Address on "Journalism as a Career" Concludes General Assembly's Functions

The Southern Interscholastic Press Association will convene for its opening meeting Friday, June 11, at 1 A. M. at Lee Chapel. Prof. R. B. Ellard, head of the journalism department will preside.

The invocation will be offered by the Rev. William Morton. It will be followed by Dr. H. L. Smith's welcome from the university. E. H. Miller will then extend his welcome from the student body.

The first matter of routine business will be the roll call by Prof. Howard M. Thompson. An address by James C. Latimer, former field secretary of the World Press Congress, on "Journalism as a Career" will conclude the general assembly's functions, after short talks by representative of last year's trophy winners.

The convention will then break up into separate discussion groups with Prof. Thompson leading the discussion of the news paper group; Robert D. Powers, the publicity group; McRee Davis, the annual group, and Wilton M. Garrison, the magazine group. Various talks will be made in the discussion groups, including Prof. Ellard's discussion on "Publicity as a Study of Public Relations;" Prof. S. D. Bowman of the Jefferson High School, Roanoke, on "Cooperating with Town Newspapers;" Peyton Harrison, editor of RING-TUM PHI, on "Athletic Publicity," and Miss Nora Payne Hill of the Danville High School on "Selection of a School Publication Staff."

The main topics of the afternoon session will be an address by Prof. Charles P. Light of the Washington and Lee Law School on "Publication Ethics," and a free motion picture at the Lyric theatre, "Making of a Great Newspaper," which is a study of the New York Times.

Friday night there will be a banquet in the University Dining Hall for all delegates and visitors of the convention. A symposium of three speakers will discuss "The Layman Looks at the Newspaper." Dr. William Mosely Brown, of the Psychology department of the university (Continued on Page 4)

Glee Club Returns From Intercollegiate Contest in Richmond

The Washington and Lee Glee Club returned Sunday from Richmond where they competed in the Intercollegiate Glee Club Contest. This contest was held Friday night, May 3, in the Mosque under the auspices of the Richmond News-Leader. Four universities in Virginia and one in North Carolina were entered in the musical contest, these being: University of Richmond, William and Mary, University of Virginia, Washington and Lee, and University of North Carolina. Doctor Shelley, head of the Ancient Languages department, accompanied the W. & L. Glee Club.

The University of North Carolina was awarded first place by the judges and received a large silver cup as first prize. They are conceded to have one of the finest organizations in the country. The University of Virginia was awarded second place and a prize. (Continued on Page 4)

PLATT WINS ANNUAL VIRGINIA SPEAKING CONTEST IN RICHMOND

W. & L. Student Wins From Field of Nine Schools' Representatives

Harold M. Platt, representing Washington and Lee, won the thirty-eighth Annual Contest of the Virginia State Intercollegiate Oratorical Association, held in Westhampton College Chapel, Richmond, Friday, May 4. Professor Bauer, debating coach and head of the Public Speaking department, accompanied Platt on the trip.

Within one week, Washington and Lee has won the two most coveted prizes in Virginia forensic circles. A week before Platt competed in the Richmond contest, Joseph Clower was awarded the position of representative of Virginia in the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution. Clower won this in the state elimination. Both Platt and Clower are members of the same public speaking class, and both have won, within a short time, the highest honors in public speaking the state offers.

Platt was awarded first place in a field of nine speakers representing nine Virginia schools: D. Arthur Kelsey, Jr., William and Mary; James Wallace Givens, Jr., Lynchburg College; Harold M. Platt, Washington and Lee; Benjamin E. Chapman, Roanoke College; Ernest Mutzing, Bridgewater College; James Grey McAllister, Jr., Hampden-Sydney College; C. L. Looney, Emory and Henry; Theodore S. Farrar, Randolph-Macon; William S. Norman, University of Richmond.

Professor Haynes H. Seay, Jr., acted as presiding officer, and Rev. Beverley R. Tucker, D.D., Rev. W. E. Hill, D.D., and Mr. John Peyton McGuire served as judges.

The title of Platt's speech was "Who is to Blame?" It was a study into the underlying faults of political corruption in the United States, and an attempt to discover upon whom may the cause of this corruption be placed. Platt stated that the fundamental cause was due to the voter, and made a plea for more active citizenry. He pointed out that each individual has a public duty to perform for his country, and showed by illustration the great influence upon history of public spirited citizens.

The first prize, awarded to Platt, was a large diamond crested gold medal, intricately worked with fine carvings and ornaments.

Professor Bauer states that the judges were unanimous in their praise of Platt's oration, terming him by far the most outstanding speaker of the evening. Even his opponents conceded him victory before the final decision of the judges had been announced. Bauer further added, "that Platt surpassed my expectations in every manner, and I consider his speech one of the finest ever delivered in intercollegiate circles."

FROSH-VIRGINIA TILT TO BEAR ON CHAMPIONSHIP

The little Generals' ball team will meet the Baby Cavaliers on Wilson Field this afternoon at 3:30. Today's game will be the first clash between the two outfits and the only one to be played this year.

Weather conditions have caused the originally scheduled game of Apr. 21 to be postponed three times; today will mark the two teams' fourth attempt to overcome the weather jinx. Due to the lateness of the season it is not expected that there will be a return engagement.

A victory this afternoon for the Blue and White yearlings will be a big help in their fight for the freshman baseball championship of the "Big Four." Last Tuesday, with Sutton pitching, the freshman nosed out V. P. I. by a 6-5 score with an eighth inning rally. To date the Cavalier first year men have not showed much strength. In their only appearance in Lexington they met an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the V. M. I. "Rats" by a 22-0 count.

The little Generals got off to a slow start at the beginning of the season, dropping their first two games to S. M. A. Since then they have defeated Roanoke High, V. P. I., and tied the strong Potomac State Normal School from West Virginia in a 15-inning engagement.

Today's line-up will probably be as follows: Jacob, 2-b; Faulkner, 1-f; Williams, 1-b; Thibadeau, 3-b; Wright, cf; Richardson, rf; Jenkins, ss; Taliaferro, c; Sutton, Woods, Wilson, Tardy or Mount, p.

JOURNALISM CLASS EDITS NEWSPAPER

This week's issue of the Buena Vista News is being published by Washington and Lee students in the Department of Journalism. A class in the study of "Community Newspapers" under Prof. Howard M. Thompson has entire charge of publishing the issue which will come off the press tomorrow afternoon.

All reporting, copy reading, editing, proof reading, editorials, and make-up have been done by the students themselves. W. M. Garrison, former editor of the RING-TUM PHI is acting as editor and has the following students on his staff: C. H. Wilson, R. P. Carter, V. C. Jones, Bill Mumford, Albert Steves, and J. W. Davis.

1929 CALYX TRYOUTS

There will be an important meeting for old and new men trying out for the business staff of the 1929 Calyx, Thursday night at 7:30 in Newcomb Hall.

Net-Men Complete Most Successful Northern Invasion

The tennis team, under the direction of Manager D. G. Thomas, ended one of the most successful Northern invasions by Washington and Lee netmen in years last Sunday. They won two out of five matches, the losses being by close scores with exception of the meet with Lehigh in which all matches were lost by the locals.

Thomas and Turk were the dependables for the Generals, each winning all except one of his singles. Gooch and Thomas proved to be the winning combination in three out of five doubles matches. The rest of the team showed up well and above expectation in most cases.

The team left Monday evening for Washington where they won a decisive victory over Catholic University Tuesday afternoon, by a score of 7-0. The locals had things their own way throughout the meet except in the first doubles when Miller and Jacobs were forced to go to the third and decisive set against Raiche and Garder which they won 10-8. Wednesday the Blue and White netmen met George Washington University in a close match, which the Washingtonians won 4-3. In the deciding match Miller and Jacobs forced Considine—former municipal champion of Washington, D. C.—Phillips (Captain) into the third set which they lost 6-4. (Continued on Page 4)

All Male Wedding Will Take Place Friday; Hi School

Mannikins were being educated at Harrington Waddell High School auditorium Friday night—educated to wear woman's clothing, to move gracefully about a stage so that feminine apparel may have added lure when the costumes for the "Womanless Wedding" are displayed Thursday and Friday, May 10 and 11.

Mannikins were being taught to shed many tears on womanly occasions to shift high-geared masculine strides into graceful feminine steps, to pirouette with large feet in a small footed way, raise deep voices to a higher key for lyric purposes and in other ways alter their habits so that woman's clothes will fit them.

It was a large and appreciative cast that put on the rehearsal last Friday, an audience of nearly 80 people all in the cast. The rehearsal successfully met its first test, since its object is to inspire long and rollicking laughter. There was plenty (Continued on Page 4)

GENERALS HIT HARD TO TRIM INDIANS 8 TO 1

Drive William and Mary Hurling Ace From the Mound In Second Inning

FOLIARD PITCHES WELL

Generals Captain Allows Only Five Scattered Hits and Strikes Out Five

Playing the game in a driving rain, the Generals knocked Ace Wallace, of William and Mary, from the mound in the second inning and continued to take kindly to the offerings of Callep in the third to roll up an 8 to 1 advantage over the Indians here, yesterday. Captain Foliard had the opposing batsmen well in hand throughout the battle; the Indians labored hard for eight innings to push over the lone tally in the ninth which saved them from a shut-out.

The work of both teams in the field was a feature of the contest, considering the slick condition of the ball and the soggy condition of the playing field. The only error of the game was charged to Pitcher Callep in the third inning, and which, incidentally, let in a pair of runs for the Generals during the third inning rally.

Mr. Wallace started the trouble for himself in the second stanza by walking Hickman. Warthen hoisted to center, but White came through with a three-sacker to left and Hickman registered. Wallace fanned Jones, and it appeared that he would weather the storm with a single marker against him, until Foliard planted a safety in right to push White over. Slanker then met a fast one on the nose for a terrific circuit ride into deep left field, scoring Foliard ahead of him. Spotts cracked a single to center, and Wallace watched the rest of the game from left field while Callep took up the hill duty. He succeeded in retiring the side without further calamity.

The Generals came back strong next inning. With one down, Lowdon received life when Callep him with a pitched ball, and the latter made the situation more complex when he walked Warthen. White hit to Callep, who was having a very rough few minutes, and everybody was safe when the Indian pitcher could not make up his mind where to throw the ball. With the sacks fully popular, Jones singled to left, Callep booted another grounder, and Slanker hit safely to shove over the (Continued on Page 4)

Track Team Loses To Cavaliers 70 To 55 In Hard Fought Meet

The track team ended its season in a closely contested meet Monday with the University of Virginia, which the Cavaliers won 70 1/2 to 55 1/2. The Generals made an excellent showing against the conquerors of Princeton and Navy, who are listed among the best track teams in the East. The locals took a 38 to 34 decision in the running events, but could not match Virginia in the weight and jumping events.

Cummings, star dash man for Virginia, covered the century in ten seconds flat to nose out Sandifer for first place. Coach Fletcher's men took five first places and a tie for first in the pole vault, to eight for the victors.

Three men tied for individual high scores of the meet. Backus of the locals took first in the 440 and 880 while White and M. Lebauer of the Cavaliers also scored ten points each, the former winning the high and low hurdles and the latter winning the discus and shot put.

Nance, former two miler for the locals, was shifted to the mile by Coach Fletcher and won it in 4:38 4-5 a new school record. Brock who has heretofore been running the mile for the Generals, was entered in the two mile, and took second.

MOTHER'S DAY

THERE has of late been a movement to change the designation of "Mother's Day" as applied to May 13 to "Parents' Day."

Those in favor of this change believe that fathers are being neglected. The fact is that there is a special "Father's Day" too—but somehow or other that day has not become as widely known as is "Mother's Day."

Mother's Day comes next Sunday. The time is approaching. Let us all prepare to do honor to our mothers—and blessed are those of us whose mothers are still among the living!

It seems to us that though "Parents' Day" may be a pretty good idea, mother certainly deserves a day all to herself!

The argument, in our opinion, should not hinge on changing the designation of the day, but should hinge on the necessity for a closer observance of Father's Day.

There is something about the very words "Mother's Day"—that creates a noble, inspiring emotion within us and engulfs us with reverence and love.

On this day we express our respect and adoration of our mothers by bringing them thoughtful gifts and going out of our way to be especially pleasing to them. Every day in the year we should do things to make our mothers happy—this day we pick as one on which we are to be more considerate even than on any other.

It seems to us as though Mother's Day should remain.

If it officially becomes Parents' Day, it will still be Mother's Day to us in our heart of hearts—and father will feel the same way about it!

AFTER SCHOOL, WHAT?

FORTY THOUSAND college graduates, it is estimated, will be seeking permanent work within the next few weeks. In addition, there will be countless thousands from high school with the world of work ahead of them.

With what equipment will these young men face the demands of a highly specialized industrial world? How will they be fitted to meet the requirements of this mighty machine age? What place will there be for them in the exacting mass production system of American industry?

Possibly at no time in the history of the United States have these questions been as important. Possibly at no time has the path ahead been as rough, the opportunities as scant for the young men without specialized training. The industrial development of the past few years has placed a new emphasis upon technical knowledge and at the same time has reduced the practical value of the ordinary education. So rapid has been this change that the educational readjustment has not kept pace with the industrial demand. As a result there is an actual shortage of men with the necessary underlying training, right at a time when there is a surplus of intelligent young men and women with good general educations.

The situation emphasizes the need of trade training in the grade and high schools, and the establishment of more technical schools and colleges.—Martinsburg JOURNAL.

WHY BOYS LEAVE HOME

A SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT explanation of why American universities are top-heavy with unwieldy enrollments comes from a Wesleyan university, one of those strongholds of Brother Wesley. The Cardinal, student publication at this particular Wesleyan, tells us why college students leave home. Editorially The Cardinal says, "Despite all the vain rationalizing on the subject, most young men come to college, not primarily to prepare themselves for spheres of higher usefulness, but to escape from home. In the Middle Ages, when universities were less common than they now are, the young men used to escape from home by going on Crusades. A little later they escaped by going on colonization expeditions. In the nineteenth century, when colleges were still more or less remote from the boy of less than moderate means, the great, wild West afforded an alluring relief from the dullness of domesticity.

"But now the universities have unwittingly taken over the great part of liberating the nation's youth from maternal apron strings. College affords many a youth his first real freedom from parental vigilance. As a result, one of a normal fellow's first impulses, as soon as he has become fairly established at his Alma Mater, is systematically to commit all these things he had been unable to do at home."

President's Paragraph

No. 44—1927-8

The Real Solution of an Apparent Conflict.

Instead of worrying over the irreconcilable conflict between your College Studies and your Student Activities, be wise enough to make them two important halves of one priceless whole.

Diligence and energy in acquiring Knowledge and intellectual Ability and diligence and energy in acquiring a Winning Personality and the Habit of Social leadership need not exclude one another.

If you are man enough to rule out wasteful and useless "activities", you have ample time and opportunity to carry both lines of activity zealously and successfully.

College Men Will Wear More Tweeds

College men will wear more tweeds in sports suits next fall than they have for some time, according to the Daily News Record, only newspaper devoted exclusively to men's styles and the apparel industry.

Among the fabrics which will be popular with many university students is Harris tweed, the rough, stout material woven on the Island of Harris. The peasants of this island make the cloth in their cottages where peat fires burn on the floor, and the smoke from these fires impregnates the tweed, giving it the characteristic odor.

Colors in which the Harris tweeds are liked by students are various shades of green, tan, sand and heather. The suits made from this material are in three or four-piece styles, with three-button, notch lapel jackets. The jackets have plain backs and are cut to fit loosely.

Harris and similar fabrics are also used for topcoats or overcoats, an a waterproofing process sometimes is applied to these garments. The cut of such outer garments is loose and English, with plenty of room in the back and sleeves, while the newly-popular raglan shoulder is frequently used.

Tweed suits, however, will be used by the best-dressed university students only for knock-about and informal campus wear, as American undergraduates are becoming more and more interested in maintaining a distinction between sports and other sorts of dress.

In this the American students are following much the same line of thought as do the students at Oxford and Cambridge Universities in England, where rough Harris tweeds are used a great deal for campus wear, but more formal garments are donned for town use. Undergraduates at American universities, however, probably do not go in as strongly as the English students for informal clothing.

The derby or bowler hat merits attention late in the season, according to style observers who have seen it worn by students at colleges and universities where such hats have never been used before. Rapidly becoming a standard article of headgear for students the county over, the derby should always have a neat narrow brim with a pronounced curl. The best dressed university students do not wear wide, flat-brimmed derbies.

Graham-Lee To Present Talks

Four short talks on "Impressions of W. & L." will be the feature of the progress of the Graham-Lee literary society at its meeting Saturday night, May 12. There will also be a debate on the subject; Resolved, "that there should be uniform marriage and divorce laws in the United States."

At the last meeting of the Society, a number of interesting speeches were rendered on "Current Events of the Past, Future, and Present", followed by an open discussion among the audience.

The society welcomes both student and faculty visitors to these open meetings which are held every week in Washington College.

The complete program for Saturday night is as follows:

- Current Events — W. P. Bullard.
- Orations on Impressions of W. & L.
- 1. Before I Came to W. L.—J. S. Nanny.
- 2. When I Arrived—C. I. Lewis.
- 3. After A Year—H. E. Bealer.
- 4. To One Who Will Not Return—M. A. Simons.

Debate: Resolved, That, "There Should Uniform Marriage and Divorce Laws in the United States." Affirmative: H. B. Busold and R. O. Morrow.

Negative: B. F. Evans and R. A. Merritt.

The Gray Phantom

The words of the wise man said—"Be not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

The senior lawyer arose last Saturday morning, and gazed upon the forehead of the morning sky. Ah-h-h-h! The weather was warm, the skies clear—just the day to put on the linen suit.

Bravely he ventured to appear at the fraternity house, and blusteringly announced his contemplated visit of the afternoon to Roanoke. Cries of "not in that suit" challenged his bold affront.

But he went—and in that beautiful linen suit. If he was good enough to get by the state bar, he certainly dared to startle Roanoke with a linen suit—although 'tis said they no longer call it doesn't "bar" anyone.

Yes—it rained—after the embryonic judge had warmed the hearts of the Roanoke maidens with his sheer audacity, by being the only one to brave a linen appearance. And our hero said it "wasn't so cozy in the rain after all"—not in a linen suit.

For from the immaculate appearance of the morning a great change had been wrought. The suit was wet, a la dish rag effect, the beloved new straw was bed-ragged and the snappy hat-band didn't look quite so snappy, and the sport shoes—wet and soggy.

They don't seem to acquire much extra common sense over in the law school—that is, if the words of the wise man are correct—for they're always trying new things.

Local Educators Honored in Virginia Academy Meeting

Dr. W. M. Brown was elected president of the Virginia Academy of Science during the sixth annual meeting of this body at the College of William and Mary on Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5. Dr. Brown, who is the head of the department of Education and Psychology at Washington and Lee, was a speaker at the sectional meeting of this department of the academy.

Washington and Lee was further honored by the election of Dr. R. H. Tucker from the Commerce school to the presidency of the Virginia section of the National Social Service Association. The state social service Association held its assembly in conjunction with that of the Virginia Academy of Science.

200 college faculty members attended the assembly, some of whose meetings were held in the new Phi Beta Kappa building erected one year ago in commemoration of the founding of that fraternity at William and Mary.

Many Washington and Lee men were speakers at the sectional meetings of the various science groups:

Dr. W. D. Hoyt for the Biology section, Professor M. H. Stow for the Geology section, Dr. L. J. Desha for the Virginia section of the American Chemical Society, and Dr. W. M. Brown for the Psychology and American section.

G. W. Dunnington, a student at Washington and Lee spoke before the section of Astronomy on the "Contributions of Cause to Astronomy."

Dr. H. D. Campbell and Professor Stow aided in the formation of a Geology section for the academy.

Besides the regular assembly and sectional reception, a tea for the visiting ladies was given and the Confederate Memorial Day exercises at Williamsburg.

Two special entertainments offered were a trip to Jamestown Island, situated six miles from the college, and a camping trip to Dismal Swamp. Most of the assemblage went to the Jamestown trip, and a few went to see historic Yorktown which is also nearby.

Among the Washington and Lee faculty members present, besides those already mentioned were: H. G. Funkhouser, Mr. Solvage, R. P. Carroll, R. G. McDorman and W. F. Bailey.

S. I. P. A. CONVENTION PRAISED BY DR. SMITH

President Henry Louis Smith views with great favor the S.I.P.A. conference to be held here on Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12.

"I regard the school of Journalism at Washington and Lee as one of the most important schools founded by General Lee himself" he said in a statement made yesterday.

"For the development of an all-American school of Journalism, Washington and Lee is peculiarly well fitted. The former gatherings of these young editors have been highly successful and of great benefit to the participants. The approaching meeting, I have no doubt, will show a still further growth and a widening area of influence."

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt selects OLD GOLD

MRS. REGINALD C. VANDERBILT

"I wonder if one can really tell the difference, when blindfolded, was my first thought when invited to make this test.

"After smoking the four brands, as they were handed to me one after another, I discovered there was one that was noticeably smoother than the others and richer in taste.

"This proved to be an Old Gold. I hope I shall be able to buy them in Paris . . . they are surprisingly free from any trace of throat irritation and have a delightful aroma which to me is very important."

Flora W. Vanderbilt

How Test Was Made

Mrs. Vanderbilt was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke . . . To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette . . . Mrs. Vanderbilt was unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test . . . After smoking the four cigarettes, Mrs. Vanderbilt was asked to designate by number her choice . . . She immediately replied: "Number 3" . . . which was OLD GOLD.

GENERALS HIT HARD TO TRIM INDIANS 8 TO 1

final four scores for Washington and Lee. Callep held the Generals well in check over the rest of the route.

William and Mary gleaned their lone run off Folliard's delivery in the ninth. Scammon opened with a hit to right, advanced to second on Ayers' tap to the box, and completed the circuit on O'Ferral's single to center. The only other scoring opportunity that came the Indians' Way, during the course of the afternoon, was when Folliard temporarily lost control of the sphere in the fourth and walked three men in a row. The General captain then put the damper on any hopes the visitors may have had when he forced Bloxom to pop to Eglebach for the final out.

Captain Eason played heads-up baseball in center field for William and Mary. From his distant post in center field he engineered a pair of double plays as two Generals tried to advance extra bases on flys to his vicinity. He got credit for five put-outs and two assists during the afternoon.

Immediately after the match the team left for State College, Pa., where they met Penn State College Thursday afternoon. The Generals were again nosed out here by a 4-3 score. and Miss Janet Gaynor, and Jack Ecker with Miss Miss Frances Williams.
Tuesday, June 5, the Commencement exercises will be held in Lee Chapel with Dr. John H. Latane delivering the address. At 10:00 p. m., Robert F. Howe, president of Finals, with Miss Hazel Wells, of Helena, Arkansas, will lead the Final Ball figure, assisted by Tip Gwaltney and Miss Floyd Humphries of Memphis. The dance will continue until the midnight intermission when a supper will be served on the new Memorial bridge, if arrangements can be made. The dance will then continue until the second intermission and then on until "College Friendships" is sung at 6 a. m. on Wednesday.

The theme of Final Ball will be a garden party. Under the direction of C. E. L. Gill the decorations are being rushed steadily.

As yet, there is $300 which will have to be raised before Finals can become a reality. R. F. Howe stated that "those who have not subscribed must realize that they are holding up the whole thing, and that the plans cannot go on to completion without their help". All items of expense connected with the dances are being held as close in range as possible, due to shortage of funds. A last plea is being sent out by the Finals Committee for whole-hearted co-operation on the part of all students.

GLEE CLUB RETURNS FROM RICHMOND MEET

"The contest was a huge success musically," stated Dr. Shelley, "and it is hoped that it will become an annual affair." Dr. Shelley further stated that he considered the showing of the local singers excellent, considering that they lacked experience.

Five judges passed opinion on the music. The singing was divided into two groups. Each club sang a song chosen by the judges, and then one of its own choice. In the second group, one special song was rendered after which each club sang its Alma Mater as an encore.

The Girl's Glee Club from the Fredericksburg State Normal College also took part in the program. They were not entered in the contest but served as an added attraction.
