapter pledging 23 new men, an all-time record since the war.

Besides our campus accomplishments, the chapter has undertaken many extensive house improvements.

Behind all of our accomplishments there exists a genuine fellowship among the members, and a truly good share of the home-like atmosphere has been provided by our gracious housemother Mrs. W. J. Jordan. Her sincere interest in us and appreciation of our honor has given us a memory that we will treasure during the years to come.

Lambda Chapter of Sigma Nu was established by Alpha Chapter from V.M.I. at a time when rivalry between the two schools was at its peak. Athletic contests ended in fights, and on at least one occasion, Cadets armed with bayonets charged an embattled horde of rock-throwing Minks.

From that time on, Lambda's growth was rapid. In the days before chapter houses, the meeting place was a room over McCrum's and later a house on Main Street. Today, Lambda's house is excellently situated in "Red Square" directly across from the main campus gates.

The Chapter, one of the first eight fraternities on campus, is the oldest active chapter left in the Fraternity. Today, there are over one hundred active chapters with 20,000 members.

Socially, Jay Jackson will lead, as President, the set in Spring Dances this year. White Star Formal was once again a huge success. Gil Bocelli assisted Coach Wise in coaching football; strong again in Lacrosse. Dave Comegys was Student Director of the Washington and Lee Band and President of the Glee Club. Jay Jackson, our President, also, Vice-President of the Freshman Law Class.

Taking fifteen pledges this year, enviable in any one's book, proves once again the strong position which the Lambda Chapter of Sigma Nu holds among the fraternities on the Washington and Lee campus.

Phi Delta Theta was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, December 26, 1848, by Robert Morrison and John Wilson. From this early start, the fraternity has grown to some 115 chapters, boasting a membership of over 70,000.

Virginia Zeta received its charter on December 12, 1887, and has enjoyed an active role in fraternity life, excepting the war years from 1942 to 1946, down to the present time.

The earliest records available indicate that the Baptist parsonage on White Street served as the fraternity house for a long period of time. Also, meetings were held over McCrums in what was called the "Phi Delt Hall." In 1920 the Phis moved into the house of Mrs. A. C. Lee, adjacent to the W&L campus. Mrs. Lee, well known to many of our alumni, served as housemother for a period of 23 years. Our present house was completed in 1929.

At present the Phis have a membership of 46, among whom we have the President of the Student Body, Co-Captain of the football team, Captain of the golf team, and Captain of the basketball team. Since our beginning, some 540 Phis have passed through our doors to add both character and person to our house and have passed to us the tradition we carry today.

Pi Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha dates their local tenure from February 4, 1892. The brothers of Pi trace their origin nationally to the University of Virginia, March 1, 1868. If you were to stroll through the spacious lounge of Old Pi and back into the quintessential bar you will see some of the great parties that are held on the campus, or on week days you may see the traditional poker game carried on there. Socially, there is nothing better for the men of Pi than whiskey, women, rhythm. In sports, Pi stands behind Bob Deligatte and Jack Kibler, both of whom are outstanding on the football team, baseball, John Freeman, Joe Rowe, George Mitchell, and Ott Laughlin, who has managed the Generals for two years now, wrestling, Carter Werth, lacrosse, swimming, Bill Reid. The Pika's, without a doubt, always stand high in the intramural competition.

As for school activities, Leo Barrington, editor of the "Ring-tum Phi", Ozzie Schaefer, Fraternity Editor of the CALYX and Bob Cullers with the "Southern Collegian." Politically, the boys are proud of Chet Smith, President of the Senior Class and Charlie Stine who is top man for the Clique this year. And we couldn't leave out Ben Martin who is President of Final Dances, President of the Christian Council, as well as an ODK man. Our Phi Beta Kappa and ODK combination is Leo Barrington. In addition to this both Leo and Ben are Freshman Dorm Counselors. So come on down to "Red Square" and you can see the Pika's sitting out on their sun porch enjoying the warm spring sun and the "good life."

The Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity was founded at the University of Pennsylvania in 1850. Alpha Alpha Chapter of Phi Kappa was established at Washington and Lee in 1894. The fraternity is a member of the National Interfraternity Conference, and has chapters in almost every state and in several provinces of Canada.

In all respects this has been a successful year for the Phi Kaps. We won the overall intramural championship last year, and got off to a good start this year by winning the first two sports events—football and tennis.

The Phi Kaps have also been active in variety sports. Don Weaver, Bill Dunbar, Warren Moody, Roger Bond, Rufe Chisholm, and Bill Rawlings participated in the gridiron sport. John Schmahl developed into a promising basketball prospect. George Fellows, John Macdonald, and Sid Neugas are stalwarts on the lacrosse team, and Dan Dickenson was one of the high point men for the swimming team.

Our parties have been very successful this year. In November we had a New Orleans (white wine and beer) party that succeeded in inebriating the required successful party number. Saturday afternoon impromptu parties have developed our bacchalian tendencies since that time, but we have our traditional spring time blast on tap for late April.

Two of our brothers presented the Chapter with future Phi Kappa prospects this year. Pat Batches, the wife of past Student Body President Batches, produced a future Phi Kappa sweetheart in the person of her beautiful daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas successfully "rushed" a new pledge, their handsome young son.

Phi Kaps certainly had a successful year and look forward to many more.

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity was thirty-seven years old when Phi Chapter was established at Washington and Lee in 1896. Since that year, the Chapter has built an outstanding reputation among University Greek-letter fraternities, always maintaining the unwritten law that versatility be the watchword. This year, celebrating its 57th anniversary, Phi of Delta Tau Delta remains strong in all-round excellence.

1952-1953 has seen Phi Chapter represented in every facet of college endeavor. Hap Weber was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Chapter President Jack Delahunty and Bob Smith were tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa. The chapter is active in student government, claiming two Executive Committee members, Jack Delahunty and Mike Ryan, a class president, Bob Smith, the chairman of the Assimilation Committee, Bob Latimer, and a class vice president, Watty Bowes. The Chapter is consistently among the leaders in scholarship and intramurals as well as in varsity athletics and in activities.

These accomplishments are overshadowed, however, by the unanimous feeling of brotherhood that permeates Delta Tau Delta, springing from a common need of fraternity—in the true sense of the word.

Eighth Row: R. Washburne, J. Wheeler, R. Wood.
Rho Chapter of Pi Kappa Phi was established at Washington and Lee in February of 1920. Lawrence W. Davis, Shirley J. Robbins, Wells H. Rutherford, James R. Sims, and Louis W. Milbourne were the charter members. During the beginning years of Rho Earl K. Paxton, a professor at W&L and at V.M.I. served as the faculty advisor ... a true source of inspiration and great builder of the chapter ... he continued in this position for some thirty years ... being replaced by Herbert N. Hamrick.

During the war the chapter was inactive ... in 1946 a small but extremely active and adept nucleus of old members returned and reactivated the Rho Chapter. At that time it was one of the smallest houses on campus ... today, a few years later, it is one of the largest.

From a small beginning, the chapter has attained an eminence envied by many "large" fraternities ... having won the scholarship trophy twice during 1952 ... having been fortunate in obtaining the largest pledge class on the entire campus.

In its thirty-three years of existence, the chapter has gained three hundred twenty-five alumni ... one of the number, Howard D. Leake, has been the National Secretary, Treasurer, and President. Surely this is a record of which any fraternity chapter can boast.

Marvin Anderson, our Secretary, is Editor of the "Ring-tum Phi" and member of the Publications Board ... Bill Bailey ... Commanding Officer of the R.O.T.C., Phi Beta Kappa, and President of the Scabbard and Blade ... Gene Anderson being our illustrious law student and member of the "Law Review."

The "Pi Phi" brotherhood has always been a closely knit group ... one which seeks for fraternal spirit, intellectual eminence, and social prominence ... it has lived through the years, expanding and accumulating vitality.

Seventh Row: E. Schulist, J. Shapero, B. Steiner, D. Weinberg, P. Weinstein, E. Wise.
Zeta Beta Tau had its beginning on the Washington and Lee campus in 1920, as an outgrowth of the Gamma Gamma Club formed in 1919 by six W&L students. Granted a charter by the national fraternity it became the Alpha Epsilon Chapter.

Since then the chapter has greatly increased in membership and prestige until today it is ranked highly on the campus in all phases of University life.

With membership increased by thirteen freshmen to bring the fraternity total to forty, the Zeebees have played an active part in the past year’s University affairs, with every boy in the chapter playing a part in one way or the other in almost all University organizations.

For the third year in a row the intramural table-tennis team won the school championship under the leadership of Spike Schulist, after winning both golf and table-tennis last year.

John Isaacs and Bob Goodman have made names for themselves on the campus as Secretary of the Senior Class and Business Manager of the CALYX, respectively, while Si Galperin is Business Manager of the “Southern Collegian.” Sam Davidson is executive committeeman of the Junior Class. Larry Levitan is president of the Sophomore Class.

In scholarship ZBT ranked in the top six fraternities on the campus.

The climax of another outstanding year came when Alpha Epsilon was named winner of the Best Chapter Award for 1952-1953 by the national fraternity with the addition of six Honorable Mention awards.

With the passing of each year, Alpha Epsilon feels that the founders of the Gamma Gamma Club can be proud of the name the chapter has made at Washington and Lee.

Delta chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity was organized on the Washington and Lee campus in 1920. The chapter has always maintained a high scholastic rating; has held first place for scholarship at Washington and Lee more than any other fraternity.

The P.E.P. house is noted as home base for the local musicians and many jam sessions are held annually in the "spacious" chapter room. P.E.P.'s have also been very active throughout the years in the campus publications... the Troubadours... Forensic Union... as well as many other campus organizations.

Mrs. Mary "Mom" Flournoy has been house mother of the chapter for the last thirteen years.

Chapter advisors are: Dave Grossman and Lou Lyncs of Lexington; Abe Schaweil of Lynchburg... Each was honored with the Phi Epsilon Pi Distinguished Service Key in March, 1953.

Outstanding members of the chapter... Steve Schlossman: outstanding baseball player... Joe Scher... Three "leads" in Troub plays... Jay Grossman, Captain of R.O.T.C... Phil Kocen, Troub... Dick Skolnik, basketball... Steve Lichtenstein... Phi Beta Kappa and ODK... to mention only a few.

Gamma Phi of Lambda Chi Alpha was founded on this campus in 1922. Isolation has never been a characteristic of the chapter; rather, an increased participation in the intellectual and social life of the campus has always been the goal along with fuller cooperation with the University and its students.

Claiming for itself as a "first" are the annual Christmas parties which are now prevalent throughout the campus. Feeling its responsibility to the needy children of Lexington, Lambda Chi Alpha early instituted these parties complete with gifts and Santa Claus. Another "first" for the chapter are regularly sponsored student-faculty teas. This was a fulfillment of a long recognized vacuum between the faculty of the University and its students in social affairs. Today, many other fraternities on campus have felt the need and seen the advantages accruing from these teas and have instituted similar gatherings.

For the second straight year Lambda Chi keglers are the proud wearers of the intramural bowling crown. In winning the championship the chapter became the first team in history to win two consecutive W&L bowling championships. The social calendar of the chapter has been full this year with a pledge party, parties to coincide with each dance set, and two houseparties this spring. Members of the fraternity also sponsored a special faculty reception for the two English debaters who were here last fall, and held their annual Christmas party for underprivileged children of Lexington. The house was awarded fourth prize in the Homecoming decorations contest.

The chapter feels that it has gone a long way indeed in attaining its coveted goal of participation and cooperation in the social, intellectual, and community life of Washington and Lee.

The Washington and Lee Chapter of Delta Upsilon was initiated in 1930. Founded originally at Williams College in 1834, Delta Upsilon is the only non-secret international fraternity... "international," meaning six Canadian chapters... present chapter on this campus formed as the Arcades Club.
Activities

"...Participation in the varied organizations which supplemented our formalized educational curricula, and recognition of leadership and achievement..."
The representative group of Washington and Lee University is the Executive Committee. This Committee is made up of the president, vice-president, and secretary of the student body and an elected member from each of the classes in the academic and law schools and from the Publication Board. The Executive Committee, as the main agency of student self-government, supervises and acts as the controlling influence on all campus activities. Interpretation of the Honor System is its most important function.

The work of the Christian Council is divided into two phases—the service groups and the study groups. The Lexington Boys’ Club is maintained as one of the service groups of the Council, working with a hundred local boys of grade-school age. The Mountain Mission committee conducts weekly services at churches in two neighboring communities. The campus Christian work is related to the work of the local churches through the Church Relations committee. The Exchange committee initiated the first Washington and Lee lending textbook library. The annual Charity Chest drive this year collected $2,000 for five worthy agencies.

Seventy-five students participated in the eight-week Bible Study groups, studying familiar New Testament passages. Over one-half of the Freshman class attended the nightly vespers in the dormitory, a large group of them attending regularly. The University Religious Conference in early March, with Dr. Arnold S. Nash and Dr. William Poland, climaxed the work of the Campus Program committee. This committee also sponsored lectures by Dr. William Potel and Colonel Francis Pickens Miller, in addition to the opening University worship service and the Christmas Candlelight service. Council members met four times with faculty members in serious discussion groups.

The Christian Council is a growing group at Washington and Lee, assisting individual students in the development of their religious lives.

As a permanent and integrated element of Washington and Lee's academic activities, the Reserve Officers Training Corps this year completed the second in the four-year cycle of becoming fully established in the university curriculum.

The original Army Staff of three officers and four enlisted men assigned during the first year remained intact, with one additional administrative NCO added.

Student enrollment in the courses of the Department of Military Science and Tactics rose to 490, nearly doubling the 1951-52 registration. The Corps of Cadets was reorganized into five companies for drill, leadership development and the exercise of command.

Cadet Lieutenant Colonel William M. Bailey uniquely held the position of Cadet Corps Commander for two years straight, an honor which will probably never again be awarded in this Unit.

The ROTC Band, increased to sixty pieces, continued to provide march music for drill, parades and ceremonies, and broadened its activities by offering concert performances. Along with the Glee Club, the Band recorded a series of W & L traditional favorites for the Alumni Association project.

The ROTC-sponsored Generals Short Line Association made great progress in the construction of its HO-gage port and terminal demonstration railroad located in the old South Dorm. The meetings of the Association were marked by a succession of speakers on railroad subjects. Over a hundred railroad films were shown to the membership and guests.

Military training as a new element on the campus found itself absorbed into University traditions with a complete absence of disruptive effect. At the close of the year, sixteen candidates completed their Military Science studies and were rendered commissions in the Transportation Corps Organized Reserve.

The Department anticipated an enrollment increase to more than 700 cadets for the 1953-54 registration.

FOOTBALL 1952

W. & L.'s 1952 gridiron season was characterized by a few outstanding stars and a lack of depth in needed positions. Halfbacks Randy Broyles and Wes Abrams gave the Generals the best ground attack seen in Lexington since World War II, and End Bob Thomas proved to be one of the Southern Conference's most elusive pass catchers. The two platoon system, however, proved too much for the undermanned Generals. It is with a sigh of relief that that Coach Carl Wise returns to the eleven man football team.

Co-Captains Bob Thomas and Jack Delahunty provided invaluable inspiration and leadership at times when the road ahead seemed particularly dark. The crowning high light of the season was, of course, the Virginia game, which was witnessed by only a few of the General faithful. With only seven regulars graduating, prospects for the future are good—the only dark spot is the schedule which starts off with such formidable adversaries as Maryland and North Carolina.
With Bill Stern narrating the play-by-play on a national hook-up, the Generals opened the 1952 football season against almost overwhelming odds, losing 34-0, to Duke's Blue Devils, the future champions of the Maryland-absent Southern Conference.

Proving very satisfactorily that nothing succeeds like success, the inexperienced General gridders could muster nothing in the way of a sustained offense—the only General scoring threat came mid-way in the third quarter when fresh quarterback Charlie Brandmahl completed a 40-yard pass to the Blue and White's freshmen sensation from Arkansas, Harvey Hill. But, Hill fumbled on the two, and all touchdown hopes for the afternoon vanished.

Two bugsaboos which were to hamper the Generals all season, poor punting and a leaky defense, contributed in no small way to the Blue Devil victory. Randy Broyles, who did the early season punting, averaged ten yards per kick; and Duke's fullback, Jack Kistle, and quarterback Worth (a Million) Lutzen penetrated the General line almost at will.

Offensively, the Generals found All-American Ed Meadows and company a bit too tough to handle, gaining 145 yards on the ground and 42 through the air. Broyles and Wes Abrams, the leading ground gained in the Southern Conference for the season, bore the brunt of the land attack, with Broyles travelling 54 yards on 13 carries.

The Davidson game was notable in two respects—it marked the Generals' first win of the 1952 gridiron season and it enabled Coach Carl Wise to celebrate his thirty-sixth birthday with his first victory as head coach.

Although the Generals were going away, 33-14, the Wildcats were not to be denied easily, and led, during the third quarter, 14-13.

The Generals presented a diversified attack which proved too potent for a fairly weak Davidson eleven. Randy Broyles broke the scoring famine for the Blue and White on a three-yard plunge off tackle. A Joe Lindsey pass to Co-Captain and All-Southern Conference End Bob Thomas was good for 23 yards and a touchdown, just before the quarter ended. Bob Lafferty converted and the Generals led, 13-0. Davidson scored touchdowns in the second and third periods and vaulted into a short-lived 14-13 lead. A Wildcat fumble sounded the death-knell for the North Carolina squad, as Lindsey picked up the loose pigskin and streaked 23 yards to paydirt, Lafferty again converted and the Generals were ahead to stay.

Two fourth-quarter scores, a six-yard plunge by Lindsey, and a 30 yard pass from freshman halfback Billy Sargent to Abrams, completed the day's scoring.

Statistically, the Generals were outstanding, rolling up 394 yards on the ground and picking up 75 yards in the air. The Generals intercepted five passes, three in the final quarter by Charlie Topp, the Generals' cage star. Four costly fumbles prevented the Blue and White from making their first win of the 1952 season a complete rout.

A HEARTBREAKER AND A WIN

W. & L. · 28; GEO. WASHINGTON · 33

The Generals' offensive platoon, which had swung into high gear during the Davidson game, rolled overland for four touchdowns, and a similar number of extra points in the third game of the season. But the defensive eleven was not similarly inspired and George Washington scored four times in the second-half to gain a hard-fought 33-28 victory before 7,000 fans in Alexandria. For the General rooters it was a real heartbreaker.

Randy Broyles was the big gun in the Blue and White's attack, gaining 205 yards on 23 carries and scoring one touchdown. For his offensive accomplishments Broyles was named Virginia's Back-of-the-Week. Joe Lindsey was right behind Broyles with two touchdowns and running his three-game total to four.

Len Ciemniecki, the Colonials' sensational freshman halfback, opened the night's scoring with a 66-yard run, but the Generals roared back on touchdowns by Lindsey and Wes Abrams to take a 14-7 half-time lead. A long run by Broyles increased the Blue and White's edge to 21-7 shortly after the third quarter opened. Then the Colonials began to move and before the dust had lifted, the Big Blue found themselves on the short end of a 33-21 score. A desperate last-minute offensive spurt gave the Generals their final touchdown, with 15 seconds remaining on the scoreboard clock.

Offensively, the Generals displayed a fine ground attack, but somehow failed to capitalize on a supposedly weak Colonial pass defense.

With the memory of the George Washington 'heartbreaker' still fresh in their minds, the Generals presented a formidable passing attack to couple with their running game, and the combination was sufficient to nose out the scrappy Spiders by the margin of Bob Lafferty's capable toe.

Passing directly accounted for two General touchdowns and set-up the third. Mid-way through the first period, Joe Lindsey completed a 51-yard pass to End Bob Thomas for the first tally. Before the half was over, a Lindsey-to-Broyles pass was good for another. Wes Abrams drove over from the two for the final six-pointer, following a 22-yard pass from Broyles to End Buck Pratt.

Ironically enough, the deciding point was blocked on the first try, but a roughness penalty against Richmond tackle Walt Garcia gave the Generals another chance, and Lafferty was not to be denied this time.

Passing was the key to the General victory. With Broyles and Abrams, the ground-gaining merchants for the Big Blue, unable to gain consistently on the ground, Lindsey took to the air, completing several long passes to Thomas and Pratt, as the Generals copped their second victory of the season.

Richmond back accepts loss at the hands of Mill.
Cumberland, Maryland, was the scene of sweet revenge for former W. & L. coach Art Lewis as his improving Mountaineers capitalized on every break to gain a 31-13 victory over his former pupils. "Pappy" partially avenged the humiliating defeats handed him by the Generals in the preceding two years.

Though suffering their third defeat of the season the Generals did sparkle on several occasions during the afternoon. The running performance of Halfback Wes Abrams, who rolled off a total of 77 yards, including a 51-yard touchdown jaunt, kept the Big Blue from being routed by the Mountaineers. The other touchdown was scored on a pass from Lindsey to Thomas after the Mountaineers had built up an insurmountable lead.

It was an unlucky afternoon for the Generals who seemed to be all thumbs. A blocked punt was responsible for West Virginia's third touchdown and two more errors led to the final scores.

Although it took a blocked punt to clinch the victory for the Mountaineers, there was no doubt as to their superiority in every department. The Generals were able to roll up a four-yard average on the ground, but they lacked the punch to push over touchdowns, a glaring weakness of this year's Boccelli-less outfit.

Playing perhaps their best second half of the season, the Generals bounced back from a 20-7 deficit, scoring four touchdowns in the last 25 minutes to win going away. Seven thousand Homecomings Day fans were on hand to see the Big Blue rise and finally crush their much-improved rivals from Blacksburg.

It was Wes Abrams who ignited the scoring barrage which was to inundate the startled Gobblers. With the Generals behind by two touchdowns and seemingly headed for their fourth loss, Abrams burst over guard on a trap-play, out-sprinted the secondary, and galloped 65 yards to pay-dirt.

Inspired by Abrams' sensational run, the Big Blue were not to be denied now. A three yard Lindsey-to-Thomas pass climaxcd a 76-yard scoring drive, and Bob Lafferty's placement put the Generals in front for the first time in the game.

V.P.I. rallied, and retook the lead as Bill Harrison bulled over from the two, but the lead change was only temporary. The Generals drove 63-yards, mostly on the running of Broyles and Abrams, for the fourth and deciding tally—a great pass catch by Broyles set this score up for Barcellona, who cracked over from the three, Bob Lafferty coolly kicked the twenty-eighth point to give the Big Blue a lead which they never relinquished.

The insurance touchdown was anti-climatic. Connie Flanders intercepted a desperation Gobbler pass and ran it back to the fifteen. Barcellona scored again, and the Generals safely slatced away their third victory of the season, giving the alumni and Homecoming fans something to really cheer about.

VANDY AND N. C. STATE TRIP GENERALS

Washington and Lee rode into Nashville hopeful and confident after the victory over VPI of the preceding week. The Generals rode out of Nashville, bruised and battered beyond recognition, but much the wiser for their experience.

The onslaught, witnessed by 16,000 fans who were almost as surprised as the victims at the ferocity of the Vandy attack, must rate as one of the worst in W. & L. history, and left many physical damages to the squad. The Commodores' sensational quarterback, Bill Krietemeyer, was easily the outstanding player of the day as he personally out-rushed and out-passed the Generals, although he only played part of the first half.

The Generals' only points of the game were registered late in the third period when Bill Sargent intercepted one of Quarterback Wayne Gruber's aerials and galloped 50 yards for a touchdown. Bob Lafferty's kick ended the brief scoring for the Big Blue. Offensively, the Generals never seemed able to generate anything close to a threat. Penalties were the main defensive weapon for the outclassed Generals. Time after time penalties did what the Big Blue tacklers apparently could not —stop Vanderbilt's mighty offensive machine.

Going into the game with high hopes of evening the season record at four and four, the badly crippled Generals took a back seat to Alex Webster and his Wolfpack cohorts, ending up on the short end of a 25-14 score.

Playing their second and last home game of the 1952 season, the Generals, still feeling the effects of the Vanderbilt game of the previous week, started out with a vengeance but faded early in the game. The Big Blue scored the first time they had possession of the ball, climaxing a 60-yard drive with a Lindsay-to-Thomas touchdown pass. Lafferty's conversion was good, and the Generals' faithfals settled back to enjoy an easy victory over the previously inept Wolfpack.

N. C. State, who had been rolling over and playing dead against almost every previous foe it had met during the season, suddenly assumed complete control of the game, piling up a 12-7 halftime lead and increasing this by another six-pointer shortly after the third quarter opened. The Generals did narrow the Wolfpack's margin to four points late in the third period on an eleven yard pass from freshman Billy Sargent to Abrams, but the Carolinians were just not to be denied.

Riddled with injuries the Big Blue just never could match the much improved Wolfpack. Particularly missed was All-Southern Conference Halfback Randy Broyles.
One play that did not work against the General forward wall.

McHenry still armed by State back.

Every man for himself.
Cincinnati's high-scoring Bearcats took up where Vanderbilt had left off two weeks before and the result was another loss for the up-and-down Generals.

Cincinnati started off slowly, scoring only once in the first quarter, but after having once warmed up, the Bearcats tallied three times in both the second and third quarters, and climaxd the afternoon's festivities with another six-pointer in the last period. Gene Rossi, although he played little more than half the game, proved why he was rated one of the nation's foremost offensive threats as he completed seven passes in ten attempts for 148 yards and two touchdowns.

Broyles and Abrams maintained their supremacy among the Southern Conference rushing leaders, picking up 45 and 46 yards respectively against a potent Bearcat line. Although the Generals gained 148 yards on the ground and 64 were through the air, scoring territory proved an elusive goal. The Blue and White's only scoring threat of the afternoon was stopped on the one-yard line by that old nemesis—the fumble. All in all, the Generals once again found themselves outclassed.

Charlottesville's Scott Stadium was the scene of the Generals' "finest hour" of 1952. Pitted against a Cavalier eleven that was favored from thirty to fifty points, the Big Blue out-fought and out-played the dread Wahoos for a large portion of the game. Only in the third quarter, with Fullback Gerry Furst pacing the attack, did Virginia show the supremacy that was supposed to make the game a runaway.

The first half was dominated by the Generals' driving offense. Three times the Cavaliers repulsed Big Blue drives near their own goal line, but the Generals were not to be denied. With just 35 seconds remaining in the first half, Joe Lindsey tossed a five-yard pass to Sophomore End Bill Dunker for the score. Bob Lafferty converted and the Generals had a 7-0 halftime lead. The running of Randy Broyles and a sensational catch by flankman Bob Thomas paced this initial scoring drive.

The script for the second half followed a different pattern, however. The General defense, which had hurled back a Virginia drive on the six-inch line, could not hold Furst's smashers into the line. An intercepted pass set-up one touchdown and two sustained drives were responsible for two more. Before the Generals could regroup, the Cavaliers had a 21-7 lead and to all intents and purposes the game.

But the Big Blue had other ideas; and, with time running out in the final periods, drove for the second touchdown. Lindsey's passing and running, coupled with some fine charges by fullback Walt Degree, placed the ball on the Cavalier six. From there Lindsey faked a pass, faked All-American End Tom Scott out of position, and sprinted around end for the tally.

Outstanding for the Blue and White in its final and best game of the 1952 season were Seniors Bob Thomas, Wes Abrams, Randy Broyles, Bill Scott, Jack Delahuntly, and Dan Popovich, all of whom were playing their last game for the Generals. Also, Center Bill McHenry, who was named Virginia's Lineman-of-the-Week for his performance, tackle Harold Brooks and quarterback Lindsey played decisive roles in the General's moral victory and finest game of the season.

Coach Bill McCann was quickly initiated into a problem that has confronted W. & L. cage mentors for years—trying to construct a winning team with inexperienced material. The problem was further aggravated by the fact that the nucleus of last year's team, Jay Handlan, Dave Hedge and Chuck Grove, was gone.

With only three returning lettermen, Captain Ben Walden, Jim Rich and Charlie Topp, Coach McCann combined a group of promising freshmen in an effort to mold a presentable squad. Topp quit the team at mid-season with a leg injury which left Rich and Walden to shoulder the brunt of the attack. Rich scored one hundred twenty-six field goals in two hundred fifty-six attempts for a 17.6 points-per-game average. Walden was second in the scoring parade with a 12.6 average for the twenty-two game schedule.

While the season record of two victories against twenty defeats can hardly be described as successful, the future does show signs of promise. Walden is the only graduating member of the team, and from among this year's Frosh representation of Bill Person, Nick Skolnik, Stu Atkinson, John Schenkel and "Butch" Callaway, a team of the future is being molded. Also, a plan whereby two freshmen each year will have basketball scholarships offers future hope to the General basketball rooters.

Special credit should be given to Rich, the towering Captain-elect for 1954, and Walden, both of whom provided the inspiration when W. & L.'s basketball hopes seemed at a low ebb. Rich was barely nosed out of a first string berth on Virginia's All-Big Six cage team.

The Comets are looking forward next year to a season which ought to prove to be the most successful in the recent history of the Generals' basketball fortunes.

WRESTLING

With four freshmen bulwarking a rather inexperienced squad, W. & L.'s grapplers fought the cream of the Southern Conference crop, emerging with three victories in seven meets and fifth place in the Southern Conference mat tourney.

Two seniors, Captain Bob Maccubbin and Fred Staunton, and two juniors, Chuck Rauh and Jack Sites, provided the Generals with all their previous intercollegiate wrestling experience. Backing this formidable foursome were four freshmen led by the incomparable Gibby McSpadden. The other Fresh who turned in creditable performances were John Ellis, Sid Kaplan and Carter Werth.

Prospects for the 1953-54 season are bright. Only Maccubbin and Staunton will graduate. McSpadden, who advanced to the finals in the Southern Conference wrestling tournament before losing to Maryland's defending champion, Bob Fisher, and who was undefeated during the regular season, Rauh, Sites, Ellis and Kaplan will provide a strong nucleus around which a formidable squad can be built.

The trophy for the Generals' outstanding freshman went to McSpadden who is rapidly becoming as bright a star to W. & L., wrestling as Charlie Justice once was to football fans in North Carolina. The Mathis award, given to the wrestler who has contributed most to the team this season, was awarded to Rauh.

All in all the grapplers are looking forward to some keen competition next year.

"Muscles" Staunton in for the kill!
The retirement of "Captain Dick" Smith, General baseball mentor for twenty-nine years, was without doubt the most noteworthy event of the 1952 diamond season. Respected and admired throughout Southern Conference baseball circles as an astute and venerable adversary, the Connie Mack of Washington and Lee had found the pressure of his double duties as Athletic Director and diamond coach too much for a "young" man to handle. Captain Dick's retirement was heralded with ceremony appropriate to a man who had guided the Generals' baseball fortunes for almost three decades. The CALYX, on behalf of the whole student body, would like to take this opportunity to salute the man who has won the respect and admiration of so many of his fellow men.

Captain Dick can look back on his last season as a winning one. The Generals capped eleven out of twenty games, and came close to being one of the two northern representatives to the annual Southern Conference baseball tournament. This honor, however, was reserved for George Washington and Richmond.

Below: Moody slides in for the score!
The Generals opened the season with three consecutive wins, one over Wesleyan University and two over Richmond Polytechnic Institute. However, a disastrous spring vacation road trip which saw the Generals drop two games to both Wake Forest and two to Camp Lejeune, brought an end to all Southern Conference title aspirations.

The team did salvage a measure of satisfaction from the trip, nevertheless, by winning the final game with the Cherry Point Marines, 2-1.

Following spring vacation, the Generals returned to Lexington to split a doubleheader with West Virginia winning the opener, 6-0 and losing the night-cap 6-4. Successive victories over V.P.I., 3-1, and William and Mary, 9-3, were then offset by a pair of losses, 8-4 to Richmond, and 12-5 to George Washington.

A trip to the Washington area saw the Generals take a 7-5 decision from Maryland's Terrapins, and lose, for the second time to G.W., 7-4. A second victory over V.P.I., 8-7, and a 7-5 loss to Maryland set the stage for Captain Dick's departure.

The team closed out the season in fine style for Captain Dick, downing tournament-bound Richmond, 2-0, behind the fine pitching of Bill Mauck, and by downing the dread Wahacos from Virginia, 5-3. Three games, with Ohio U., Virginia, and William and Mary were cancelled because of rain.
Inexperience seems to have been the biggest contributing factor to Washington and Lee's "luckless" soccer team during the 1952 season, plus the fact that Captain Carl Rumpp was not able to play during most of the season due to injury. The General booters scored only two victories, both over Roanoke. However, the season was not as bleak as it appears for in losing seven games the Generals faced the most powerful teams in the Southern Conference—Maryland, Duke, North Carolina, and North Carolina State. The Wahoos also won two games, both by close scores, over the '52 booters.

With a little more scoring punch the Generals could have fielded a winning team throughout the season. Of the seven losses, four were decided by the margin of only one goal, and one by only a two-goal spread. In only two games did the General defense allow more than three goals, although one of these games was a 10-1 loss to Duke.

Hopes are high for the 1953 season, however, with Rody Davies, Dick Johnson, Fred Hulswit, Jerry Fisher, Jim Lewis, Dave Morgan, Lucky Denu, Dan Thompson, John Bucky, and Tim Robbins all of whom played a great deal in 1952, due to return. Proof of the accent on youth for the coming year may be shown in the fact that of the 1953 Co-Captains, Denu and Lewis, one is a sophomore and the other a freshman.

Graduating are Gerry Lenfest, Bill Whitney, Siplar Schullist, Steve Lichenstein and Carl Rumpp. Of these perhaps potentially the most outstanding was Captain and goalie Rumpp who was injured in the year's second game and saw only a minimum of action thereafter.

Selected to the Southern Conference second team were Lewis, who was the team's high scorer although only a freshman, Johnson and Lenfest.
SWIMMING

Another of Cy Twomby's perennially good swimming squads romped the 1952-53 season with five wins in seven meets.

Parker Smith, who capped the state championship in the 50-yard dash, Bob Goodman, Alec Thayer, Bill Reid, John Williamson, and Alec De Volpi were the six sparkplugs for the W. & L. mermen. However all are graduating this season. Special praise is due also to freshmen divers Pete Meals and Guy Smith.

The Generals opened the season by trouncing Catholic University and then lost the next two to Virginia and V.P.I. The season finished in a blaze of glory as the mermen swept through their last four meets, successively defeating Randolph-Macon, South Carolina, Davidson, and William and Mary.

LACROSSE

Experience was once again the detracting factor as the General stickmen were overpowered by superior opponents in eight of thirteen games. Playing under the new management of Coach Ben Collins, the third lacrosse mentor in three years, W. & L. opposed and lost to some of the top lacrosse teams in the nation. Outstanding men on the team were Jim Gray and Ross Wagner, attack; Tom Robbins, Guy Drake, and Ken Spence, midfield; and Fletcher Lowe, goal.

Following a 12-4 loss to Maryland in the season's opener, the Generals took a very successful "good-will" jaunt through Ohio during Spring Vacation, easily defeating Kenyon, Ohio State and Oberlin; and amassing an aggregate of forty-eight goals to three for their woefully weak opponents. A 13-4 victory over Lehigh brought the Generals' winning streak to four. But any dreams of an entirely successful season were quickly destroyed as the General stickmen were defeated by Mount Washington and Virginia, two perennial contenders for the eastern lacrosse championship. Close losses to Penn State, Cornell, and Baltimore University, and a 10-3 defeat by Duke, brought the Generals' losing streak to six. The victory famine, however, was ended with a 16-5 win over North Carolina, and a week later, W. & L. closed the 1952 season with a 12-7 loss to Loyola.

With the loss of only three men from last year's team, the Generals' prospects for the coming season are good. For the first time in the last several years, the Generals will be able to field a team which has enough experience to evenly battle its more successful opponents. From a prospective returning squad of twenty-one men, there are ten who have had regular varsity experience, and the outlook for the 1953 season is bright.
Washington and Lee tennis, 1952 version, featured a number of outstanding individual players, but lacked the ability to play together in doubles competition, with the result that the team obtained a .500 record for the season. Ken Rockwell, ably performed the herculean task of coach, captain, and number one man. Much of the credit for the successes of the '52 season are due to his administrative and athletic abilities.

Despite its handicaps, the greatest of which was the lack of a full-time adult coach, the tennis team was one of the better squads to represent Washington and Lee on the courts in several years. Ably supplementing Rockwell were singles players Julian Mohr, Guess Henry, Clark Garrecht, "Doc" Hollowell, Buddy Dey and Don Barbe.

The Generals opened the season with successive losses to fine teams from Colgate and William and Mary. Following a win over Randolph-Macon and a close loss to Maryland, the General netters embarked on a four-game winning streak over V.P.I., Hampden-Sydney, George Washington, and V.P.I., again. On a trip into Tar Heel land the Generals were beaten by North Carolina and Davidson consecutively. A victory over High Point College, two losses to Virginia in which the Generals were met with superior force, and a win over Hampden-Sydney closed the season.
Coach Cy Twombly's golfers provided a baffling series of contrasts for W. & L.'s fairway followers during the 1952 season. The General linksmen were victorious in four dual matches, lost two and tied one. But in a triangular match, the Generals were second rated to Virginia whom they defeated in dual competition; and the golfers, in the annual state tournament, which they had won the two previous years, finished in last place.

The season opened with an 11-7 loss to Ohio University, in a two-day match at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. Successive shutouts were then scored over John Carroll and the University of Richmond. A tie with V.P.I., was followed by the triangular meet which was won by Virginia, W. & L. taking the second slot. A loss to William and Mary and successive wins over V.P.I. and Virginia closed the dual competition for the season. Last on the 1952 agenda was the state tournament which provided an unhappy ending for an otherwise successful season.

Outstanding for the Generals were, in order of their team position, Frank McCormick, Bill Hall, Bob Dickey, Dave Weinberg, Al Vlerebome, and Dick Sherrill.
CROSS COUNTRY

Sporting one of their finest records in years, a Freshman dominated cross country team showed signs of reviving a sport which had practically become non-existent in the past few years at Washington and Lee.

With Dick Miller, as the new coach, and only two upperclassmen, Walt Diggs and Len Ranson, on the team, the General runners won three out of five dual meets. They finished ninth in the Southern Conference and fourth in the Big Six. Victories were scored over Hampden-Sydney, Roanoke, and Lynchburg; and the two losses were at the hands of Bridgewater and Davidson.

Prospects for the coming season are brighter, as only Captain Ranson will graduate. Among the outstanding members due to return are Freshmen Keith Belch and Jim Harvell, and Junior Walt Diggs. Both Diggs and Belch placed well in the Southern Conference meet.

Coach Miller credits Ranson as being the source of inspiration behind the General's victories. Miller and the returning members of the team are looking forward hopefully to the next season.

The General track team, seriously handicapped by a one-year layoff and the lack of experience, full-time coaches, gamely struggled through a dreary season which saw the Generals lose all four dual meets and finish last in the annual Big Six track meet. Much of the credit for the fact that the Generals fielded a track team at all, is due to the perseverance of Len Ranson, who served as captain, coach, manager and even found a little time to place well in the long distance running events.

Some solace can be found, however, as the Generals will have a coach this year and all men on the 1952 squad are returning. Even in defeat, the Generals produced a few individual stars, including Walt Diggs, Southern Conference champion pole vault; Harry Kennedy, hurdles, Charlie Topp, hurdles, and dashes; and Len Winslow and Harry Shendow, weights.
Features

"... With our traditional dance sets and other features, we found the necessary sources of relaxation and enjoyment..."
Washington and Lee University's 1952 Mock Republican Convention got off to a colorful start Monday, April 28, at 2 p.m., with a mile-long parade through the streets of Lexington. Threats of rain failed to discourage preparation for the parade, in which sixty floats and numerous bands were mobilized for a ninety-minute display.

Senator Frank Carlson (R-Ark.) delivered the keynote address, motivating the two-day convention that would bring to Doremus Gymnasium intensive attention from some forty newsmen, representing virtually every media of communications. One thousand delegates in flag-draped Convention Hall heard Townsend Oast, convention chairman, read committee reports and review the rules which would govern the balloting that began at 7:30 Monday evening.

After a nip-and-tuck battle Monday night and Tuesday between Senator Robert Taft and General Dwight Eisenhower a Western bloc, led by powerful California, threw complete support to Eisenhower on the fourth ballot and the general was nominated with a total of 672 votes. The first roll call of Tuesday evening's session was enough to nominate Gov. Earl Warren, of California, as Eisenhower's running mate.

Months of close correspondence with political leaders all over the Nation paid off for W. and L. politicians. The 1952 Convention has been hailed as the most successful yet.

Campus Club

With festivity in the air and the relaxing strains of Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra lending accent to warm, relaxing weather, the Minks officially welcomed the Spring season, 1952.

The Beta cocktail party started the weekend which was to be long remembered as one of the most enjoyable occasions of the year. That evening Jack President Foster Roomers hosted the dances as he escorted Miss Joy Fouts of the University of Colorado through the lattice-arched entrance of an old Southern home with white columns and French doors into a blue and white ballroom of the old cotton plantation. Following Reams were the members of the Cotillion Club and their dates, the sponsors of the set.

Saturday afternoon found the traditional lawn concert cancelled as the White Friars and P. Alpha Nu fraternities invited the entire campus to Goshen Pass to join in one of the biggest and most enjoyable picnics ever staged near Lexington.

On Saturday night the dance was informal and a new band, that of Jerry Wald, was introduced to Washington and Lee society, and judging by the reaction of the crowd he was very much received. During intermission the "13" Club provided the speculation with additional entertainment. The weekend came to a successful climax as tired but happy couples realized that at last Spring had arrived.
The end of the school year always brings with it one of the most relaxed and enjoyable events of the season. With examinations and their complementary worries and cares merely a memory of the past, with the realization that for many this is the last dance of their college careers, with eyes cast expectantly in an attempt to store memories of the weekend, Finals is always one of the most successful sets of the year.

The nostalgic music of Johnny Long admirably intermingled with the heart-felt farewells and warm wishes for future success, as dance set President John Allen, escorting Miss Ann Waterman of Hollins College, led the grand march against a fitting background symbolizing four years of college life.

The vice-presidents of the dance and their dates were: Henry Jones and Miss Carol Lewis of Hollins College; Bob Griffith and Miss Clair Hardwick of the University of Georgia; Gil Gillespie and Miss Marion Gregory of the University of Kentucky; and Buddy Cantwell and Miss Phyllis Johnson of the University of Maryland.

With the Dell's cocktail party, the various picnics and outings at Goshen Pass, the outdoor concert, and the early morning final dance, the seniors were afforded every opportunity to bid their farewells and store their memories of social life at Washington and Lee for future years.
Johnny Long sparkles at Finals
A festive Openings weekend, underneath the peppermint-striped big top started another social season at Washington and Lee. With "Circus Time" as the theme the opening dance featured two of America's most popular dance bands—Boyd Raeburn and Tommy Dorsey.

An open-house at the Mayflower, given by the Kappa Alpha's in honor of set President Terry Whitman, officially opened the weekend. That evening Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra added their bit to the gaiety of the occasion as Sophomore Class President Larry Levitan and Miss Marian Nordlinger of Washington, D.C., led the class figure.

On Saturday afternoon the long-awaited concert by that "Sentimental Gentleman of Swing," Tommy Dorsey, drew one of the largest crowds in many years, and he was considered one of the most outstanding features of a weekend filled with the superlative in entertainment. On Saturday night, with the melodious strains of T.D.'s music in the background, set President Terry Whitman and Miss Kay Carter of Finch College led the Cotillion figure into the dark midnight blue big-top where gaily colored streamers and multicolored, gas-filled balloons dangled from the ceiling. The vice-presidents of the dance and their dates were: Charlie Smith and Miss Peggy Marshall of Randolph-Macon; Harry Sherman and Miss Ann Thomas of Randolph-Macon; Bob Smith and Miss Catherine Carpenter of Memphis; and Steve Lichtenstein and Miss Lee Spielman of the University of Maryland.

With the innovation of having the main figure on Saturday night, the unusual and colorful theme, and the extraordinary music of Tommy Dorsey, all agreed that the year's social season was off to a remarkable beginning.
The Sentimental Gentleman opens the season.
"Let the ball begin," said King Louis XVI of France, and the 1953 version of Fancy Dress was under way. With the transformation of Doremus Gym into the court of Versailles, and the royal court of King Louis XVI the center of attraction, Washington and Lee's most celebrated social event was the most colorful seen in many years.

The festivities were initiated with a cocktail party on Friday afternoon given by Beta Theta Pi in honor of set President Jack Osborne. That evening at 10 o'clock as Louis XVI, Jack Osborne led Miss Temple St. Clair, of Hollins College, as Marie Antoinette, into the blue and white French Ballroom of the Palace of Versailles. The decorations represented the ballroom of the court, overlooking the beautiful scenes of Paris. Following behind the King and Queen were the most famous men of this period in French history and their ladies.

The Due and Duchess de Bourbon were portrayed by Hayes McClarke and Miss Alice Burnes of the University of Arkansas; the Due and Duchesse of Chartres were Pete Caster and Miss Ann Tyler of Hollins College; the Due and Duchesse of Lusignan were Pake Gullifong and Miss Ellen Reeder of Rich College; the Due and Duchesse d'Oleans were enacted by Dick Bush and Miss Virginia Towill of Hollins College; Bob Lutmer and Miss Sherry Parson of Sweetbriar College were dressed as the Due and Duchesse Vendome.

The orchestra of Ralph Marteri presented the music for the evening with his version of the "Bunny-hop" often replacing the Minuet of this colorful era.

On Saturday afternoon an old favorite, and one of the most popular dance bands in the country, that of Johnny Long, gave the traditional weekend concert. The dance on Saturday night was opened by the Junior Class figure which was led by class President Bob Smith and Miss Gwin Lasseter of Jacksonville, Florida.

The highlight of the weekend came Friday night when the Fancy Dress Ball was heard coast-to-coast on N.B.C. as a feature of their "Dance Party" program, and following in the paths of the years gone by, Fancy Dress again proved to be the most famous college social function.

LYNCHBURG, VIRGINIA
A Memorable Year

- Congratulations to the Student Body and Faculty of the Washington & Lee University for completion of another outstanding year of accomplishments.

- The Staff of your annual has worked exceedingly hard to give you a superb book and one which portrays the highlights of memorable activities.

- Neither time, effort nor expense have been spared to provide you with a permanent record, attractively presented and complete in every detail.

- To preserve the photography and literary efforts of the Staff, the best grades of material have been combined with skilled workmanship to provide the finest quality yearbook.

- We are proud that the 1953 Staff selected us to help design, print and bind the "Calx." We have earnestly endeavored to fulfill the confidence placed in us.
