JUDGE HARVEY GIVES $10,000 FOR LOAN FUND

W. and L. Alumnus Endows Fund to Help Needy Students Through College

Within the last week the University has been the recipient of a gift of $10,000.00 from Judge Thomas H. Harvey of Huntington, W. Va., for the establishment of a perpetual student loan fund. On his return from Chicago some time ago President Smith stopped at Huntington where he was given a dinner party at the Hotel Frederick by Mr. Herbert Fitzpatrick, a very prominent West Virginia alumnus of Washington and Lee. Judge Harvey, who is a graduate of the law class of 1868, and one of the few remaining alumni who received their diplomas from the hand of General Lee was at that time much pleased at a plan suggested by Dr. Smith for assisting young men working their way through college. As a result of the visit and conference Judge Harvey has sent a letter to the Board of Trustees, which is in part as follows:

Huntington, W. Va.,
March 2nd, 1918.
To the trustees of Washington and Lee University,
Lexington, Virginia.

Messrs:

Fifty years ago I received my diploma from the hands of the immortal Lee, and have ever since cherished a warm affection for the institution which bears his name and guards his tomb.

In order that other young men, whose ambition is handicapped by poverty, may be able to enjoy similar educational privileges at my Alma Mater, I hereby transmit and donate to you as Trustees of the University the following bonds, notes, etc., to constitute the

THOS. H. HARVEY LOAN FUND
to be held and used by you according to the following instructions.

The funds hereby donated to the University shall be permanently and safely invested as a trust fund (together with such additions to the principle as may be made from time to time), known as the Thos. H. Harvey Loan Fund, the principle to remain forever intact.

The income of the Fund to be loaned by the President of the University to such needy and worthy young men as he may select, and in such amount as he may deem wise, to assist them to meet the necessary expenses of their education at Washington and Lee.

In selecting the beneficiaries no partiality is to be shown on political or sectarian grounds, but the following are to be the preferred beneficiaries:

First: Young men coming from my old judicial circuit in West Virginia, embracing the counties of Cabell, Wayne, Lincoln, Logan and Mingo and from my native county, Putnam.

Absence from Drill Will Bring Penalty

Faculty Passes Resolutions

1. If a member of the R. O. T. C. be once absent without excuse, his name shall be posted on the bulletin board and read out before the battalion, and he shall be called up before the commandant for reproof, and put on probation.
2. Upon second unexcused absence, the delinquent shall be further warned by the commandant, and continued on strict probation.
3. Upon a third unexcused absence, the parents of the delinquent shall be informed of the fact and be told that a fourth unexcused absence will compel his withdrawal from the University.
4. A fourth unexcused absence shall sever the delinquent's connection with the University.

DEBATE TRINITY IN DURHAM THIS WEEK

Wilson, Burtner, and Sager will Represent Washington and Lee in Intellectual Battle

Washington and Lee will debate Trinity College at Durham, N. C. next Saturday night on the following question: "Resolved, that the war time scope of federal regulation should, in principle, be permanently established in time of peace." W. O. Burtner, G. P. Wilson, and W. W. Sager are the men who will represent the Generals on the intellectual grid-iron, and they have been hard at work for a month expecting to give Trinity a hard battle.

Messrs. Fisher, Allison, and Durham, all members of the class of 1918, will debate for Trinity. The Tarheels secured the decision of the judges last year in Lexington after a close debate, and a fierce contest of wits is expected in Durham the end of this week. Trinity debates the opposite side of the same question with Swarthmore on the succeeding Saturday, this debate also being held in Durham.

Faculty Agrees to Holding Cotillion Club German and "13" Club Dance on Simplified Scale

The faculty committee on social affair after a lengthy discussion and review of the whole question decided that it would be best to have the dances on a simplified scale. The "13" Club dance will come on Monday night and will be led by T. S. Jones with Miss Katherine Stuart of Huntington, West Virginia, while the Cotillion Club German on Tuesday night will be led by M. W. Paxton, president of the club, with Miss Eutha Young of Lexington. S. A. E. WINS INTERFRAT CUP

Defeat Betas In Final Contest 3 to 0--Many Hard-Fought Games in Series

Defeating the team representing the Beta Theta Pi fraternity this afternoon by a score of 3 to 0, Sigma Alpha Epsilon secured the inter-fraternity championship and possession of the winner's silver cup for one year.

The final contest was hard fought throughout, the closeness of the two teams and the short periods of play preventing much scoring. For the winners, Gregg and Sutton were the stars, and showed good form in every game of the series. Craig Patterson played well for the Betas. A large crowd was present and much interest was shown in the outcome of the series.

In a series of contests lasting throughout the past week, the teams of the other thirteen fraternities had been put out of the running. The Betas started by defeating Phi Kappa

SHIPPING PROBLEM TO BE DISCUSSED AT ASSEMBLY

Mr. Frank P. McKibben, lecturer for the Emergency Fleet Corporation, will address a University Assembly Saturday morning. The subject of his talk is, "Can America Finish those Ships in Time?"

Mr. McKibben, who is presenting the shipbuilding program to the colleges, has given sixty-five lectures at colleges since January 1, with a view of interesting college students and teachers in the shipbuilding program of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. In his illustrated lecture he not only presents the shipbuilding program but also outlines the subjects of ship construction and ocean transportation.

He points out to students and teachers the method of securing work in shipyards during their summer vaca-

BATTALION WILL GET RIFLES FOR DRILL NEXT TERM

Enlistments Bring Total to 175— Battalion is Reviewing School of Company

With daily enlistments continually raising the total number of members enrolled in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Washington and Lee, and the promise of the War Department that guns will soon be furnished to the battalion, prospects for marked progress in military training looms up particularly bright. In regard to uniforms, the chances are uncertain, but the commandant hopes for some action by the government toward equipping the local battalion in the next two weeks.

Drill is proceeding smoothly, the past week being spent in a general review of close order drill through the school of the company, particular attention being paid to the hitherto untried movements in platoon drill and extending the company in two's and files. For the remainder of the week, extended order will be the chief thing on the program, and before the coming of exams causes a week's intermission in the work of the battalion, the school of the company in the infantry drill regulations will be virtually completed.

The following information in regard to securing guns for the local R. O. T. C. has been received by President Smith from Mr. F. D. Keppel of the War Department: "I am glad to say on behalf of General Wheeler, the acting Chief of Ordnance, that he thinks the guns which will enable you to complete the requirements for Reserve Officers' Training Corps can be sent to you within a few days." Lieutenant Manning expressed the hope that this equipment would be obtained by the battalion before the close of the present month.

In case guns are obtained for the R. O. T. C., the drill for the rest of the year will be taken up with the manual of arms and use of the rifle, and the unfinished trenches behind the athletic field will hardly be touched for the remainder of the session. Lieutenant Manning thinks that the forty hours of drill left during the present year will have to be used in getting the present organization thoroughly instilled with the principles of the infantry drill fundamentals with rifles.

The total enrollment of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at present is 175, and this number is being added to daily. The formation of an additional company is not contemplated at present unless the enrollment should be still further increased so as to make the present companies considerably beyond the present maximum strength for the infantry units of the R. O. T. C., which is eighty men. In such case a third company will be formed.

The Washington and Lee campus is assuming a somewhat warlike aspect, and members of the battalion are many of them wearing their uniforms

FRESHMEN ARE TRIED BEFORE BAR OF JUSTICE

Vigilance Committee Calls Up Wayward Ones Before Orderly Court to Plead Their Case

The supreme court of errors and appeals of Washington and Lee, the vigilance committee of the Sophomore class, held an important meeting last Tuesday night, and awarded justice to erring Freshmen in a much more systematic but none the less effective way, than had been the custom in days past.

Aroused by criticism of their modus operandi, the Sophomores in meeting assembled resolved that their procedure at the next occasion should be beyond reproach. Accordingly they gathered themselves together in a lecture room of Newcomb Hall and there went into session as a grand jury, ferreting out the petty wrong doers of the campus and ordering them to appear before the court to show cause why the just reward of their sins should not be visited upon them.

At the appointed time the court had a full docket. Each man was called to the bar in the order in which his name appeared, there acquainted with the charge against him, and given an opportunity to make defense. If he pled his cause well enough to receive the "thumbs up" sign, was permitted to retire scathless, but more than one was not so fortunate and upon such did the flail of justice descend.

Taken altogether it was a very interesting session, for while strictly within the constitutional laws and provisions of the student body, it also had the merit of bringing the sins of the neophytes before them with assurance of justice according to their deserts

Y. M. C. A.

The "Secular and the Sacred" is the Subject of Talk by Professor Addison Hogue

Professor Addison Hogue addressed a small crowd at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Tuesday night on "The Secular and the Sacred" and in his talk showed how there could really be no line drawn between the two.

The speaker stated that Socrates used to say that incorrect speech is not only wrong but often leaves a false impression in the mind of the hearer. In this connection he showed how people have a false conception of the Holy Spirit just because the spirit is usually referred to as "it" when people should say "Him." Mr.
Hogue said that if people will remember this they can more easily think of the Spirit as a personality to which they can appeal.

In taking up the subject proper he said, "The so-called sacred is no more pleasing to God than the secular.
All should be equally sacred." and he quoted the apostle Paul: "Whatever you do—do all unto the glory of the God." He further showed how Christ thought that adequate preparation is worth while, and that He waited until He was thirty years old before entering into exclusively religious work. He said that this shows how Christ considered the secular could be just as holy as the sacred in the proper place. Prof. Hogue then went on to show how at times taking some recreation is more holy than going to a religious meeting, and how it is more holy to do ones present duty than to go off into branch lines although they may seem the proper thing at first sight.

Editor's Note

With this issue the Ring-tum Phi suspends publication until the tenth of April. The arrangement of the University calendar this year was such that twelve of the twenty nine issues provided for in the student body constitution were published before the Christmas vacation, and ten have been issued this term. So as happened last year, a lapse of three weeks must ensue during examinations. The next issue will be published Wednesday, April 10, to include accounts of both Easter dances.

Honor Our General

Two months ago the Ring-tum Phi expressed the hope that the student body could find an appropriate way to pay respect to the memory of Robert Edward Lee. The great leader of the Southland lies buried in the University chapel, and it is the honor of his name and the traditions of his influence which from the greatest intangible assets of our institution today.

The establishment of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps and the consequent increased military aspect of Washington and Lee has brought the matter directly to the front, and the Ring-tum Phi now urges that all members of the battalion salute whenever they pass by the Chapel in honor and respect to one whose memory can never be forgotten on this campus. With or without uniform, this token is a small one to pay, but nothing can have so pronounced effect on the minds of outsiders and those connected with Washington and Lee. The custom once inaugurated can never die out, and when it is considered that our friends from V. M. I. never pass by our chapel without rendering this sign of respect, we at Washington and Lee, to whom this priceless heritage most directly belongs, cannot afford to be behind.

War, Military Training, and Athletics

With the close of the basketball season, intercollegiate athletics at Washington and Lee for the 1917-18 session were suspended, and for perhaps the second time in years, last spring being the only similar occasion, the student body faces the coming months without a baseball season to furnish athletic diversion and the spirit of enthusiasm which comes from intercollegiate rivalry.

Last year the war was the direct cause of abolishing athletics; this time war efficiency would prefer that baseball were carried on, but the financial condition of the athletic association and the student body made it impossible. But some form of athletics and athletic rivalry in addition to military drill is certainly advisable for a student body as active and enthusiastic as ours. All military schools have athletics, and the time can be found for them here. What shall it be?

Spring would hardly be complete without baseball, and the Ring-tum Phi hopes that an interclass or inter-company series can be arranged. There is every reason why it should be, and with the no small amount of talent on the campus and no varsity material to be barred, some lively contests can be assured. Tennis and track will also draw their advocates, and if thought advisable tournaments in each sport could easily be arranged.

But standing out perhaps preeminently as the only monogram sport open for the rest of the year is rowing, and the river this spring should swarm with the rival Harry Lee and Albert Sidney followers in preparation for the annual regatta. Rowing is mighty good exercise, and few have the advantage of any experience to start with, so this sport should appeal to many.

We are speaking a trifle early, for intellectual gymnastics will occupy the attention of the campus for several weeks. But with the close of March and the exams, it will be time to turn to outdoor sports.

In Appreciation

In the name of future generations of student, the Ring-tum Phi wishes to assure Thos. H. Harvey that his splendid gift is received with grateful hearts. Alumni who show their feelings toward their Alma Mater by such acts make for the University a cherished heritage and give to her a power out of proportion even to the manifestations of love which have been so freely bestowed. Such a gift as this grows more valuable and more fruitful with every passing year and will be aiding young men to enjoy the privileges of college training long after the generous donor has been called to his reward.

Final Week

The outside expenses of a student's college cash account, calls for money in addition to living and educational expenses, amount to a very large proportion of his total bank account, and whenever a new call for money comes it is apt to be looked on with suspicion. True enough, the Southern Collegian, the Calyx, the Ring-tum Phi, the Y. M. C. A. fund, and the basketball subscription, besides other dues so common to all, eat deep into the pocketbook of the average youth, but they are unavoidable evils, and their call must be heeded.

There is still another call for money now to come before the student body, to cover the financial expenses of final week. Due to the war the expense of finals is to be reduced to less than half of the cost of last year's festivities, but it was not thought wise to abolish the commencement exercises entirely, and everything these days costs money. Final week is an institution of the whole student body and to be a success must receive the support of all as it has had in the past. Whether or not you expect to remain for finals, whether you are a dancing man or not, you owe it to your pride in University and student functions to do your part in making them a success, though the circumstances mentioned above may modify the amount of your contribution. So be ready to do your part, though small, when you are called upon to help.

The Proper Way

In marked contrast to the mob outbreak of two weeks before, the recent meeting of the vigilance committee of the Sophomore class demonstrated a method of Freshman regulation which apparently meets with the hearty endorsement of almost everyone among faculty, upperclassmen, and Freshmen. If all action in the future is as definitely organized and limited, we may expect to hear little adverse comment about "hazing" at Washington and Lee.

EYES FOR THE NAVY

(From the Patriotic News Service, National Committee of Patriotic Societies, Washington, D. C.)

The college men and women of the United States can be of great service in getting the members of their families and other friends to contribute to the navy binoculars, spy glasses and telescopes.

The number of glasses available today is wholly insufficient and the need must be met quickly.

That non used pair of field glasses in your home or the telescope on some college laboratory shelf, if promptly given to the Government may mean the saving of a transport loaded with soldiers or the sinking of a snaking submarine. Quick action in this matter means everything.

All articles should be securely tagged giving the name and address of the donor, and forwarded by mail or express to the honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, care of Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C., so that they may be acknowledged by him.

Articles not suitable for naval use will be returned to the sender. Those accepted will be keyed, so that the name and address of the donor will be permanently recorded at the Navy Department, and every effort will be made to return them, with added historic interest, at the termination of the war. It is of course impossible to guarantee them against damage or loss.

As the Government cannot under the law accept services or material without making some payment therefor, one dollar will be paid for each article accepted, which sum will constitute the rental price, or, in the event of loss, the purchase price of such article.

JUDGE HARVEY GIVES $10,000 FOR LOAN FUND

Second: Young men from the state of West Virginia.

Third: Young men of Confederate lineage, and this preference shall apply to the first and second class.

Fourth: Those to whom notes are made shall give notes for the same, with adequate security when possible, payable to the Thos. H. Harvey Loan Fund.

Fifth: Such notes are to begin bearing interest when the beneficiary ceases to be a student at the University, at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, payable annually. On any balance remaining unpaid five years after leaving W. and L. the beneficiary shall thereafter pay 6 per cent per annum interest.

Seventh: All sums, both principal and interest, paid in by beneficiaries shall be treated as income from the fund and hence shall be available for loans.

Assuring the trustees of Washington and Lee of my deep interest in the work and career of my Alma Mater, and hoping soon to receive their formal acceptance of my gift and its conditions, I am,

Sincerely yours,

THOS. H. HARVEY.

Social and Personal.

Prof. Tucker left Thursday afternoon for Richmond and visited his home in Danville before returning to Lexington Monday.

J. L. Howe, Jr. was the host of a week end house party of which M. C. Shoun, J. L. McChord, and A. B. Shepperson were members.

PI KAPPA ALPHA CELEBRATES ITS FIFTIETH ANNIVERSITY

Local Chapter Holds Banquet at Dutch Inn—Dr. J. R. Howerton Makes Talk

On Monday evening, March 4, the local chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity celebrated the founding of the fraternity, fifty years ago on March 1, 1868, at the University of Virginia, with an informal banquet at the Dutch Inn. Every chapter had previously voted to stop all steps being taken to prepare for a national convention to be held in Richmond and Charlottesville, and instead to have local observances at each chapter.

Dr. J. R. Howerton, who has been a member for forty years, and was grand chaplain for several years, gave a most interesting history of the fraternity to the initiates and pledges and guests. Others present were: Mr. J. H. Lyle, Lexington; and Captain Walter E. Durham of V. M. I., and members and pledges of the local chapter.

LAW CLASS OF 1911 PUBLISHES 7TH ANNUAL

The Law class of 1911 adopted the custom of issuing an annual containing information of the members' activities which has appeared seven times, the latest issue having been just received. The contents are in the form of letters to the secretary of the class, Omer T. Kaylor, giving a personal account of each member's life since the previous issue. This little publication by a class of the Law school for 1918 abounds in loyalty to country and to Washington and Lee. Its list of members includes N. D. Smithson, J. L. Campbell and B. P. Ainsworth, all of Lexington. It includes a list of the married members which numbers twenty-three and another list of those in the service of Uncle Sam which contains at present seven names.

1921 MAY DEBATE EMORY AND HENRY FRESHMEN

The Freshmen class of W. and L. has received a challenge from the Freshmen class of Emory and Henry College to debate with them on any subject that should be agreed upon by the classes, and the debate be held at Emory and Henry, who will pay half of the expenses of the trip.

The class of '21 has taken the matter into consideration and President Sloan has already written for more details to see if the debate cannot be arranged. About six Freshmen have entered their names as candidates for the team, if the debate is brought about.

L. G. Hughes '14 of Rome, Ga., is with the machine gun battalion of the Rainbow Division. His present rank is corporal. Address: 151 Machine Gun Battalion, Co. A. Rainbow Division, A. E. F.

PROGRAM FOR FINALS IS APPROVED BY FACULTY

Five Dances and Senior Banquet is Provided For—Campaign for Funds Begins

Already preparations are under way and definite plans are being formulated for the 1918 Finals. The faculty committee on social functions gave its consent for five dances and a tentative schedule has been drawn up on that basis. New features will be the Senior and Alumni banquet and the more important part given to the celebration of the literary societies. Wright's Saxophone Orchestra will probably be engaged to furnish music for the entire program.

The campaign to secure funds for carrying on the festivities opened this week. The expenses connected with the entertainment will be much reduced in spite of the prevailing high prices, for every effort is being made to avoid unnecessary expenditure. This was a definite point made by the faculty in giving its assent, and the necessity for it is of course undisputed. However, this consideration is not expected to materially affect the individual contributions, because of the greatly reduced size of the student body, which makes it.

The program of events for final week is scheduled to open on Friday night, June 7, with the interfraternity dance led by M. P. Sutton. On Saturday morning at eleven comes the P. A. N.-White Friar German under the direction of B. F. Tillar, and at five in the afternoon the Seniors meet for their last time to effect the alumni organization. The dinner to Seniors and alumni follows this meeting.

At seven-thirty Saturday evening there will be a band concert and promenade on the campus, followed by the annual celebration of the literary societies at nine o'clock. The Baccalaureate sermon in the University Chapel on Sunday morning is the only official function for this day.

Monday morning comes the Sigma German led by T. S. Jones. That afternoon there is the annual boat race between the rival Harry Lee and Albert Sidney crews, always one of the most interesting features of every commencement. The Senior Ball, led by G. T. Holbrook, president of the class, is the feature for the night.

The final commencement exercises, with the granting of diplomas, will take place Tuesday, June 11, at eleven a. m., and the festivities of final week will be brought to a close with the famous final ball extending into the next morning.

tions, and to members of the graduating class the means of securing permanent employment. Advice is given to students to remain in college until graduation or until the end of the term, but a plea is made to engage in shipbuilding after graduation or during summer vacations.

In a tour of two weeks through the colleges of Pennsylvania, Professor McKibben enrolled approximately 600 students for work in shipyards. Among these colleges were Lafayette, Haverford, Villanova, Swarthmore, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and the University of Pittsburg.

Graham-Lee Chooses Officers for Final Celebration

The Graham-Lee society chose orators and officers for the final celebration last Saturday, E. D. Campbell and W. W. Sager being selected as orators, with L. A. McMurray as vice-president and B. B. James as chief marshal of the celebration.

The meeting was rather well attended and an interesting program was presented. In the absence of President Sager, the vice-president, F. T. Cole, presided over the meeting.

The first member on the program, Mr. Baylor, was absent and the declaimer of the evening, Mr. R. T. Smith was unprepared. But Mr. W. F. Myers saved the day with a very interesting discussion of the current events of the week. L. A. McMurray followed with a brief but entertaining extemporaneous talk on conditions in Russia.

The subject for the debate of the evening was: "Resolved, that the U. S. should conscript the labor needed to carry on its war industries". The affirmative was supported by H. Rolston and L. W. MacLean, and the negative by J. J. George and W. F. Parker. The judges rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative.

FEBRUARY COLLEGIAN MAKES GOOD IMPRESSION

Is By Far the Best Issue of the Year
Says Critic—Noble Completed
Unfinished Copy

BY J. L. M.

The February issue of the Southern Collegian has just made its appearance, the delay being due to the fact that Editor in-Chief L. D. Arnold left during the middle of last month to enter the service of the government. This issue far surpasses any of the previous issues of the year in the solidity of thought that it offers and in the real literary talent that is displayed.

A large amount of the material for the February issue had been collected before Arnold left school, and D. S. Noble, the editor of the last year's magazine, completed and edited the copy.

The editorial, while dealing entirely with an old subject, nevertheless presents it in a forceful and convincing manner, and the subject is one that will never become trite or uninteresting to the student body of Washington and Lee. The thought of the poetry is excellent, yet the metre suffers those few defects always to be found among amateurs and beginners. "Pro Plurimis" is not without its philosophy and "Virginia" not without its sentiment. "Development of German influence in Turkey" is one of the especially new subjects that has not been treated very fully by students of the world war. The article aside from its historical value, is written in the author's characteristic pleasing style of the Addisonian English, and contains a great deal of solid mental nourishment.

The two short stories in this issue, "Reflections" and "The Mascot of the Battalion," satisfy the modern fondness for Poe's favorite themes, and are written in O. Henry's telegraphic style. Love and war, those old, yet ever interesting subjects, are treated with quiet a sense of realism. "His Future," picturing the future unenviable position of the German crown prince, is written by an author who

All But One Member on Washington Society's Program Fined for Absence

The meeting of the Washington Literary Society Saturday was a very short one, and most of that time was taken up by President Owens in assessing fines of twenty-five cents each to every member on the program except one, for unexcused absence.

The victims of this penalty were Mr. Garber who was to have presented current events, Mr. Johnson, who was to have delivered an oration, Messrs. Sommers, Lowe, Walker, and Nach, who were on the program to debate on the subject, "Resolved that the Excess War Profits Tax should be materially increased" and Mr. Townsend, who should have appeared with an original story.

"Mr. Funkhouser, being the only man on the program present, declaimed "The New America". After extemporaneous talks on the "Political Situation of Russian" and "The War" by G. T. Madison and Wagner the meeting adjourned.

combines in his nature the foresight of a Napoleon and the personal antipathy of a Thaddeus Stevens.

"The Spotlight" this month casts its beams upon B. F. Tillar, and brings to the light of the public many unknown and interesting facts about the president of the student body. The department of college topics contains many things that are of interest to the students, especially at this time when the colleges of America are drawn so closely together and are so interested in what is going on on the campuses of other institutions. The Exchanges give us concise glimpses of what other magazines are doing. It is hoped that the edition of this magazine, which has been intimately connected with the history and traditions of Washington and Lee, for more than fifty years will not be seriously hampered by the withdrawal of the editor from the University and his entrance into the nation's service, and that the ravishes of "Dame Economy" will spare her pages.

GENERALS OUTSCORE THEIR OPPONENTS IN BASKETBALL

Total 298 Points to 275 Against Them
—Cottingham Leads in Individual Goals

Although the Generals lost six out of eleven basketball games played this season, it is interesting to note that the total number of points scored by the White and Blue is greater than the number scored against them. The Generals totaled 298 points while their opponents were able to count an aggregate of 275.

Cottingham made by far the heaviest counter for Washington and Lee, this lad scoring 104 points during the season. Fain takes second place with 48 points. All of M. Cain's goals were made in the first three games, he being out of the fray through illness for the rest of the season.

Sigma 6 to 1, then walked over Alpha Chi Rho, who had previously put Kappa Sigma out of the running. Kappa Alpha defeated Delta Tau Delta 15 to 0, and Sigma Phi Epsilon 6 to 3 before falling before the Betas yesterday afternoon in a hard fought contest by a one-point margin, the score being 7 to 6.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon started its career by defeating Pi Kappa Alpha 13 to 0; then conquered Sigma Chi 6 to 3, which team had previously put Sigma Nu out of the running by a score of 16 to 2. The defeat of Alpha Tau Omega who had previously won over Phi Gamma Delta 8 to 4, and Phi Delta Theta by the same score, gave Sigma Alpha Epsilon the right to enter the final contest. Phi Delta Theta had defeated Phi Kappa Psi by a score of 6 to 4.

The lineup and summary of the final game was as follows:

Beta Theta Pi	Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Hindry	R. F. Gilliam
