Students Vote Wednesday On 11 Amendments To Constitution

Dozen Minor Changes
Will Not Be Submitted
At Election

SINGLE PROPOSAL
REFUSED BY E. C.

Special Committee Completes
Work as E. C. Approves

Executive committee approval Tuesday night of the proposals made by the constitution committee of amendments to the student body constitution assured a vote by the members of the student body on Wednesday, May 16.

More than twenty changes were suggested by the special committee, all but one of which were accepted by the executive committee. The one suggestion turned down was the enfranchisement of the entire student body.

However, many of the changes were of such minor importance that they will not be subjected to student vote, but will be incorporated in the constitution with only the approval of the executive committee. Eleven changes were deemed important enough to require approval by the students. They are listed below.

The minor changes do not alter the meaning or intent of the constitution in any way, and in most cases consist of mere corrections in sentence structure, or insertion of single words for the sake of clarity.

Following is the announcement posted on the bulletin board by Richard Grafton, including the amended paragraphs along with the same paragraphs as they now stand:

Below are the major changes in the Constitution of the Student Body which have been proposed by the Executive Committee and require a majority vote of the membership of the student body for adoption, i. e. 296 votes.

Other minor changes have been made which in no way alter the meaning or intent of the Constitution and hence will not be submitted to student vote.

1. Article IV, Section 7 (b) (2)

Now reads:
All disbursements shall be by check and signed by both the treasurer and the manager, treasurer, or president of the organization for which the disbursement is made.

Shall be changed to read:
Requisitions for disbursements must be submitted to the Finance committee for approval. When approved, each disbursement shall be by check signed by the treasurer.

2. Article VII, Section 2

Now reads:
Two representatives to be chosen from the Senior class, including candidates for B.S. and A.B. degrees, and all four-year men except Intermediate and Senior lawyers.

Shall be changed to read:
Two members-at-large to be chosen from the Junior law class and the Senior classes, exclusive of the Senior law and other graduate classes.

3. Article VII, Section 3 (d) and (g)

Now reads:
Two Seniors: The first Monday in May of the Junior year. Freshman: At a date as soon after matriculation as the Executive committee deems suitable.

Shall be changed to read:
Two members-at-large: The first Monday in October of the year during which they shall serve.

Freshman: The first Monday in October of the year during which he shall serve.

4. Article VII, Section 8

Added:
Elections for members of the Executive committee shall be conducted as provided for in Article V, Section 4.

5. Article VII, Section 9

Added:
Members of the Executive committee elected in the spring shall enter upon their duties on the first day after Commencement following their election, and members elected in the fall shall enter upon their duties at the first regular meeting of the Executive committee following their election.

K.A.'s Beat Tigers to Gain Edge in Intramural Race

Fraternity Team Scores Three Runs in Baseball to Knot
Count in Last Frame, Then Win 16-11
After Two Extra Innings

The Touring Tigers and the K. A.'s carried their terrific battle for intramural supremacy into two extra innings of free-for-all ball game yesterday until every Tiger growl was drowned out by the roar of K. A. artillery as six runs were swatted across in the ninth inning, and the fraternity men got a firm hold on the intramural cup with a 16-11 victory.

The K. A.'s late rally yesterday will probably earn them the intramural championship, providing they get something more than an even break in tennis. In golf the K. A.'s went up to within 20 points of the leaders, and with only tennis and baseball yet to go, are now favored to win, although they have been trailing all year.

The Tigers went into the seventh and normally the last inning with a three run lead, but the K. A.'s after having scored only two runs in the last four innings, released a surprise attack and knotted the score. Twice Billy Wilson faced a determined bunch of Tigers and turned them back with a masterly exhibition of fast ball pitching.

With the Tigers batting last in the eighth, Duncan Corbett was perched on third with the winning run, but Wilson had the Tigers well in hand. Then in the ninth the K. A.'s broke out with their batting spree and put the game on ice.

Corbett and Lowry were fielding stars for the Tigers and catchers Carman and Clements were on the job behind the plate. Skarda, Graham, Cohen and Clements scored three times apiece for K.A., and Litwin and Jean pulled the same feat for the Tigers.

Pi K. A.'s Win 13 to 10;
Phi Kaps Lick Deltas

The Pi K. A.'s bunched their hits in the early inning of their game with A. T. O. to pile up a lead that their opponents were unable to overcome. Sawyers and Giesworth comprised the Pi K. A. battery that gained a 13 to 10 triumph. Mathes and Bolen were the battery for the losing A. T. O.'s.

Phi Kappa Sigma out-pitched, out-hit and out-played Delta Tau Delta to roll up a 13 to 3 victory. At no time during the game did the Delta outfit threaten. Gerber did the pitching for the Deltas and Davis caught the contest. DeVan and Seaton comprised the victorious Phi Kappa Sigma battery.

Schedule Listed For Registration; Begins Tuesday

All Returning Next Year
Supposed to Sign Up
Now

Details and regulations of spring registration were announced today by Dr. L. W. Smith, chairman of the registration committee.

All students are required to register for next session's work during the days beginning Tuesday, May 15, through Thursday, May 17, at Newcomb Hall, except as stated below:

Academic, Commerce, Science
Tuesday, May 15—Sophomores
And Juniors
Names beginning
A to E—1:30 to 2:30.
R to Z—3:00 to 4:00.

Wednesday, May 16—Sophomores
And Juniors
Names beginning
K to R—1:30 to 2:30.
S to Z—3:00 to 4:00.

Thursday, May 17—Freshmen
Names beginning
A to E—1:30 to 2:30.
F to K—2:30 to 3:30.
L to R—3:30 to 4:30.
S to Z—4:30 to 5:30.

Students who, on account of their present class schedules, cannot register during the periods designated for them will be allowed to register with any of the other groups.

All students in the Academic and Commerce schools will fill out blanks (see below) giving the information desired—before coming to register. These blanks and such information as is necessary, can be obtained at the Dean's office.

Candidates for the B.S. degree in Chemistry will register at Newcomb Hall. Blanks will be furnished by the Chemistry department.

Students in the Civil and Electrical Engineering schools will obtain blanks from either Professor Houston or Dr. Dickey as to the information they desire and register with them in Reid Hall.

No student will be fully registered until his blank has the signature of Prof. J. A. Graham, in charge of registering sections. Prof. Graham will be in Newcomb Hall during the hours stated above.

LAW

All students in the School of Law who are planning to continue the study of law are requested to report to Dean Moreland on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday, May 15, 16, or 17.

All students in other departments who are planning to enter the School of Law in September, 1934, are requested to report to the Registrar—Newcomb Hall 101—any time during the same period.

Davis Returns For Reunion Of Old Grads Here

Former Presidential Candidate Celebrates With Phi Psi's

PHI PSI'S, TUCKER,
SMITH PLAY HOSTS

Extensive Program Planned
For Week-end; O'Neal
To Speak

John W. Davis, prominent Washington and Lee alumnus, and eleven other distinguished graduates who were members of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity here between 1888 and 1898 are in Lexington for a reunion meeting this week-end.

Extensive plans have been made for the entertainment of the "old grads" while they are here. A meeting was held at Newcomb hall this morning, and the visitors went for a drive this afternoon.

They will be entertained at an informal banquet at the Phi Psi house this evening, following which they will attend the final session of the conference on problems of the national recovery program, where Edward O'Neal, a member of the group, will speak on "The Agricultural Re-adjustment Program."

Dr. Robert H. Tucker, dean of the University, will hold a smoker for the group following the lecture at nine o'clock. At ten o'clock they will adjourn to the home of Dr. Livingston W. Smith, head of the mathematics department, where another smoker will be held.

In addition to John W. Davis, of New York, member of the board of trustees and a figure of national prominence, and Edward O'Neal, of Chicago, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, others in the group include:

Frank A. Nelson, Chattanooga; Rees Turpin, Kansas City; E. W. Wilson, Philadelphia; Reynolds Vance, now at Yale; James Veech, Louisville, Ky.; Braden Vandevanter, Norfolk, Va.; Samuel Frieron, Florence, Ala.; James Quarles, Washington, D. C.; and John W. Johnson, Tusculuma, Ala.

Hale Houston, associate professor of civil engineering, and Dr. Livingston Smith, head of the mathematics department, were also members of the fraternity between 1888 and 1898.

Gov. George Peery, '97,
To Be Guest of Honor
At Finals Alumni Meet

Governor George C. Peery will be the official guest of honor at the Alumni luncheon here on Monday, June 4, Alumni Secretary Cy Young announced today.

The Alumni luncheon will be one of the high lights of the Finals week program. Governor Peery will arrive here in time for it at 12:30, and will remain for the meeting of the Alumni association that is to follow soon afterwards.

John W. Davis has been especially invited to attend, not only as a trustee of the University but as a former member of the law faculty who taught Governor Peery during his senior year here in 1897. It is not certain yet whether Mr. Davis will be able to attend or not, but the Alumni office states that he is expected.

Frosh Frames Frantic Friends, Fakes False, Fatal Fall

Cold sober—or at least almost—a freshman who feigned drunkenness gave the students living in Graham dorm their biggest thrill of the year last night.

After spending most of the evening wandering around the dorm with an assumed and imaginary stagger and periodically threatening to jump out of one of the second-story windows, the freshman so aroused his class mates that they put him to bed.

With the Frosh still mumbling threats of leaping from the window, his friends left the room locking the door behind them. A few minutes later, someone decided to see how the frosh with the "mental drunk" was resting.

Climbing up on a chair, he peeped over the transom—the bed was vacant and the window wide open. A quick search of nearby rooms failed to locate the missing frosh. Finally, peering out of a window, someone discovered a body sprawled on the sod beneath the open window.

Immediately, half the occupants of the dorm hurried outside to ascertain how serious had been the fall of the poor frosh. He lay there limp; no sign of life was visible. A counselor quickly picked up the body and carried it into a room. Someone ran to call a doctor. As the counselor—almost frantic—began an examination to discover the nature of the injuries, the victim suddenly laughed and opened his eyes.

And then the entire hoax was revealed. The victim had arranged with one of his friends to have someone look into this room soon after he had been placed in bed. Meanwhile he had hurried down stairs, walked outside, and lain down on the grass beneath his window, assuring as lifeless an attitude as he could.

Johnny Johnson Signed Today To Open Finals; Garden Theme Selected

Decorations Will Represent
Colorful Outdoor Summer
Scene

SCHEME INCLUDES
ENTRANCE TO GYM

Green Foliage, White Columns,
And Flowers
Lend Gaiety

A garden party will be the theme of Finals dance decorations this year. Charlie Pritchard announced today. The entire gymnasium, including the entrance and lobby, will be decorated with flowers, shrubs, and vines to simulate a garden scene. The decorations will be cumulative, with additions made each night until the climax is reached on Tuesday night for the Final Ball.

An innovation in the decoration scheme will be the treatment of the lobby as a part of the garden scene. Usually barren and devoid of decorations, the lobby will be converted into a small court, with garden gates leading on to the dance floor. The main entrance to the gymnasium will likewise be decorated as the entrance to a garden.

Pergolas Planned

The ballroom is to be treated as a garden with the running track as an oval arbor. The principal features will be three pergolas, built out into the room. The largest of these, on the left, will be for the orchestra, with another smaller pergola for the chaperons' stand on the right. Facing the entrance to the dance floor will be the third pergola, where the figure will come to its climax and where the flash-light pictures of the figure will be taken.

For the Interfraternity Ball on Friday night, only the bare skeleton of the garden scheme, augmented by a set of fraternity banners, will be utilized. On each night thereafter, additions will be made to the decorative scheme, gradually developing the whole scheme until it is unfolded at its height on Tuesday night.

The walls and ceiling of the gymnasium will be masked with green, forming a background for the white pillars and the bright colors of the flowers.

Tucker Urges Co-ordination

World Recovery Efforts
Require Co-operation,
Dean Says

Pointing out that permanent prosperity can come only through the co-operative efforts of the entire civilized world, Dr. Robert H. Tucker, dean of the University, delivered the "keynote address" of the two-day conference on the national recovery program held here yesterday and today. His subject was "General Aspects of the National Recovery Program."

Dr. Tucker declared that worldwide stabilization of currency, gradual reduction of tariff barriers, just and equitable settlements of the war debts, and abandonment of the narrow spirit of nationalism are primary prerequisites to the achievement of real prosperity.

Prof. William Coan, speaking on "Monetary and Credit Problems," outlined the present credit structure of the American banking system, and discussed in detail the effort to strengthen that structure. Prof. Coan also described the monetary fluctuations of the past decade, and presented a picture of the current situation in regard to bi-metallism, now a live question in Congress.

At the session this morning, Prof. Donald F. Martin of the Economics department, listed the advantages accruing to labor under the New Deal as (1) shorter hours, (2) higher wages, (3) elimination of child labor, and (4) better working conditions. Mr. Martin pointed out, however, that

Janitors Help

For many years, alumni and friends of the University have contributed to the Finals fund to help insure the success of the dance set. Not only are these usual contributions being received this year, but Charlie Pritchard declared today that almost all of the janitors employed by the University have contributed this year. Gifts of a dollar or two have been received from each of these employees, who declare that they wish to do their part and cooperate with the students in making the 1934 Finals a particularly successful set of dances.

Mower Elected Troub President For Next Year

Jim Wallace Named Vice-President, And Wassum
Business Manager

Charles Mower, K. A., was elected president of the Troubadours for the coming term at a meeting of the organization held yesterday afternoon. Mower succeeds William Hawkins, Beta, present head of the organization. Jim Wallace, Beta, was chosen vice-president, and Charles Wassum, P. K. A., was re-elected business manager.

The position of production manager was created and Lewis McMurrin named to fill it. Given Cleek was elected stage manager to succeed Wallace, and Graham Sale, Pi K. A., elected publicity manager. The positions of property manager and electrician were voted to William Rawak and William Wigglesworth, Pi K. A., respectively. John Beague, Beta, and Kenneth Lane, Phi Delta, were chosen assistant business manager.

The Troubs elected Walter Johnston chairman of a committee to redraft the constitution, and Jim Wallace and Al Durante to assist him. They will submit proposed amendments at a meeting of the organization next fall.

3 Men Eligible For Scholarship

I.-F. Council Nominates
Candidates For Award;
Faculty Makes Choice

Three men eligible to receive the Interfraternity council's scholarship award were named at the regular meeting of the council last night, Peyton Winfree, president, announces, thereby clearing the way for final selection of the recipient by the faculty scholarship committee in a few days.

Five applications were made for the scholarship, to which each of the fraternities contributes and which values $260. One more nomination than usual was made. Action from the faculty committee is expected within a few days, Winfree reports.

Last year the scholarship went to Amos Bolen and the year before to Eddie Bacon. The three men nominated are all juniors, and each is an outstanding athlete and member of the football team.

The award is based on need of the assistance, scholastic standing, and activity in hte various phases of campus life.

Beagle Elected

John Beagle was declared officially elected over Harold Duncan for the presidency of the intermediate law class, Richard W. Grafton, secretary of the student body, announced today. The election had been contested by Duncan on the grounds of the ineligibility of one of the voters. The Executive committee declared the man eligible, the vote remaining nine to eight in favor of Beagle.

SAME BAND WANTED
BY GENERAL MOTORS

University of Virginia Has Signed Johnson For
Final Ball

Johnny Johnson and his band, prominent in New York City, were signed this morning to play for the first two nights of Finals dance set. According to Charlie Pritchard, who completed the arrangements with Johnson by telephone this morning, the band is one of the most famous and best-known now playing in New York. The orchestra has been playing the past two months at the Paradise restaurant, popular New York night club, where Paul Whiteman and Buddy Rogers completed engagements earlier in the season.

Washington and Lee was particularly fortunate in securing Johnson for the first two nights. Pritchard says, because General Motors wanted to engage him at the same time. On June 12, Johnson and his band will play for Final Ball at the University of Virginia.

Students who have heard Johnny Johnson's radio broadcasts have been very favorably impressed. The idea of having a band of this calibre to play the dance set, followed by Jan Garber, has won wide student approval, according to Pritchard, and will add much to the success of Finals.

After his telephone conversation with Johnson this morning, Pritchard, in commenting on the band, made the following statement:

"I think we are particularly fortunate in securing this band for the first two nights of Finals, since it is in great demand at the present time. General Motors were very desirous of signing him to play for a program they were planning at the same time as our dances.

"Johnny has a pleasing personality and ought to be highly successful here. He told me this morning that he had heard a great deal about Washington and Lee dances and that he had long hoped for a chance to play here. I think that Johnson will add much to the success of Finals."

The band of having two different plans to play for Finals dance set is being employed at a number of nearby colleges this year. V. M. I. has signed George Hall and Ozzie Nelson to play for their Finals. At Charlottesville, Freddy Martin will play the first three nights of the Virginia Finals, and Johnson has been selected for Final Ball.

The announcement that Monday, May 21, will be the last day for subscriptions to Finals has influenced a number of students to sign up immediately. Pritchard said. The Committee has re-canceled fraternity houses and other student eating places in the last few days.

A letter was sent by the Finals Week committee to each of the fraternities urging them to sign up for one subscription to be given to some member of the fraternity who otherwise would be unable to stay for Finals. Many of the houses have agreed to this plan. One house has signed up for a subscription and intends to invite a visitor—a member of next year's freshman class—to attend the dance set.

Four Attend Conference

Four students from the local Christian council will represent Washington and Lee at the annual state collegiate Y. M. C. A. convention, to be held tomorrow and Sunday at Camp Johnson, Salem, Va. They are: Bob Brickhouse, Morton Brown, Bob Kingsbury, and Douglas Lund.

Dr. William W. Morton, professor of philosophy and Christian ethics and faculty adviser of the council, who had planned to attend, will be unable to go.

THE SCHOLARSHIP WITHOUT A PURPOSE

It has been pointed out that the Interfraternity scholarship loses a great deal of its value and is diverted from its purpose when it is awarded to students who can normally expect enough income and financial assistance from other sources to enable them to return to school. Only under the most unusual circumstances is it probable that an expert veteran athlete will not be enabled to finish out his career here. The Interfraternity scholarship should go to a student who cannot come back to Washington and Lee without its aid, and the money is wasted and the purpose defeated when it is received by one to whom it is not essential, regardless of his scholastic standing.

This discussion should not be construed as a criticism of the council's nominations for this year, for such would not only be groundless, but unjust, as few other applications were submitted. It is an effort, however, to have the purpose of the scholarship and the provisions of awarding it re-defined, with the emphasis on recognizing and assisting an outstanding fraternity man who must have this type of scholarship to return here. There are such men on the campus, assuredly, who were discouraged from applying for the Interfraternity scholarship this year because of the well-founded belief that it always goes to the prominent athlete. It certainly is not the council's fault when only athletes apply, but the situation calls for a change of policy and a clearer statement of it.

As has been said before, athletic excellence in itself does not make an outstanding fraternity man, regardless of the position of prominence and respect it may give him on the campus. The same is true of excellence in scholarship, which alone does not call for fraternity recognition, as there are already numerous awards available for those who excel in making grades. The true purpose of the Interfraternity scholarship should be to recognize the student who is contributing actively to more than one phase of fraternity and campus life, with need of assistance receiving prime consideration.

ENTHUSIASM FOR FINALS BECOMES "CATCHING"

Finals interest has been slow and lagging all spring, but as plans go forward that call for two or three bands, national-hook-up broadcasts, and something new and distinctly attractive in decorations, that interest is gathering momentum now and gathering it fast. It takes an inexplicable something to start the ball of enthusiasm rolling, but once in motion its irresistible power is even more inexplicable. There have been several psychological moments in the Finals drive this year, but they failed to catch. Now is the crisis, and if CHARLIE PRITCHARD continues to supply the favorable press releases, then everything is set for what every dance leader promises at some time or another—the best set we have ever had. The reporter who is covering Finals since PRITCHARD first came out with his orchestra scoop had been more than leery of even thinking about paying ten dollars "for a dance" up until the time he wrote the decorations story last night, then he couldn't stand it any longer and capitulated to Finals without further struggle.

From the word description, the artist's color drawing, and the appropriate nature of the theme, the decorations should be "right. Especially noteworthy is the plan to have the entrance and lobby decorated in keeping with the dance floor. Now it's a garden gate, a subject of much romance itself, and all the trimmings that will greet the dancers, instead of a clutter of gym apparatus to leap over, squeeze through, or stumble against. An unsightly first glance can destroy any number of delightful decorative illusions, so any effort spent on the entrance will be well employed.

Perhaps it's the rising enthusiasm as plans gradually unfold, or the season, or that sweet-scented letter, or the desire to escape from thoughts of examinations, or a combination of all, but Finals is in the air and it just can't be too soon until the garden gates swing open in Doremus gym on June first. And it won't be long now.

A SUGGESTED SERVICE FOR THE CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

There are in the vicinity of Lexington many places of natural beauty and wonder which few students ever get to visit, either because they do not know of the places and how to find them or because they do not have the facilities for reaching them. A suggestion has been made that the Christian Council, which seems to have been handicapped by lack of an outlet for its energy and funds more than by any other one thing, undertake as part of its program next year the sponsorship of student tours to these places of interest, inviting all members of the student body interested to join in. There is no doubt of the value of such experiences, and leadership in such an undertaking would be closely related to truly religious activity, much more so than hiring assembly speakers, to say the least. Not that the Christian council should develop into a nature study-class or a hiking club, but it can easily take the lead in discovering to unsuspecting students great mines of beauty and inspiration hidden away in the hills and valleys of the surrounding country.

Some who are fortunate have enjoyed these escapes from the humdrum of the college routine, but some group will have to take leadership if the opportunities are to be generally shared. Especially could organized leaders with some financial backing open this other world to non-fraternity men and others who seldom have the use of a car. Of course there would be only a few interested at first, and the movement could never be more than a modest one, or it would defeat many of its own purposes. But there is an opportunity if the council is interested, to open a new field of student experience. This suggestion certainly is worth discussion when the council plans its work for next year, and if practical plans for carrying it out can be made, it deserves a place in the council's program.

A CHANCE TO HELP THE NEW MEN

Advance plans are already complete for the seventh annual freshman camp, at which 85 new men will be given their first introduction to Washington and Lee, will be set on their feet in their new environment, and will be prepared for leadership in making 1934-35 a successful year for their entire class. The direction and operation of freshman camp is a task of considerable proportions, but the growing realization of what it means in the adjustment of each new "generation" of Washington and Lee students makes it one of the most valuable of University activities.

It is not always possible for a prospective freshman to realize the value of the camp experience, although there have always been more applications than the limited camp facilities will allow to be accepted. Yet with economic conditions still so uncertain, for complete assurance that the benefits of freshman camp to go to the maximum number of boys, it is asked that all old men make an effort to explain to prospective campers whom they know the advantages of attending. For a better description of the inducements can be given in a few words between friends than in any number of enticing circulars. Almost everyone who has been on the camp, and many others, too, are willing to recommend it highly, and there will be more than one opportunity for them to do some freshman a real service by taking the effort to tell him about camp.

Student Body Tribute

The following resolutions have been drawn up as a formal statement of the love and regard the student of Washington and Lee held for "DEAN HARRY CAMPBELL":

WHEREAS, The Great Educator of the Universe, in His infinite wisdom and justice, has seen fit to remove from earthly schools and other scenes of activity, DR. HENRY CAMPBELL, one of the distinguished members of our body; and

WHEREAS, The Washington and Lee student body has sustained the loss of one of its most brilliant and valued members who has ever taught in the University since its organization; therefore, be it

RESOLVED: First: That it is the sense of this great body that in proper manner record the great loss it has sustained in the death of DR. CAMPBELL, whose natural teaching ability, splendid mind, dynamic energy, honesty and integrity of purpose and character were always used to further the education of his fellow man and to exemplify the highest and noblest in teacher and man.

Second: That we tender to his bereaved widow and family our deep and affectionate sympathy.

Third: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his widow and to The Ring-tum Phi; and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this body.

Collegiate Questionnaire

When the end of the school year approaches and everyone gets on his mark and ready for the ramble home it's time to do a little questioning. It doesn't matter particularly what the questions are about or what they attempt to discover. The mere idea of questioning is what intrigues us and others. Some would say that we should look back upon the months of academic labor and try to ascertain whether we have learned anything—and such stuff. But something tells the writer it would be hopeless, that no one would remember whether they had learned anything or not, except perhaps such things as short cuts to Lynchburg and Roanoke. So in the final analysis a questionnaire dealing in wide generalities with the whole scope of life is far more fitting at this time. With all respect the following questionnaire—a model questionnaire—is submitted. Incidentally, it's for seniors only. The rest of you can take time out and read the editorials on the left of this.

Q. Do you have convictions?
A. I'm only a senior.
Q. Do you believe all you read?
A. Only when I read.
Q. Why is Edgar Guest?
A. He's subtle and writes about "Dad" and "home" and "little brother."
Q. Is college worth the effort?
A. Never went to college.
Q. What will you be doing five years from now?
A. Life.
Q. What will you be earning?
A. Plenty.
Q. What salary will you be drawing?
A. Haven't decided yet.
Q. Do you have an enlarged ego?
A. I don't think so. But I've a Ford, a bulldog, and a younger brother.

Q. If you were a paranoid what would you eat?
A. The same thing.
Q. Why do you go to the movies?
A. "The seats are comfortable," says Joe Ford.

Q. Who is your favorite movie comedian?
A. Joe Ford.
Q. Is Popeye or Ghandi your hero?
A. Mae West.
Q. Who is the best runner in school?
A. D. F. Gholson.
Q. Do you believe in astrology?
A. I'm a good little boy.
Q. Is man or woman the superior sex?
A. No.
Q. Do you believe in a Heaven or a Hell?
A. I'm too young to know.
Q. Do men pursue women?
A. It's according to the women.
Q. Do women pursue men?
A. It's according to the women.

Q. Is man an animal or a mechanism?
A. Of course?
Q. Are professors intelligent?
A. What?
Q. Do you believe in birth control?
A. I come from Louisiana.
Q. Would you fight for home, country, flag, Democracy, freedom, equality, Congress, honor, state rights, and beer, if the nation were invaded or went to war or declared war or just decided to fight?
A. I'll have to see my lawyer.
Q. Do you drink?
A. What do yuh think?
Q. Can you drink corn whiskey straight?
A. Not in Rockbridge county.
Q. Have you ever been plastered?
A. According to the Websterian connotation of the word "plastered" I do not believe that I have ever been in the extremely unfortunate condition to which the above question refers.

Q. Have you ever been high?
A. Can't remember.
Q. Have you ever been tight?
A. My roommate says "No."
Q. Have you ever been looping?
A. My roommate has gone to sleep.
Q. To what do you attribute your success?
A. (The editor censored this.)

Bean and Moffatt Will Teach Summer Courses

Professors Bean and Moffatt will conduct extension courses in history and English here this summer for public school teachers in this vicinity. They will be held in one of the college class rooms.
Dr. Bean will give a rather comprehensive course in European history. Dr. Moffatt will conduct a similar class in English literature.
Credit for the work taken in these extension classes will be given by the University of Virginia.

Hecht's Hack Work

How as able and brilliantly intelligent a writer as Ben Hecht can continue to sit in Hollywood and pound out the deadly fold-erol he is now doing to be used for as equally deadly pictures, is something of a mystery to this writer. During the past year Hecht has written nothing that can come within miles of his previous praiseworthy novels, and judging from the few stories he has recently contributed to current magazines, his star is in the descent. That writing original scenarios for the screen is a sorry business at best for the really capable writer is not mere talk. Consider that all the best motion pictures have been adapted from the best plays and the best novels, whereas the tripe is usually based on original screen stories.

"Upperworld" is a recent example of Ben Hecht's hack work for Hollywood. Based on stock dialogue, a stock plot, stock treatment, and stock acting, the picture was just another routine story undistinguished by anything except, possibly, some good acting on the part of Ginger Rogers. Perhaps Hecht meant it to be more, but the picture was a half-hearted and oatmeal damnation of a capitalist's privileges when he becomes involved with the law. The theme of favoritism and unfair justice was too-toned-down, too wishy-washy to be anything but a vague and sleepy damn. Warren William approached obnoxiousness in his acting, and Mary Astor was given little to do other than make social engagements. Ginger Rogers was a little better than fair, but even she was given a bushel of puerile lines.

Dead-eye Dick: William tells Ginger Rogers she's riding in a sixteen-cylinder car, and when it pulls up in front of her flat the camera shoots a twelve-cylinder Packard.

Just Good
"Men in White," already draped in cubic tons of undiluted praise, was just another good picture, neither superb nor colossal nor unusual.
It was simply a competent picture.

Generals Meet West Virginia In Final Game

Season Closes on Wilson Field Following Unsuccessful Trip North

Losing all three games of their recent trip, the Big Blue varsity baseball team will close its season by playing West Virginia here tomorrow. A return game with Virginia here Monday has been cancelled.

For the first time this season the Generals were hitting the ball hard, scoring 21 runs in the three games, but the fielding was erratic, and the pitching sloppy. Sauerbrun was the hitting star, batting well over .400 for the trip.

The Big Blue now has a record of seven wins and eight defeats, losing six of their last seven games. West Virginia has already been beaten by William and Mary and Virginia and has not been playing first rate ball. Virginia has one victory to her credit over the Lexington boys, 2-0, but the Generals swear revenge.

The Navy game was a repetition of the two previous affairs. Washington and Lee jumped into the lead with a three-run rally, and then Navy caught them as they piled up 10 runs in two innings. Again it was a seventh inning orgy that sunk the Minks.

In order to end on the winning side, the Generals must defeat West Virginia and Virginia.

Generals Hope For Second In Triangle Meet

V. M. I. Thinclads Weakened by Injuries; Maryland Conceded First

With V. M. I.'s varsity track team lacking the services of three veterans, Washington and Lee should be able to take an easy second in a triangular meet with the Keydets and Old Liners tomorrow at College Park.

Last Saturday, returning from the state track meet, three V. M. I. thinclads were injured in an auto accident that will force them out of activity for the rest of the cinder season. Captain Hill Welford, who broke the state 440 record last week and then followed it with a victory in the 880, is most seriously injured of the trio, but is reported as improving. Rutzschow, middle distance letter man, and Wills, high jumper, are other members of the troupe who were in the accident. Both of these men, in spite of the fact that they will make the trip, will be unable to compete.

Dunaj Feeling Better
Washington and Lee also has its worries in view of the fact that its ace distance runner, Dick Dunaj, has been on the sick list most of this week. Coach Fletcher announced today that Dunaj seems improved and will probably run the mile and two mile tomorrow. Dunaj took three firsts last year when the Generals defeated the Terps on Wilson field.

Baseballers Will Close Home Season Here Tomorrow Unless Wahoos Agree to Memorial Day Game

It looks as though our good friends, the Virginia Wahoos, are doing everything in their power and even trying to devise some new means of getting out of another baseball game with the Generals this season, particularly in Lexington.

The original contest which was scheduled for last April 24 was rained out, so to date the Cavaliers, mighty knights of virtue, have not yet played a contest in our home town. Gus Tebell, erstwhile noisy coach, agreed to a game here on the fourteenth of May, but Jimmy Driver who will be displaced after this season by Tebell as director of athletics, was in the hospital at the time the deal was made and could not give his consent.

Since then, he has refused to do so, writing on May 3 that the Virginia boys had used up their allotted time away from classes and would not be able to make the trip. A new plan is on foot to arrange a game for May 30, a sort of runner along with the appearance of Lowell Thomas, but the Virginians are none too hearty in their approval of it.

You'll remember that a Virginia team hasn't set foot on Rockbridge soil to vie against the Generals since the football season. A basketball game or two were scheduled for Lexington, but the Wahoos resisted the trip because of flustering snow. Probably the Wa-hos don't like our grounds any better than the Generals like theirs, but at least this side of the argument has been decent enough to go over. Incidentally, no major sport team has won anything in Charlottesville this season. Figure it out.

There's the one probability, however, that may bring Virginia to terms and that will be the standings for the state championship. Virginia, at the moment, is ahead, but if the Generals can get by them somehow and Virginia is kept from maintaining her top position—they will probably come over and play.

Only one Virginia baseball game was played here last year and the Wahoos lost by one run after considerable arguments. Al Orth, standby umpire on Wilson field, was even scorned by Gus Tebell, and Captain Dick had to scout around for a substitute, finally bringing in some one called Pirandello or something. He didn't help the Virginians any more than we would have.

And so—unless the Cavaliers condescend to visit Lexington, your last chance to see a home ball game will be tomorrow against West Virginia.

The subject of the baseball team's versatility was written on once before, but advertising space necessitated the removal of it, but it has been even better illustrated of late than during the opening games of the season.

Mat Practice Closes Today

Intra-Squad Meet Climaxes Four-Week Training Session

The 1934 spring wrestling practice ended today with an intra-squad meet in which all boys who have been attending the workouts took part. Today's matches climaxed a four-week training session which was devoted exclusively to the teaching of new holds and new methods of bringing a man to the mat.

Coach Mathis, in commenting on the practices, said, "It has been the most successful spring practices that we have ever had, and if we can only have a squad like the group who have been out for

We are serving oysters on the half shell, fresh shad roe, shrimp and scallops.

Freshman Nine Trims Goblets

Brigadiers Pound Out 16 Hits For 15-4 Victory Tuesday

The freshmen broke their losing streak when they defeated the V. P. I. Goblets last Tuesday, 15 to 4, on the losers' diamond, playing excellent ball all the way.

The Goblets were no match for the Big Blue freshmen, determined not to let victory be taken from them at the last minute as had been their misfortune in two previous games. In order to establish a substantial lead which could not be overtaken, they collected seven runs in the first half of the first inning.

Dickman was in excellent form, pitching one of the best games that he has turned in all season. Only six of the thirty men to face him got safe hits, and only four runs crossed the plate.

The entire team had a good day at the bat, collecting a total of sixteen hits. Bricker, Cochran, and Mills led in this department.

Cochran had a perfect day at the plate with three for three. Mills drove out two hard hits. Bricker hit one of the hardest balls of the year when he pounded out a home run with two men on base.

Next Monday the team plays its last game this season when it meets A. M. A. at the Military Academy. In the opening game of the season the Cadets and the Brigadiers played a twelve inning tie, so the game Monday promises to be a close one.

Crenshaw Issues Call For Freshmen Netmen To Report on May 14

A call for all freshmen interested in trying out for the varsity tennis team next year has been issued by Coach Ollinger Crenshaw for this Monday, May 14, the close of varsity practice.

Tryouts will be held all week, and at the end of that period a team will be selected which will play the varsity or some other high class aggregation.

Due to the many sparkling players in this year's freshmen class, a revival in tennis interest and a raise in the standard of the court teams is expected.

Netmen Face Diamondbacks

Team Hopes to Avenge Early Season Defeat Here Today

Weather permitting, the Washington and Lee tennis team meets Maryland here today in a return match. In the previous meeting, the Terp netmen were victorious by a 7-2 margin. Due to recent good weather, the Generals have been putting in some strenuous practice and appear to have a good chance of turning back their opponents.

Prugh and Reynolds are being especially groomed for the Southern Conference tournament which is to be held late next week. These two men are the only ones to enter, as Coach Crenshaw does not believe that the team as a whole has had enough work to merit their entrance. Prior to this meet, however, Washington and Lee has won four Southern conference tennis crowns.

All-Intramural Team

An all-intramural baseball team will be picked by Ring-tum Phi sports writers after the tourney.

JANGLED NERVES

Copyright, 1934, H. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

It's irritating and it means... jangled nerves

Yes, it's irritating to listen to that constant, tuneless humming—and more than that, the humming is a sign of jangled nerves.

If you notice any of those tell-tale nervous habits in yourself—if you whistle through your teeth—juggle your keys—drum on the table—then it's time to start taking care of yourself.

Get enough sleep—fresh air—recreation—and watch your smoking... Remember, you can smoke as many Camels as you want. Their costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves.

Printing Shop Is Recognized

Work of Superintendent Lauck Brings Credit To University

The Washington and Lee department of journalism and the printing laboratory have recently received recognition in the newspaper and graphic arts field through the efforts of C. Harold Lauck, superintendent of the laboratory, who has been serving the industry in regard to the graphic arts code.

Mr. Lauck is a member of the stabilization committee of the Virginia Joint Regional Code Authority, and has made a thorough study of the code. He has recently been assisting Louis Spilman, chairman of the Regional Authority, in putting into effect in this area the Price Determination Schedule issued by the National Graphic Arts Co-ordinating committee which went into nationwide effect May 4.

At the annual conference on printing education which will meet in Detroit, June 18, 19, and 20, Mr. Lauck will be chairman of the Tuesday session. He is planning to print and distribute to the members at the conference a limited edition of the address by Dr. Fred W. Ashley, chief assistant librarian of the Library of Congress, on the Vollbehr collection of fifteenth century books including the Gutenberg Bible purchased by Congress for the Library a few years ago. The address was delivered at the 1932 printing education conference.

Tucker Urges World To Co-operate For Recovery

the much-touted right of collective bargaining provided under the codes, was far from being an innovation, since it had been a common practice for many years in labor disputes.

Prof. J. H. Williams, in surveying the tendencies of government toward engaging in business, traced historical trends along this line, beginning with the first government post office. He cited contemporary examples, such as the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Columbia River project, and expressed the belief that government is "in business now, and will stay in business."

A paper on constitutional aspects of the New Deal, written by Prof. C. P. Light of the Law school, was read at the afternoon session today by Prof. F. J. Barnes, as Prof. Light was in Washington. The paper presented the theory that the Supreme Court would hold recovery legislation such as NIRA constitutional as long as the emergency nature of such legislation is recognizable, but that the Court would oppose any efforts to make the principles of much of the New Deal legislation permanent. He pointed out recent decisions in the Minnesota mortgage case and the New York milk case, where the Court held the due process clause of the Constitution inoperative under an emergency.

Prof. M. O. Phillips, acting dean of the commerce school in Dr. G. D. Hancock's absence, expanded upon the theories expressed by Dr. Tucker regarding the conflict between nationalism and internationalism.

"A planned middle course between extremes of nationalism and internationalism is the sane and sensible choice," he said, adding that "economic co-operation has proved practical in the past, and can be practical again."

Edward O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, and an alumnus of the University, is the principal speaker on tonight's program. He will discuss the work of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

turization and portrayal of hospital life from the standpoint of the men and women who compose its staff, made a bit distinctive by the unhesitating use of professional vernacular and operating room procedure. The idea in the back of many a playwright's cerebrum is to make the spectator squirm with the burn of life as he enacts it, and in "Men in White" a piece of cotton dripping with blood plays a major role.

Gaines to Speak Tuesday At Foreign Affairs Club; Officers to Be Elected

Dr. Francis P. Gaines will be the principal speaker Tuesday night when the International Relations club holds its final meeting of the year. Dr. Gaines, who is now in New York City attending a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Endowment, is expected to outline the work of the Carnegie group, and to discuss briefly the general state of world affairs.

A second feature of the meeting will be a report on the Blacksburg conference of Virginia International Relations clubs April 27 and 28. James L. Price, newly elected president of the state organization, will make the report. Officers for 1934-35 will be elected, according to present plans. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock, and will be held in room 105, Newcomb hall.
