Washington and Lee's philosophy of education has long emphasized the importance of teaching by men whose first love is the classroom. Dedication to this philosophy has resulted in our university's reputation of greatness. Dr. James Graham Leyburn personifies this emphasis and enhances this reputation.

Covering many areas, Dr. Leyburn's courses are memorable and exciting experiences shared by many W&L students over the past twenty-one years. Almost legendary now is his annual lecture on the death of Socrates. His scholarship and his breadth of knowledge serve as examples for students who choose to dedicate themselves to an intensive cultivation of the intellect. His frank yet constructively specific evaluations of one's work, rendered with remarkable promptness — usually by the next class period, provide invaluable guidance.

In several of his courses, Dr. Leyburn refers to the Greek ideal of arete—excellence in all that is admirable, with equal emphasis on versatility and excellence. An outstanding scholar and teacher in several areas, an accomplished pianist, and a leading Churchman, Dr. Leyburn has not merely pursued the Greek ideal; he has attained it. To him we dedicate the 1969 Calyx.
Tradition is a word you hear a lot here. But tradition, the very word, should imply a questioning—if not then it's not tradition but habit. Real tradition has a way of reaffirming itself. When this can't be done, things should change. Washington and Lee is now in the process of changing a backlog of habits.

Start with the faces of things—the real exterior. No Saturday classes—what does this imply? A fine example of student initiative, sure, but the stuff which courses through the lifeblood of a university is not made up of such things as how a schedule should be organized. Or is it? Perhaps too many people have thought so—perhaps that's why we didn't lose Saturday classes sooner.

Or the fraternities—they're mixed up in this too. Are they a habit? If not, perhaps they've got some reaffirming to do. On the surface things haven't changed much here. It's the same first semester rush. Maybe the difference is more gesture than habits. But gestures point to something, emphasize a basic line of thought. We must ask, “Gesture to what, emphasize what?”
If fraternities cannot answer these gestures, perhaps the freshman class will point out the direction things are headed. A lot was said about the class of '72. Do they tread on tradition, or merely yearn at habit? Does this year's freshmen forecast a characteristic mixture that will distinguish future classes as well? Can fraternities survive such a change in attitude—are they acceptable only to a single type?

But freshmen should be more concerned with the university than with the fraternities. So far the surface has hardly been scratched. A far-sighted curriculum committee has gained impetus toward changes that go deeper perhaps than anything of current interest. You hear the word "competitive" a lot. Is W&L competitive with other schools? Whether we like it or not, we can't sit back and let students find us. The gentlemen-scholar myth, perhaps repolishing is not enough. One of those terms, at least, may be obsolete. Obviously, our faculty has decided it should not be the latter.
So the question arises: does W&L take up a role as a bastion set against "fads" sweeping other universities. Like coeducation, inexpensive tuition and fees, mass education. Those who argue that these questions should be considered from the standpoint of the individual institutions alone have a good point. But do they forward this argument as more sand for the engines that, at W&L may be finally revving up for some speed beyond idle.

But a motor at top speed is useless without a transmission. What will finally pop the clutch? Ideas are in wide circulation—suggestions abound as to what will improve present circumstance. The real problem is implementation, which may have as much to do with eliminating habits as with proposing new arrangements.
Did you ever wonder why you didn't make Honor Roll.
NO WOMEN ALLOWED.
State support for W&L? The thought may be heresy now, but however unappeasing it may sound, this question has more to do with reality than with sentiment. If, in the new administration, the vigor is not lacking to substantially increase building funds and endorsement, W&L will keep its status as a private school. Already, though it’s not much discussed, we are faced with an admissions crisis. Expansion and coeducation are mentioned here too, as are rising tuition costs. The habit of expecting students to apply to W&L seems less and less defensible as each year passes.

So here it is—W&L, faced with problems that present means alone cannot dissolve. Admitting a habit is the first step to breaking it. Take a look. How much is done without wondering what is its value? Take a look.

So finally, the Calyx itself must take a look. Hopefully this is our job—we’ve reevaluated and set this as our goal. If somewhere in these pages you don’t find a habit unmasked, then we’ve gone blind. Then we’re a habit too—just that, no more.

TO THE CLASS OF 1969:

It is particularly gratifying for me to extend this greeting to the Class of 1969, for this is the first such opportunity that has come to me as President to write for this page in your CALYX.

Your years at Washington and Lee have been lively and important, both for you and for the University itself. You have witnessed changing attitudes toward education throughout our nation, and you have seen far-reaching changes in higher education itself. Evolutionary growth in many areas has occurred at Washington and Lee, and you have had a hand in it. Through your thoughtful and responsible commentary and initiative, you have been more influential than perhaps you realize in helping your University focus on a future of continuing importance in American higher education.

If I may be permitted the presumption to express a wish for your future, I would like to share with you a thought I expressed in slightly different context at Commencement last year. I would wish for you a discerning mind, able to close upon a core of conviction but nonetheless tolerant—not a tolerance of condescension, but a tolerance which recognizes the possibility of error and, even more important, recognizes that there is always more than one path to truth.

If this wish finds fulfillment, then your years at Washington and Lee have helped achieve a goal that was expressed by the man who was president when I was a student here. Dr. Francis P. Gaines would have Washington and Lee deposit in each of our lives "something a little finer than culture, a little rarer than competence, a little nobler than success . . .".

I truly hope that Washington and Lee has done this for you.

For three years, Lee McLaughlin suffered through the miseries known only to a football coach. In 24 games, the Generals won only four times, and that surely would have made a lesser man call it quits. But starting in 1960, his teams embarked upon a three-season drive that recorded 25 wins in 27 games, including the undefeated and untied campaign of 1961. The Washington, D.C. Touchdown Club awarded Washington and Lee its small college Team-of-the-Year trophy that year, which Lee McLaughlin accepted for a very grateful school.

That was just one testimonial to the man. Another was his nomination by the University of Virginia, his alma mater, for Sports Illustrated's Silver Anniversary All-America Award in 1966, honoring 25 men for their contributions to society in the 25 years since their senior football season.

Lee McLaughlin's contributions extended far beyond 100 yards. They stretched through the campus, into Lexington, and on out away from Virginia to any point where someone had a former association with him as coach, camp director, and friend.

He continually maintained those associations. Speaking to groups in Memphis, Louisville, New Orleans, or wherever he felt like going to talk about Washington and Lee, he would tell his audience he held one of the best three jobs in the United States. The other two belonged to assistant coaches Boyd Williams and Buck Leslie.

But he was often irked at those meetings. There would always be a few to chastise Washington and Lee about its "small time" approach to athletics, and that would send Lee McLaughlin into a quick speech.

"I don't think our boys would like to think of themselves as small time athletes," he would say. "They work just as hard, hit just as hard, and want to win just as hard as the athletes at larger schools.

"What we take out of it is the professionalism, the spectacle for the crowd's sake alone. Our boys are playing for the school and for themselves, and that's the way it should be."

Lee McLaughlin kept everything in perspective, and because he did he was admired and envied by many of his fellow coaches. His was a relaxed and easy-going approach to collegiate athletics, and he said that athletic programs should complement the overall educational process, not take precedence over it.

And this is what made him so perfect for Washington and Lee. He believed first in his own philosophy, which was a carbon-copy of Washington and Lee's philosophy. The two were made for each other.

His loss will be deeply felt; of course, and the school will sorely miss a man that gave so much to it. But he will not be forgotten, as President Robert E. R. Huntley so well expressed: "he was a part of the heart and soul of Washington and Lee, and his death leaves a void which cannot be filled. But he brought to this institution a vitality and a spirit which will never die."

All those things you hear about building character cannot be said about Lee McLaughlin. He didn't build character, he gave it away. You drew from him and you just wish it could have been more.

The 1968 Washington and Lee football squad struggled to a disappointing 3-5-1 record, disappointing because much better things had been forecast. The team was well stocked with experienced players, numbering seventeen seniors on the roster. This nucleus, combined with a large number of ambitious juniors and sophomores, made prospects seem bright following last season's 5-4 record. If anything, the Generals should have had a stronger club than its 1967 predecessor.

Troubles began to plague Washington and Lee even before the season began, however. The tragic loss of Coach Lee McLaughlin was an inestimable blow to the football program as a whole. The Generals lost more than a coach, they lost an inspiring leader of young men whose guidance and teaching had always reached far beyond the confines of Wilson Field.

The job of reassembling the football fortunes of W&L fell to Graham Leslie, long-time assistant coach of the Generals. He and his capable staff of assistants including Boyd Williams, Dick Szlasa, Syd Walden, Gerald Poudrier, and Phil Thompson, rushed to install some new wrinkles to the system, additions they hoped would be sufficient to prepare for a murderous schedule.

Long hours of pre-season practice began on September 3, the reporting date. Two-a-day sessions, under the leadership of captains John Wolf and Scott MacKenzie, began to mold the veterans into effective units while serving to assimilate some promising freshmen into the W&L football system. Returnees such as Britt McJunkin, John Harris, Kenny Long, Charlie Freret, Jay Clarke, Dick Kinney, Rick McMillan, Don Sharp, Bucky Cunningham, and Hank Wilson, along with Wolf and MacKenzie, won their jobs early and the stage was set for the September 21 season opener against Guilford.

Opening at home, the Generals were forced to test themselves early against four strong teams in four consecutive weeks. A combination of factors, including early season injuries to key players, sent Washington and Lee tailspinning to a disastrous 0-4 start.

The Quakers of Guilford College visited Wilson Field first, bringing to town a quick, rugged team that had dealt the Generals an embarrassing 35-0 setback the previous year. Quarterback Alan Tomlin marched the home team straight down the Quakers' throats following the opening kickoff, but the Generals faltered near the goal. Nonetheless, the skilled play calling and field leadership of Tomlin, a converted defensive back, seemed to suggest a rejuvenated W&L attack. This hope was squelched by the talented visitors, however, who turned key breaks into three quick scores before the half and rolled on to hand Washington and Lee its first loss of the season, 28-0.

Next the Generals traveled to meet state power Randolph-Macon and their mercurial runner, Howard Stevens. The freshman speedster was obviously the difference in this game, as he led the Yellow Jackets on a 45 point scoring binge against the usually reliable W&L defense. But the General offense did generate some spark, scoring three times on the passing arm of junior Jack Baizley and the final score stood at 45-21. To complicate the future, however, the Generals suffered some key injuries to Wolf, defensive back Lee Graham, and linebacker Drew Kumpuris.

These injuries showed up painfully in next week's clash with conference foe Centre. Baizley had earned the starting nod at quarterback, but he found himself in poor field position all day and never could unlimber his passing game. The absence of Wolf and Kumpuris hurt the defense and Centre managed to push across enough points to win 10-0 in an unexciting game that added to the W&L losing streak.

Lafayette extended that streak at Wilson Field by beating the Generals 27-7. Although the home force put up a strong offensive show, featuring Joe Dozier in the rushing department and the Baizley to Cunningham passing duo, the Leopard offense, which felled such teams as Colgate, Columbia, and Hofstra during 1968, was just too much. The losing streak was extended to four.

The game against Hampden-Sydney, played in the mud of Wilson Field before a Homecoming gathering, marked a turning point in the season. Although the best the team could do against the Tigers was to salvage a 0-0 stalemate, the brakes had been applied to the streak.

Bottom: Britt McLunkin (70) and co-captain John Wolf (66) preparing to maul Lafayette signal caller Ed Baker.
The Generals got on the winning track against the Bridgewater Eagles. An Opening Weekend crowd voiced its delight as the W&L offense rolled up a 27-13 win with three touchdowns coming in the second half. Chuck Kuhn, junior quarterback, had a big day against the Eagles and the defense looked like its former self.

Parents Weekend saw the aroused Generals even their conference record at 1-1 with a 16-7 win over arch rival Sewanee. Bucky Cunningham caught two touchdown tosses from Kuhn while the defensive unit was stifling the powerful Purple Tiger attack. The win gave the victors a shot at a high conference standing with only two games remaining.

Hopes for a share of the conference crown were shattered at Memphis, as Washington and Lee fell to South Western 38-7. The aroused Lynx blitzed the Generals for 21 points in the fourth quarter, and after scoring first, the Big Blue couldn't generate any offense.

But the Generals refused to play out the season. In the last game of the year against Washington University the team salvaged a 3-5-1 season and a tie for third in the conference by battling to a 14-3 come-from-behind victory. Cunningham broke a school career receiving yardage record during his final game and the seniors closed their careers with a victory.

If the Generals could have divided the season in half, they could have claimed a winning record in the latter portion. Although the overall record was disappointing, the continued team spirit that produced the comeback late in the season can only be admired and hopes for the future are high.
The Generals soccer team, led by captains Tom Mitchell and Scott Fechnay, had a disappointing season finishing with a 3-5-1 record. The team suffered from a lack of depth and a lack of early season enthusiasm. Injuries were a crusher for the Booters. All-State forward, and a big scoring threat for W&L, Scott Fechnay was ill for a long time with pneumonia. Early season injuries to starters Doug Clark, Carl Hyatt, Gil Turner and J. Sullivan hurt the team. Bright spots for the future were seen, however, in the men who filled in. Dick Soay, Fred Fletcher, Curt Januson, Don Belt (freshman), Ree Schener (freshman), Paul Miller (freshman), and Chuck Arnold (freshman) may provide Coach Lyles with a strong future in soccer.

This season W&L beat Pfeiffer early in the year but lost to tough Randolph-Macon, 4-2, and Eastern Mennonite College 4-1. The Generals then rallied strongly to whip Madison College 7-0. Belt and Miller claimed varsity goals as Gil Turner, Jack Horowitz, John Yow and Curt Januson picked up points. The Blue then shut out VMI 3-0. Captain Witz, Fletcher and Yow scored. The Roanoke College game was cancelled for rain and it was very disappointing that it couldn't be rescheduled. Against VPI, W&L tied in double overtime, 2-2. The Generals lost to West Virginia Wesleyan 3-1 near the end of the season, clinching the first losing soccer record in ten years. Two other losses were to Belmont Abbey, and Lynchburg College.

Defensive stars were Tom Mitchell, goalie, Brian Prince and Mark Sayers. John Yow and Doug Clarke will be next year's co-captains. With the young talent they now have, the booters look forward to reinstating a successful W&L soccer team.
In the words of the immortal Jack Strapp, the original toothless wonder of rugby, “Rugby is the game for hooligans, played by gentlemen.” This fall over thirty-five W&L “gentlemen” took part in rugby clashes in practicing for a full Spring schedule. These Sunday Ruggers, who play the game for the sheer enjoyment of playing a good game, for the comradeship of fellow ruggers, and of course to partake in the traditional post-game keg(s), continue to bring more big-time teams to the W&L campus than any other intercollegiate sport by playing such teams as Princeton, Duke, UVA, UNC, N.C. State, Georgetown, George Washington, Atlanta, Norfolk, and Richmond. This year, in the annual W&L RFC/IFC Invitational Tournament, in which W&L placed second to Duke in 1968, the club will spread W&L’s fine reputation northward by participating with teams from Rutgers, Williams, Lehigh, and St. Joseph’s of Philadelphia, as well as Duke and Richmond. Although the team does not enjoy the number of supporters as football, it does have an ever increasing hard-core bunch of avid fans. Happiness is where the action is and you’d better believe rugby is action. Be a rugger-bugger.

Two freshmen, Steve Darsie, and Carter Glass, showed promise for the Harriers as W&L began its season by beating Lynchburg College 23-38. Harry Zeliff, senior co-captain, opened a great year by winning in 24:23. Paul Wilber, Ralph Pearcy, Bill Arvin, Darsie and Glass ran well.

The following week the Generals outran three teams with 33 points. They beat Somerset Community College, Centre College, Transylvania College. Zeliff won the meet with Pearcy and Wilber placing well.

With a 4-0 record the Harriers looked like the top fall team here. They met Roanoke College and Old Dominion on October 12 and despite Zeliff's win, the Generals lost to both Roanoke and Old Dominion.

Against Bridgewater the Harriers were crushed as Bridgewater took eight of the first nine places. Ken Lancaster edged Harry Zeliff with the near record time of 22:57. It was a bitter disappointment for the previously unbeaten co-captain. W&L ran one of their best team meets when they beat Hampden-Sydney. The Harriers took most of the top spots. The team then lost to one of the state champion contenders, Eastern Mennonite. They were beaten as even Zeliff lost. Harry Zeliff came in first the next race but the team lost against Fairmont. The final meet against High Point was cancelled so the Generals finished with a 6-5 season record.

In the five way C.A.C. meet at Sewanee, Tennessee, the Generals placed third, behind Washington University (perennial winner) and Southwestern. Zeliff ran fifth while Wilber and Glass ran top twenty.

Coach Miller has some good material for his future cross-country teams. Harry Zeliff won't be back, but he left a course record time of 23:35, which will be an incentive to our young Harriers.
Uncertainty was the keynote as the Generals opened their fifth season under head coach Verne Canfield. Gone from last year's squad, which had successfully defended its College Athletic Conference championship and had ended the season 19-6 were guards Jody Kline and John Carrera and high-scoring forward Mal Wesselink.

Back, though, were Mel Cartwright, W&L's leading scorer for the previous two seasons, 6'7" pivotman Mike Neer, and Canfield's strong '67 bench, which included guards Norwood Morrison, Charlie Stone, and Bill Rhyne, forward Stu Fauber, and center and team captain Earl Edwards.

With Cartwright, Neer, Fauber, Morrison, and Stone at the starting positions, W&L opened the season against Randolph-Macon in Lexington. The Generals, hoping to extend their 23-game winning streak, were upset by the Yellow Jackets 78-71, despite Neer's 20 points and 13 rebounds. A pleasant surprise in an otherwise disappointing evening with the play of freshman Mike Daniel. The stocky 6'3" forward, playing in his first varsity game, hit for 13 points and showed that his presence would be felt in the coming season.

The Generals got back on the winning track in the following game, bombing Bridgewater 94-63. This was the beginning of an eight-game winning string, as the Big Blue defeated Virginia Commonwealth 83-70, blasted Lynchburg 96-60 in a game which saw Cartwright score the 1,000th point of his varsity career, nipped Hampden-Sydney 75-73, and outscored North Carolina Methodist 80-72.

For their sixth win, Washington and Lee, paced by Cartwright's 23 points and 14 rebounds and Morrison's 90 per cent field goal shooting, decisively whipped Guilford 94-76. The Quakers, ranked 13th the previous week in the national small-college poll, could not use their height to advantage, as W&L both outrebounded and outshot the North Carolinians before a partisan crowd in Doremus Gymnasium.
The Generals' seventh and eighth wins were registered in the first Washington and Lee Invitational Tournament. The host team rolled by Shepherd 89-65 and Bloomsburg State 87-75. Cartwright and Neer were named to the All-Tournament team, with Cartwright snaring MVP honors.

A trip to Baltimore over Christmas Vacation cost the Generals their win skein. Hampered by turnovers, W&L lost to Baltimore U. 89-73, with Neer scoring 24 points and grabbing 17 rebounds in the losing effort.

Back on the victory trail once again, the Generals won a pair of rematches, downing Virginia Commonwealth 80-75 and Bridgewater 73-67. West Virginia Tech's stall proved ineffective, as W&L garnered its 11th victory, 47-36.

Florida Presbyterian handed the Blue its third loss, 83-75, but the following afternoon, the Generals recorded a milestone in Washington and Lee basketball history. Playing in Annapolis before a hostile crowd of Midshipmen, W&L scored its first win against a major college opponent since 1958, defeating Navy 70-69. Twenty-point performances by Neer and sophomore reserve guard Bill Rhyne, subbing for an injured Norwood Morrison, keyed the Generals' victory.

After an exam break which gave the team a much needed rest, Washington and Lee opened the second half of the season with its biggest win of the year, a 49-47 thriller over rival Roanoke College. Down by ten points at the half, the Generals went ahead with less than a minute to play on Cartwright's lay-up. Neer turned in an outstanding defensive performance before the overflow Doremus crowd.

Western Maryland fell to the Blue 88-69, but W&L lost its next outing to a hot-shooting Asheville-Biltmore quintet 111-83, its worst drubbing of the season. The Generals then closed out their regular season schedule with four straight wins, coming from behind to defeat Lynchburg 77-72, edging the Quantico Marines 67-63, downing Davis and Elkins 76-67, and clinching the Virginia Small College championship by tripping Emory and Henry 68-63 in overtime.

In the College Athletic Conference Tournament in Memphis, Washington and Lee, although the defending champion and sporting an 18-4 record, was not favored to retain its crown. The Generals' 79-67 win over Centre in their first game, though, showed that they had come to play basketball. Cartwright led all scorers with 22 points.

In the finals against favored Southwestern, the Blue got into foul trouble early and found they could not stop the Lynx fast-break offense. Southwestern surrounded Cartwright with three men and held the big junior to 2 points, the lowest of his career. W&L wound up on the short end of a 73-55 score, leaving the team with a 19-5 record. Cartwright was named to the All-Tournament squad.

Individual season highs for the General basketballers included Cartwright's 19-point scoring average and 59 per cent field goal accuracy, Neer's 13 rebounds per game, and Stu Fauger's 82 per cent shooting from the free-throw line.

With all five starters and his two top reserves returning for next year's campaign, Verne Canfield can look forward to another crack at the 20-win barrier and a chance to return the CAC basketball bell to Doremus Gymnasium.
Led by a strong core of experienced shooters, the 1968-69 Rifle Team amassed an impressive 7-2 record and returned W&L to real competition in the state. This nucleus of high scorers eliminated the lack of depth problem that has plagued the team for several years, and, under the experienced direction of the new coach, Sergeant Charles White, the team recorded some of the highest scores in recent years.

Co-Captains Steve Pannill and Hugh Guill were among the consistently high scorers, as were Mike Jenkins, Martin Schmidt, and Steve Unti. Other essential members of the team included Tom Jackson, Gil Frank, John Cassell, and Robert Radcliffe.

Prospects are good for the 1969-70 season, as only one letterman will be graduating, and the team looks forward to another winning season.
Beset by injuries, inexperience, and tough competition, Coach Miller's grapplers failed to live up to expectations during the season and were unable to post a victory. There were high spots in the season, known as sophomore Danny Webster's 11-1 record against such strong teams as Old Dominion, North Carolina State, and the University of Virginia represented an outstanding achievement. Co-Captain Jay Clark, up from last year's 157-pound weight class to hold down the heavyweight slot, managed to do an excellent job and obtain several notable victories.

At the CAC Tournament, a team effort enabled the Generals to come in second place behind Sewanee. Individual first place awards were won by Webster, Clarke, and Dee Copenhaver, and second place titles by Clark Carter, Dave Higgins, and Buzz White. Under Tri-Captains Higgins, Razberry and Webster next year, the Generals entertain hopes for a brighter future. The return of freshmen Buzz White, Bill West, Bruce Hankins, and Jim Hooker, and sophomores Dee Copenhaver, Dan Webster, and Wes Pullman provides an excellent nucleus of young, experienced wrestlers for the years to come.

The Blue swimmers had another excellent season under the guidance of Coach Bill Stearns and co-captains Ross Forman and Billy Ball. They scored victories over Roanoke, Loyola, Randolph-Macon, UVA, Old Dominion, West Virginia Wesleyan, and Penn State while suffering defeat only at the hands of West Virginia University and American.

After a slow start in the C.A.C. championships at Sewanee, the team’s charge in the last day of competition which left them seven points short of victory was a true indication of their determination to perform well under stress.

Baltimore Bill Brumback continued his superlative performances and a freshman, John Lawlor, became the team’s garbage swimmer . . . performing well in almost all of the possible events.

J.V. coach, Bart Taylor, boasted one of the best marks of all W&L athletics, a perfect season . . . 1-0. Other General swimmers who helped pile up the score included Hal Catlin, Bim Clark, Dave Kympton, Roger Martin, Joe Phillips, Greg Warga, Chuck Cholmondeley, and John Anchorman.
TRACK

Washington and Lee’s track team was blessed with a number of good young performers during the 1968 season. Led by Co-Captains Bob Stack and junior Phil Norwood, the Generals turned in several outstanding performances. Mike Neer, a sophomore, jumped six feet, seven inches, a new school high jump record. Doug Deaton, a freshman, threw the discus 139'11", another new W&L mark. Mike Carrere, a freshman, picked up the javelin for the first time and began steady improvement which culminated in a new College Athletic Conference record of 181 feet.

Other outstanding performers were Freshman Bob Jensen in the half mile, Drew Thomas in the high and intermediate hurdles, and Corbett Bryant and Henry Zeliff in the distances. Bob Armstrong and Bob Bigham were stalwarts in the 440 and the two relays. Sam Hinkle turned in the outstanding performances in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, as well as running a leg on the fastest mile and sprint relay teams. Chip Billups and Bill Kahn were freshman standouts in field events. Phil Jones was consistently best in the Shot.

After a slow start, the Generals finished with a flurry. They took second in the State Track Meet (College Division) in a battle which was not decided until the final event. In the CAC, Mike Neer pulled the Generals from defeat with a clutch performance in the high jump, and helped bring the CAC overall championship back to the Washington and Lee Campus.
LACROSSE

Led by co-captains Charlie Stewart and Terry Griffin, Washington and Lee's lacrosse team suffered through a disappointing 2-7 season. Despite its record the 1968 lacrosse team boasted an All-South attackman in Chip Chew who scored better than 30 points during the season. Tom Pitman and Joe Wich also performed well at attacks.

Probably the team's strongest point was its defense; Bruising Harold Stowe at crease, co-captain Charlie Stewart, hustling Holmes Parker, freshman standout Bill Brumback, and swift Tom Mullinux behind Pete Nowick filled in admirably at goalie after the loss of Dave Johnson.

Unfortunately the midfield lacked depth and fell far short of its expected scoring potential. Though lacking offensive punch, the midfielders could be counted on to hustle sixty minutes every game. Jay Meriwether gained more than his share of face-offs. Terry Griffin won the ground ball trophy in a hotly disputed contest with Charlie Stewart, Bill Brumback and freshman Whit Morrill, high-scoring midfielder.

Highlights of the season included a 7-5 win over Loyola, an overwhelming 11-6 victory over Roanoke, and a closely contested loss to national athletic powerhouse, Notre Dame, 7-6.

Injuries sidelined potential starters; Tom Groton, Ned Coslett and Bob Frost. Despite a difficult first season, Coach Slaza has definitely brought to W&L lacrosse a new concept of spirit and enthusiasm that will be evidenced in future years.
Resolute predictions of better things to come were realized by the 1968 baseball Generals. An unexpected monetary donation went toward the purchase of new uniforms and an automatic pitching machine. The "iron mike" greatly aided batting practice and helped General hitters raise the team batting average 40 points over 1967. A high-scoring win over Florida Presbyterian in the season opener got the campaign off to a fine start, and broke a long spring trip streak. Only a three game avalanche of opponents' runs at mid-season marred the Generals rise to new heights. A third-place finish in the CAC tourney ended what must be considered a successful season, 8-10 being a considerable improvement of 1967's 3-17 mark.

Further progress should be forthcoming in '69 with co-captains Jim Wilson and Thom Mitchell leading the way. Both made all-CAC in '68, Mitchell for the second time. Wilson is a left-handed slugging outfielder who hit .360 a year ago and was 3rd among NCAA College division players in triples per game. Mitchell divided his time between the pitcher's mound and center field, compiling a 5-3 mound record while batting .310. With these two outstanding players and athletes, a starter returns at every position. Rifle-armed catcher Jack Baizley, the smooth fielding infielder of Ray Coates, scrappy John Nolan, Gill Fitzhugh, and Steve Kalista, outfielders Chris Coursen and slugging Scott McChrystal return and are joined by a fine crop of first year men that will challenge for every starting slot and should provide help for holdover pitchers Mitchell and Lee Halford. This year's Generals have the material necessary to bring W&L its first winning baseball record in 8 years. Veteran Coach Joe Lyles charges also have high hopes of bringing home a ball from the CAC tourney at Centre.

The 1967-68 Tennis Team posted an excellent 7-3 record against such "big-time" competition as Duke, William and Mary, Richmond, and Maryland.

Tom Rueger (captain), Ray Turman, and Don McClure returned to their 1-2-3-positions respectively. Playing a strong 4-5-6 were freshmen Ball Gatlin, letterman Tom McJunkin, and Rick Armstrong, who was up from last year's freshman team. The doubles teams were led by Rueger and Turman, who were in their third season at #1. Mike Spoor and Gatlin played the second spot while McClure and McJunkin were at #3.

Highlighting the season was the capture of the second consecutive CAC tennis championship. The Generals gained the finals in eight of the nine divisions. In addition, McClure and Katlin won individual singles titles while the teams of Rueger-Turman and McClure-McJunkin followed suit in doubles.

At the annual post-season sports barbeque Rueger and McClure were jointly awarded the most valuable player trophy. And with the entire squad returning next year, the team can expect even more success in the future.
After losing only one member from the highly successful 1967 Washington and Lee golf team, this year's team was equally as strong. With no seniors, but led by Junior Captain Bobby Matthews, the 1968 golf team won six victories out of eight matches. The team defeated Hampden-Sydney, Old Dominion, Lynchburg, Bridgewater, Roanoke, and Madison, tied William and Mary, but lost to Westminster. Coach E. P. "Cy" Twombly was also pleased with the team's 5th place finish in the Virginia State Intercollegiate Tournament, and a 2nd place in the College Athletic Conference Tournament. The 1969 team looks as strong as any Washington and Lee golf team in many years with Gary Silverfield as the team's captain, and all team members returning. Team members will include two four-year lettermen, Gary Silverfield and Bobby Matthews, two three-year lettermen, Bill McLeod, and Dick Singley, and lettermen Ken Carter, Jim Gordon, and Gil Turner. With seven men experienced, W&L has a chance for another great season.
Washington and Lee, as a small liberal arts university with sole emphasis on undergraduate education, offers students an enormous opportunity for self-expression and for a close and functional relationship with faculty and administration. Students are able to regulate their own affairs and to take an integral role in determining the curricular and extra-curricular policies of the university. In fulfilling this role, the students must accept a great responsibility for themselves and for the university as a whole, and must take the initiative in seeking new ideas and improvements to further the goals of Washington and Lee. The primary purpose of student government is to provide a channel for expression of this responsibility.

The foremost responsibility of the Executive Committee is that of the Honor System—not only its administration, but also its effectiveness and its relation to the university. The E.C. took special steps in this direction by evaluating and modifying to a large extent the procedure used by the committee in honor trials and appeals. In addition, a study of the jurisdictional limits of the honor system was made. At all times however, we should question in our own minds whether the provisions of our system are those most effective in accomplishing our acknowledged ends.

In the area of student affairs, the Executive Committee endeavored to include a larger segment of the student body in the legislative process through such methods as the controversial “Bitch-In,” random students on E.C. sub-committees, opening of E.C. meetings and so on. By striving to stimulate participation and encouraging their opinions, the Executive Committee was better equipped to initiate ideas and improvements and to work toward the goals most suited to our university.

The Curriculum Committee is the youngest of the five standing Committees which are appointed by the Executive Committee. It was organized in the fall of 1967 with a total of nine members and was expanded this school year to include fourteen members.

Of all standing committees, the curriculum committee’s specific function is by far the least definite. Depending on exactly what curriculum changes and improvements are actually implemented, the activities of the committee shift accordingly. If for instance some major change eventually takes place, the committee’s emphasis might shift from broad planning to closer attention toward more specific detail, i.e., need for additional majors, courses or area studies.

This current year the curriculum committee has been concerned almost exclusively with a plan for revising the university calendar in an effort to provide more individual study. In this realm the committee’s power is advisory only, but through close cooperation with the faculty curriculum committee, it is assured that student opinion has an additional avenue toward expressing itself.
In the tradition of student control, the Student Control Committee handles matters pertaining to student discipline on the campus, in the City of Lexington, and at neighboring girl's schools. The Committee, composed of nine students carefully screened and selected by the Executive Committee, has as its aim the maintenance of Washington and Lee's reputation as a school of gentlemen. The Committee's assumption of disciplinary duties has relieved the faculty and administration of the task, and greatly contributed to the respect for student government at Washington and Lee.

The Cold Check Committee is a nine-man organization selected each year by the Executive Committee. Its purpose is to maintain the good relations between the student body and the town merchants by ruling over infractions involving bad checks passed by students. Offenses involving "bounced" checks and overdue accounts are considered at the weekly meetings of the Committee, and offenders are fined for repeated appearances.

Stripped of its fining and other disciplinary powers by the Executive Committee, the Assimilation Committee concentrated on freshman orientation during 1968-1969. Its main project included publication of the Student Handbook, a thorough booklet describing all extracurricular activities on campus that was prepared for freshmen but later distributed to the entire student body after many requests for copies.

With the full cooperation of the new Librarian Maurice D. Leach and his staff, the Student Library Committee initiated a number of new programs. McCormick Library was opened regularly at noon on Sundays after the Committee completed a successful one month trial opening. The Committee sponsored a reception in the Library on Parents weekend. In response to Student demand, a schedule was arranged for extended library hours before and during exams. The Committee was also involved in reactivating the Friends of the Library.
LEADERSHIP
INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL
Aiding the adjustment of the incoming freshman to college life is a major responsibility of the Dormitory Counselor. The position requires a combination of the qualities of a mother, a big brother, a riot policeman and an amateur psychiatrist. Counselors are selected in the Spring of each year from the rising junior and senior classes. The selection committee bases its decisions upon the apparent ability of an individual to help an incoming freshman to cope with his first year in college. The committee also considers leadership in scholastic and extra-curricular activities.

The IFC actively confronted two main problems in 1968: improving the image of all the houses on campus and formulating a new rushing system to go into effect in the fall of 1969. The IFC also started work on a pension plan for all employees of the fraternity houses. Public relations were improved through participation in the Lexington Heart Fund Drive, supplying the backbone of manpower in planting bulbs in a local beautification attempt, and an IFC newsletter to keep faculty and alumni more aware of fraternity working.

Progressiveness was evident as rudimentary talks were begun for a consolidated food buying program among all the houses. IFC-faculty coffees helped air views on such controversial topics as the mechanics of the new rush system which will displace any rushing until after first semester. Also, two scholarships were provided to foreign students.

The Publications Board of Washington and Lee University is a self-perpetuating body whose purpose is to foster and promote the student publications of the university, namely, the Ring-Tum Phi, the Calyx, and Ariel. The board consists of all editors and business managers of the above named publications, a Director of Photography, an alumnus member, and a faculty member. Mr. Matt Paxton, editor of the News Gazette, served as alumnus member and Mr. James Boatwright, associate professor of English, served as faculty member.

The duties of the board are to oversee and regulate in general the staffs and policies of the student body publications, control the disbursement of the Publications Board Reserve Fund, pass upon the budget of each publication, and approve all proposed contracts to be made by the business managers and editors of the publications.

One of the most interesting and noticeable actions of the 1968-69 Publications Board was the purchase of a $1700 photolathe reproduction machine capable of making lead plates from photographs for use by the Ring-Tum Phi and plastic cuts from line drawings for use by the newspaper and Ariel. This machine has considerably reduced expenses and has been quite helpful to the newspaper and Ariel.

When it first assembled in September, the Calyx Staff was a disorganized, but eager group with an abundance of creative plans and ideas. The staff led by Editor Buck Buxton decided on a format emphasizing unity of photography and copy. Under his guidance and direction, pictures were scheduled, layouts devised, and deadlines met.

The Business Staff aided the Literary Staff by selling ads and raising the necessary money for publications.
Beginning this year with typical verve and glamour, the Tuesday Ring-tum Phi has sought to incorporate into its four pages an aromatic mixture of the bland necessities, the spicy absurdities, and occasional phantasmagoric buffoonery.

In its endeavor toward journalistic excellence, the Tuesday edition changed to the all-down headline style of several big-city dailies, added a column of general editorial comment on the front page ("The way I see it"), and utilized the Journalism Laboratory Press' excellent facilities and its employees' bent for creativity to publish experimental editions, the most noteworthy of which was one on the format of The Wall Street Journal.

The Tuesday staff has dedicated its working hours toward publishing a superb newspaper, and have enjoyed the company of friends. Performing especially arduously were the gentlemen of the Editorial Board, Messrs. Yevich, Kelsey, and Byrum, and the best sports editor on any college paper, Mr. Carlton.

The Friday Ring-tum Phi lived up to its high reputation for accurate and full reporting of campus activities. In addition, we sought to expand our coverage to deal with issues being discussed at other colleges and universities throughout the country; issues which until recently were either ignored at W&L or thought to be unimportant. Some of these included integration of lodging for dates, marijuana on campus, police brutality and student violence and student rights.

We attempted to keep campus organizations and traditions in step with fulfilling the needs of the student body and our changing times. In particular, we examined the functions of the Dance Board, the IFC and the EC. We campaigned especially hard for a revision of the Honor System.

The highlights of our paper were a special inauguration issue, interviews with President Huntley and closer ties with the Department of Journalism and Communications.
W&L debaters began the season with a TV debate against Randolph-Macon College of Ashland, Virginia, on educational television in Richmond in early October. The debate topic for this program, as well as for the rest of the school year, was: Resolved that Executive Control over the Foreign Policy Should be Significantly Curtailed in the United States. Scores of W&L men debated this question—north and south, east and west—all over the country, for the next nine months. Washington and Lee teams appeared at the University of North Carolina, Wake Forest, Maryland, Georgetown, Northwestern, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Ohio State, Navy, NYU, and many other locations. Although this was a rebuilding year for the University after last year's championship teams, by the end of the first semester W&L debaters had still managed to win seven more trophies.

WLUR-FM, Washington and Lee's educational radio station broadcasts types of music, news and special features everyday that are otherwise not available to the Lexington area.

Under the direction of the Department of Journalism and Communications, a staff of over 60 students is responsible for presenting 32 hours of programming a week. Journalism instructor Charles E. Winston is the station manager.

Broadcasting from studios on the third floor of Reid Hall, the station this year expanded programming to include "Saturday's Child," and eight-hour weekly presentation of rock and folk-rock music. To fill a need in the area, the station features some of the world's great classical music. The fine music of the American musical theater and performances by leading jazz artists round out the station's musical offering.

News coverage is complete and emphasis is placed on local news—again an example of presenting information that is broadcast nowhere else in the area.
Opposite left: Dr. Ralph Lapp, nuclear physicist, speaks on the scientific revolution. Opposite Right: French journalist, Philippe Labro recounts the significant aspects of the May-June revolutions in France. Above: In a panel discussion Senator McGovern explains his belief in a proposal for a volunteer army. Right: Jack Thomas gives his views on black power. Below Left: John Silber discusses the student unrest and its bad connotations. Below Right: Walter Adams in his friendly manner chats with students about economic concentration.
The Washington and Lee Law Review was established in 1939. The Review is published twice a year by a student staff under the general supervision of a faculty editor and board. Membership on the Law Review is based upon scholarship and is highly prized. The Review is printed by the Journalism Laboratory Press of Washington and Lee University. Financial support comes from subscriptions and an appropriation by the University Board of Trustees.

National Moot Court Competition determines the best debaters in the country. Participants are chosen every Spring in the Burk’s Competition. In the national competition participants must prepare an appellate brief and present oral argument.
Published three times a year, Ariel gives Washington and Lee students a sampling of creative writing from about their peers.

Ariel first emerged about eight years ago as a self-supporting venture published independently by a group of students. Last year, for the first time, the magazine received subsidization from the university. Its editor and business manager now sit on the Publications Board, which oversees the Ring-Tum Phi and the Calyx as well.

Ariel actively solicits students manuscripts, including fiction, poetry and critical writing. It also solicits graphic art work, pen and ink drawings and cover designs.

The fall issue generally is published after Thanksgiving. A winter issue appears in February after exams. The spring issue contains the winning entries in the Mahon Award competition, held by the English Department each year.

The Dance Board is designed to organize and supervise the University's four major Dance Weekends: Openings, Fancy Dress, Spring Concerts, and Finals. The officers of the Board are appointed with the remaining members being elected by the Student Body at large. Membership in the Board includes the President of the Student Body, the Four Dance Set Presidents, and the Dance Board officers. The sale of Dance Plans, at the beginning of the school year and the fact that tickets can no longer be bought for one dance set by Washington and Lee students had increased and stabilized the revenue of the Dance Board. This enables the Board to provide Washington and Lee with "big name" entertainers, which would normally be unobtainable at schools of similar size. Preference polls, distributed during the school year, are considered in selecting and contracting singing groups, thus enabling the Dance Board to continually provide the type of entertainment preferred by Washington and Lee Men.

BRASS CHOIR
The John A. Graham Brass Choir, as the name would indicate, is an ensemble composed entirely of brass instruments including trumpets, trombones, baritones, French horns, and tubas.

The Brass Choir participated in many university events this past year such as the annual Parents Weekend Concert, the Huntley Inauguration, and in academic assemblies. The Choir also plays many concerts at other schools and in the Spring plans a tour in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Robert Stewart was at the reigns of the Concert Guild again this year, and the Guild brought forth one of the most successful programs of serious music that Washington and Lee has ever seen.

Every year, the Concert Guild is responsible for bringing relatively little-recognized artists in the serious music field. These artists are brought on campus for two main reasons. First, is the fact that the performing artists provide W&L students and citizens of Lexington with cultural music. At the same time that this is done, the performances help promising careers.

This year was no exception as far as audiences and fine performances were concerned. Lee Chapel was the scene of six separate concerts. These performances included:
ENTERTAINMENT
TROUBADOURS

[Image of a theatrical scene with multiple characters on stage.]
The Troubadour Theatre finally moved into a completely renovated theatre for its 1968-69 season. Mr. Lee Kahn, advisor and drama professor did less directing, in favor of more plays done by student direction. Due to his continued effort, several prominent student directors were found, among them Noel Clinard, Pat Arey, and Richard Kramer.

A new approach was also tried with the Greek play "The Bacchants" by Euripides. The play was adapted by Professor of Chemistry, Dr. James K. Shillington. The very difficult staging, lighting, and music, experimental in its approach were all done by students. The play starred Jeb Brown as Dionysus.

The other plays presented this year were "Exit the King" starring Pat Bednarczyk, Lawrence McConnell, and Jeb Brown, and three one act plays.
Completing one of the most active and successful seasons it has ever seen, the W&L Glee Club sang its way through a long series of engagements both on campus and away. Expertly directed by Professor Stewart, and led by President Rogers, the club opened the year with the traditional Parent's Weekend Concert in Doremus Gymnasium. Highlighting the second semester's activities were two singing tours.

This year their repertoire included a wide selection of all types of music, ranging from classical to folk and spiritual and from Broadway numbers to religious. It is this versatility of material, as well as the Glee Club's distinctive style or performance which has led to its great popularity among audiences of all types.
The Sazeracs, headed by President Rob Bauer and Business Manager Bill McKelway, harmonized their way through another successful year. This social singing fraternity is named after a drink served in the bar of the Hotel Roosevelt in New Orleans.

The Sazerac Cocktail was born in the French Quarter of New Orleans. More than a century ago, the popular gathering place of the city's sophisticates was the Sazerac Bar on Royal Street. These gentlemen were all connoisseurs of good drinks, and they recognized that the Sazerac's popular French bartender had achieved a brilliant triumph in one of his mixed drinks—the Sazerac Cocktail.

Nowadays, connoisseurs of good music recognize that W&L's Sazeracs have achieved a brilliant triumph in songs. In the past, the group has performed at private parties for the Prince and Princess of Austria and Princes Lee Radziwill among others, and appeared in the Celebrity Room in Palm Beach.
Ranking alongside Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa, the "13" Club is designed to train its men in the ability to distinguish between the worthwhile and wasteful objectives of college life. Thirteen members of the Junior class are chosen each year for membership. Among the characteristics which new members must possess are those of self-denial, cultural refinement, extreme composure, and intellectual curiosity. Perhaps it is because of its over particular interpretation of these, of what is worthwhile and wasteful, the "13" Club is very much misunderstood throughout the University. Nevertheless, the Club somehow survives to spread its message of Bacchanalian delight.
The Mongolian Minks is an esoteric organization with a history traceable to Alexander of Mesopotamia. After the demise of Alexander, the group moved to an unknown location in Germany until the Wars of the Roses when they emerged in full strength on the British Isles, only to be forced into hiding once more by the leaders of the Puritan Revolt. Finally, after long and arduous travels, this group found worthy and permanent asylum on the campus of Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia, the Shrine of the South.

The activities of the Minks, which are so enigmatic as to border on the inscrutable, have often been misunderstood, and it is for this reason that this organization has been seen in the wrong light. For public purposes the function of the Mongolian Minks is to live life in a manner which will paradoxically merge the Dyonisian and Byzantine Heritage of the group, in order that each individual may be most worthy to work for the general betterment of mankind.
ENTERTAINMENT SIGMA SOCIETY

The Circle K Club of Washington and Lee was founded in 1964 under the auspices of Kiwanis International. The club functions as a service organization for college men operating on the campus and is similar to Kiwanis and other service clubs.

Broadening the opportunities available to students, Circle K provides personal contact with business and professional leaders of the local community. In addition, the development of leadership is a goal of Circle K.

In 1947 the first Circle K Club was organized at Carthage College in Carthage, Illinois. Today more than five hundred colleges and universities support the efforts of Circle K on their campuses.

The W&L Circle K Club maintains many worthwhile activities. Recent projects have included sponsoring the United Fund drive on the campus, and helping support a tutoring project at Lexington High School.
The Student Service Society is an established Washington and Lee service organization. The main function of the organization is to provide guided tours of the campus for visitors, prospective students, or groups who are interested in seeing and hearing about the University. Working in co-ordination with the office of admissions, a member of SSS offers about two hours of his freetime a week to give tours during which he points out the physical aspects of the campus, relates some history about Washington and Lee, and explains some of our traditions.

This year and in the past, the organization has worked with the Alumni Department during Homecoming Weekend, the Administration during Parents' Weekend, the Debate Club during invitational tournaments, and the Journalism Department when entertaining SIPA.

New members are chosen in the fall from the sophomore and junior classes by application and interview.
The Student War Memorial Scholarship Fund Committee raises money for the University to be used as a scholarship for the sons of deceased veterans. The organization raises funds by selling cokes at the concerts during big dance weekends and selling class rings at the Co-Op. In addition, it is in charge of the concessions for graduation invitations and caps and gowns. Further revenues are accumulated by means of checking coats at the Fancy Dress Ball. The annual fall raffle, with the drawing being held at Homecoming football games, raises more money.

New members are chosen each year out of the sophomore and junior classes by the present members.

With the much appreciated help from Dr. Charles F. Phillips Jr., the committee has raised over $26,000 since its founding, $1,500 plus being donated each year.

Class of 1969...THE Class
With wandering steps and slow the men of Phi began the halfway auspicious school year . . . and you know, we thought it would be a pretty good year . . . after all we had gotten a good pledge containing one Sloth and one Hippie for variety . . . 8 Dels captured varsity sports . . . Rob Bauer represented us on the EC, C-Man was President of IFC, and Jents pulled off a great Monte Carlo Openings Weekend . . . we even had our Christmas party before the flu wiped out the girls schools.

But then it hit the fan . . . Stetler and LeTourneau began their battle for the sickman award . . . Justin, the FBI, and the Sec. administration all paid homage to the bomb that wasn't . . . scholarship dipped ever so slightly . . . it looked as if the seniors would have to save the year.

President Dome pulled us through some murky intrigues with the national . . . Bird Clarke entrenched himself as the biggest jock . . . Groin got engaged to the house Sweetheart . . . C-Man made a go of politics and other blunders . . . the White Rino lost more hair for the cause of Law School and the Fatherland . . . and finally Sug made the calculation that 3 names equals one rung on the social ladder . . .

In all, we had the time of our lives!
First Row: Woodward, Cassell, Lockhart, West, Judge, Carson, Phaup, Barton.
Second Row: Giamittorio, Campbell, Root, Orth, Coleman, Carter, McConnell, Martin, Kirshbaum, Atkins, Whitehurst, Greenwood.
Like any year that is to be considered productive, this year at the DU house was a year of growth and change. Our nine man pledge class teamed up to give the house an admirable second place finish in the annual “turkey trot” and then they combined with the upperclassmen to win the intermural wrestling championship—a feat we should duplicate again next year with the Young team we fielded this year. There were many other minor changes, that were just as important: Les finally breaks the Hollins habit and Crazy Chip discovers girls . . . Reeve adds the presidency to his long list of activities . . . Fratty Ted and Fat Al remodel the front fenders of their jalopies . . . Webb and “the nose” compare lash marks on their back while “poor skinny little Wise” holds out another semester for Wild Turkey . . . Jeff stains his jeans when the hand hits the mat for the last time . . . the “bloodsucker” loses in five straight falls at the keg party to Westy . . . Kimmel finds that his date’s home cooking is not his bag . . . Kirk and the girl with hat terrorize the lodge with orange juice . . . the pledges finally tie “Black Dan’s” roaming hands at the brother hunt and Pete sees hands put other uses at Sweetbriar. Yes, this was a good year that saw some old traditions stopped and a lot of new ones begun—a year of change.
Alpha Chapter began its 103rd year with the initiation of the noted Old South Weekend, increasing participation in inter-collegiate sports, and the holding down of several posts of campus leadership.

Senior Judson Simmons (in his second year as Treasurer) served as Student Body Secretary; Judson also worked on a R.E. Lee Research grant with economics Prof. Charles F. Phillips. Junior John Yow (No. 2), after bringing in 14 fine pledges, was elected captain of the soccer team. Junior Larry Honig (No. 3), Horace Greeley unchained, edited The Tuesday Ring-tum Phi. Junior Langdon Quin and Freshman Chuck Lee were on the prestigious Cold Check Committee. Sophomore Connor Smith served as class vice-president; Law Student Harley Duane was Intermediate class secretary.

In Fall Sports, Senior John Harris, Sophomores Bruce Green and Johnny McNeil, and Freshman Duncan Pace were on the Gridiron. In addition to Yow, Junior Curt Jamison and Freshman Ree Shere played soccer; Junior Scott McElroy turned in his third highly-successful season on the swimming team.
After successful rush at the Drinking Gourd Museum, Madison road trips resumed . . . Grey-ghost becomes the “new” old Buxton, i.e., insane . . . Altavista townie makes Mare Farm live up to its name with nude sit-in with Space Cadet, Super Hank, B.I., Millar, and Little Willie . . . Baby Turkey “seduces” Carol Burnett . . . Twas early in September of '68 (oh, how well we remember those glorious days, my children) that an intrepid band of oft bedeviled conquistadores retraced their steps to that Purple Valhalla in the foothills of the Shenandoah. Ah yes, Madeline Mammery, out there in the east coast, vast, vacuous larder land, perhaps you remember the story. They came, fellow revelers, rallying under the auspicious charisma of Venerable Beeqer, may the Muse sing his praises forever. His tempest-tossed vassals had wended their way from all corners of the then-known world: the good Count Dubber from the sunny isle of Hispaniola, Baron Jerry and Prince Snuggles from those twin cities of sin, rivaled only by Sodom and Gomorhoro, and from the Icelandic regions of Leif the Lucky, the magnanimous Duke of Penguin; a more conspicuous band of warlords had not trampled the earth beneath their feet since the Golden Horde.
Hello? . . . Call the house!! Hey, Bus, are you buying the beer for the party this weekend? Hey, no man, I bought the party Favors last time . . . besides, my bill from McCrum's is due in this week. And another weekend begins for the Phi Psis.

Weekend's save most of us, all that is except Weelson who can't stay out of his "jams" long enough to decide what to do. Turtle resigns himself to the gator, while McKelway emerges from the woodwork to assume the "Buma" position. Doogar, Doogar, where hast thou gone . . . Deer season opened up with Thai bagging the one that eluded Flash last season. Hey Beach, what's on the nightstand? Who is the phantom Flusher? Here they come, Mrs. Horsey! No one has seen Boo Man or Rodie since they moved up to the Fourth Floor. "Owl She" is O.T.R. as O'Grady soars out of control. Fortunately, for us all, tales of WJ have ceased since the Dike was plugged up with tales of LT. The sometimes ribald existence of the Psis can be summed up by Lord Byron who once stated, "Let there by wine, women, mirth and laughter, sermons and soda water the day after."

Rush chairman George Bateh sobered himself and the remainder of the Pi Kapps long enough to allow us to conduct another successful Rush Week. With one of the largest pledge classes on campus, 20, the freshmen proved to be what we hoped they would be. Greg Warga held down a starting position on the freshman football team, while Rick Spilltorf, Chris Clark, Jeff Driscoll, and Dave Mansen sailed to a successful season on the freshman soccer team. Steve Darsie and Bill Green ran cross-country, golfer Bob Storey was sure to cinch a high perch on the Varsity golf team, and Bob Carrere, Orme Gresham, and Charlie White practically ran WLUR, the university radio station. The Brotherhood was not to be outdone by the upstart class of '72. Wren Hudgins and Mike Spoor returned to the Varsity tennis team, Dick Ivey and Ken Newman to the Varsity soccer team, and Hous Archon Joe Bates was elected President of the Troubadours. As usual, the Big Brother system was in effect, and the Brothers and Pledges got together for another riotous year.

This was the Year of the Pledges . . . 29 of them. Duncan ran a great rush. We found things to keep them busy, and in gratitude they threw a pledge party . . . with “Hairy Buffalo” which took its toll of actives and pledges.

Academically, Zeta started the year well with a Phi Beta Kappa and twenty-one on Dean’s List. Dobbs was seen daily with his “blitz box,” and there were all-nighters for everyone.

Sigs took part in campus activities. Pearcy was captain of Cross Country and Secretary of the I.F.C. Marks, LaRue, Marshall, and Achorn played frosh football with Glass on Cross Country. Gibson was President of the Concert Guild, and with Maloney was on the YR Executive Committee. Williams was vice-president of Openings, and Superfish led the swimmers to second place. Those without official activities sharpened their Hearts or Bridge skills.

Duncan finally managed to get engaged to Gray, and Maloney, Milis, and Barcelona Bob lost their pins. Mrs. Smith and her piano were still with us, withstanding the Great Housemother Scandal. With Phillips whipping the pledges into shape, the House survived its 102nd year better than ever.
Enter the cowgirl — another IM tennis win — Frank coaches frosh and gets engaged — Norwood and Stuart lead B-ball — Bethea falls by the wayside — Hull joins the Sheey fraternity — Herndon treads a thin line at Baldwin — Brown misses train in NY — McClure studs it up — The "Grabber" gets serious at Sem — Frankstone passes again — Liddy is horny — Peck passes out cigars — Dunn heads Commerce Fraternity and "cut" club — Is Burt going bald? — Meinrath stars in "Hair" — George almost has two dates for the hayride — Greg journeys to South Carolina and Charlie makes it as far as the C.I. — Morgan won't take Linda home — Sigma Nu's run the dorms — Smith and the automatic rule — "Kef" and the road trip — Adams transfers to a certain North Carolina girls school — Salley wins "best temperament" award — Mitt, Phil and Denise —

Fourth Row: Evans, Bernstein, Gordon, Greenhut, Sandler, Eisson.
A year of long hair, beads, and quick exits for ZBT. Lewis pulls the all-time Jay Feld. Three pledges, Doyd, Mark, and Micky grab a souvenir and in turn are grabbed. Sler gets a cold left cheek, Mitchell, two pairs of hot lips and Apter an experienced hand. Bear, Biff, Sugar, Dietz and others play musical rooms. Popper sees red, Jacobs wished he did, San Miguel sees double and at times not at all. Loring resigns as P.B. champ, and a Happy Clown rapes the Dancing Girl. Soupy refuses to do a point 5 but half the pledge class doesn’t do much better. It is true Blake is a NOT and Bush is still #2. Boys meet girls—Bear, Cub, Sabu, and even Beeno. (By the way Gay, What happened in Greenwich and is love above snickers?) Finally, but not least — Mom Fletcher, you’re the greatest and good luck to the class of ‘69, What’s left, and not coming back next year.

As a yearbook editor, wouldn’t you like—

✓ complete creative art assistance in planning and designing your book

✓ actual known production performances (by records) of substantially less than 10 weeks, as required by most yearbook manufacturers. No contract claims, either, of an additional 4 days on delivery for each 1 day any deadline is missed

✓ an association with a firm who has specialized in designing yearbooks perhaps longer than any other company

✓ our insistence of your reading and checking page proofs to avoid (or at least minimize) possible glaring errors in the completed edition

✓ an all out effort to please you in design, quality, and service at competitive prices

What more could you ask?

BACKWORDS

A year ago I didn’t exactly know what the yearbook could become. The end result is a product of excellent work from those who assisted daily and from others who offered their keen wit and timely suggestions when they were most needed. Our thanks to Messrs. Eadie and Benson for their helpful assistance throughout the year.

As editor it has been a most thought-provoking year in working with and through people. By holding the position of editor, one does not only administrate, but one learns, and that’s what this book’s all about.
