Calyx Awarded First Place In Annual Conest

Silver Cup Given 1932 W. and L. Yearbook at Press Convention

DICK EDWARDS IS OFFICER OF V. I. P. A.

Ring-tum Phi Wins Second Prize in Class A Newspaper Competition

The Calyx, annual of Washington and Lee university, was awarded a silver cup as first prize in its class, by the Virginia Intercollegiate Press association at its sixth annual convention held at Farmville last Friday and Saturday. The Ring-tum Phi, semi-weekly newspaper here, received a certificate denoting second place in the Class A newspapers.

Dick Edwards, editor of this year's Calyx, was elected third vice-president of the group. Other officers are Beverly Britton of the University of Richmond, president; Mary Fraser, of Blackstone college, first vice-president; C. P. Cabell, of V. P. I., second vice-president; Elizabeth Claybrook, of Westhampton college, secretary-treasurer. A. F. Hudgins, member of the Richmond News-Leader staff, was re-elected to the office of executive secretary, and Miss Evelyn Dulaney, of Roanoke, one of the founders of the organization, was made honorary president.

Four Attend From Here

Washington and Lee was represented by four students at the convention. They were, besides Edwards, Jeb Darby, associate editor of the Calyx; John Culley, editor of the Ring-tum Phi; and Manning Williams of the editorial staff.

Approximately two hundred students, representing practically every college and university in Virginia and the District of Columbia, attended the convention. Farmville State Teachers' college and Hampden-Sydney college were the hosts.

An outstanding feature of the meeting was the banquet Friday evening, when the winners of the various contests were announced, and silver cups presented by Dr. Freeman Hart of the Hampden-Sydney faculty.

Prominent Speakers Lecture

Among the prominent speakers at the convention were: John Denson, city editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch; Charles Hurt, secretary of the Stone Publishing company of Roanoke; Berry Wall, editor of the Farmville Herald and past president of the association; S. M. Holton, Jr., of the faculty of the Farmville college; Edmund G. Mossie, of Richmond; J. T. L. Dickinson, Jr., of Buena Vista; and William Lacy.

Richmond Host in 1933

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Richmond, with the University of Richmond as host. Miss Doreen Smith, of Farmville college, has been president of the organization during the past year.

The Flat Hat, weekly newspaper of William and Mary, received the silver cup for first place in the Class A newspapers.

Committee Formed to Devise New Parking Rules

A committee has been formed to discuss and formulate plans for parking in "Campus Alley." Dean Gilliam announced today. The present rules are not clear enough and are being violated unintentionally. The committee hopes to announce the new rules by the end of the week.

Noble books bring their thought, and give it to us, not as men bring their treasures to a warehouse, laying them down there upon the floor as on a foreign, unrelated substance, but as you bring the spark of fire to a pile of wood which has within it the power of burning and turning into fire. It is not the fullness of their hands which makes them welcome. It is the delicacy and discrimination of the finger which they lay upon some spring in us and by which they set some of our nature free.—Phillips Brooks.

Freshmen Hold Rally To Celebrate Victory Of Fellow-Classmen

The Brigadier Generals returned home from their victory over the V. P. I. freshmen Friday night to be met with an impromptu rally on the part of their fellow-classmen. The rally started with cheering in the street between the Graham and Lees dormitories, from where the entire group moved to the Corner.

From the Corner the group moved to the New Theatre in an attempt to crash the show, but were met by Harry L. Fitzgerald, president of the student body, who requested them to leave or pay admittance.

Fitzgerald also announced that in honor of the occasion freshman rules were suspended for the evening. The freshmen then returned to the dorms where they continued their cheering until quieted by upperclassmen who threatened them with V. C.

Band Selected For Dance In Gym Saturday

Mike Kent and His Richmond Collegians to Play Saturday

Arrangements for the annual Homecoming dance were concluded late last night when Rucker Ryland, working in conjunction with the Monogram club, secured the services of Mike Kent and his "Richmond Collegians." The orchestra is composed of students from the University of Richmond, and contains eleven pieces.

Plans for the day have been under the direction of Cy Young, assisted by Frank Bailey, president of Fancy Dress, and Rucker Ryland. The dance will be informal, and will run from nine until twelve.

No decoration for the gym has been arranged, but the orchestra will provide suitable background. An admission price of $1.50 will be charged.

V. P. I. Rally Friday Night

Torchlight Procession To Be Led By Band and Frosh

The biggest football rally of the year will be held in Doremus gymnasium Friday night, Russell Chase, head cheer-leader announced yesterday. It will include all the usual features of pre-homecoming game celebrations at Washington and Lee.

Following the rally there will be the usual torchlight procession, led by the band, with the upperclassmen following the pajama-clad, torch-bearing freshmen. The parade will break up at the show where the student body will "crash" the show. Chase wants it clearly understood that all freshmen are to wear pajamas and carry torches.

Speakers at the rally will be Dr. Gaines, president of the University; Harry K. (Cy) Young, alumni secretary, freshman football coach and a General star of almost two decades ago; and possibly Head Coach DeHart and one or two alumni.

Chase wishes to point out to the upperclassmen that because football rallies are compulsory for freshmen there is no reason for the remainder of the student body to assume that they are freshman rallies. He urges every man to be present at this one. The first cheer will be called at 8 o'clock.

Evanston, Ill.—Court Clerk I. J. Rubin suggested a continuance might be arranged in a traffic charge against Prof. A. R. Hatton of Northwestern University.

"Absolutely not," said the head of the University's political science department. "Anyone who has heard my lecture knows I condemn the inefficiency of American city government. One of its chief faults is the ease with which many persons fix arrest slips. I insist on pleading guilty and paying a proper fine."

He laid down $3 and walked out.

By class vote the photographer's fee for junior and senior pictures will be paid by the class treasurer instead of by the individual at the University of North Carolina.

Will Durant to Make Address On "Progress"

Famous Author Addresses Official University Assembly Wednesday

100 GUESTS WILL ATTEND LUNCHEON

Dr. Durant Is Author of "The Story of Philosophy"

Speaking on "Is Progress Real?" Will Durant will address the student body at an official assembly tomorrow, October 26. Dr. Durant comes to Lexington under the auspices of the Christian Council of the University. This is the second assembly of the year.

Recently returned from a tour around the world, during which he spent much time in the Orient gathering material for his new books on "The Story of Civilization," Dr. Durant is more enthusiastic about the United States and our western civilization than ever, although more critical than ever of some of its absurdities. The faults of the American character come in for criticism, but it is presented in a kindly manner.

Important Debaters

Of late Dr. Durant has been drawn into a number of important debates because of the ideas he has held on certain topics. He has opposed the so-called mechanistic theory and has debated "Is Man a Machine?" with the noted criminal lawyer, Clarence Darrow, on numerous occasions. Last winter he was drawn into a debate on the question of independence or dominion rule for the people of India because he wrote a book called "The Case for India."

One book made Dr. Durant famous in a single year. It is his "Story of Philosophy," which was accepted by all critics as one of the most important books of the year. This volume has exceeded the sale of even the most popular fiction. Published in May, 1926, it is still selling.

Immediately following the assembly tomorrow, a luncheon in honor of Dr. Durant will be given by the members of the Christian Council. About one hundred guests have been invited. At this time Dr. Durant may speak on philosophy subjects or conduct a few questions and answers. A limited amount of space has made it possible for the Council to have more guests than the pleasure of meeting Dr. Durant.

Students Edit Football Final

News of Games of Local Interest Published by Reporting Class

A "five star" football final was published Saturday night by students in Professor William A. Mape's class in reporting. The paper contained the scores of all the important games Saturday, as well as detailed reports on those of local interest.

The scores and reports were received on an Associated Press wire through permission of the Roanoke Times, Lynchburg News and Staunton News-Leader, member papers nearest Lexington. The photographs printed were given by the Associated Press.

The students performed all the tasks of editing, re-writing and arranging the make-up. Special correspondents were sent to Blacksburg to cover the V. P. I.-Kentucky game and to V. M. I. for the Virginia game played there. Re-write men took down the play-by-play report of the Washington and Lee-William and Mary game from a special line.

The paper was printed in the journalism laboratory.

A man, Professor Albert E. Meder, has been appointed acting dean of the New Jersey College for Women in the absence of Dean Mabel Smith Douglas, who is in ill health.

Probably the best known freshman entering any American college this fall is Jackie Coogan at Santa Clara, California university.

Seven Teams Remain With Clean Slates

Week Marked by Series of Upsets in Southern Conference

After a week of football marked by numerous closely contested games and a series of upsets, seven Southern conference teams enter the second half of the 1932 grid season with clean slates while another victory for V. P. I. last Saturday places the Techmen in number one position among Virginia state teams.

Auburn, Tennessee, V. P. I., North Carolina State, South Carolina, Louisiana State and Vanderbilt are the Southern conference members whose performance thus far has gained them an average of 1.000.

Auburn Outscores Tulane

Outstanding contests among institutions south of the Mason-Dixon line last Saturday was the Auburn Plainsmen's 19-7 outscoring of the Tulane Green Wave. Tennessee kept her board white and proved that she will push Alabama Poly for sectional supremacy this season when her powerful squad scored a 60-0 win over Maryville in a "breather" battle. N. C. State bested Florida 17-7; South Carolina pushed over two goals and two points to outstrip Clemson; L. S. U. gained a 14-0 total over Arkansas, while Vanderbilt representatives gained a 12-0 edge over Georgia.

V. P. I. Leads State

Due largely to the efficient training received at the hands of head coach Henry Redd, V. P. I., the lone undefeated Old Dominion team, is still among the perfectly rated South Atlantic grid aggregations. By virtue of its 7 to 0 well-earned victory over the Kentucky Wildcats, the Blacksburg squad can claim state superiority at this stage of the season.

William and Mary, who won its first Southern conference game last Saturday at the expense of the Generals to the tune of 7-0, is runner-up for state honors with an 833 rating. The Tribe has scored more points than any other Virginia school and has suffered but a single loss. A 750 rating puts the unheralded Hampden-Sydney team in third place. Having lost all its games, Washington and Lee is sharing last prize with Bridgewater.

Cadets Upset Cavaliers

In the Lexington game, the Keydets exerted exceptional V. M. I. spirit and strategy and the Flying Squadron upset the predicted victory of the Cavaliers for the game ending 6-4. Maryland won another victory when the Black and Gold team amassed 24 credits to St. Johns' 7. Roanoke, by crushing Emory and Henry, scored a 20-0 win. Wake Forest led 9-0 before a future Washington and Lee opponent, the Duke Blue Devils. West Virginia, who will be met by Coach DeHart's pupils later on in the campaign, lost to Detroit 26-13 in a game fought in the Great Lake city last Friday under arc lights.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Jackson Memorial Hospital reports that it has only two Washington and Lee students as patients. Jack E. Guenther, of San Antonio, Texas, has been laid up for ten days with an extended case of grippe, while Gene Vinson, of Meridian, Miss., is convalescing from an appendix operation performed October 16.

Straw Ballot To Be Held By Ring-tum Phi

Students To Vote Thursday In Assembly For Presidential Choice

RESULTS ARE PART OF NATIONAL VOTE

Four Years Ago Smith Received Twice As Many As Hoover

Under the auspices of The Ring-tum Phi and the department of journalism and the political science, a straw vote will be held among the student body and the members of the faculty at the two assemblies to be held this week to determine Washington and Lee's favorite presidential candidate.

Ballots will be distributed to the faculty on Wednesday and to the students at the Thursday assembly. Students will be asked to give the name of their home state, what political preference they have had in the past, who they would vote for at the presidential poll in November, their class and whether the town they live in has a population of over ten thousand.

Four years ago the Ring-tum Phi conducted a similar vote in which 399 votes were cast. Smith receiving 237, Hoover 161 and Norman Thomas one.

Results of the poll here will be sent to the Daily Princeton, to be added to the national collegiate vote they are conducting. Ballots will be given to the faculty Wednesday as they will not be present at Thursday's assembly. Every student is urged to fill out a ballot so that the voting will be as representative as possible.

The other questions to be answered on the ballots beside the question on student's favorite candidate, will furnish the political science department with information regarding the influences on his choice.

Late Rushing Plan Favored

All Fraternities Will Vote On Plan Tomorrow Night

The Inter-fraternity council held a meeting last Friday evening, October 21, for the purpose of discussing the various plans that the committee of five had devised in the past two weeks in regard to deferred rushing. A plan was presented and after several slight amendments were made, the Council referred it to the fraternities for their approval.

This plan will be voted on tomorrow night by the various fraternities and sent back to the Council, which will hold another meeting Thursday night to take a final vote on this measure.

For some time campus sentiment has favored some form of deferred rushing. At the first meeting of the Council this year the subject was brought up and a committee appointed. This committee was to investigate conditions elsewhere and to form a plan that would be acceptable to all the fraternities.

George McClure, secretary and treasurer of the Council, requests that all fraternities that have not paid their dues to the scholarship fund do so some time this week.

Intramural Play Resumed; First Round Ends Saturday

Play was resumed yesterday in the intramural touch football and horseshoe tournaments. Yesterday the Alpha Chi Rho team defeated the A. T. O.'s 3-0. The S. A. E.'s, winners of the cup last year, were victorious over the Phi Delta Thetas by a 6-0 margin.

All first round matches in the horseshoe tournament must be played by next Saturday night, or be forfeited. Cy Twombly has ruled.

When the winners in these two sports have been crowned, attention will be focused on the swimming meet. The pool is now open every day from five until six, so that intramural teams may begin practice whenever they desire.

Time Trials Planned Will Show Strength Of Swimming Teams

Time trials to be held in about two weeks will enable an accurate estimate of the strength of varsity and freshman swimming teams to be made. Coach Twombly stated today. Although both squads have been drilling in the pool for several weeks, Twombly has found it difficult to make a reliable forecast as yet.

The handicap that is perplexing the coach is the lack of skilled breast stroke material. He is anxious to have more men come out to supplement present possibilities.

Schedule arrangements are still indefinite. Four or five varsity meets with strong teams are being planned.

The freshmen who will be counted upon to win most of the points for their team are: Sale, Taylor, Reed, Vandaman, Magee, and Allen. As on the varsity, good breast stroke men are lacking.

All Cars Must Be Examined, Police State

Students Operating Automobiles Must Have Them Inspected According to Law

The state of Virginia now requires that all cars driven within the state must be taken to an authorized agency to have brakes and headlights examined in order to ascertain whether they are functioning in accordance with the law. If the tests prove the parts to be satisfactory, a red seal will be put on the windshield of the car examined. The authorized agencies in Lexington are the Rockbridge Motor company and the Ford Motor company.

After November 1, cars not carrying the seals of approval will be stopped by State highway patrolmen. The penalty for not obtaining a seal is revocation of the license.

Every person who drives a car in the state of Virginia must fill out an application for a driver's license. These applications may be obtained at the offices of the county or town treasurers, who will send the applications to Richmond, where the licenses will be granted free of charge.

Students whose cars do not have Lexington license plates are warned that they will be checked up soon. A town license, which will last until January 1, may be obtained for two dollars. The Lexington town council is considering extending the validity of town licenses to April 1, that they may be concurrent with state licenses.

Twombly Will Coach Frosh

Physical-ed Instructor Selected As Mentor For Freshman Basketball

Cy Twombly, assistant professor of physical education and coach of the swimming team, will replace Cy Young as freshman basketball coach. Young, who has been in charge of the first year court squad since the fall of 1930, was recently appointed varsity basketball coach.

Twombly, who has played an active part in Washington and Lee athletics since 1923, drilled the freshmen trossers the year before Young took up that job. His teams turned in many excellent records.

It is probable that Twombly will also be called upon to drill the freshman baseball team, as this position was left vacant by Ray Ellerman's departure.

Practice for the freshman quintet will get under way the week after Thanksgiving. A definite date has not been set. Twombly is at present busy drilling the varsity and freshman swimming teams.

Student Tickets at Co-Op

The student tickets for the V. P. I. game on Saturday are on sale at the Co-op store at ten cents apiece. These tickets will not be sold on Saturday and all students must purchase their tickets no later than Friday night. They will cost $2.20 on Saturday.

Generals Lose Tilt To Braves By Touchdown

Blue Team Misses Score By Six Inches As First Half Ends

INDIANS RESORT TO PASSES FOR GAINS

William and Mary Outplayed In All Departments; Breaks Win Game

Outplayed from the beginning to by a vastly improved W. and L. team, the William and Mary Indians eked out a 7-0 victory over the hard fighting Generals at Norfolk, Saturday afternoon. The touchdown came in the second period after Buck LeCroix carried the ball from the nine yard line, for William and Mary's first win in history over a Southern Conference club.

The game was exciting from start to finish and packed with every thrill known to football. The Generals took the bad breaks as they came, made seven first downs to the victor's five, pushed forward two scoring drives which only the referee's and time keeper's whistles could stop.

Generals Miss Two Chances

The Generals had the ball within the one yard line, last down, when the half ended their chances; and again in the final quarter, the Blue and White aerial attack carried the pigskin far into the Indian territory only to be halted at the twenty-five yard stripe when the game ended.

The first quarter opened slowly and developed into a punting duel between Chalko and Sawyers. Chalko was doing the quarterbacking for the Indians with Charlie Shadoe out of the line-up. A few passes, mostly incomplete, were interspersed among the punts, but neither team gained a decided advantage, though the Generals were fighting hard. Halligan tossed a long pass towards Henderson, but Chip Jones intercepted it on his own 35 and ran 34 yards into an open field before Meade could down him from behind on the Indians' 26.

Ball In Midfield

Stewart, Bridges, and Meade braced themselves in the Redskins' line and took the ball away from the Big Blue after four downs had netted only five yards. A kick followed, and the quarter ended with the Generals holding the ball in midfield.

A punt followed shortly, and after Halligan had thrown two passes wide and out of his teammate's reach, he punted to Seaton who fumbled on the Indian 45, Henderson and Worrell recovering. The Indians decided to kick once more, after a 15 yard penalty on the Generals, and the exchange of punts returned the ball to the Indians on the Big Blue 31-yard line, when Joe Sawyers' punt spiraled among the spectators at Blain Field.

Indians Score

Chalko and Henderson completed a pass, putting the ball within the Generals' twenty-yard stripe for the only time in the afternoon, this time on the nine yard line. LeCroix took a short pass from Chalko and raced the remaining nine yards to the goal for a touchdown. Meade place kicked the goal.

It was only a few plays after this that LeCroix was accidentally kicked in the head when attempting to run back a punt. He was removed from the field in an ambulance, and it is believed that he may suffer a concussion of the brain. After this play the Generals were penalized half the distance to the goal.

Drive to Six-inch Line

A few moments later came the big thrill and heartbreaking disappointment of the game which should have spelled defeat for the Indians. It was late in the second period and the Generals made it first down on their own 40. Mattox dropped back and passed 20-yards to Sawyers, who ran to the Indian 30-yard line. Mattox again dropped back and passed, this time to Bacon who caught the ball near the line and raced around end to the Indian six yard stripe. Time grew perilously short as the Generals pushed the ball up to the six inch line, last down.

The team lined up for the fourth and final try at the stalwart forward wall which had defeated

A STRAW VOTE

Washington and Lee's opinion on national politics will be known when the straw vote to be conducted at the assemblies is announced at the end of the week. It seems fitting that the school which conducts the outstanding mock convention should express its favorite candidate from among the major parties.

Will Washington and Lee support the men to whom they gave the nomination in their mock convention? Collegiate voters are going socialistic, returns from early straw polls have shown. Four years ago Norman Thomas in the balloting conducted at Washington and Lee, received only one vote. This year it is safe to say that the amount of "protest" votes cast in his favor will be startling.

Thomas has been making an effort to gain the majority of the new "four million" votes. The college campus is an excellent field for his ideas to gain consideration. It will be interesting to see what progress he has made at Washington and Lee since the last election. Are the students satisfied with what the two major parties represent or will they express socialistic disgust?

Sponsors of the voting are anxious to find out the views of the men in the various classes and those from urban and rural sections. They wish to size up the typical Washington and Lee man politically.

More efforts are being made each year to get the college man interested in politics and it is through such means as the mock convention, the straw vote and the presence of public men as speakers that Washington and Lee does her part.

THE NORTHERN END

The Southern conference is still watching Virginia Tech. Those lower conference schools seem to have gained the impression in recent years that the conference football crown is a prize for which they need fight only among themselves. Formerly heedless of the Northern section of the organization, they are now becoming increasingly worried as the weeks roll by bringing one Gobbler victory after another, victories not only over opponents of the upper section but also over some of the lower South's most business-like grid machines.

All Virginia will rejoice with the Blacksburg corps if the Techmen win the championship, but meanwhile all Virginia is anxiously awaiting a chance to knock them from their position at the top of the Old Dominion football heap. The William and Mary Indians have tried and failed. It is the Generals' turn next, and Lexington awaits the coming of the Gobblers with mingled fear, hope and admiration. After the Generals, the University of Virginia Cavaliers get their chance, and then the Gobblers must take on the Cadets, who have the clever habit of upsetting supposedly stronger Gobbler and Cavalier elevens.

Sandwiched between the General and Cavalier contests the Gobblers have a little tussle with the Alabama Tide, defeated only by a lucky Tennessee contingent, which now stands at the conference head with V. P. I. and Auburn. Washington and Lee would like to see the Gobblers win the title. But even more Washington and Lee would like to see her Generals spoil the unblemished record in the season's biggest upset. And over on the neighboring campus jubilant Keydets are already thinking about killing the Gobbler Thanksgiving day. Win or lose, the Tech outfit has put Old Dominion football in a new light to the rest of the South, and the state should thank them in no uncertain terms. We of Washington and Lee admire your fight, V. P. I., and we will be rooting for you after this Saturday.

LICENSE AND EXAMINATION

The automobile division of the Commonwealth of Virginia has started a safety drive to clear the roads of all cars that are defective in brakes, lights, and other safety devices that an owner should have in first class condition. A five minute examination of the car is all that is needed to save many lives as well as property in this state and it is commendable that Virginia has started such a movement.

The majority of accidents are caused by poorly focused lights or bad brakes, and these two evils may be readily checked and corrected. Many drivers may think that their brakes are in good condition, but too often they find, to their horror, that they were wrong. It has happened many times and will continue to happen, but if this safety program is carried out these types of accidents will decrease enormously. Lights are a very insidious cause of accidents because the driver of a car thinks that as long as he can clearly see the road he is safe, but the trouble lies in the fact that there are other cars coming against him who may be blinded by his badly focused, glaring lights and might either crash into him or drive off the road causing just as much, if not more, damage.

The Commonwealth is also demanding that each driver obtain a license before the first of the year at the expense of the state. There is no examination demanded. Merely by writing to the main office in Richmond one may obtain his license. It's all very well to get a license in this method, but it does not bar from the roads those who are incapable of driving a car in a safe manner. There is no sense in going through the motions of obtaining a license without taking an examination to prove the fitness of the applicant. Just by filling out an application and having the registrar of the state sign it does not make a capable driver out of any Tom, Dick, or Harry that can sign his name to an application. A thoroughly comprehensive examination should be given because the state is just starting this movement and is in a position to do it now, rather than later.

FRESHMAN CHEERING SECTION

Numerous justified complaints have been expressed by interested supporters of Washington and Lee in regard to the freshman cheering section at the home football games. This year's freshman class seemingly has failed to indicate the spirit and enthusiasm in their cheering that has characterized home support to the team by previous freshman classes. The freshmen have particularly shown apathy in regards to cheering at the freshman games, games which from every previous recollection should note the most spirited cheering of freshmen.

The freshmen, arranged as they are in a special section, are in a position where they can put forth the most effective cheering in support of the team. The primary purpose for placing the class together is expressly for co-ordinated cheering in a manner which will bring praise and not ridicule, and it is to these freshmen that cheer leaders look in commencing the line of cheers.

Seemingly, the freshman class of this year has therefore something to live down, and the homecoming game this Saturday will furnish them ample opportunity to support an enthused team in an enthusiastic manner. It is entirely up to you freshmen, and it is expected of you, to carry sustained cheering without a let-up during the V. P. I. game. Inasmuch as a large number of alumni will be present at the game, impressions of Washington and Lee spirit will be derived from the manner in which you cooperate with cheer leaders to start the cheering for the entire stand of Washington and Lee rooters.

If the seven freshmen 13, 14, and 15 years old who entered Northwestern University this year at the behest of President Walter Dill Scott are probably termed prodigies, then Hunter college is overrun with prodigies.

About 45 per cent of the 878 freshmen at Hunter are under the normal entrance age this year. Five of them are 14, and 84 are 15 years old.

The thesis of Sir Arthur Keith that each continent produced its own human races is born out, according to Dr. Dreyer, professor of zoology and archaeology at Grey university at Bloemfontein, South Africa, by the excavation this summer of a new species of man at Florisbad Hot Springs.

APART FROM THE OUTSIDE WORLD

The American college student is often criticized for his lack of knowledge of the happenings in the outside world. This criticism is painfully just in many instances. In schools of technical training, as is V. P. I., the student often limits his interest in his course by neglecting to keep up with the trend of events in the nation and the world at large.

The V. P. I. student situated as he is here in Blacksburg does not come in contact with industry or politics. The radio and the daily newspaper are his only means of keeping up with life outside of the campus, but only a small percentage of the student body takes advantage of these. The V. P. I. library carries the leading dailies of the state and East which are read daily by approximately one hundred Techmen. This indicates that the majority of students at V. P. I. are living apart from the outside world.

The student's four years in college is the last step he takes before entering upon the problems of the world outside. While in college he is preparing to live them. If he is to be a true American citizen, he must be ready to take part in the affairs of the nation.

Reading the daily newspaper is the easiest and most interesting way to keep up with the happenings of the day. By reading a daily for fifteen minutes each day, one can easily keep up with the trend of events. Why not become a part of the outside world and keep up with it?—V. P. I., Virginia Tech.

JOE MAGEE

In his latest denunciatory account of the theatre, George Jean Nathan dwells at length upon the school started by Vicki Baum's panoramic "Grand Hotel." Quoting Mr. Nathan (Vanity Fair), "What Frau Baum has done for the hotel, every copycat of the theatre, films, and books has attempted to do for office buildings ("Skyscraper Souls"), the ocean liner ("Transatlantic") the depot ("Union Station") and every man-made structure—"

"Of Thee I Sing" started the satirical presidential things, and the best one to date is "The Phantom President," which marks the debut of George M. Cohan in the talkies. The picture is aided in no small degree by the presence of Jimmy (Cyrano) Durante, who manages in his raucous manner to steal most of the picture. If anything, "The Phantom President" succeeds in outkidding "Of Thee I Sing."

The prize for understatement goes to a London bobby for his remark to a mob of movie conscious fans. When Douglas Fairbanks and Joan Crawford came out of one of the theatres in London, a huge crowd feeling souvenir minded managed literally to tear their clothes to bits. They managed to get into a car, but you can't stop these British. They swarmed around and beat upon the glass until Miss Crawford stuck her head out and said a few words.

Whereupon they attempted to get some more souvenirs. At this point, one of the policemen turned and said, "Oh, I say, now, don't you think you're a bit rude?"

New microphones, new recording equipment and an ever increasing knowledge of what can be done with sound now permits sound recording to be made anywhere in the world with the pictures and then brought to Hollywood for assembling. At present companies are in the Arctic, Africa, the Alps, Mexico, and two are about to start for the jungles in the Straights Settlements. In Greenland, "S. O. S. Iceberg" is being filmed. In the Alps, Vilma Banky is making a picture called "The Rebel." W. S. Van Dyke has been in Alaska for some time taking shots for "Eskimo," and "Man Eater" is soon to be produced in the Malay jungles.

Americans have always given the English credit for having a strange sense of humor. That the four Marx Brothers are not always understood and appreciated away from these shores would seem incredible to the average playgoer over here who would think it a sensation if the Marx Brothers only recited the alphabet together. Such is not the case to the British mind, however, as shown in a report of "Horse Feathers" which appeared recently in the London Sunday Times. "I have in my experiences," says the writer, "as a film critic been condemned to sit out many absurdities in the cinema, but never before have I encountered a more banal and unintelligent waste of time and money than in 'Horse Feathers'—with the Four Marx Brothers at the Plaza. These music-hall clowns have resurrected a dismal heap of defunct jokes and arranged between themselves a horse-collar show the incredible puerilities of which have never been equaled. The producers of this picture have gone upon the principle of denying the masses of cinema-goers the smallest vestige of taste or intelligence."

The cinema has always felt it should bring stories up to date. Frequently told and well-known plays and yarns have been filmed in the clothes and language of today. RKO, in contemplating "Little Women," asked its radio audience during a national broadcast whether the play should be modernized. The studio was interested to learn that 1,500 letters asked that it be brought up to date and 4,500 requested that it be kept in the last century.—N. Y. Times.

John Boles will be featured with Lillian Harvey, who won favor with American audiences in the German picture "Congress Dances," in a musical play also from the German, "His Majesty's Car."

STUDENTS PROTEST BAN ON OUTDOOR MEETINGS

against the new university ruling prohibiting outdoor meetings and requiring supervision of all outdoor meetings open to the public by a faculty member of professional ranking.

Action was taken at a meeting of the Columbia Social Problems Club, originally scheduled to meet on the library step to protest against the recent ruling of Secretary of Labor Doak on self-supporting non-quota foreign students. The meeting was held in the school of business building. In accordance with the ruling Professor Joseph D. McGoldrick of the Department of Government acted as chairman.

At the meeting Donald Henderson, instructor in economics at Columbia college and secretary of the National Students' League, assailed the university ruling and called for a united protest against it on the part of Columbia students. He asserted that the university by forcing the Social Problems Club's meeting indoors had made the meeting "dry and academic."

Mr. Henderson proposed that a committee, consisting of members of the club and other representatives of the undergraduate and graduate body, be formed to organize a stern protest against the ruling. He also proposed that another committee be set up at Columbia to work in cooperation with a similar committee at New York university in the protest against Secretary Doak's ruling on foreign students.

Frosh Defeat Gobblets For Third Victory

Joe Arnold, Flashy Freshman Back, Scores Two Touchdowns For Locals

STATE TITLE DEPENDS ON VIRGINIA GAME

Decisive Battle to Be Played at Wilson Field On Friday

Joe Arnold, flashy freshman back, led the Brigadier Generals of Washington and Lee in a 13-6 victory over the V. P. I. freshmen squad last Friday afternoon in Blacksburg. Arnold scored two touchdowns during the first half, on twenty-five and forty yard runs, to give the Baby Generals a lead which the Gobblets were never able to overcome. By winning this game, the Brigadiers maintained their unbroken string of victories and moved into a tie with the Virginia freshmen for the frosh championship of the state.

Bailey Recovers Fumble
Bailey, General quarterback, paved the way for the first Washington and Lee score by recovering a Tech fumble on the Gobblets' twenty-five yard line. On the next play Arnold skirted right end for a touchdown. McFadden's pass to Ellis was good for the extra point.

During the last of the second quarter, Arnold intercepted a pass by Sessna, the Tech quarterback, on the V. P. I. forty yard line and sprinted down the sideline for his second touchdown of the day. The Brigadiers failed to convert and the score was 13-0 as the half ended.

Pass Helps Gobblets Score
Tech started an offensive of their own at the start of the third quarter but the Washington and Lee defense tightened up and the "rats" were held scoreless. Early in the final period, Sessna ran the ball to the Washington and Lee forty yard line and then immediately completed a thirty-eight yard pass to Stump, Gobblet fullback. Stump plunged over for a touchdown on the next play to give the boys from Blacksburg their only score of the game.

Meet Virginia Friday
The Brigadiers meet the Virginia frosh on Wilson field next Friday afternoon to decide the freshman championship of the state. The Wahoos are also undefeated this year. They beat the V. M. I. frosh, 20-0, last Friday to keep their string of victories unbroken. This will be one of the features of the Homecoming celebration and will be the freshmen's last home game. The opening kick-off is scheduled for 3:30.

V. M. I. Cadets Have Successful Week-end

The Homecoming celebration at V. M. I. was everything the most exacting Keydet could have wanted, including an exciting football victory over a traditional rival, the return of many alumni glad to be back in Lexington to witness a victory over Virginia, and one of the Institute's most successful dances, with Jan Garber providing the music.

With their own Homecoming less than a week away, Washington and Lee students are wistfully hoping that their celebration will be as jubilant and as pleasant to remember as the one at V. M. I.

The Virginia-V. M. I. football battle was the event of the week for Lexington, attracting a large percentage of the University of Virginia student body and many whose hopes were with the Generals at Norfolk. The Keydets' 6-4 victory, unexpected as far as Virginia was concerned, assured that the celebration could be nothing else but the occasion for merry-making.

The victory dance, also enjoyed by many Washington and Lee seniors, was a fitting climax. A large number of girls were present, and Jan Garber, who has played for seven Finals at V. M. I., enjoyed his usual popularity.

Claude E. Robinson, former Gilder fellow in Sociology at Columbia University, has completed a study which he reports in the Columbia University Press shows that the most accurate straw votes are those carried on by newspapers. This is contrary to popular opinion, which has always held that the most accurate straw vote in this country was carried on by magazines.

.. Following the BIG BLUE..

By De Clark

Washington and Lee's defeat Saturday at the hands of William and Mary probably keeps you fans believing that the Generals will never get under way, but there were many bright spots in that game to prove that the Big Blue is about ready to upset the dope. It may not be V. P. I., but four games follow the Gobbler contest.

The Generals piled up twelve first downs to eight for the Indians, and two of William and Mary's were gained on penalties. All during the game, the Big Blue fought a greater fight than had been expected. It must have been tragic when the first half ended. With only a few minutes to play, Washington and Lee completed two passes to put the ball on the four yard line. On the next play Sawyers apparently put the ball over, but it was jerked back and the whistle blew before the fourth down could be played. It was sweet music to William and Mary ears.

Every minute of the second half the Generals fought to put over a score. They passed and hit the line hard, but the score didn't come. Passes from Mattox to Seaton and Seaton to Mosovich and Jones thrilled the crowd and gained a lot of territory, but the game ended, and the Indians from William and Mary had accomplished their one big task of the day—their first win over a member of the Virginia Big Four and a Southern conference team.

This week it's Virginia Poly—a team that has risen to great heights in Southern football circles. Their power and drive must have been a great surprise to Kentucky. At different times during the game their brilliant attack took the Wildcats right off their feet. It was an 85-yard drive down the field that gave them their one touchdown and put Kentucky out of the race.

Back in '30, the Big Blue held a strong Gobbler team to a scoreless tie at the annual Homecoming game. On paper Washington and Lee's record this year is bad, but the game Saturday will be a fight to the finish. The Gobblets will enter the contest much the superior, but they only beat William and Mary 7-0. What about Kentucky? Well, comparative scores don't mean anything anyway.

V. M. I. deserves a world of credit for victory over the Wahoos Saturday. Long passes brought the Keydets their first major victory of the season. In the last period, Smith intentionally gave Virginia four points on safeties instead of punting out. It was an inspired V. M. I. team that turned the trick on Virginia who was highly favored.

One of the biggest rallies of the year will take place this Friday night in Doremus gymnasium before the V. P. I. contest. The band will be there. The freshmen will parade in pajamas and crash the show. Let's make it a big night and show the team we have a fighting spirit too.

The Baltimore American says that Ray Poppelman's football career at Maryland is over. He was recently sent to the showers during practice and told to turn in his suit because he lost his temper and struck a freshman football player in the mouth. However, he may get back in soon, because a clause of his termination stated that if he would give sufficient evidence of his regret for the act, coach Curly Byrd might relent.

A United Press story gives out the dope that the University of Kentucky will meet Washington and Lee here next year. For the first time in many years, local fans will have a chance to see the Wildcats in action. V. P. I. has been dropped from the Kentucky schedule to make place for Cincinnati or St. Xavier. The Washington and Lee game will be played on October 21.

State Runners Coming Here

Keydets, Wahoos and Generals in Cross-Country Race November 12

Coach Fletcher announced today that Washington and Lee would hold a cross-country meet on Wilson Field, November 12th, starting at three o'clock.

University of Virginia, V. M. I., and Washington and Lee will have teams entered in the varsity race, and the Keydets and the Wahoos will participate in the freshman run.

The Generals will not be represented in the freshman contest because there are only five men out for the squad at present. Seven, at least, are necessary to enter a meet.

The freshmen will get under way at 3 o'clock and the varsity at 3:30. The freshmen course will cover three miles and the varsity will cover five miles.

Washington and Lee will be represented by Dunaj, Bond, Ruff, Startman and Strong in the varsity race. Dunaj, last year's freshman state champion miler, and Strong are expected to do well in the meet.

The varsity sure received the tough breaks in the game with William and Mary on last Saturday. With the ball on the six inch line and then to have the half end, and the A. P. sent out a story that the ball was over the goal line.

The frosh kept up their march towards a state championship last week. They now have only one more hurdle in their way, that being the Baby Cavaliers in a game here on Friday.

W. & L. Debate Selected For Latest Annual

Represented For Third Consecutive Year by Contest With Porto Rico

Washington and Lee is one of eighteen universities and colleges represented in the 1931-32 edition of the University Debaters' Annual. This annual is composed of the leading intercollegiate debates during the school year and is issued every year. The volume contains ten leading intercollegiate debates with complete briefs and bibliographies. This marks the third consecutive year in which a Washington and Lee debate has appeared in the book.

In this edition Washington and Lee opposed the University of Porto Rico on the question of "Intervention in the Caribbean." Washington and Lee upheld the negative side of the question, and the speakers were James Moore and Ross Malone. The University of Porto Rico supported the affirmative and its speakers were Juan E. Geigel and Victor M. Gutierrez.

The selection of debates for this annual are based on the importance of the question and the manner in which it is treated. Extensive research and compilation are made by the editors of the annual and debates held by every well-known college in the United States, Great Britain and Cuba are examined before the final selection is made.

Other colleges and universities represented are: Oxford, University of Porto Rico, Robert College, Vanderbilt University, Purdue University, Northwestern University, Spokane University, and the Universities of Arkansas, Arizona, California, Georgia, Illinois, Missouri, North Dakota, Tennessee, and Wisconsin.

Cage Players Meet Monday

Those Not Engaged in Other Sports Will Report to New Coach

Coach Cy Young, new head coach of basketball for the Generals, has issued a call for all men not out for football or cross-country who plan to try out for basketball this year, to meet in the gym next Monday, October 31, at 7:30 o'clock.

Last year the varsity played nineteen games and lost ten. Although this year's schedule has not been announced as yet, it will probably be just as hard as last season's. There will be seven lettermen back and a promising group of sophomores from last year's frosh team. The frosh team last year was only defeated once and that was at the hands of the Virginia frosh.

Varsity men back this year are: Jarrett, Holbrook, Violet, Sawyers, Steinberg, Wilson, Mosovich and Sauerbrun. All of last year's freshman team are back. Those who earned numerals were: Fitzwilson, Smith, Nash, Fields, Hawthorne, Jones, Mathes, Seaton, Corwith and Turner.

William and Mary Downs Washington and Lee

Navy and stood like a rock against the advancing charge of Virginia Poly, while the hundreds of Washington and Lee supporters left their seats in the stands to crowd around the goal line and urge the Blue and White on to victory. Then, contrary to movie thrillers and football novels, the time-keeper's fatal whistle blew and the half was over. William and Mary, who scratched a victory off Navy and who managed to hold Virginia Tech to seven points, stayed ahead.

Generals Rule Last Half
The second half was all Washington and Lee. The fortune-favored scalpers were kept deep in their own territory and it was only the educated toe of Chalko who saved the day many times with his brilliant and opportune punting. Only once during the game could the Indians penetrate within the Generals' 20-yard line, but LeCroix converted that one opportunity into six points and a victory.

Chip Jones intercepted a William and Mary pass late in the final quarter to begin the Generals' final scoring drive. Seaton and Mosovich completed two long passes in rapid succession to put the ball on the Indian 30, but as Bacon caught the third pass near the 20 yard line the game ended.

Seaton Stars in Backfield
The Generals played a driving, heady game from beginning to end, and outplayed the winners in all branches. Seaton was a shining star in the backfield whom the Indians just couldn't put out. His passing was good, but his line driving and body-twisting plunges netted the Generals many yards. Mosovich, Bolen, and Elbrick proved the greatest bane to the William and Mary offense with Gibraltar-like stubbornness and immobility. The Indians gained very little through the line, resorting to the air for all long gains.

LeCroix, Spack, and Chalko were outstanding luminaries in the William and Mary advance, while Stewart, Anderson, and Meade did their best to hold the hard plunging Washington and Lee backs in check.

The football team was guest of the Norfolk Alumni association of Washington and Lee at a banquet given in their honor Saturday night at the Fairfax Hotel. After the banquet a dance was given in their honor at The Ghent club. At this dance all girls were asked to forego introductions to the players and dance with them. This plan was very successful and everyone had a marvelous time.

The team was very well received by the people of Norfolk who extended every courtesy to them. They were enthusiastic over the way they were treated and all agreed that Norfolk was a wonderful town.

Pi K. A. Holds Meeting Here

District Princes and Assistant Elected at Successful Sectional Conference

The delegates to the Pi Kappa Alpha sectional conference started back to their respective schools yesterday, having elected Mr. Lacey, of Richmond, as their new district princeps. Mr. Lacey will succeed Vincent L. Sexton, of Bluefield, W. Va., who has held that office for the past ten years. The convention started last Friday night with a business meeting held in the local chapter room. The meeting opened with a short talk made by Bill Stone, the S. M. C. of the chapter at Washington and Lee, who welcomed the delegates to the Washington and Lee campus and to the local chapter house. This talk was followed up by the appointment of all of the convention committees, and the readings of the reports of some of the chapters. The meeting lasted about two hours, after which a 'smoker' was held in the chapter house.

The following morning another business meeting was held at the same place, at which the remaining chapter reports were read. The district princeps was elected, and the recommendations for the National Convention were made. After the selection of the meeting place for the next convention.
