CLIFFORD ROE TO BE HERE SOON

Prominent Lawyer to Address Students on Subject of White Slave Traffic

Clifford G. Roe will address the students of the university on this greatest of all present day topics, the white slave traffic, on Wednesday, Feb. 25th. Mr. Roe expects to make a lecture tour of the most important schools of the state during the latter part of the month, and the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. has been fortunate enough to secure him for an address here on the above mentioned date. Admission to the lecture will be by ticket only, and it is expected that the chapel will be crowded to hear Mr. Roe tell of his experiences along the lines of social reform. Tickets can be secured free by all students of the University and further announcements as to arrangements will be made later.

"Impressionists" would say that the most dominant attribute that Mr. Clifford G. Roe possesses in his extreme youth.

His boyish face, his quick, bright eyes, his enthusiasm and his optimism all go to corroborate this impression which Mr. Roe neither attempts to palliate nor deny, but convinces one after a few 'moments' conversation that while he looks like a mere lad at college, he speaks the maxims of Methuselah with a peculiar grace, and knowledge, showing that in the few short years he has lived that he has learned as well.

Mr. Roe is one of the most brilliant lawyers of the day, a man whose reputation is known far and wide, and whose word on social evils is quoted internationally.

Clifford G. Roe

Through his warfare against the white slave traffic, Mr. Roe has invaded public halls and churches, and all places where men and women gather together, from east to west, from north to south, and he is calling upon his fellow men to unite and rise against the arch enemies to society, who are luring women and girls to destruction.

Mr. Roe's clean, clear cut views and the sensitive, polish manner in which he presents this horrible form

RECEPTION FOR SENIORS IS DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

President and Mrs. Smith Extend Hospitality of Executive Mansion Tuesday Evening to Men Who Will Receive Their Degrees in June

On last Tuesday evening from 8:30 to 10:30, President and Mrs. Smith tendered the Senior classes of the law, academic and engineering schools a most delightful and much appreciated reception. Practically every Senior in college was on hand to enjoy the hospitality of the presidential mansion, together with the faculty and many ladies, whose close connection with the university made their presence peculiarly appropriate and agreeable. Dr. and Mrs. Smith received their guests as they entered the reception room, and with a few words of greeting, passed them on into the gay throng, which filled all the first floor of the house. Many found their way to the punch bowl, which was presided over by Miss Mary Glasgow, or to the dining room, where Mrs. Kern and Mrs. Kimball were busied in helping all comers to delicious refreshments of various kinds. The Misses Hamilton, Isabel West, Elise Currell and Frances and Catherine Glasgow assisted in serving the sherbert and other refreshments in the dining room, while Misses Witt, Gray, and Mary Currell gladdened the hearts of the thirsty by seeing that everyone who sought refreshments of a lighter nature was served with some of the delicious fruit punch. While there seemed to be a continual stream of people entering and leaving the house, and several hundred persons were present at the reception during some part of the evening, the large rooms in which the throng scattered were at no time too crowded, everyone present having a chance to find and speak to all his or her acquaintances among the guests. The house itself was brilliantly lighted, throwing the rays of its gayety over the dark campus as well as concentrating them to increase the joviality within. The simple, but very tasteful decorations consisted for the most part of potted plants and other green reminders of warmer seasons, beautifully arranged in the dining room and elsewhere. The first guests arrived shortly after 8:30 and from the first moment of arrival until the last guest had departed, more than two hours later, there was not a dull period to mar the gayety of the evening. The reception was made as informal as possible, in order that everyone might be put at their ease immediately, and in this respect President and Mrs. Smith, as well as their helpers, old and young, were eminently successful. The seniors, and the townspeople as well, left the house feeling that they had enjoyed one of the most delightful and charming social functions Lexington has witnessed in recent years.

BASKETBALL TEAM ON LONG TRIP

Ten Players Go With Manager Barker—Dr. Pollard to Join Quint in Washington

The basketball squad which left Lexington last Friday at 1:10 p. m. consisted of twofull teams and was probably one of the largest squads which has ever gone from Washington and Lee on a long Northern trip. Those going on the trip were Bear, McCain, Seeley and Zaiss, forwards; Miles and Shultz, centers; Young, Lile, Kerns and Frost, guards. The team is determined to make a good showing against the Northern quints. Manager Barker is in charge of the players, but Dr. Pollard will join them in Washington and take active charge of the men and accompany them on the remainder of the trip. V. P. I. was played last Saturday night and Catholic University was met last night, the scores of these two contests being W. and L., 19; V. P. I., 21, and W. and L., —; Catholic, —.

The game tonight with Georgetown University will have a direct bearing on the South Atlantic championship question, though it is admitted that

INVITATIONS OUT FOR BIG EVENT

Second Interscholastic Track Meet Will Be Held on Wilson Field in April

In accordance with the policy adopted last year, preparations are already under way for the second interscholastic meet to be held under the auspices of the Washington and Lee track management. It will be remembered that the meet last year was highly successful and it is confidently expected that there will be even more entries this season.

The invitations were sent out last Thursday, a post card being enclosed with each invitation to be used in replying to the invitation. April the 25th is the date that has been decided upon.

The announcements have been sent to the leading high schools and preparatory schools of the Eastern and Southern states, ranging from Massachusetts to Florida.

The students of the University will entertain the visitors along the plan which was so successfully followed last year, when the Washington and Lee men made the contest-

GENERALS WIN FROM N. C. AGGIES

All-round Work of Miles Features —Contest One of Roughest Seen Here

Displaying a keen perfection in shooting, the unbeaten General quintette scored a signal victory over North Carolina A. and M. Thursday night, 48 to 15. The hefty Aggies were overwhelmed by the agile forwards and the superb team work of Washington and Lee. Assured of victory, the General regulars were withdrawn from the field in the final period and the second five given an opportunity to outbatttle the Aggies.

The miraculous shooting of stalwart "Buck" Miles featured the rough and riotous setto. With wonderful accuracy, the elongated center located the basket from midfield and wanton angles. Captain Bear contributed a stellar performance to the proclivities, his passing and shooting being splendid.

From the outset the Aggies were forced to assume a defensive game. The entire aggressive part of the game netted but three baskets from the floor. But the superb foul goal tossing of Sumner swelled the score by nine points.

QUEENSBURY RULES ADOPTED

The frolicsome play of the first half soon evolved into a rough and merry battle in the last period. The Aggies and Generals handled each other with pugilistic tactics and often the participants met the floor with a dull thud and a subsequent echo. The rough maneuvers resulted in numerous fouls, which Sumner controverted into points. Although Miles had a dead aim on the netting on the court, he failed to score on the faults.

Van Brocklin led the Aggies in faults, while Sumner and McDougal also were adjudged fouling frequently. Miles, Shultz and Lile enlivened the game with riotous feats. Despite the aggressiveness, Young was the only contestant disabled. Van Brocklin deprived him of his wind in the first half.

The Aggies were never within hailing distance, the Generals gained twelve points before the Carolinians landed a field goal and maintained the ratio of three to one until the conclusion. At the conclusion of the first half the count stood 29 to 7.

GENERALS GAIN ADVANTAGE

The Aggies registered the first point. Young's foul was controverted into a counter by Sumner. Miles opened the General rally with a phenomenal shot from midfield. Bear, McCain and Miles contributed goals in rapid sequence, while the rangy center added a duo of markers on faults of Van Brocklin and Sumner. McCain annexed another basket and was followed by McDougal, who scored the first goal from field for A. and M.

Young, following a breezy dribble, scored, but McDougal countered with an easy goal under the netting. Van Brocklin with gridiron tactics, en-

BASEBALL PRACTICE STARTS IN GYMNASIUM

Call Issued for Battery Candidates—Coach Mahoney Takes Charge

Yesterday the battery candidates answered Coach Mahoney's first call and a light workout in the gymnasium was engaged in. The coach says that there will be no let up from now until the end of the season, and if the snow does not soon disappear, he expects to have all the baseball candidates report at the gymnasium to start getting in condition. Mahoney means business and he will soon be putting the men through some fast paces and there will be no loafing on the squad.

The men who reported to try for heaving honors were Harris of last year's squad, and Jennings, Carson, Bryan, Friend and Schmoele of the new men. Lile, Varsity twirler in 1912, is away on the basketball trip and Larrick, who was a regular flinger last year, is out of town for about a week.

Captain Donahue will no doubt do all the receiving, but Twyman, Woodruff, McClure and Davis are out for places in the catching department.

The Sophomore assistants in baseball have been chosen, they being R. A. Lewis, L. T. White, Robert Nelson, E. B. Shultz, J. M. Raines and T. B. McCown.

NEW FEATURE ADDED TO GYMNASIUM WORK

Although nothing definite has been decided in regard to a gym meet, the White and Blue will inaugurate a new feature this year by giving a class exhibition in calisthenics and apparatus work. This exhibition is scheduled for about the first of March. The prospects for a good gymnasium team are very bright. Four of last year's team have returned, Captain Bush, Manager Larrick, Glasgow and Showell. Among the new men who are showing up well are: Grossman, Powell, Paxton and Manning.

TIDEWATER CLUB ORGANIZES

The Tidewater club met one day last week and perfected an organization for the year, choosing the following officers: J. D. Martin, president; J. C. Hudson, vice president; J. M. Schmoele, secretary-treasurer. They announce that the club will give its annual banquet in the near future.

Athletic Comment

J. N. DANIEL

The Navy, Washington and Lee's opponents for Wednesday night, recently defeated George Washington University 62 to 16. The Generals won from the Washingtonians 30 to 17.

Cronley of Virginia broke the world's record Saturday at the Johns Hopkins meet by running the 100 yard hurdles in eleven and three-fifth seconds.

It will be a cause of great disappointment to Virginia and Washington and Lee alumni and supporters, especially those in Lynchburg, that the Virginia authorities have refused to play a deciding game of basketball. The Charlottesville authorities say that they could not possibly play until March and the faculty objects to a post season contest. Manager Barker agreed to cancel any game in order to stage the fray, but to no avail.

That V. P. I. game threw a surprise in the camp of the Generals and reports from Blacksburg intimate that the championship question is now unsettled. But the latest claimant to title honors for the state are the basketball tossers representing Roanoke College. As the season in any branch of sport grows old the aspirants to the championship spring up, notwithstanding the character of schedule played by said aspirants. True, the Salemites defeated the Techs early in the season, but the latest information is that the Orange and Maroon has improved, even since their appearance on the W. and L. court.

The fact that summer baseball is agitating the colleges seems to be agitating the various newspapers and all have some suggestion to offer. Gus Malbert gives the views advanced by Jay Lewis and Grantland Rice. The former says that if a man is a good ballplayer, that's his profession; his hands are his tools, and he is working, that is all. Rice takes another view of the subject, and, incidentally his is the one which has been adopted by the captains of some of the leading college nines in the country. He says let the college authorities take charge; let a man's class standing determine whether he is legitimate or merely attending college to play baseball, and enforce the one year residence rule. If a man is up on his studies, attends class regularly, and for two or three sessions, it's a pretty safe bet that he isn't attending for the pleasure of playing college baseball for two months.

Its one thing to import Scotch and English Woolens.

Quite another to import the finest and have their patterns absolutely confined.

Very few, for that matter, can claim exclusiveness of pattern for all their domestic fabrics.

Yet we do, and in spite of our exclusiveness, in spite of our quality, charge only our regular moderate prices, and back every Spring Suit and Ouercoat we sell with "your money back if your want it."

TWO DEFEATS INAUGURATE NORTHERN TRIP

The Generals lost the two first games of the hard Northern invasion by close scores. The accounts of the contest with V. P. I. are rather meager, but it appears that the Techs played a brilliant game, putting up a great exhibition in the guarding department. The White and Blue was held to the smallest score of the year in the Dutch Barn. Young played only a few moments and was relieved by Frost. Bear was the star for W. and L., while Powell and Fitzgerald were the stellar performers for the Orange and Maroon.

The Catholic game is reported to have been a fast and spectacular affair, with Miles doing the brilliant work for the invaders. The Catholics put up the best game of the season on the local floor and it was expected that the fracas with them would be hard fought. Twenty-five to twenty was the final score, while 21 to 19 was the result of the mixup with V. P. I.

These scores indicate that each battle has been in doubt until the final whistle blew and that the Generals are putting up a stiff fight under the disadvantages of new courts.

PREPARATIONS FOR FANCY DRESS BALL ABOUT COMPLETE

Preparations for the mid-winter germans have about been completed according to those who have the functions in charge. The fancy dress ball will eclipse any of those held in the past, and it is reported that more young ladies will be in attendance than ever before at a Washington and Lee dance. Miss Annie White has completed the plans for the decorations which will be something distinctive, the idea being to convert the gymnasium into a Japanese garden.

The costumes will be here Saturday, and Mr. Van Horn writes that they will be the most brilliant and elaborate that he has ever sent out. Several extra costumes have been ordered in case they might be needed. Messrs. Moran and Ramsey, with the assistance of the University authorities, have purchased a transformer so that the lights in the gymnasium will be much brighter and so that current can be provided for the fancy lights.

An urgent request is made to the students who have young ladies up for the dance to hand their names to Mr. Moran or Miss White on Wednesday, so that they can be placed in the opening figure, as it is Mr. Moran's desire to have all couples in the figures.

The ball will be led by Mr. Moran, as George Washington, with Miss Agnes Chilton of Charleston, W. Va., as Martha Washington.

Ralph A. Waite speaks to the Y. M. C. A. tonight in the assembly room in the Library building.

The Graham-Lee Literary society will hold its regular election of officers at the Saturday night meeting.

J. L. Larrick is spending the week in Auburn, Ky., where he has gone to attend his brother's wedding.

R. D. Ramsey spent several days in Lynchburg last week where he went to see an oculist.

The Co-op of Harvard recently distributed a dividend of $20,000.

Vanderbilt is planning to support an entire mission in the Belgian Congo. The University is at present supporting two men at this mission.

COURSE IN DEBATING

Dr. Granville Campbell has agreed to coach the teams which will debate Tulane and Trinity in March. A course in debates will also be commenced, beginning Feb. 16th and closing May 1st, open to not more than twenty students, exclusive of the teams already selected, and will be counted as one term on the alternating course in oral debates, political science 4. Those wishing to enroll for this course should do so at once, as the lists will be closed on Feb. 20th. Prerequisites for admission are the same as for political science 4 to be given in 1914-'15. An Improved Schedule

While the Washington and Lee football schedule remains as announced two weeks ago, it has nevertheless been considerably improved within that time. We considered it a good schedule with representative teams, but did regard it as unfortunate that apparently only one of our opponents, V. P. I., was to meet any other representative South Atlantic eleven besides our own, and that two of the games—Swarthmore and West Virginia—were with teams outside our own section, and the results of which would not affect our standing with our opponents for title honors here. Since then, however, games have been arranged between A. and M. and Georgetown, A. and M. and V. P. I., and West Virginia and A. and M., and between Swarthmore and Virginia. The V. P. I. and Georgetown schedules, which have not yet been completed, may show further developments along this line. Swarthmore and West Virginia now appear "quasi South Atlantic teams," and Georgetown, V. P. I., and A. and M. all lock horns with other representative elevens in the section, in addition to the White and Blue.

Virginia and North Carolina are for the present almost entirely cut off from the rest of the important teams in the South Atlantic division and it is hard to see how they will be able to establish any claim whatever to South Atlantic honors. Washington and Lee seems to be in the best position of the big teams of the section, meeting three of the big teams in the division, and having in the Swarthmore game a direct basis of comparison with Virginia which might possibly prove helpful in case the familiar tactics of the past for winning championships are resorted to in that quarter.

A Board Track

The Ring-tum Phi this week carries the announcement that Washington and Lee will not participate in the indoor track meet to be held in Richmond on the 21st of February.

The reason assigned is that the relay team has not yet been able to do any active training on account of the usual January and February weather which renders it impossible to do any outdoor work. This state of affairs will probably prevent the Generals entering any of the indoor meets scheduled for the next month, in spite of the fact that there is some very promising track material in the University. The University of Virginia was very anxious to meet our relay team in Richmond and Johns Hopkins has asked for a race at the Baltimore meet. That Washington and Lee has been able to hold her own in this branch of sport is evidenced by the fact that last year the Generals won their race with Hopkins and Carlisle and lost to Virginia by a small margin, the men not running in the form shown in the race with Hopkins and the Indians.

The question now arises, What can be done to remedy our lack of facilities for indoor work? We have been assured that the new gymnasium will be started in a very short while, and of course, when completed it will afford ample facilities. As a temporary provision, the Athletic director of the University has requested the Faculty committee on athletics to build a 250 yard board track, to have two straight aways each thirty-seven and a half yards long. The plan is to lay this track near the carriage entrance to the gymnasium, thus being easily accessible to the dressing quarters. The manifest advantage of such a track is that it can be used in any sort of weather, always being in good condition, whereas a dirt track never can be put in shape until late in the spring. Moreover, a board track will last several years without repairs. This seems to be the only solution of the present difficulty and we hope to see steps taken in that direction at once. Nothing that we have said is in a spirit of criticism for we fully realize that the University authorities will do all that they are able to do in the way of putting our track athletics on the basis they should occupy. This expression is meant as an endorsement of the director's plan to provide for the training of men for indoor work.

The School of Commerce

In a recent issue of the Tulane Weekly appeared an editorial under the same caption as this one, in which the writer, after outlining the manifest advantages to be derived from a school of commerce, urges that Tulane University be first among southern colleges to install such a department. Our contemporary goes into detail and gives an accurate account of the great good that would result from the proposed School of Commerce, saying that in the future our own internal problems will be industrial and economic, not political and constitutional as in the past, that this is the day of big business, and that the college man should be prepared to take a prominent part in solving the intricate economic problems which now confront the nation.

On this point we do not take issue, but we do take issue with the statement that there is no School of Commerce in the South.

Here at Washington and Lee we have a fully equipped School of Commerce which was organized in accordance with a resolution of the board of trustees passed in June, 1905. Its aim is to give the very course of instruction desired by the Tulane Weekly, i. e., to give thorough preparatory training suitable for the needs of those who expect to become lawyers, and to prepare those who expect to enter business careers, especially in such fields as banking, foreign or domestic commerce, journalism, or the public service.

The school had its beginning during the administration of William L. Wilson and is now supported by the Wilson Memorial fund. It has its own building as well as a valuable commerce library containing several thousand volumes. Thus, Washington and Lee not only has the distinction of having the oldest School of Commerce in the South, but the largest and best equipped, which, in no small degree, accounts for the success of some of her late graduates in the public service.

The Surprise

That Washington and Lee supporters were surprised when it was learned that the White and Blue basketball tossers had been defeated at the hands of the Techs, is putting it mildly. Judging from the headlines in the various papers, the sporting public was surprised. We fondly imagined that the Generals were unfeatable in the South because they had not tasted defeat in their own division for the past two seasons and indications were that they would carry that record through another year.

But if we thought that the Orange and Maroon would not offer any serious resistance to the White and Blue when they met in Blacksburg, if we thought that the overwhelming victory of the Generals over the terrible Techs in Lexington had awed them, we reasoned without taking into consideration that fighting spirit which has always characterized V. P. I. teams and made them among the most dangerous that W. and L. has ever played.

We might have been overconfident in Saturday's game. No doubt we were. Perhaps the quint did not play in true form. Such seems to be the report. That does not alter the fact that we were beaten 21 to 19, and we congratulate our Blacksburg friends on "turning the trick."

The team has played wonderful ball all the season and that it should have had an "off day" is not surprising. The championship of the South Atlantic division is now in doubt and the strength of our claim will depend to a great degree on the outcome of the Northern trip which seems to be all there is to say at present.

Fancy Dress Ball

The annual fancy dress ball, the first in the new gymnasium, which will be held next Monday night, promises to eclipse any of those seven similar and elaborate balls which have preceded it.

This function is one of the distinctive features of the dances given at Washington and Lee during the year, and has come to be recognized as one of the most brilliant affairs of its kind ever given among the Southern universities.

This occasion is always looked forward to with the greatest interest by those in college and by a great number out of college, and indications are that there will be more visitors for this noted social event this year than ever before, which, taken with the fact that the 1914 ball will surpass in magnificence and gorgeous effects any social function given here in years, means the scene in the gymnasium on next Monday night will be one long to be remembered.

The Time is Now

The snow covered landscape doesn't look so much like baseball just now, but nevertheless the baseball coach is here, and battery practice began yesterday. The heavy part of the schedule comes at the beginning of the season, and it is imperative that an early start be made, so that the coach may have time to look the candidates over carefully, and have his team picked and in smooth running order by the opening of the schedule.

It cannot be too strongly impressed on every man who has any idea of trying for the team that the time to go out is the day of the very first call. For the battery candidates, now; for the rest, just as soon as the call is posted. The man who goes out late goes under a handicap, unless he is possessed of very superior abilities. Another thing, there is nothing quite so fatal as the occasional vacation from practice which some men are in the habit of taking. They usually fail to make the team. Go out now, and go out every day. If you don't make the team then, it is because somebody else is better than you are, and not because you have been slighted, or your abilities underestimated. One thing more, every man who can play ball should respond to Coach Mahoney's call. Don't hang back from a lack of self confidence, or the fear that you won't be given a fair chance. Coach Mahoney is here early, and every man will get a fair hearing. Carolina A. and M. had a hundred men on the first call; Virginia, nearly as many. Let us not be laggards in our duty.

WHITE AND BLUE WILL NOT ENTER RICHMOND MEET

It has just been decided that Washington and Lee will not enter a team in the third indoor meet of Richmond College and the Richmond Light Infantry Blues, which will be held in Richmond on the 21st of this month. It had once been thought that the White and Blue would be matched against Virginia in a relay race, but the recent decision of the W. and L. Athletic authorities not to send a team to Richmond will prevent the race which would undoubtedly have been one of the features of the meet. The track authorities here are greatly disappointed that W. and L. will not be represented but the cause of their decision was based on the fact that the Generals' relay squad has been unable to do any real training to date on account of the adverse weather for the past three weeks.

the Hill Toppers are not exhibiting their usual strength in basketball this year. Yet, the Blue and Gray is a team always to be reckoned with. Wednesday's fray with the Navy will no doubt be the hardest one on the trip, for the Middies regularly have one of the best quints in the country. They play on a large floor which serves to handicap visiting teams. Two games in Brooklyn with Pratt Institute and St. John's College, and one game in New York with the City College of New York winds up the 1914 schedule.

Last year the White and Blue won from St. Johns College, but lost to Pratt and the City College by close scores.

CROSS-BARBER

Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the Lee Memorial Episcopal church was the scene of the wedding ceremony of Miss Elizabeth Cross of Lexington, Va., and Mr. George Holbrook Barber of Brooklyn, N. Y., a former student of the University.

The church presented a most attractive appearance, the floral decorations consisting of smilax and Easter lilies. The bride entered on the arm of her uncle, Mr. George Weaver, of Flushing, L. I., and the ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Oscar De Wolf Randolph, the mother of the bride giving her away. The bride was exquisitely dressed in a gown of white satin, trimmed in real lace, and with a veil of real lace. Her maid of honor was Miss Janet Barber of Brooklyn, N. Y., sister of the groom, and handsomely attired in pink taffeta, carrying a large bunch of pink bridesmaid roses. The groom was attended by Mr. William Coverley Cooke of New York city, the ushers being Henry W. Ives and Simeon Hyde of New York city, and J. M. Bauserman and T. C. McCallie of the University.

After the ceremony, an elaborate reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George Franklin Cross, on Letcher avenue, the decorations being in pink and green. The bridal couple left immediately for Natural Bridge, from whence they will go on to New Orleans.

The bride is an extremely attractive young lady, very popular in Lexington society. The groom is engaged in business in New York city and attended the University for three years. While at the University he was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, the Pan and Sigma Ribbon societies, the Thirteen club and the Cotillion club.

Out of town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Calvin F. Barber of Brooklyn, Mrs. Quarles of Washington, D. C., Mr. George Weaver of Flushing, N. Y., Mrs. K. W. Powers of Rye, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Ives of New York city, Miss Margaret Brinkley and Miss Janet Barber of Brooklyn, and Mr. William Coverley Cooke of New York.

of vice—older than Babylon itself—gives the present generation an opportunity to see it systematized and in a form which may be handled delicately but effectively.

As an author, scholar, lecturer and writer, Mr. Roe stands pre-eminent, and what he has accomplished in his youth is only ominous of the great good that he means to do in the days to come.

Mr. Roe's success as a lecturer is ably attested by the numerous glowing comments of the press. "Clifford G. Roe is a recognized authority on white slavery," says the New York Times. The Indianapolis Star comments: "Clifford G. Roe is the most widely known foe of the white slave traffic in America. Probably no young man of his age has received more newspaper notice than he." The Des Moines News says of him: "Mr. Roe has gained a national reputation in his great fight against the white slave traffic. He has an open, frank speech and manner which are attractive."

The College World

C. L. SAGER

The Yale library contains 600,000 volumes. This is the largest college library in the country.

At the University of Illinois a farmers' convention hall is being built. The seating capacity is 11,000. When the farmers are not using it, the students may make use of it as an indoor diamond, gridiron and armory.

There is a student movement on foot at Vanderbilt to have Math I removed from the B. A. course. The students, however, have not taken such forward action as did the members of the class of 1830 at Yale in the famous Conic section rebellion. Forty-nine members of this class signed a petition to the faculty to the effect that they be permitted to explain conic sections from the book instead of demonstrating them from figures. The petition was refused, forty-four students would not recite and as a result were expelled from the University.

There are over 200 undergraduate students at Yale who entered after taking one or more years at some other college. Few of these were dropped by their former colleges, but have gone to Yale because of sentiment or educational advantages, the former being the chief reason.

The editor in chief and the art editor of the "Cornell Widow" have been expelled from Cornell because of the objectionable character of the "Temptation Number" of that magazine issued several weeks ago. The rapid sale of 5,000 copies netted them over $2,000. The student body is aroused over the matter and have appealed for the reinstatement of the editors.

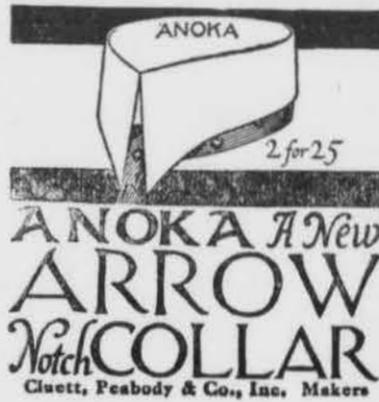

The class of 1912 of Williams College voted unanimously to make a gift of $25,000 to the College on the date of their twenty-fifth reunion. Each graduate promised, in so far as possible, to contribute for the first year a sum equivalent to his salary for the first two weeks.

The question has recently been considered as to whether a man can get through college comfortably on $700 a year. The presidents of the leading Northern universities and colleges answered the question affirmatively. Princeton statistics show that five students spend from $800 to $900; 422 spend from $600 to $800; 507 spend from $500 to $600; eight spend less than $100.

TEAMS CHOSEN FOR DEBATES WITH TULANE AND TRINITY

Dr. Hancock announced last week that Messrs. Massinter and Delaplaine will represent the White and Blue in the debate at Tulane, and that Messrs. McCain, Ulmer and Carson would go to Trinity, N. C. The events are scheduled for about March 12th. W. and L. will uphold the negative of the question, which will be the same in both contests: "Resolved, That the states should enforce a minimum wage for women and children sufficient to maintain a fair standard of life."

Coach Dan Mahoney impresses us with having lots of 'pep' and it will not be his fault if the Generals do not have a season such as they had three years ago. He's got the fight and, together with Donahue, there should be no difficulty in putting the proper spirit in the team.

tered the calcium with three consecutive fouls, Miles gaining one and losing two. On the third foul, Young was disabled but soon play resumed.

The battered guard countered with a goal on the first play. Lile's foul yielded Sumner a foul goal, but Miles missed on Van Brocklin's fault. McCain with a clever thrust, scored, while Captain Bear swelled the count with two in rapid sequence. Miles' infringement allowed Sumner to score, but McCain followed with a dazzling back handed goal, and added another shortly afterwards. Frost relieved Young at guard. Although he was unable to score on Sumner's foul, Miles registered a field goal as the first half ended, 29 to 7.

THE MILLING BEGINS

Although the struggle had not been lacking in spirited play in the opening session, the battle evolved into a hectic, animated scrap in the closing round. McCain opened with a foul and Sumner tallied. Mason and Van Brocklin scored faults, but Miles' efforts were barren. Soaring from the center of the court, Miles' toss entered the rim and afforded the attendance a sensation. A regime of rough playing was inaugurated when Frost fouled, Sumner missing. McDougal and Van Brocklin committed fouls but failed to change the results. Frost's second foul was likewise unfruitful. Miles interrupted the fouling with a toss from a difficult angle for another goal. Lile repeated with a tally.

Sumner scored on Lile's trip, while Miles failed on Feiderber's lunge. Miles slung his guard over his pate and the unerring Sumner tallied. On Lile's fault Sumner missed but followed up the toss with a field goal. When Sumner held, Miles scored and added two field goals in rapid succession. Seeley who played brilliantly later, relieved McCain. Lile located the net. A double foul Frost-Sumner was called, the Aggies gaining a point. Scarry was substituted for McDougal. Bear controverted Miles' miss of Van Brocklin's foul into a score. After Sumner failed on the huge center's fault, Seeley tallied.

Zaiss was ushered into the fray for Miles, while Kerns relieved Lile. Scarry was judged dribbling illegally, but Seeley missed on the toss off. Shultz was injected into the melee and celebrated by hurling Sumner upon his pate. His recipient scored. As Seeley scored on a back handed toss the whistle blew, terminating the local season with a 48-15 victory over the Aggies.

Summary and lineup:

Alumni Notes

R. N. LATTURE

The editor of this department will be pleased to receive any information concerning the alumni which is of interest to the present student body or to the alumni.

J. N. and D. S. Kilmer, both of class of '11, are practicing law in Martinsburg, W. Va.

C. R. Hanke, B.S., '10, has been engaged in irrigation engineering since he graduated, doing work in Idaho, Colorado and Oregon. At present he has charge of the headquarters of the United States Indian service at Harlem, Mont.

Judge Randolph Tucker, '95, the new federal judge of the second district in Alaska, is opening the eyes of the people in Nome and other towns on the shores of the Bering sea. Last month he put the lid on the saloons, ordered strict observance of the Sunday closing law, and debarred some of the liveliest features of Nome's annual carnival. This is the first time that any such action has taken place in that part of the Arctic regions since white men have lived on the coast of the Bering sea.

The Roanoke Times recently carried the following announcement: 'Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacLeod of Lynchburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Mr. Roderick Beddow, a prominent young lawyer of Birmingham, Ala., the marriage to take place in early March.' Beddow was a member of the class of '12.

Borden Burr, '98, is a member of the law firm of Percy, Benes, & Burr in Birmingham, Ala. Until 1909 he figured prominently in local politics of Talladega City, and took an active part in the recent Wilson campaign. At present Mr. Burr is president of the Washington and Lee Alumni association of Birmingham, and grand counsellor of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

A. L. Herzog, '06, is practicing law with J. J. Bouhan in Savannah, Ga. Although the firm began business with very small capital, it has recently become successful and distinguished by the "original ideas" which these men have shown in the cases that have come up under the prohibition laws of that state.

DR. DENNY MAY BE NEXT GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA

The news comes from Washington and Montgomery that great pressure is being brought to bear on Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama, and former president of Washington and Lee, to run for governor of the state in the next elections. Since going to Alabama, Dr. Denny has figured prominently in the state and is one of the best known educators in the South, and the fact that after only two year's residence in Alabama, he is being mentioned in political circles as the next executive of that commonwealth, speaks well for his recognized ability.
