General Custis Lee's Will Probated—Proceeds for Preservation of Chapel

Last Wednesday the University authorities received a notice that the will of General G. W. C. Lee had been admitted to probate and that he had given to Washington and Lee about $50,000 by the terms of the instrument.

General G. W. C. Lee succeeded his father General R. E. Lee, as president of the University in 1871, and he served the institution in that capacity until 1897, when he resigned and became President Emeritus. He left Lexington when he resigned as President and lived at Ravensworth, in Fairfax county, Va., until his death which occurred last February. He was buried in the Lee Mausoleum

Saturday a Gala Day in Annals of Lexington—250 Visitors in Town

The Old Grad, arriving in Lexington Saturday noon, stopped amazed, stupified, as he approached the campus. "What! W. and L. in the ranks of the Co-eds? Horrors! Tell me, freshman, what means it all?" And enthusiastically the fresh answered: "Did you ever see such a crowd? Really, now, aren't they great? Who are they? You don't mean to say you don't know! Why, they are the Randolph Macon girls from Lynchburg; up here for the day, and think of it, all freshmen rules are off for the day and—excuse me, there's a girl I know, so long."

No, dear Alumnus, it was only momentary bliss, much to our sorrow. For just a few short hours were they with us but this brief visit left an impression that will take long to erase. Saturday, Oct. 25, 1913, will go down in Washington and Lee history as a momentous date. When the special with its five loaded

SCRUBS WIN FROM ROLLER'S SCHOOL 13 TO 0

Saturday in a hard fought battle, the scrubs received a well earned victory over the Augusta Military Academy by a score of 13 to 0.

Only once was the scrub's goal in any real danger, when in the first quarter a hapless fumble gave the ball to A. M. A. on their own fifteen yard line. They steadily advanced the ball down the field until the scrubs at last held them for downs.

In the second quarter two forward passes carried the ball far down the field for the scrubs, and Holbrook took it through the line for the first touchdown. Bagley kicked goal.

After plunging through the line for several long gains, the scrubs, in the third period, secured another touchdown by a forward pass to Walling. The goal was not kicked.

The fourth quarter ended with the ball in the scrubs' possession on their opponents' ten yard line.

Both teams resorted in the main to straight football. A. M. A. attempted several trick plays, but were unsuccessful. The scrubs were successful in three of four attempted forward passes; and their opponents in none.

The showing of the scrubs was very creditable, in view of the length of the quarters, which had to be cut very short to allow them to catch the return train.

Terry of Washington and Lee, refereed, and the following were in the lineup:

DR. SMITH TALKS ON THE FOUR CARDINAL VIRTUES

Analyzing in a most clear and emphatic manner the character of the exemplary Christian, President Henry Louis Smith delivered a valuable lecture last Tuesday evening in the Main library building before the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Smith spoke of (1) courage (for there is so much to fight in the word); (2) energy (for there is so much to do in the world); (3) love (for there is so many people to help in the world); and (4) spirituality (for there is so much to be gotten from the world). These four virtues—courage, energy, love, and spirituality—Dr. Smith extolled in the warmest terms, and to every man present his remarks held a lesson of the highest interest and value.

Particularly apt was President Smith's reference of the four cardinal virtues of man to the human body. He termed courage the backbone of mankind, energy the muscle of mankind, love as the heart, and spirituality the crown of all.

As usual the President's address was redolent of long experience and microscopic observation, and replete with charming illustrations. With particular emphasis did he talk of the first virtue, courage. He gave an exposition of courage and a similar exposition of its antithesis, timidity, and to all the talk was a rare and a valuable lesson.

ALUMNI LETTER TO BE ISSUED

alumnus bears to his alma mater, is the following, "To keep the bonds between the University and her scattered sons strong and warm is the purpose of this little pamphlet."

Under the heading of "University Happenings since May 1st," there is a brief sketch of the reinterment of "Light Horse Harry" Lee, Commencement, Dr. Latane's resignation, Dr. Strickler's illness and death, new field club house and gymnasium, remodelling of the Blue hotel, the new treasurer, Dr. Campbell's enforced vacation, the death of Professor Staples, purchase of additional property, two recent donations, the acting professor of history, the opening of the new session, and hospital facilities.

The pamphlet also contains the tribute paid to Mr. John L. Campbell by the president in his inaugural address. This tribute was officially adopted by the board of trustees, and ordered spread upon their minutes last June.

Of course, all of the alumni have heard of the Doremus bequest of two millions of dollars, but few seem to know that this money is not yet available. Dr. Smith, therefore, shows in the bulletin how "the immediate effect of the gift is to increase the financial pressure which hampers the work and retards the development of the University."

A great deal of space in the pamphlet is given to extracts from the February and August bulletins, showing the President's campaign for a new type of student, as well as setting forth the aims and purposes of the administration.

Under the caption of "Some Pressing Needs" Dr. Smith writes that the News Letter is in no sense a "begging" epistle. "Yet every son, after learning the state of his absent mother's health and the recent incidents in her daily life, instinctively seeks information as to her needs and desires." He states them, therefore, to let the alumni know not only why it is unwise to raise the number in attendance at the University under present conditions, but to show them some of the difficulties standing in the way of training properly the present student body.

The bulletin is brought to a close with a statement of the University authorities' desire to have the commencement of 1914 an "Alumni Commencement," the plans being formulated for carrying out this desire, and the classes expected to gather 'under their alma mater's roof tree.'

Graham-Lee Literary Society

The most interesting and most spirited program of the year was rendered at the last meeting of the Graham-Lee Literary society Saturday night.

J. W. Flood, Jr., delivered a declamation, Webster's Bunker Hill Oration. A. M. Brown and C. McNitt, extemporaneous speakers, discussed interestingly on "Why Membership in a Literary Society Should be Compulsory to Those Who Wish to Participate in Intercollegiate Debating," and "Methods for the Prevention of Railroad Accidents," respectively.

The debate, Resolved, "That Women Should Vote," was decided in favor of the affirmative, which was represented by B. R. Lemon and G. D. Shore. They were opposed by M. M. Keaton and J. D. Bear.

William Lovins was elected to serve as censor for the society.

VARSITY HEAVIER THAN TECH TEAM

W. and L. Outweighs V. P. I. Lineup Thirteen Pounds— Miller Boosts Average

That the game in Roanoke should prove a stubbornly contested battle is evidenced by the comparative statistical summary of the two teams. While the averages show Washington and Lee outweighing V. P. I. thirteen pounds to the man, it should be remembered that the individual avoirdupois of 250 pound Fats Miller, boosts the average of the whole eleven nearly eight pounds to the man, so that the difference in weight is not considerable. The White and Blue will also be handicapped by the probability of Young not being able to start the game, his place being taken by the much lighter, but swift footed Smith.

The figures for the V. P. I. team are printed as sent in by the editor of the Virginia Tech. They show a light, but from all reports, a fast and hard fighting team.

Following is the probable lineup of both teams, giving age, height weight and years on team for each of the contestants.

coaches puffed up the grade shortly before noon, the sun came from behind the clouds and what had threatened to be a gloomy, rainy day was turned into brightness. It was fitting, for the 250 pretty girls that stepped off the train would have brought almost any old sun from behind the clouds.

The girls were met at the station by a committee of twelve of Washington and Lee's ladies' men and about 200 self appointed assistants. The library, with Miss Annie White as hostess, was made the headquarters for the visitors, and from here parties set out to visit the historic spots of Lexington. Dinner was served at the Beanery and Manager Donahue says that he was overwhelmed with applicants for waiter's jobs.

Of course they were all at the game. Never before had Wilson field beheld such a sight. The stand was filled to overflowing with fair rooters and the vim with which they cheered the Blue and White and sang the "Swing" showed that the R. M. W. C. girls are staunch supporters of W. and L. The boys did their best to respond by cheers for Randolph Macon, raising a gold and black banner in the bleachers while the band played the Randolph Macon alma mater. At 5:30 the special left on its return trip and the rays of setting sun shone from above the Alleghenies on a happy crowd of college men and college girls saying, "Not goodbye," but "Au revoir till the North Carolina game," and with the boys at least, conscious that they had reached the end of "Perfect Day."

While the first visit of R. M. W. C. to Lexington was occasioned—at least in part—by an effort to raise money for a proposed new building on the Lynchburg campus, it is thought by many that it may be made an annual affair. At least, no effort will be spared by Washington and Lee men to make it so.

Washington Literary Society

The Washington Literary Society held its regular meeting Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The orator of the evening was Mr. E. F. Grossman. Mr. E. S. Smith delivered a declamation. The question debated was: Resolved, That the standing army of the United States should be increased. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Morrison and Cummins against Messrs. Higgins and Derrickson for the negative. The decision of the judges was in favor of the affirmative. Mr. D. A. Falk spoke extemporaneously on the character of Robert Ingersoll.

Messrs. Hodges, Chadwick and Martin were initiated into the society.

ENTHUSIASM AT MASS MEETING

Reception to R. M. W. C. Girls Discussed—Excursion to Lynchburg Assured

Displaying every variety of enthusiasm that is a quality of the White and Blue spirit, the students of Washington and Lee, last Friday night, in the chapel, held the first of a series of "On to Roanoke," meetings.

In marked contrast to the gloomy and rain drenched night outside, the atmosphere within the student filled chapel was permeated with a bright and wholesome cheerfulness that made itself evident in the practice of the songs and yells. Speeches by "Mark" Hanna, manager of the football team, and J. L. Larrick, president of the student body, were received with great enthusiasm.

"Mark" Hanna first brought down the house by reading a telegram announcing the coming of 250 girls from Randolph Macon on a visit to Lexington the following day. He asked that everybody display every possible courtesy to the visitors. His mention of the trip to Roanoke again provoked applause, but when he announced that he could obtain a special train to Lynchburg, and that President Smith would make Nov. 8th, a holiday, the cheering was long and only died through sheer fatigue. Saying that the round trip to Lynchburg would be only one dollar, he asked how many of the students cared to go. Instantly nearly every man in the chapel was on his feet, signifying his desire with more cheering.

It remained for J. L. Larrick, however, to make the hit of the evening with the freshmen when he announced that during the visit of the Randolph Macon girls all freshmen rules in regard to being seen with girls, would be off, and this the girl starved freshmen received with wild applause. A moment later he again took everyone by storm when he announced that an introduction was not necessary to meet the girls, and that all anyone would need to do was to introduce himself.

When this demonstration was over, Cheer Leader Harry Moran presented a plan for a demonstration on Wilson field for the visitors. After this the cheering and singing practice was held. A new yell was tried and with success. The freshmen displayed a lot of improvement in their cheering, which was very much in evidence.

President Larrick announced that three more meetings would be held this week, before the V. P. I. game, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 7:45 p. m.

The following men were announced as the members of a committee appointed to receive the Randolph Macon girls: Messrs. Miles, S. H. Williams, Ramsey, Buchanan, Glasgow, W. C. Brown, Earwood, Taylor, J. D. Taylor, E. P. Davis, Stuck and Frost.

Junior Ribbon Societies Meet

Last Thursday night the two Junior Ribbon societies held the first meeting of the year and transacted routine business. The P. A. N. society met in the Phi Delta Phi rooms and the White Friars met at the Phi Kappa Sigma house. P. A. N. elect H. N. Barker, president and W. C. Raftery, secretary-treasurer. R. L. Anderson and J. R. Neal were chosen president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the White Friars.

LIBERAL GIFT TO UNIVERSITY

in the University chapel.

The first clause of the will is the only one relating to the University and it is as follows:

"I give and bequeath to the Washington and Lee university, to be held by the trustees thereof, the original portrait in oil of General George Washington by Charles Wilson Peale, painted in 1772; the original portrait in oil of General LaFayette by the same artist painted for General Washington in 1779; all my books and office furniture that I left in Lexington upon my departure therefrom in the summer of 1897, and all my interest in a certain claim against the United States government on account of wood gotten from Ravensworth by representatives of the government during the Civil war. By an agreement in writing this claim was placed in the hands of Mr. Charles Kerr, an attorney, for collection. I am advised that it has been allowed by the United States court of claims and will be paid as soon as the money is appropriated by congress. I also give and bequeath to the Washington and Lee university, to be held by the trustees thereof, the sum of $5,000, which sum is to be invested and the interest used in the preservation and improvement of the Lee Memorial chapel. Should this bequest to the chapel be held in violation of any rule of law, I give and bequeath the said sum of $5,000 to said trustees absolutely."

The other clauses of the will concern legacies and devises to General Lee's sister, Miss Mary Custis Lee, his brother, Robert Edward Lee, and his two nephews, George Bolling Lee and Robert Edward Lee, Jr., and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Tabb Lee.

Robert Edward Lee, Jr., is named as the executor of the will.

It is estimated that General Lee's interest in the claim against the United States government will amount to about $50,000.

A summer school will be organized at Dartmouth.

VARSITY HEAVIER THAN TECH TEAM

W. and L. Outweighs V. P. I. Lineup Thirteen Pounds—Miller Boosts Average

That the game in Roanoke should prove a stubbornly contested battle is evidenced by the comparative statistical summary of the two teams. While the averages show Washington and Lee outweighing V. P. I. thirteen pounds to the man, it should be remembered that the individual avoirdupois of 250 pound Fats Miller, boosts the average of the whole eleven nearly eight pounds to the man, so that the difference in weight is not considerable. The White and Blue will also be handicapped by the probability of Young not being able to start the game, his place being taken by the much lighter, but swift footed Smith.

The figures for the V. P. I. team are printed as sent in by the editor of the Virginia Tech. They show a light, but from all reports, a fast and hard fighting team.

Following is the probable lineup of both teams, giving age, height weight and years on team for each of the contestants.

V. P. I. FOOTBALL TEAM

RANDOLPH-MACON GIRLS SEE GAME

coaches puffed up the grade shortly before noon, the sun came from behind the clouds and what had threatened to be a gloomy, rainy day was turned into brightness. It was fitting, for the 250 pretty girls that stepped off the train would have brought almost any old sun from behind the clouds.

The girls were met at the station by a committee of twelve of Washington and Lee's ladies' men and about 200 self appointed assistants. The library, with Miss Annie White as hostess, was made the headquarters for the visitors, and from here parties set out to visit the historic spots of Lexington. Dinner was served at the Beanery and Manager Donahue says that he was overwhelmed with applicants for waiter's jobs.

Of course they were all at the game. Never before had Wilson field beheld such a sight. The stand was filled to overflowing with fair rooters and the vim with which they cheered the Blue and White and sang the "Swing" showed that the R. M. W. C. girls are staunch supporters of W. and L. The boys did their best to respond by cheers for Randolph Macon, raising a gold and black banner in the bleachers while the band played the Randolph Macon alma mater. At 5:30 the special left on its return trip and the rays of setting sun shone from above the Alleghanies on a happy crowd of college men and college girls saying, "Not goodbye," but "Au revoir till the North Carolina game," and with the boys at least, conscious that they had reached the end of "Perfect Day."

While the first visit of R. M. W. C. to Lexington was occasioned—at least in part—by an effort to raise money for a proposed new building on the Lynchburg campus, it is thought by many that it may be made an annual affair. At least, no effort will be spared by Washington and Lee men to make it so.

Washington Literary Society

The Washington Literary Society held its regular meeting Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The orator of the evening was Mr. E. F. Grossman. Mr. E. S. Smith delivered a declamation. The question debated was: Resolved, That the standing army of the United States should be increased. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Morrison and Cummins against Messrs. Higgins and Derrickson for the negative. The decision of the judges was in favor of the affirmative. Mr. D. A. Falk spoke extemporaneously on the character of Robert Ingersoll.

Messrs. Hodges, Chadwick and Martin were initiated into the society.

ENTHUSIASM AT MASS MEETING

Reception to R. M. W. C. Girls Discussed—Excursion to Lynchburg Assured

Displaying every variety of enthusiasm that is a quality of the White and Blue spirit, the students of Washington and Lee, last Friday night, in the chapel, held the first of a series of "On to Roanoke," meetings.

In marked contrast to the gloomy and rain drenched night outside, the atmosphere within the student filled chapel was permeated with a bright and wholesome cheerfulness that made itself evident in the practice of the songs and yells. Speeches by "Mark" Hanna, manager of the football team, and J. L. Larrick, president of the student body, were received with great enthusiasm.

"Mark" Hanna first brought down the house by reading a telegram announcing the coming of 250 girls from Randolph Macon on a visit to Lexington the following day. He asked that everybody display every possible courtesy to the visitors. His mention of the trip to Roanoke again provoked applause, but when he announced that he could obtain a special train to Lynchburg, and that President Smith would make Nov. 8th, a holiday, the cheering was long and only died through sheer fatigue. Saying that the round trip to Lynchburg would be only one dollar, he asked how many of the students cared to go. Instantly nearly every man in the chapel was on his feet, signifying his desire with more cheering.

It remained for J. L. Larrick, however, to make the hit of the evening with the freshmen when he announced that during the visit of the Randolph Macon girls all freshmen rules in regard to being seen with girls, would be off, and this the girl starved freshmen received with wild applause. A moment later he again took everyone by storm when he announced that an introduction was not necessary to meet the girls, and that all anyone would need to do was to introduce himself.

When this demonstration was over, Cheer Leader Harry Moran presented a plan for a demonstration on Wilson field for the visitors. After this the cheering and singing practice was held. A new yell was tried and with success. The freshmen displayed a lot of improvement in their cheering, which was very much in evidence.

President Larrick announced that three more meetings would be held this week, before the V. P. I. game, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 7:45 p. m.

The following men were announced as the members of a committee appointed to receive the Randolph Macon girls: Messrs. Miles, S. H. Williams, Ramsey, Buchanan, Glasgow, W. C. Brown, Earwood, Taylor, J. D. Taylor, E. P. Davis, Stuck and Frost.

Junior Ribbon Societies Meet

Last Thursday night the two Junior Ribbon societies held the first meeting of the year and transacted routine business. The P. A. N. society met in the Phi Delta Phi rooms and the White Friars met at the Phi Kappa Sigma house. P. A. N. elect H. N. Barker, president and W. C. Raftery, secretary-treasurer. R. L. Anderson and J. R. Neal were chosen president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the White Friars.

in the University chapel.

The first clause of the will is the only one relating to the University and it is as follows:

"I give and bequeath to the Washington and Lee university, to be held by the trustees thereof, the original portrait in oil of General George Washington by Charles Wilson Peale, painted in 1772; the original portrait in oil of General LaFayette by the same artist painted for General Washington in 1779; all my books and office furniture that I left in Lexington upon my departure therefrom in the summer of 1897, and all my interest in a certain claim against the United States government on account of wood gotten from Ravensworth by representatives of the government during the Civil war. By an agreement in writing this claim was placed in the hands of Mr. Charles Kerr, an attorney, for collection. I am advised that it has been allowed by the United States court of claims and will be paid as soon as the money is appropriated by congress. I also give and bequeath to the Washington and Lee university, to be held by the trustees thereof, the sum of $5,000, which sum is to be invested and the interest used in the preservation and improvement of the Lee Memorial chapel. Should this bequest to the chapel be held in violation of any rule of law, I give and bequeath the said sum of $5,000 to said trustees absolutely."

The other clauses of the will concern legacies and devises to General Lee's sister, Miss Mary Custis Lee, his brother, Robert Edward Lee, and his two nephews, George Bolling Lee and Robert Edward Lee, Jr., and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Tabb Lee.

Robert Edward Lee, Jr., is named as the executor of the will.

It is estimated that General Lee's interest in the claim against the United States government will amount to about $50,000.

A summer school will be organized at Dartmouth.

Rockbridge County News Print

They Came, They Saw, They Conquered

And Cæsar with his Roman legions never gained as signal a victory as did that army which swept in upon us on last Saturday. Truly, we all fell and no murmur escaped our lips.

We could scarce believe the news when the first tidings of the threatened invasion reached our ears and could only gasp with pleasure when the certainty of it was realized. Two hundred and fifty strong they came, and who is there that cannot guess the effect of the arrival of such a bevy of attractive and charming young ladies?

Randolph-Macon, you have given us a red letter day in our history, the memories of which will be cherished for days to come, and we can only fervently hope that the day brought such pleasures to you that when the opportunity presents itself you will again make us your host.

We cannot resort to mere words to describe the incalculable benefits of your visit, but we know you felt the genuineness of our welcome and the sincerity of our pleasure in having you in our midst. Come again and may that day be soon.

The V. P. I. Game

For a score of years, there has been one day in the fall which has marked the climax of the football season, and almost of the whole year, for Washington and Lee students—the day of the V.

P. I. game. For this day the teams have been trained; to this day the student body has expectantly looked as to the Mecca of their hopes, the defeat of the "Techs." But for a whole decade these hopes were annually dashed to the ground, and a student body, heavy of heart and light of purse, returned to Lexington. From the fall of 1902, when "Smut" Smith, a football hero of the older days, carried the ball to victory over V. P. I.'s goal line, until that of 1911, the Maroon and Orange waved triumphant over the Blue and White. But the change came at last. The Washington and Lee team of 1911, composed largely of new men, went to Roanoke full of confidence in their ability to withstand the "Tech" attack, and the game ended in a 5 to 5 tie. Last year enthusiasm mounted higher and higher, the team was stronger and W. & L. spirit better than ever before—and the result stands written on the walk by the Engineering building, W. & L., 20; V. P. I., 6.

This year we have a team strong in every position, a team which has yet to taste of defeat, and one which the student body confidently expects to go through the season undefeated. In addition to overcoming our old rivals, a victory over V. P. I. will be the first important step toward the South Atlantic championship. The Washington and Lee team this year averages 177 pounds to the man, and the line is one of the heaviest in the country, the average weight of the five center men being 196 pounds. Still, in spite of the fact that we have a team which has shown up as well or better than any in the section, we cannot look to any walk-over in Roanoke. There has never been a year yet when V. P. I. has failed to put a fighting team in the field against Washington and Lee, and the game on the first of November is certain to be well worth watching.

The actual playing of the game is not the only attraction of the Roanoke trip. The air of the town is charged with excitement on Nov. 1st; the alumni from all Southwest Virginia and from many points farther away will be there; the V. P. I. corps and alumni corps will be there; a large part of the population of Roanoke will come out to the game, and the cheers and enthusiasm for the rival teams will be such as will not be heard again this year. Each school will have its own half of the grandstand, crowded with spirited supporters, cheering on their favorites.

There will be a band for each side, while mingling with the music, the rival yells will crash from the sides of the stand and roll across the field. College songs will be interspersed with the raucous honking of automobile sirens. The colors of the two schools will be waving all over town, and plans are on foot for fireworks and a grand procession after the game. In addition to all this, the Roanoke alumni are preparing to give a dance to the teams, to which the students are invited.

It is the universal testimony of men who have been to see this annual battle in Roanoke, that the day is worth three times the cost.

The Washington and Lee special will leave Lexington at 8.45 Saturday morning. To paraphrase the words of the famous sea captain, Washington and Lee expects every man to do his duty—and go. Or to quote from another great captain, "You're no good if you don't go."

Rooting in Roanoke

A word about the rooting in Roanoke. In the past it has been good, but not as good as it ought. At times it has been spasmodic. Men get interested in the play and forget their own responsibility. A good play goes by apparently unappreciated. A gain is made by the opposing team, the line seems to waver momentarily, the men are not tackling as they ought—just the point of greatest need for support from the grandstand to put new heart into the men. But it has not always been forthcoming, due we believe, to a mere lack of thought. This must not happen in Roanoke. Whenever a man is taken out, or a man substituted, whenever a good play is made, or should the team for an instant seem to check up in its fighting spirit—or the opposing team to brace, then let the cohorts of W. and L. in the grandstand do their part. Mr. Cheer Leader, the responsibility is on you and your assistants. Lead and you will be followed.

Last Week of Staff Competition

The coming week will end the period of competition for the Ring-tum Phi staff, and the names of the successful contestants will be published at the head of the editorial columns in the next issue. To make the choice of twelve men from a field of thirty—all of whom have been doing good work—is perhaps the most puzzling problem which will confront the editor during the year. They will be chosen from all walks of college life, and they will be the men who can best co-operate with the present editor to produce an all-round college weekly, representing faithfully and diligently every phase of student life and activity at Washington and Lee.

The games between V. P. I. and Washington and Lee have always been remarkable for the clean, sportsmanlike spirit of the one student body for the other. There is no friction—no bitterness. The supporters of each team have been game in defeat, and generous in victory. They recognize that off the field of battle, every V. P. I. man is a friend of every W. and L. man. The W. and L. man is always glad to see the Techs victorious in their contests with other teams, and vice versa. Therefore let every Washington and Lee student be on his guard in Roanoke to maintain the high plane of rivalry of the past.

Valuable Addition to Art Gallery

A valuable addition to the art gallery in the library is the gift of Mrs. John Harvey Moore, a friend of the University, whose husband graduated from Washington College before the Civil war. The gift is a memorial to her father, Samuel McDowell Moore, a graduate of the school and a distinguished citizen of Virginia. The collection includes beautiful water colors and oil paintings, rare prints, and curios of china and bronze work, curious pieces of old pottery, and many other objects of interest obtained by Mrs. Moore in Italy and other foreign countries during her extensive travels. The University has fitted up the room opening off the art gallery, formerly used by the Y. M. C. A. office, in Venetian red and the pictures are tastefully hung upon the walls, while the curios are arranged in handsome old cases so as to be seen to the best advantage. One of the most interesting objects is an old inlaid table. Busts of marble and bronze are also to be seen about the walls, and the room presents a most attractive appearance. Some of these paintings and curios are of great value and are well worth going to see. The room will be left open for the benefit of visitors and forms an attractive annex to the already famous art gallery, with its priceless collection of paintings.

An advisory committee of seven college presidents has been appointed to cooperate with the authorities in charge of the summer military encampments for college students. The two named from the south are General Edward W. Nichols, superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute, and Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama.

Professor J. R. Long was in Richmond on business last week.

Devall Gwathmey, '10, was in town for several days.

Charles N. Campbell, '06, of Charleston, W. Va., was a visitor at the University last week.

Mr. F. Sydnor Kirkpatrick of Lynchburg, has been visiting his son in the University.

John Turner Gray, '11, is clerk of the chancery court at Brownsville, Tenn.

George R. LeGore, '05, former star W. and L. outfielder, was a visitor in Lexington last week.

J. F. Duke attended the U. Va., V. M. I. game in Charlottesville on Saturday.

Professor E. S. Shields of the law school who has been operated on for appendicitis last week is reported as recovering rapidly.

Mrs. M. M. Mills, whose husband, Colonel Mills, is an alumnus of Washington and Lee, and was for a long time commandant at V. M. I., is visiting Mrs. Hunter Pendleton.

Mr. D. C. Davis and Miss Katherine Davis of Charleston, W. Va., have returned home after a visit to Mrs. James W. Kern on Letcher avenue.

Professor Joseph R. Long and Mr. Daniel T. Womeldorf of the board of deacons of the Lexington Baptist church, were in Richmond last week, in conference with Rev. Dr. Grey of Atlanta, secretary of the board of missions of the Southern Baptist church, relative to a contribution to assist in erecting the new Baptist house of worship in Lexington.

Alumni Notes

"Hank" Rogers, B. S., '13, is with the engineering corp of the Southern railway.

John Moore Douglass, '10, is conducting his father's milling business at Aldie, Va.

Charles F. Harrison, law, '00, was recently elected mayor of Leesburg, Va.

Mr. Leo Weinberg, law, '06, of Frederick, Md., was a visitor on the campus last week.

Herman W. Ordeman, B. S., '09, has been visiting his brother in college for several days.

Dr. John D. Myers, one of the old alumni, has given up his medical practice owing to his ill health which imperiled his life several months ago and continues unimproved.

In a recent number of the Texas Magazine appears an excellent and very thorough account of the "Agricultural System of Germany" by LeRoy Hodges of the class of 1910 at Washington and Lee.

Walter B. Eager, Phi Kappa Psi, a former student of Washington and Lee, is located at Huntington, W. Va. He has been recently made the manager of an insurance company which is one of the largest in the city.

Lexington will be a dull place next Saturday—until midnight. Inhabitants with a tendency to sleepiness or with student boarders, are urged to issue orders for late breakfasts.

Plans For Sophomore Cotillion

At a meeting of the Sophomore class last Tuesday, President McDougle appointed the following committees for the class cotillion:

Finance—Holland chairman; Sullivan, Yanow, Kohen, White.

Arrangement—Derr, chairman; Gooch, Utt, Bie, McKinnon.

Floor—Shultz, Fulton, Wardlaw, Haines, Ward.

It was decided to levy an assessment of five dollars on all members of the class dancing and $2.50 on those not dancing. The dance will occur Monday, Dec. 1st, and will be followed by the dance of the Cotillion club on Tuesday. The preceding Friday and Saturday there will be dances at V. M. I. Needless to say these affairs will draw to Lexington an unusual number of fair visitors. With the new gymnasium the scene of the W. and L. dances it is expected that they will enjoy unprecedented attendance and success.

Albert Sidney's to Buy Rowing Machine

There was a very enthusiastic meeting of the Albert Sidney Boat club Thursday night to discuss the advisability of buying a rowing machine. It was stated that the machine together with the other repairs needed for the shell will cost about $100, and that in order to raise this amount each member of the club would have to contribute one dollar besides his yearly dues of fifty cents.

It was decided that before making any final decision as to buying the machine, that a canvass should be made of all the members of the club to ascertain if a sufficient amount can be raised.

The necessity of the club's possessing a rowing machine was thoroughly brought out. The members at the meeting went on record unanimously in favor of buying the machine.

Freshman Schedule Football Games

John Flaut, the manager of the Freshman football team, announces that he has secured a game with the Fishburne second team for Thursday and another with Shenandoah Valley academy for Nov. 15th. The manager has also written for games with the Lynchburg high school and S. M. A. A goodly number of Freshmen were out Tuesday to answer the first call for a freshman team and the aggregation bids fair to be one of the best class elevens in college. A meeting was held Wednesday for the purpose of raising money to pay for a ball.

Senior Engineers Meet

The Senior Engineering class met in the English room last Wednesday for the purpose of electing officers and the following men were chosen: President, J. D. Thornton; vice president C. C. Ritcor; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Whetzel; executive committeeman, H. M. Hayne; historian, C. B. Doggett.

Scrub Game Cancelled

The game scheduled for Saturday between the scrubs and Roanoke college was called off because Roanoke College refused to guarantee expenses.

North Carolina has given an impetus to class football which other Southern colleges might well imitate. A special coach, Mr. Klutz, who was at Woodbury Forest last year, has been engaged to instruct men trying for these teams. As a result the Freshmen have four regular squads at work and the Sophomores two.

Benefit of Athletics

Athletic Comment

Since 1872 Yale has won 333 football games, has lost 21 and has played in 17 tie games.—Yale News.

It begins to look like Auburn will be the S. I. A. A. champions this year.

"Cy" Young was unable to get into the Wake Forest fracas and it seems doubtful if he will enter the game with the Techs.

V. P. I. is to have a new Athletic building, the structure to be erected by means of subscriptions from the alumni and students.

Pick, the star V. P. I. tackle, got away for two long runs for forty yards each. He was the bright light of the Orange and Maroon against Carolina.

"Cannon Ball" Beuhring returned to the game Saturday and performed in his usual brilliant style. He promises to be one of the best full-backs in this division.

The work of the Washington and Lee line was decidedly off color in the Wake Forest game. It seemed unable to open for the backs, while on the other hand, the Baptist backs often broke through.

The lack of speed evidenced by the Carolina eleven is giving the coaches lots of worry. The Tar Heels are heavy, weighing about 180 pounds to the man, but they are slow and seem to be at the mercy of speedy teams.

The playing of Captain McWhorter of the Georgia eleven was the feature of the Virginia-Georgia game, he being intrusted to carry the ball three out of every four times and always getting away for long gains.

Michigan walloped "Vandy" to the tune of 33 to 2, this being the first time in many years that McGugin's men have been so severely defeated. Virginia's prospects look good, though it is said that her work against Georgia was disappointing to the Old Dominion followers.

The Virginia Techs defeated Carolina 14 to 7 Saturday. This game is of more than usual interest to W. and L. supporters, because the White and Blue will meet both of these teams. It seems that the Tar Heels outplayed the Virginians during the greater part of the game, but lost on fumbles.

Yale has been held to a 0 to 0 score twice this year by supposedly inferior teams, Washington and Jefferson turning the trick Saturday. Dartmouth outplayed Princeton all the way and got the big end of a 6 to 0 score, all of which goes to indicate that Harvard will be the champions of the east this year. The Cambridge University has not had to extend itself in order to win by overwhelming scores and its backfield is the greatest in the country.

According to the Wau Gau Rac, the A. and M. of North Carolina squad, about nineteen men, will average about 170 pounds; the two sets of backfieldmen, eight men, averaging about 165 pounds, and the line with substitutes, eleven men averaging about 173 pounds.

Taking the first eleven, the A. and M. team averages 175 pounds to the man while W. and L. weighs 177 pounds to the man. The game on Turkey Day will certainly be a thriller and, incidentally it should decide the championship of the South Atlantic states.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING

Accepts Revision of Freshman Rules—High Commendation for Hanna's Report

The first meeting of the Executive committee, with representatives from all the classes present, was held Friday afternoon. H. M. Hayne and J. M. Schmoele were sworn in as members. President Larrick announced that M. L. Masinter, manager of the Southern Collegian, J. D. Taylor and W. H. Oast, editor and manager of the Calyx, respectively had taken the oath of office.

It was ordered that the change in the Freshman rules be announced in the Ring-tum Phi. At the request of the Athletic council, the Sophomore class changed rule four so that it now reads: "Freshmen will not be allowed in any place of public amusement, except the Lyric, after 9:30 p. m., prior to Christmas." The executive committee approved of the change.

The president appointed Tanner, Latture and Buford a committee to look into the matter of awarding some emblem of recognition to the members of the editorial and managerial staff of the three student body publications.

A very important feature of the meeting was the consideration of the report of L. R. Hanna, manager of the Ring-tum Phi last year. It was voted that the report be accepted and that Mr. Hanna be especially commended for his excellent report and that he be complimented for the businesslike manner in which he conducted the managership of the Ring-tum Phi. He turned over to the student body more than $200 which exceeds any previous surplus.

In the next issue of this paper a summary of the report will be given.

It is to be hoped that the present management will strive, at least to equal this report.

Campbell and Moomaw to Fill Vacancy for Present

The sudden illness of Mr. E. S. Shields, who was appointed to teach two classes in the law school until Christmas, by which time it is hoped to elect a permanent professor to fill the vacancy made vacant by the death of Professor Staples, has necessitated the appointment of Mr. J. L. Campbell, B. A., '09, LL. B., '11, and Mr. D. C. Moomaw, LL. B., '12, who assumed their duties as temporary instructors yesterday. Mr. Campbell will have charge of the class in corporations, and Mr. Moomaw will instruct in contracts. Mr. Moomaw was instructor at the Washington and Lee summer school. Mr. Campbell took special work in corporations at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Shields is reported as improving rapidly, following his operation.

Cross Country Men—Notice

All entrants for the cross country run are requested to meet at the gym at 12:45 p. m. Wednesday.

Those entered for the five mile race, which is to be held Wednesday, are: Buckingham, Gary, Engelbert, Burton, Kerns, Chafin, Johnson, F. Hayne and Delaplaine. The race will end in front of the First National Bank.

A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa is to be installed at North Dakota in the near future. It will be one of the ten chapters of this fraternity west of the Mississippi.

train. Tickets for admission to the game, and reserved seats in the Washington and Lee section of the grandstand may be obtained in the same manner. These should be secured early, as the interest in the game in Roanoke and the surrounding country has been growing every year. Last year the grandstand was filled practically to its full capacity, and with a fair day there is no doubt that the attendance figures at that game will be greatly exceeded.

Banners, pennants, arm badges, canes, megaphones and other paraphernalia calculated to add to the spirit of the occasion, will be found in the Lexington stores, or may be purchased enroute. Every W. and L. man is expected to wear the white and blue colors in some form or fashion. All freshmen, however, will be allowed to discard their ordinary means of identification for the day. It is thought that a larger percentage of students will attend the game than ever before, which means that students in Lexington after 8:45 Saturday will be scarce as hen's teeth. Many members of the faculty, and a large number of townspeople have also signified their intention of attending the game.

Southern Collegian Out Nov. 1st

The first issue of the Southern Collegian will appear Saturday, Nov. 1st. This number will contain several poems, short stories and sketches, besides an essay and interesting article on Robert E. Lee. The editor in chief, Mr. Paul C. Thomas, announces that the makeup of the magazine will be substantially the same as last year.

Dr. James Lewis Howe has published a book for the use of Mission study classes entitled "A Brief History of Missions." The Christian Observer recommends the book very highly.

WAKE FOREST

the Carolinians from their feet in the first quarter, the Generals were checked in the following period, as Wake Forest grew stronger.

Before the first two minutes of play had been dissipated, Smith and Donahue had achieved touchdowns. Gradually regaining strength, the Carolinians held the spirited Generals during the remainder of the first period and checked their progress to a lone tally in the second quarter.

Battling desperately, Wake Forest concluded the third period without yielding a score, but faltered in the last quarter and were scored on twice. The followers of Washington and Lee were gladdened by the appearance of Beuhring at fullback, and Terry at right half. Both of the gridironists responded to the whoops of their followers and cheers of the phalanx of Randolph Macon girls by effecting daring gains.

The slow field, mudded by a heavy downpour, forced the teams to resort to straight football tactics. The Generals' greater weight gave them an advantage over Wake Forest, but several end runs and forward passes were used to down the Carolinians. The treacherous field was costly to Wake Forest, for often the ball was fumbled with disastrous results.

Donahue displayed a plucky offense and starred. In the first quarter, the little quarterback spurred sixty two yards to touchdown on the soggy turf. Beuhring, entering the first game of the season in the second quarter, was an infallible gainer, while Shultz and Barker played a stellar game.

Opening the clash, Miller kicked to Jones, who was downed on the twelve yard line. Savage, venturing a return kick, was tardy in booting and had his punt blocked by Shultz. Neblitt recovering the ball six yards from touchdown. Friend neared the line by one yard on the first down, while Bill Smith skirted left end for touchdown. Big Fats Miller hoisted the ball over the bars for goal.

With lightning rapidity, Washington and Lee followed with another marker. A weak kick off was received by Miller, who returned the ball to the thirty eight yard line. At this juncture, Donahue, aided by superb interference, circled right end and outdistanced the backfield sixty two yards for touchdown. Miller's unerring toe annexed goal.

The sweeping march toward victory was checked by Wake Forest and the Carolinians gained possession of the ball. Before the onrush could be stemmed, the goal line was in hazard. The first quarter closed with the ball thirty six yards from goal.

Reinforced by Beuhring, the Generals seesawed the ball up and down the field until the last few minutes of play. Gaining the ball midfield on a return punt, consistent gains by Miller, Beuhring and Miles through the line brought the pigskin nearer the desired line. On a forward pass from Miles, Barker leaped into the air and clung to the ball for a seventeen yard gain. Just four yards from touchdown, a fumble resulted, Beuhring recovered the erring ball. On the next down, Donahue speeded around right end for touchdown. Miller again kicked goal.

In the third quarter, the two elevens fought without a score. While Washington and Lee gained an advantage, it was unable to hold the ball at critical stages. Wake Forest in turn followed with a counter punt and the ball was seesawed up and down the field. Smith, punting for the Generals, outdistanced Savage nearly fifteen yards on the kicks.

Just before the close, Miles was given the ball and ran thirty five yards, with several Carolinians clinging to his heels. A series of line plunges by Smith and Beuhring brought the ball within twelve yards of goal line, but a penalty for holding was inflicted, reversing the progress.

Frequent substitutions were made during the fourth quarter. With the pigskin thirty four yards from the bars, the fourth quarter was inaugurated. Terry, who was substituted at half, received a forward pass from Miles, which netted thirty yards. Beuhring catapulted over the line for two short gains, while Terry scored touchdown. Terry failed to land goal.

Billings, who had replaced Savage, kicked to Donahue, who advanced the ball thirty seven yards to the fifty yard line. Friend, who relieved Beuhring in the fourth quarter, ripped the wavering line for seventeen yards. Terry, Friend and Lile completed downs on the next play. The forward pass was resorted to but failed. A terrific tackle forced Donahue to fumble the ball on the twelve yard line.

Seley and Bryan were sent into the struggle, as Nolley, Kirkpatrick and Walling had been withdrawn. Sheppard, who recovered the fumble, made a bad pass to Daniels. Several terrific dives were made at the fumbled all, but finally Seeley fell upon the pigskin back of the line for touchdown. Dingwall, who was substituted for Neblitt, failed to register goal. This recovered fumble sent the score to 33 to 0, where it remained as no other tally was recorded before the close of the game.

Dr. Pollard at Y. M. C. A. Tonight at 7:30

The regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held tonight in the library building. The hour has been changed from 8 to 7:30 during the winter months as more convenient for the majority of the students. Dr. Pollard, the physical director and professor of Biology will be the speaker, on "Plain Facts: What Every Man Should Know."

The meeting last Tuesday night was the first student meeting of the year, and was an inspiration to everyone present. The speakers were Mr. McCain, this year's president of the association, and Mr. Converse, last year's valedictorian. Both made exceedingly interesting talks on subjects with which the college man is concerned. A feature of the program was the quartette selection by Messrs. Bear, Stuck, Carson and Harrell.
