ATHLETIC COUNCIL AWARDS MONOGRAMS

Six Monograms Given—McCain Elected Captain of 1921 Basketball—Council To Award Monograms in Tennis

At a meeting of the Athletic Council held Tuesday, March 9, six basketball monograms were awarded for the past season to the players and one to the manager, R. H. Young. The players receiving the W. and L. "Trident" are: Captain H. S. Bryant, third year; C. H. McCain, third year; J. T. Engleby, second year; K. E. Hines, second year; R. S. Moore, first year; W. F. Stephens, first year. The manager for the next year will be elected at a meeting later.

The Council also elected C. H. McCain to captain the 1921 team. McCain has just rounded out his third year as one of the most brilliant forwards W. & L. has ever had. His accuracy in finding the basket and good floor work have rendered him a most valuable man to the team this year and under his leadership a strong team may be expected next year. He is also prominent in other activities being president of the Final Ball this year, and he is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Another important action taken by the Athletic Council was the placing of tennis on the same basis as other

VARIOUS COMMITTEES NAMED

With a meeting of the Executive Committee following the appointment of the various other committees for finals, President C. H. McCain opened the campaign for "1920 FINALS." All are determined to make this year's finals the most memorable and enjoyable in years and the enthusiastic financial and moral support of every W. & L. student is essential to reach this end.

Such a program under the present economic conditions will cost more than previous finals and only a corresponding increase of subscriptions can make it possible. The largest assemblage of alumni that has ever gathered for the W. & L. finals is expected and in order to have plans for their entertainment a large sum of money must be given up to that.

The conclusive program will be handled by the Final Week Committee, the members of which are C. H. McCain, Chairman; H. F. Trotter, R. M. Cabell, I. M. Lynn, L. B. Cox, M. W. Paxton, Jr.; H. S. Bryant, R. H. Young, L. P. Collins and L. S. Musgrove. A schedule of the Final Week program will be announced in the near future.

The full committees as announced are as follows:

Executive Committee—M. W. Paxton, Jr., Chairman; J. B. Waters, T. M. Stubbs, Vice-Chairman; R. M. Barker, A. M. Bernstein, S. A. Bris-

FINAL CAMPAIGN WEEK OPENS

"Subscribe to Finals"—Enough said. The familiar red signs on the campus tell the tale. The yearly campaign to raise funds for Finals—the week in the college year that every Washington and Lee man awaits, was formerly launched this week by President McCain. To the old men at Washington and Lee, nothing need be said as to Finals. It constitutes the grand climax. It is essentially a University Function and its success depends upon the support of every Washington and Lee man. President McCain is laboring under Quoting Associated Press dispatches from Iron River, Mich., of Feb. 26, Martin S. McDonough, prosecuting attorney of Iron County, has been termed uncrowned king of the upper peninsula of Michigan, and his friends are already considering him as a Republican presidential candidate. His prominence has grown out of the so-called "Whiskey Revolt" of that section of the state, which called forth the first clash between state and federal agents. Those who have read the daily papers will recall that an armed expedition under Major Dalrymple was sent into the iron belt of Michigan with the avowed purpose of arresting county and village officers on charges of conspiracy to obstruct the enforcement of the prohibition law, and that this expedition was worsted and recalled, through the stern measures of Martin McDonough, who threatened to arrest and put in jail every member of the expedition if any one in Iron County was arrested without warrant or any private home searched. McDonough was a graduate of Washington and Lee of the class of 1907 and was a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity and other clubs.

Dear Mr. Graham:

I beg to enclose my check toward the fund for the erection of the Memorial Gateway. I regret that I am unable to have a larger part in this splendid movement, but I assure you for my very great admiration for you and your committee in undertaking this magnificent work. I wish for you the greatest possible success.

Dear Mr. Graham:

Find enclosed my check to apply as a contribution to the Washington and Lee Memorial Gateway Fund. I regret the many calls on my funds set aside for similar purposes make it impractical to send a larger amount. I feel, however, that if our alumni individually contribute a like amount to this fund, Washington and Lee will have a memorial to the soldiers and sailors who lost their lives in the late war, of which they will well be proud.

Cordially yours,

Dear Sir:

Best wishes,

Professor Riviere received his B. A. in 1911 and M. A. in 1912 from Washington and Lee. Since being discharged from the army, to which he was among the earliest volunteers, he has been located at the University of South Carolina as head of the Department of Bible.

E. E. LANE ADDRESSES "Y" MEETING

Ex-"Y" Secretary From France Makes Intensely Interesting Talk On "The Great Adventure"

The regular mid-week meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held on last Wednesday night was of more than usual interest and inspiration, the speaker being E. E. Lane who served over two years as a "Y" secretary in France. With his heart set on fire by his message, "The Great Adventure," Mr. Lane gave that kind of a straightforward talk that appeals to every red-blooded college student.

The speaker pointed out that before the war in 1914, people were saying that the young men of the day were not of the caliber of those of Civil War days. They soon saw their mistake though, for the adventures of the war called out the best in our youth, showing what they would sacrifice for a comrade or dare for the cause of right.

The speaker then explained how our civilian life presents an adventure that calls for far more stamina than the war ever did. This adventure is living an unselfish Christian life. Such a life counts for much more than any other kind. As a type of this there is Florence Nightingale whose name is known to hundreds who never heard the name of Wellington. Another example is Mr. Williams who founded the Y. M. C. A.

There are opportunities for pioneering in this field which will test the stuff of our manhood. The address closed with a strong appeal for us to make the most of our lives by trying to live up to the possibilities there are for a Christian life.

TROUBADOURS ENTERTAIN AT FAIRFIELD

strange and unfamiliar antics of the Washington and Lee Troubadours, who performed there on the evening of Wednesday, March the tenth.

Never was a dramatic performance more successful. Never before have the "Troubs" so utterly abandoned themselves to the spirit of the occasion. Jim Hill swallowed the brass of his trombone a yard at a time. Runt Carter went into convulsions on the drums and bells. Frank Somers and his mandolin club clawed the wires until the house went wild. The glee club was in perfect tune, the dancers seemed to be on springs, and the comedians acted as though they had just fed up on the sparkling dew of the neighboring mountains. The response of the ingenious audience to this exhibition of unrestrained hilarity was more than gratifying. Again and again the house rocked with applause, and no one seemed to grudge the gate receipts.

All the Troubadours were there. The Orchestra, Mandolin Club, and Glee Club made the music; Osborne, Dupree, and Guill gave recitations and comic songs; Max Brodie, as usual, did the clog dancing, and Taylor performed on the violin. The grand finale was the Swing, played and sung by the combined Troubadours.

On the twelve-mile auto trip back to Lexington, the last car skidded and tried to climb a telegraph pole, whereat its six occupants left it in the ditch and continued on foot. After about two miles of midnight strolling, they were picked up by a passing car and brought into town.

Mr. Smithson (entering Commerce Library): Is Vicars in here? (Loudly).

Runt Trotter (thinking it is Bill Spencer): Take that bull outside. (Very loudly).

Is it possible? There is a surplus of 75 odd dollars in the strong box of the Athletic Association. Think of it, 75 bucks. In this time of trial and tribulation an excess of 75 bones is not to be sneezed at. So much for the Athletic Association and its treasure trove.

There is also a group of 6 or 8 men on this campus who have under the most trying and unsatisfactory conditions represented this University upon the basketball court. Hitherto it has been the custom of the school to give sweaters to the wearers of the basketball monogram. This was done in '16, but since then no such move has been initiated and the Ring-tum Phi (always ready to blaze the way in the fact of adverse criticism) suggests that this surplus left over from the football fund be applied in this manner. There is no better way to apply this money. The Athletic Association does not need it. It's entirely an unlooked for, uncalled for surplus that the aforesaid Athletic Association has no vital and pending need for.

Now this team does deserve something. They trained, and fought and won and lost (twice) under conditions of breaks in the season, schedule and everything else. The money will buy the sweaters. Come on, Athletic Association, shell out while it doesn't hurt.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

To the Editor of the Ring-tum Phi:

The W. and L. Monogram Club is undertaking to make the monogram that is awarded to men making Washington and Lee athletic teams stand where it should and mean more to both the wearers and to the University as a whole. In order to do this it is necessary that we have the co-operation of the entire student body. In the past many students have unintentionally misused the monogram and the Club wishes to ask their assistance by observing the following rules:

1. That no one who has not been awarded a monogram by the Athletic Council, mark their books or other property by drawing or stamping the W. and L. Monogram on them.

2. That no one who has not been awarded a monogram by the Athletic Council use stationary with the W. and L. monogram on it.

The Club will greatly appreciate the co-operation of the students in helping make the monogram mean more in the future than it does at present, and in confining its use strictly to those to whom it has been officially awarded.

Hoping that the students will recognize the necessity of such a movement and will aid in it, we remain,

THE W. & L. MONOGRAM CLUB.

Editor of the Ring-tum Phi:

I trust that you will give me a small space in your columns to voice the sentiment of not a few men on the campus relative to the recent swimming and wrestling meets with Johns Hopkins and University of Virginia, respectively.

In both of these meets the Washington and Lee teams were not up with the standard as compared with our Football, Baseball and Basketball teams and as a result they went down to defeat badly. For the sake of that high standard which has been placed by the hard fighting Generals of the past, let us not lower the Blue and White colors by competing our minor sports' teams with teams known to be of a stronger grade. Please do not think that the writer is opposed to meeting either of the mentioned schools in athletics but he is opposed to placing teams representing this school which are not sufficiently trained or coached against those of other schools, that are coached continually. Would it not be a better plan to get swimming and wrestling teams coached thoroughly and then enter intercollegiate contests?

A STUDENT.

March 13, 1920.

The Editor of the Ring-tum Phi:

One of the prominent qualities of the sports of Washington and Lee, is the co-operative spirit of the students. Among the sports of Washington and Lee that are benefited by this co-operative spirit, is Handball. However, in this particular sport there are individuals, for the most part new men, that seem not to have imbibed the proper spirit.

For any two students to occupy, and monopolize a handball court, built for four, while other students are waiting, is a gross violation of the proper W. & L. spirit. However, Mr. Editor, this is the case: individuals are doing, and have done this very thing.

Does this not seem a bit selfish and unworthy of W. & L. student? We therefore respectfully ask that you use your influence to see that this misuse of our common property is eradicated, so that all and not merely a few may enjoy the privileges of our courts.

A STUDENT.

THE WILSON INSTITUTE CLOSES

The series of addresses being made at Washington and Lee by the Hon. J. Stitt Wilson on the subject of "Constructive Christian Democracy" were brought to a very successful close on last Tuesday night.

Mr. Wilson spoke to the student body four times in all and it is felt that much good will come from his inspiring lectures, the last two of which are given here.

Monday's Address

Proclaiming that any program for the solution of the labor problem of the world must, to be effective, "sew up labor's nerve of interest," the Hon. J. Stitt Wilson continued his series of addresses in our midst Monday night. There are no superior or inferior beings, and no one has a right to think he is such, the speaker also emphasized.

He explained labor's nerve of interest to mean that medium by which people are kept interested in their work, their lives and the meaning of those lives. Labor's nerve of interest is cut today he said because it had no interest in the plants, profits and product of our industrial organization.

Mr. Wilson asked: "Why should labor be faithful?" He said that the marvel of the world is that labor is as faithful as it is, and that he could detect no unnatural unfaithfulness.

He explained why he did not deal with college men's sins. He said that it was his desire to get men moved with compassion for humanity, and that there would then be no danger from their former limitations.

There can be no doubt that Mr. Wilson speaks from his heart and that he is doing a grand work in interpreting and proclaiming to the American people the movements and forces with which he has associated himself and with which he has devoted his life.

Tuesday's Address

The Institute on Constructive Christian Democracy was closed with a final plea by Mr. Wilson on Tuesday night for an application of the principles laid down by Christ to the social, economic and industrial relations of modern American life. He made it very plain that he was not, had not been, and never could be a Socialist, as that term is used.

He does not wish to reform our present system of distribution any more than is necessary to establish economic justice and social righteousness. Mr. Wilson made some very effective use of a blackboard in the presentation of his subject. At the conclusion cards promising varying degrees of adherence to the principles laid down by the speaker were distributed and signed.

VIRGINIA DEFEAT GENERALS ON THE MAT

Vest Only Winner of a First Place for W. & L.

Winning five out of six matches, the University of Virginia wrestling team won easily from the Washington and Lee team last Monday night at the gymnasium. Vest, the only winner of the local team, put up a mighty game fight and well deserved his match. The remainder of the men were outweighed in the other matches, but all fought gamely and none gave up. The team, which is composed mostly of Freshmen, handled themselves nicely, and each man gave his opponent a good fight, considering the small amount of coaching and practice that they have had.

In the bantamweight Vest, weighing 119 lbs., won from Granes, 119 lbs., after 18 minutes of wrestling on time.

Moon, 128 lbs., won from Humphrey, 124 lbs., in the featherweight on time.

In the lightweight Dondy, 138 lbs., won from Cothron, 134 lbs. with a sissors.

Dunlap, 149 lbs., won from Dainto 145 lbs., with a nelson and crouch in four minutes.

Hampton, 158 lbs., was defeated by Poe, 162 lbs., in the middleweight by a sissors hold.

G. Poe, 169 lbs., won from Farmer, 159 lbs., in the heavyweight with a sissors in a short time.

LITERARY SOCIETY

A good crowd was in attendance at the meeting of the Literary Society last Saturday night. F. Flournoy opened the program with an oration. Cheves then gave an extemporaneous speech on McAdoo for President. Even our Literary Society Hall is beginning to echo with the next presidential campaign.

As usual the debate was the principal part of the discussion of the evening. The question was Resolved: That the United States should make an immediate loan to Austria. H. F. Madison and D. P. McKinnon upheld the affirmative, while H. T. Linebaugh and F. C. Parks supported the negative. The debate was lively and the debaters exhibited a reasonable amount of knowledge of one of the greatest questions which faces this country today. The judges, Messrs. Cheves, Hilton and Anderson, rendered their decision in favor of the negative.

After the report of the critic, E. B. Beatty, a motion was carried to elect the orators and officers for the final celebration. The orators elected were: W. C. Anderson, P. Grissom, and C. A. Foss. Madison was chosen President of the celebration, W. P. Parsons, Vice-President and Beatty, Chief Marshal.

The election of officers will take place at the next regular meeting of the society.

FRESH AND SOPHS TIE FOR HONORS IN INTER-CLASS CONTEST

The schedule of the inter-class games has finally been completed with the Freshmen and Sophomores tied for first honors, and the Junior Law and Academic teams tied for second place. The interest in these games began to lag towards the end of the season and several games were forfeited. However, we feel safe in saying that the best teams are in the lead. The Sophs defeated the Freshmen in their first game by a margin of two points. And if the tie is played off the game will be one long to be remembered by both classes. The general average:

	Won	Lost	Aver.
Sophomores	4	1	800
Freshmen	4	1	800
Junior Acad.	3	2	600
Junior Law	3	2	600

 son, which will open on Wilson Field April first by a game with Lafayette. The schedule is as yet only a tentative one, not having been ratified by the Athletic Council, but of course there will be no difficulty about that. The opening game should be an excellent one and full of pep, for Lafayette invariably turns out a good team. W. and L. has played this team a number of times and have about split even on the games won and lost. It will be noticed that Amherst College and V. P. I. are the only institutions whose names appear twice on the 1920 schedule Amherst defeated the Blue and White aggregation in their last game with them which took place in 1917, but the Generals can boast of having scalped V. P. I. in both of the last year's games.
 On April 6th William and Mary College will step up to the bat in an attempt to wipe out that memorable game of the 1919 season in which John Drye set the onlookers wild with excitement by knocking a home run in the ninth inning, thereby turning a tie score into a 5 to 4 victory for his team. The Generals look for Victory as usual from Trinity College of North Carolina, though it will be gained only by much sweat of the brow and hard work for Trinity always has a plucky team that puts up mighty big scrap.
 The game with Georgia will be the first game that this University has played in the noble metropolis of Lexington in years and should afford much entertainment for the Red and Black are said to have one of the best baseball nines in the S. I. A. A. this year. North Carolina we play every year and this year we will meet them on neutral ground, the game being slated to be played in Danville, Va. If we are victorious, as we must be, it will be our second victory over them in eight years. Last year was the first.

This year is the first time that Washington and Lee has ever played either Delaware College or Auburn at baseball and we know very little about their teams, except that both are reported to have strong aggregations.

The first out of town game that the Generals will play is with V. P. I. at Blacksburg and then we meet the Catholics at Washington. Catholic U. has an excellent team this year and is noted all over this section for its ball players but their 1916 4 to 3 victory over us must be wiped out this season or we ought to know the reason why. And when it comes to the games with the Army and Navy—look out! Both are hard to beat and the Army School has it on us from the 1916 game. As for Georgetown, which is reputed to have the strongest nine in the South Atlantic division, it remains to be seen what will happen. But we still remember that we have an old score to settle with them on the grounds of that football game of last fall.

NEW ATTRACTION ADDED TO LIST OF EASTER GAETIES

Troubadours To Give All Star Matinee On April 14th

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Troubadours held last Sunday afternoon it was decided that an All Star Vaudeville presented by the combined Troubadours organization would be added to the list of festivities in connection with the Easter Hops, the performance taking place in the afternoon of Wednesday, April 14th—the afternoon before the Fancy Dress Ball.

The entertainment will consist of all new numbers and as much time and labor is being spent in preparation for the occasion, an even more delightful presentation than was given before is to be expected. Show your pep and spirit and back the fellows up with both moral and financial support by attending the show. Write your girl about it—then take her to see it.

difficulties due to the increased cost of all the necessary elements. It is therefore the duty of every man to contribute his part, and a substantial part, whether he be a dancing man or not, or whether he intends to remain for the festivities, and this duty has heretofore been met with the characteristic College Spirit.

The dates for finals, so far as may be definitely stated, still remain fixed for June 11-15. It is officially stated however, that the finals of the two local institutions will not be allowed to conflict. Elaborate preparations are being made for the week. The tentative program includes alumni reunions, unveiling the memorial gate, banquets, parties, and dances galore. Arrangements are being made to secure the best of music to be had. But this all will cost money, and the cost of previous finals will be comparatively insignificant. To meet this and make our finals a success, it is confidently expected that every man will sign the well known little card as soon as presented, and for the largest subscription in his power. What is that week of fun worth? If worth nothing, to you individually, back it for the sake of your school!—M. W. P., Jr.

CONTRACT LET FOR MEMORIAL GATE

 may be judged by the Doremus Gymnasium and the W. & L. Dining Hall, which are worthy specimens of its art in design and construction. This final action was taken upon advice of the committee on finance, of which E. L. Graham is chairman and N. W. Burgess is treasurer. This committee, feeling sure that contributions of alumni and friends, not already sent in, will suffice to make up the amount needed, urged that the work be rushed to completion in order to have it finished before Finals, and this is called for in the contract. This action does not signify by any means that the amount needed is in hand, but it is believed that many will contribute who have not yet done so, and it is upon this assumption that those in charge are relying.

As formerly announced the gateway will be placed at the driveway entrance to the campus, and will form the key position of the future extension of the campus in the direction of Main Street, property along Henry Street to Main having already been acquired by the University for the purpose of making an imposing entrance here. The plans were drawn by B. C. Flournoy, a prominent architect of Washington, D. C., who is also an Alumnus of W. & L.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

sports on the campus, which means that monograms will be awarded in this branch of athletics in the future. This will be gratifying news to those members of the student body who are confirmed devotees of the gentle art of wielding the racket. The Council approved L. D. Cohn as captain of the team and G. H. Baber as manager. Baber already has well in hand the arrangement of a promising schedule of intercollegiate games.

A unanimous vote of thanks was given to Prof. C. E. Williams, who with that true W. and L. spirit has offered his voluntary services as tennis coach.

NINE cases out of ten, the man who once smokes a WDC Pipe becomes a life member of the WDC club. He can't help it, because a WDC is certainly a man's size smoke. It's as sweet and mellow as carefully selected French briar and expert seasoning can make it. Not only material of the first water, but craftsmanship of the highest order, and designs that are most pleasing—all combine to make the WDC Pipe a smoke of peace, contentment and satisfaction. A man's smoke. Any good dealer will confirm this.
