92nd Annual Celebration Of the Washington Literary Society

TILLMAN AND KELLY MEDALISTS

One of the most successful and well attended public events of the session was the 92nd annual celebration of the Washington Literary Society on last Monday evening. The literary program, consisting of the usual two orations and debate, was pleasantly interspersed with several musical numbers by the young ladies from the Southern Seminary at Buena Vista and the Virginia College at Roanoke, and by the Washington and Lee Glee Club.

The occasion was a distinct success, both from a literary and musical standpoint as attested by the undivided and unusual attention of the large audience for almost the entire evening. In addition to the usual attendance from the students and townspeople, there were present also about 70 young ladies from the Southern Seminary and the Virginia College.

The opening words of President O. V. Armstrong were pertinent and appropriate. He spoke briefly of the past, fairly of the present and hopefully of the future; and happily omitted all of those time-worn eulogies that have irrelevantly characterized the addresses of some of his predecessors.

Of the literary program the two orations were decidedly the most meritorious, the debate being somewhat lacking in those qualities which claim and hold the attention of an audience. Mr. W. F. Semple in his oration, "The New Monroe Doctrine," showed a careful study of his subject, his composition and delivery being easy, graceful and consistent. The second orator, Mr. H. C. Tillman, had for his subject "The Tendency of Nations," and in an original and forceful manner held an undivided attention.

The question for debate was,

"Resolved, That the United States should guarantee China in her possession of Manchuria." The first speaker on the affirmative, Mr. S. R. Neel, had a well prepared and logically divided argument, but unfortunately he had not committed it to memory. He lost the thread of his speech, was guilty of repetition and was unable to regain the attention of his hearers.

Mr. E. W. Kelly followed for the negative with a comprehensive protest against the interference of our government in European-Asiatic affairs. His debate showed a thorough preparation and was well delivered.

Mr. J. C. McPheeters in closing for the affirmative, was too voluble to be forcible. He evidenced a broad knowledge of his subject, but his failure to condense his material and to apply it to the issue detracted from the forcefulness of his debate.

The argument for the negative was closed by Mr. L. M. Williams. He had made a careful preparation but the patience of the audience had become so overtaxed by a long program that he worked against great odds.

The musical program was the most attractive feature of the evening. The opening march, "American Girls," as played by Misses Young and Foster of the Seminary, was well executed, though the young ladies were handicapped by a piano somewhat the worse for wear. Miss Stevenson of the Virginia College, sang "Einst und Jetzt" and responded with "Violets" to an appreciative encore. Miss Stevenson had chosen two pieces well adapted to her voice, which was sweet, true and expressive.

"La Zingara," the vocal solo by Miss Mellen of the Seminary, was a general favorite. Its rendition was excellent, but in her encore Miss Mellen made the hit of the evening.

Miss Embrey, the second soloist from the Seminary, in a beautiful waltz song, "Perfumes of the Orient," scored a success. Miss Embrey, with her rich, clear voice, had no difficulty in filling the auditorium.

The Glee Club in their several selections did fairly well, but this was to be expected considering the number of times they have used the same repertoire. Special mention however, should be made of the quartette composed of Messrs. Nichols, Johnson, Webb and Keller. Their interpretation of "Sweet and Low" was good.

The judges, consisting of General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Colonel E. W. Nichols and Mr. W. T. Shields, awarded the orator's medal to Mr. Tillman, and the debater's medal to Mr. Kelly. This decision meets with the general approbation of the student body.

Dance Given to S. B. C.

Last Tuesday night Mr. Herbert S. Osburn gave a very enjoyable dance to the S. B. C. The doors connecting the hall and the parlor were thrown open, making a spacious room for dancing. At eleven o'clock lunch was served, and at twelve the dancing stopped. The only feature to mar the pleasure of the occasion was the illness of the host, which was deeply regretted by all present.

Those present were Miss Miller with Mr. Bledsoe; Miss Rust with Mr. Hamilton; Miss Brockenbrough with Mr. Tillman; Miss Lee with Mr. Charles Bagley; Miss Dunlap with Mr. Duncan; Miss McNeily with Mr. Hartman; Miss McNeily with Mr. Worthen; Miss Boatwright with Mr. Thomas; Miss Ratzburg with Mr. Dunlap; Miss Johnson with Mr. Dunn; Miss Stevenson with Mr. Nall; Miss Prendergast with Mr. Davant; Miss Crippen with Mr. Trundle. Stags: Captains Cabell and Carter, and Messrs. Bagley, Colville, Stokes, J. R. H. Alexander, McLaughlin, Allen, Kellar, Marshall and Dr. Bitzer. The chaperones were Mesdames Osburn and Boatwright, and Miss Craig.

Don't fail to see Stokes in "The Private Secretary," March 4 and 5.

Meeting of V. I. C. A. A.

A meeting of the Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Association was held in Richmond last Friday. There were present representatives from Virginia, Randolph-Macon, Richmond, Virginia Military Institute, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, William and Mary and Washington and Lee, eight in all, Hampden-Sidney failing to send a representative and Roanoke having dropped out. The admission of Fredericksburg by the executive committee last spring having been confirmed, her representative was given a vote in the meeting.

Both the football and baseball trophies for the western section were given to Virginia, while both of the trophies for the eastern section went to Richmond.

Several constitution changes were then made. First the word "purification" was added to Art. I, Sec. 2, making it read: "The object of this Association shall be the promotion, purification and regulation of intercollegiate athletics," etc. The second change was the enlargement of executive committee from three to nine members, five of whom being residents in the same locality.

Art. VIII is the one in which the most radical changes, none of which are retroactive, were made. Sec. I now prescribes the following: "Neither one, who has engaged in intercollegiate contests for four years, in or out of the Association, nor one who has played during vacation on any ball team except his home team (one year's bona fide residence), on the trips of which he must have paid all his expenses, will be eligible." Sec. 5 was added, which requires a report by the Secretary of each Association at the end of every season of all games, scores and players. It is the intention to file these reports for a permanent record, to be used especially in looking up the status of athletes.

The 300 seats for "The Private Secretary" will sell fast. Reserve yours at once.

It was quite a pleasure to the students as a whole as well as the members of the Washington Literary Society to have the young ladies from the Southern Seminary as their guests Monday night, and they all, no doubt, hope that this has become a custom which will be renewed from year to year. It was also a treat to have them and the young ladies from Virginia College to assist with the musical program. Their kindness in assisting added greatly to the pleasure of occasion.

The demonstration accorded General Simon Bolivar Buckner Monday night at the Literary Society celebration was the manifestation of the respect which the young manhood of the South has for one whose whole life has been spent in a battle for what he believes to be right. Whether we agree or differ from a man of this character we are bound to admire him, and the approval of the students was a fitting tribute to his manhood.

As the winter breaks the baseball and crew men will commence hard training. When will it be the case that our "track team" will do the same? One thing is certain, before it happens, that we must have a well-built track on the athletic grounds.

If some of our critics were not so modest to conceal their identity we would be glad to confer with them as to the future policy of the RING-TUM PHI.

Oral Debates—March 2, 1904

Resolved, That a system of compulsory arbitration in labor disputes should be inaugurated by the government of the United States.

Affirmative	Negative
Mr. Kelly	Mr. Armstrong
Mr. Thomas	Mr. Neel
Mr. Irons	Mr. Light

BRIEF FOR AFFIRMATIVE

I. Other methods of settling labor disputes inadequate. a. Voluntary arbitration. b. Courts of equity.

II. Compulsory arbitration would be beneficial to society in general. a. By preventing strikes and other disturbances. b. By furnishing goods at lower prices.

III. It will be beneficial to employee. a. By fixing wages. b. By recognizing and giving good treatment to unions. c. By removing disadvantages arising from strikes and lockouts. d. By giving employer a higher sense of justice. It has been satisfactorily used in New Zealand.

IV. It will be beneficial to employer. a. By guaranteeing continued production. b. By insuring him against loss, (1) In contracts for future delivery, (2) From inactivity in times of strikes. c. By increasing efficiency of labor.

BRIEF FOR NEGATIVE

I. Compulsory arbitration is contrary to the letter and spirit of arbitration. a. The fundamental ideas of arbitration are concessions and freedom. b. The basis of compulsory arbitration is force.

II. Such arbitration will lead to many serious difficulties. a. It will cripple industries. b. It will lead to adulteration of goods. c. It will encourage trusts. d. Its enforcement will make necessary a military force. e. It will lead to fraud.

III. Such a system of arbitration is impracticable. a. Because of large number of States and diversified conditions. b. Because of the great contrast between capital and labor. c. Because of the intricate and complicated character of American institutions. d. Because of distrust of workingmen as to fairness and impartiality of courts.

IV. In the opinion of the best informed students, the present system of arbitration is more adequate. a. In keeping with workingmen's sense of justice. b. Conciliation and voluntary arbitration have been satisfactory.

V. Compulsory arbitration not in accord with the principles of American government and actual rights of men. a. Tends to Socialism. b. Destroys individual liberty.

Among the Clubs.

It is no mean place in the student life that is taken by the various clubs. Their meetings and banquets serve to build up a general good feeling and state loyalty, and to increase the number of matriculates from their native states or towns.

To the West Virginia, the Florida, the Maryland and the Kentucky Clubs, the four strong clubs of last year, there have been recently added: The Trans-Mississippi Club, W. V. Collins president; the Southern Club, embracing the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee, Charles Thomas president; the Southwest Virginia Club, J. H. Willoughby president; the Shenandoah Club, L. A. Magruder president; the Tamm Hall Junior Club, composed of the students in the Bank building, J. L. Williamson president; the Tidewater Virginia Club, J. H. Day president.

Professor Willis is in New York on business for the University.

He left college yesterday on account of his eyes. He hopes to return next term.

Dr. J. H. Latane' represented W. & L. as the V. I. C. A. A. meetings in Richmond. He returned on Tuesday, having visited in Baltimore from Saturday until Monday.

Mr. R. M. August, of Staunton, a native of West Virginia, was the guest of the West Virginia Club at their annual banquet last night, a report of which is crowded out of this issue.

The W. L. S. Reception.

On Monday evening the Washington Literary Society gave a reception in Newcomb Hall to the young ladies of the Southern Seminary who came up on a special train to attend the society celebration. About 75 students were present besides the society members, and the hour passed rapidly. The large number of young men made spooning almost impossible, and this thorough mixing of the crowd made a very pleasant evening for all. Light refreshments, consisting of hot chocolate and cake, were served at 8 o'clock. The reception committee were assisted by Mesdames Denny and Humphreys and Miss White. To Mr Trundle, the chief marshal, is due much praise for having made the arrangements for the occasion. His management of the exercises later at the chapel is especially commendable.

All who have not paid their subscriptions will please do so at once.

"The Private Secretary"

"The Private Secretary," a farce in three acts, will be given at the gymnasium Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5, by the Dramatic Club. There is every reason to believe that this is one of the best plays that Miss White has as yet given, and as everybody knows of her reputation in this line, it is needless to say that it will be gotten up in a professional style. Every comfort will be afforded at the gym, and it is hoped that every one will turn out. Let the student body show their appreciation and college spirit, as the proceeds are to go to athletics.

The cast is as follows:

- Mr. Cattermole, a rich East Indian, Mr. Stoke-
- Douglas Cattermole, his nephew, Mr. Steves
- Mr. Marshland, a country gentleman, Mr. Burks
- Harry Marshland, his nephew, Mr. Keller
- Gibson, a tailor, Mr. Wilson
- Rev. Robert Spaulding, the Private Secretary, Mr. Lee
- Knox, a bailiff, Mr. Thackston
- Miss Ashfort, a spinster, Miss Allan
- Edith, Marshland's daughter, Miss Rust
- Eva Webster, a friend of Edith's, Miss Brockenbrough
- Mrs. Stead, the landlady, Miss Barclay
- Servants, etc.

Law Notes.

At Moot Court Friday afternoon Judge Burks announced that he was unable to arrive at a decision in the case of White vs. C. & O. Ry. Co., argued at last term of court, and requested that counsel rearrange the case, and set the date for such rearrangement at the second March term.

The balance of the session was taken up in the trial of the case of Mrs. Mirion Friend vs. Kimball & Fink, receivers, etc. Jones for plaintiff and Howell for defendant. After hearing the evidence and argument for counsel the jury retired to its room, and in a short time returned into court with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, assessing her damages at $5,000.50, but the court ordered judgment arrested because of defects in the plaintiff's declaration.

A. H. Fetting, the popular fraternity jeweler, whose place of business was burned out in the recent Baltimore fire, has refitted at 213 N. Liberty street, Baltimore. He saved his entire stock and is now ready to serve his customers as usual.

Y. M. C. A.

On account of sickness of Dr. Manly the Y. M. C. A. service was conducted last Sunday by Student Armstrong. His subject was: "Paul, the Student." The great apostle's life was divided into three periods. The first embraces his life from birth at Tarsus of Cilicia to his entrance upon his university career at Jerusalem. In his home at Tarsus he received such training as was peculiar to youth of his age and country. He learned the trade of tent-making and also learned much of men who came there from all parts of the world interested in trade and education.

The second period embraced his stay at the University of Jerusalem. There under Gamaliel he learned the Bible, tradition and the Greek language, perhaps. There he mastered the studies pertaining to the life of a lawyer, teacher and preacher.

The last period embraced his life from departure from the university to the end of his career as apostle and missionary. This period was called "The Great University of Experience." He learned much both in adversity and in prosperity; both as a persecutor and as an ambassador of Christ. The same ability, training, zeal and enthusiasm characterized his entire life.

Before his conversion he lived for righteousness through the Law, after conversion he lived and preached righteousness through Christ.

Prize For Best Design.

The responses to the notices calling for designs for an official monogram have been very few. The Athletic committee has offered as a prize for the best design a season ticket to the baseball games ($3.50). The following requirements must be observed:

1. The letters used may be either W. L. U. or W. L.
2. The design should allow the harmonious representation of one of the six departments in which the monogram is awarded—baseball, football, rowing, gymnasium, field and tennis.
3. The work must be submitted by March 15 to the Athletic committee, who will decide upon the winner of the prize.
