W. L. U. vs. Roanoke College.

TUESDAY'S GAME, W. L. U. 15, R. C. 1—WEDNESDAY'S GAME, W. L. U. 9, R. C. 1—THURSDAY'S GAME, W. L. U. 7, R. C. 4.

TUESDAY'S GAME.

Baker started the ball rolling by getting his base on balls, stole 2nd, went to third on error of third baseman, Smith, and came home on hit of Fox. Williamson for Roanoke was hit by the ball, stole 2nd, went to 3rd on error of Spencer and came home on Smith's fly-out to left.

W. L. U. did not find Moore sufficiently to make a run in the second though he was touched for two hits.

In the third Crawford hit for a single but was put out at 2nd by S. C. Bagley hitting to short. Andrews hit to 3rd, who errored. Fox hit to pitcher, out at 1st, Andrews and Bagley advancing. "Oom" hit into center, which Hickel failed to handle, Bagley and Andrews scoring. "Oom" went to 2nd on passed ball, stole 3rd. Boogher in the meantime got his base on balls and stole 2nd. Smith drove it out for three bags, "Oom" and Boogher scoring. Spencer hit to Williamson, who errored, Smith scoring. Baker got four balls, Spencer going to 2nd. Crawford hit to short, another error, and each man advancing a base. Sam Bagley repeated the performance, a third error being given to the shortstop, and Spencer tallying the sixth run in that inning. Andrews put out the side by flying out to left.

In the fourth, Fox found the ball for two bags, went to 3rd on passed ball, and came home on third baseman's error, "Oom" hitting to him which he failed to handle properly. Boogher lined out a two-bagger. "Smut" hit to 1st, out. "Oom" tried to make a score but was thrown out at home. Spencer got a single, Boogher scoring. Baker got his base on error of shortstop and he and Spencer scored on three base hit of Crawford's. Crawford scored on passed ball. Bagley retired the side by hitting to third, out at 1st.

In the sixth, "Smut" found the ball for a three-bagger, and came home on single of Baker's—Spencer in the meantime having fouled out.

In the ninth, W. L. U. gained two more runs. "Tit" got to 1st on the error of that baseman, stole 2nd, and went to 3rd on another error of Mauney's, putting Andrews on first. Bagley scored on passed ball. Andrews scored on the next two outs.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

WEDNESDAY'S—ASSOCIATION—GAME.

In this game it is needless to go into a full detail of the same save in the seventh inning, for, with but two exceptions, when Smith was left on 3rd in the second, and Baker was left on 3rd in the 3rd inning. W. L. U. went down in one, two, three order.

The single run for Roanoke was made in the third inning when Bear was given his base on balls. An error of Breckenridge and a wild throw of Sam Bagley gave him the run.

The seventh inning, which has been proven to be the lucky inning for W. L. U., was opened with Andrews getting single in centre. Smith hit it in the eye and got his base on error of first base. Boogher got to 1st on error of 3rd. "Polly" tied the score by coming home on passed ball. "Oom Paul" put a single in right and Smith and Boogher started to "Home, Sweet Home." Martin tried to prevent the score but threw wild, and both runners came home, "Oom" traveling on to the 3rd bag. "Tit" made a bunt which lengthened into a hit, "Oom" scoring. "Breck" "nailed the ball" for two bags, "Titlum" coming in. Baker "fanned." Crawford got four balls, went to 2nd on the out of Fox. In trying to catch Crawford off 2nd, Hall fumbled the ball, Breckenridge scoring. Andrews struck out.

In the 8th, "Smut" got a two-bagger. Boogher hit to short and that gentleman tried to catch Smith on third, but the ball hit "Smut" on the side and glanced away, not only giving him his third but his home as well, Boogher going on to 2nd. Boogher advanced to 3rd on play-out of "Oom's" and came home on play out of "Lil" Bagley's.

In the 9th, Baker hit to centre, which Hickel muffed, allowing Baker to proceed to 2nd. Baker went to 3rd on passed ball, and then stole home on play out of Fox.

THURSDAY'S GAME.

The last game with Roanoke was by all odds the best of the series.

Our first run was made by Crawford. After being hit by the ball he stole 2nd, and Case, in trying to catch him "napping," threw wild to 2nd, letting Crawford trot to 3rd. Crawford then scored upon the two-bagger by Fox.

For Roanoke, Moore was hit in the side, went to 2nd on hit of Williamson's, went to 3rd on wild pitch of Baker's and scored on passed ball. Williamson then scored on two bagger of Kay's.

In the 2nd, Boogher flew out to short. "Oom" "fanned." Sam Bagley got a hit, and stole 2nd, went to 3rd on hit of Breckenridge's and scored on wild pitch. Baker went to 1st on balls. Crawford hit a "hot one" into "Casey's" hands but he failed to hold it. He then fumbled in the attempt to cut off "Breck," allowing him to score.

In the fourth, Smith of Roanoke, got a single, and was brought in by the home run drive of Case's over left field fence.

Neither side could do anything further until W. L. U.'s lucky seventh. Baker tapped it gently over left field fence for four bags. Crawford got a present of a base on balls, and then showed his appreciation by stealing second. Andrews stopped any further theft on his part by a two base hit. Andrews was brought home by the three bagger of Boogher's in left garden.

In the 8th, "Titlum" hit to pitcher, out at 1st—Hall having succeeded Case in the box by Heckel having sprained his ankle in the 7th in the attempt to steal home on the play out of Moore to left, when "Polly" quickly returned the ball home, catching Heckel at the plate. Breckenridge was sent to his 1st on balls, went to 2nd on play out of Baker's, went to 3rd on error of Mauney's, and scored on passed ball.

That we have one of the best, if not the best baseball team in the South, no one will deny. This fact has been all but demonstrated and we are proud of it. We should not, however, become so puffed up with this idea as to imagine that we can stand alone on the diamond, and make light of the loyal and enthusiastic "calic" who attempt to encourage our efforts with their feeble cheers. "It is not good for man to be alone," and likewise it is not good for a baseball team "to be alone" in the sense that all their encouragement comes from lusty masculine throats through the medium of a megaphone. The desire for the approbation of some silent spectator is generally more potent, and if a baseball manager had the power to probe into the inmost secrets of the hearts of his team, and after doing so, would send a tally-ho of "calic" to each game in conformity with the light shed by those secrets, we would venture the assertion that we would have a team that never could or would be beaten. We cannot afford to ignore the potent influence of the "calic" in athletics.

For this reason we have cause to apprehensive in regard to the effect produced by those men who echoed the cheers of the "calic" in our last game with Roanoke College. We feel sure that they meant no disrespect to the "calic" and trust that the "calic" also view the matter in this light. It was not the idea that we could do without their cheers and influence but a spirit of irrepressible fun that prompted the men to emulate their feeble cheers. There certainly was a vein of humor running through it all, and 'twere better to end the whole occurrence with a good laugh. We have had our laugh and the "calic" have had their revenge by rooting for Roanoke, and the score is now even. We pledge the "calic" that we shall not be so indiscreet as to attempt any more fun at their expense, and beg and implore that they will not leave us desolate, but will return to comfort and encourage our team with their rooting.

The Trip to Lynchburg.

Liberty Hall Day has been changed from May 2nd to May 9th, in order that everybody may have an opportunity of going to Lynchburg to see the game with U. Va. A special train will probably be chartered, and a low rate will be made. Everybody in college ought to take this trip even if he has to deprive himself in other ways in order to raise the necessary funds. The total expenses will be small, and the good to the team and to the University cannot be overestimated. If we preserve our unbroken record until the game it will be one of the largest and most enthusiastic games ever held in Lynchburg. An opera will probably be given that night and the train will probably hold over for it.

Banquet to the Team.

The alumni of Lynchburg are arranging to banquet the team, if we are victorious in our coming contest with Virginia. A subscription has been raised and if we are successful, the banquet will take place at the Hotel Carroll. Let the team take warning and not let this opportunity slip through their hands.

At a preliminary contest held this week Shively of the Graham-Lee Society, was selected to represent the University in the State Inter-collegiate Oratorical contest at Charlottesville next month.

Mr. Tucker on his return home from New York found $2,000 awaiting him in contributions to the Wilson Memorial fund. Five hundred dollars of this amount was contributed by Hon. David R. Francis, secretary of the interior under President Cleveland.

Southern Education

A treat was enjoyed by the students last Thursday morning which was the more appreciated because it was unusual. President Tucker had put his "grappling hooks" on two very good specimens of that small part of the human race which is called the celebrities, and his success in roping them in undoubtedly showed skill in that line of business. To him, therefore, we are indebted for the excellent talks given by Professor Brooks and Mr. Baldwin.

Professor Brooks is a lecturer in the University extension of Harvard, and he gave us some valuable truths as to education. Education, he said, was becoming more and more practical, the more so because it better fitted those starting in life to do something within their power. Along this line of thought he brought out the central feature of his remarks, that the keynote of life was becoming more and more the fact that man can do service to man instead of man fighting with man. This he illustrated by several allusions to the commercial and industrial conditions of this land, and then gave the education of which he had been speaking its place among the causes of this change.

Mr. Baldwin, president of the Long Island Railroad, and chairman of the committee of fifteen for the suppression of vice and crime in New York city, was then introduced by President Tucker as an extraordinary man because he was building or rather digging a railroad a half a mile or so under the ground. Not for this reason only, the audience soon found out, was he so extraordinary, for no sooner did the first few words in an extraordinarily pleasant voice reach their ears, telling them that he bore a message of good will from Harvard University, than all were extraordinarily interested, and finally came away extraordinarily pleased.

Mr. Baldwin spoke of the opportunities the young man from the South land had if he would only stay in the South land and work, and if this were the case he saw no reason why the South should not be a supreme power in industrial and commercial competition. The Negro problem was no problem to him, he said, for the only way the Negro could be raised above his present level was by his own efforts. In this conclusion Mr. Baldwin spoke minutely concerning Booker Washington and the Tuskegee Institute, as proving his point.

In the course of all of his remarks the extraordinary man won us completely by his sympathy with us, and we did not recognize how quite out of the ordinary he was until we thought about the things he told us, and came to the conclusion that both they and he were true.

Collegian Election.

On last Saturday night there was a joint session of the Literary societies for the purpose of electing the Collegian board for the coming year.

The political schemes and plots which are often characteristic of these elections were not in evidence, and all the members seemed to be unanimous in their selection of men.

Mr. Sydenstricker, who has been doing some good work for the Collegian this year, was unanimously elected editor-in-chief for the coming session. Three applicants appeared for the honor of being his associate, Mr. Millen of Tennessee, and Messrs. Guthrie and Wilson of Virginia. Mr. Guthrie was elected associate editor, as the gentleman who nominated Mr. Millen spoiled all his chances for success and Mr. Millen had made no active canvas. Mr. Guthrie, from all reports, is a most desirable man for the position. Mr. Pendleton, who has given excellent service this year as assistant manager, was elected business manager. Under the direction of these men we hope to see the Collegian made a complete success next year, and shall feel disappointed if it does not.

A motion to adjourn was then made and lost. Being thus forced to suffer each other's company, each member proceeded to air his special grievances, and to discuss matters of vital importance to the student-body. After much manoeuvring a motion to adjourn was forcibly carried and the meeting broke up.

M. G. Perrow is in town for a few days.

The boat crews are now hard at work and before many days the members of the crews will be picked.

Acting President Tucker represented Washington and Lee at the Conference for Education in the South, held during the past week at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Louisiana Alumni Association

We are in receipt of a copy of the report of the meeting, and account of the banquet of the Louisiana Alumni association. The report is tastefully gotten up in a small pamphlet, illustrated with an appropriate scene from alumni life, and of the old University before Newcomb and Tucker halls were erected.

The officers for the coming year are W.M. Wisdom, president; first, second and third vice-presidents, F. T. Howard and J. C. Hamilton; secretary, Wm. A. Bell. The total enrollment for the state is about 114, and had Washington and Lee a few more such enthusiastic bands of sons her career for the future in a wider and broader field would be assured.

'02 Meets.

The class of '02 held a meeting Friday afternoon for the purpose of arranging for its annual banquet.

The date set for the banquet was the night of May 10th, as it was thought that the trip to Lynchburg would afford an opportunity for foraging parties to get in their work and procure some of the via ids that are unobtainable in Lexington.

Messrs. McNulty, Allan and Ellis were elected a committee to prepare the material part of the banquet, and Messrs. Cooke and Keeble were selected to arrange for the no less enjoyable part of the entertainment in the way of toasts, etc.

Dr. Quarles has transferred to Professor Hogue the matter of locating those W. and L. U. students who may wish positions in schools, and the new "manager" has secured for Mr. W. P. Ott a position in the University School, Nashville, of which Mr. C. B. Wallace is principal. Mr. Wallace was in correspondence with men from other institutions, but gave the place, after full deliberation, to Mr. Ott, whose chief work will be to teach Greek. Mr. Wallace had himself been through Prof. Hogue's Greek mill at Hampden-Sidney and wanted some one who had suffered in the same way, and now he's got him; for Ott has stood twelve examinations in Greek at W. and L. U.

The Negro problem was no problem to him, he said, for the only way the Negro could be raised above his present level was by his own efforts. In this conclusion Mr. Baldwin spoke minutely concerning Booker Washington and the Tuskegee Institute, as proving his point.

In the course of all of his remarks the extraordinary man won us completely by his sympathy with us, and we did not recognize how quite out of the ordinary he was until we thought about the things he told us, and came to the conclusion that both they and he were true.

Collegian Election.

On last Saturday night there was a joint session of the Literary societies for the purpose of electing the Collegian board for the coming year.

The political schemes and plots which are often characteristic of these elections were not in evidence, and all the members seemed to be unanimous in their selection of men.

Mr. Sydenstricker, who has been doing some good work for the Collegian this year, was unanimously elected editor-in-chief for the coming session. Three applicants appeared for the honor of being his associate, Mr. Millen of Tennessee, and Messrs. Guthrie and Wilson of Virginia. Mr. Guthrie was elected associate editor, as the gentleman who nominated Mr. Millen spoiled all his chances for success and Mr. Millen had made no active canvas. Mr. Guthrie, from all reports, is a most desirable man for the position. Mr. Pendleton, who has given excellent service this year as assistant manager, was elected business manager. Under the direction of these men we hope to see the Collegian made a complete success next year, and shall feel disappointed if it does not.

A motion to adjourn was then made and lost. Being thus forced to suffer each other's company, each member proceeded to air his special grievances, and to discuss matters of vital importance to the student-body. After much manoeuvring a motion to adjourn was forcibly carried and the meeting broke up.

M. G. Perrow is in town for a few days.

The boat crews are now hard at work and before many days the members of the crews will be picked.

Acting President Tucker represented Washington and Lee at the Conference for Education in the South, held during the past week at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Louisiana Alumni Association

We are in receipt of a copy of the report of the meeting, and account of the banquet of the Louisiana Alumni association. The report is tastefully gotten up in a small pamphlet, illustrated with an appropriate scene from alumni life, and of the old University before Newcomb and Tucker halls were erected.

The officers for the coming year are W.M. Wisdom, president; first, second and third vice-presidents, F. T. Howard and J. C. Hamilton; secretary, Wm. A. Bell. The total enrollment for the state is about 114, and had Washington and Lee a few more such enthusiastic bands of sons her career for the future in a wider and broader field would be assured.

'02 Meets.

The class of '02 held a meeting Friday afternoon for the purpose of arranging for its annual banquet.

The date set for the banquet was the night of May 10th, as it was thought that the trip to Lynchburg would afford an opportunity for foraging parties to get in their work and procure some of the via ids that are unobtainable in Lexington.

Messrs. McNulty, Allan and Ellis were elected a committee to prepare the material part of the banquet, and Messrs. Cooke and Keeble were selected to arrange for the no less enjoyable part of the entertainment in the way of toasts, etc.

Dr. Quarles has transferred to Professor Hogue the matter of locating those W. and L. U. students who may wish positions in schools, and the new "manager" has secured for Mr. W. P. Ott a position in the University School, Nashville, of which Mr. C. B. Wallace is principal. Mr. Wallace was in correspondence with men from other institutions, but gave the place, after full deliberation, to Mr. Ott, whose chief work will be to teach Greek. Mr. Wallace had himself been through Prof. Hogue's Greek mill at Hampden-Sidney and wanted some one who had suffered in the same way, and now he's got him; for Ott has stood twelve examinations in Greek at W. and L. U.

Communicated.

Editor Ring-tum Phi :

In the name of the Washington and Lee baseball team I hereby express its disapproval of the course taken by a certain half dozen of the spectators at the last Roanoke game in trying to imitate the loyal calic yell. It was a case of Beauty mimicked by the Beast, and naturally one would expect a failure. In saying "what's the matter with the calic?" the team replies, "they are all right!" except only that they should not have taken any notice at all of the mocking birds, whom, we understand, were mostly non-college men.

We of the team and 99 per cent. of the rooters appreciated the appearance of the tally-ho, and no one dares for an instant deny that our first runs were not in the least due to our unaided efforts, but to the enthusiasm of the Varsity calic and their defiant waving of the white and blue.

M. P. ANDREWS, Capt.

(Endorsed by many chief rooters and the team.)

The Schubert Quartette.

The entertainment given by the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette of Chicago, at the University chapel on Wednesday night seemed to be very much appreciated. Owing to the repeated encores the company gave almost a double performance.

Mr. I. H. Lidy, the violinist, was a very skillful performer and his selections were among the best on the program. Mr. Goodwill Dickerman, the humorist of the company, gave two numbers. The first entitled "A Misunderstanding," for the most part fell rather flat, but last selections were more amusing and his impersonations good.

Of the lady quartette, Miss Esther Hogue, the contralto, deserves special mention. Her voice is excellent and would reflect credit on any musical organization. The other voices were nothing unusual, but the combination seemed to take very well, perhaps more so as it is the first entertainment of the kind we have had this season.

The Southern Student Conference of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in Asheville, N. C., June 21-30 inclusive.
