FRANK COLVILLE ELECTED CAPTAIN

Noisy Third Sacker Elected to Succeed Lile—Generals Seem Strong

Frank Colville has been elected to captain the 1915 Washington and Lee baseball team. By the failure of Captain elect Charlie Lile to return, the election of a successor was necessary. A mail vote was taken among the Varsity men of 1914 and resulted in the election of the peppy third sacker.

The new leader of the Generals has battled two years at third-base for Washington and Lee, appearing at that cushion in 1913 and 1912. "Noisy" failed to register among the .300 hitters in 1913, but in 1914, Colville arrapped the ball at a .309 clip. He pilfered thirteen bases, annexing over one in every two games. As a fielder Colville has proved to be a consistent, steady performer. He has an uncanny knack of knocking down difficult drives and possesses a mighty throwing arm.

The new captain is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity and is in his Junior year. Unless indications point to the contrary he will have the honor of leading one of the strongest teams that Washington and Lee has produced in recent years, despite the loss of the star battery—Lile and Donahue. All three outfielders of 1914—Young, Smith and Harrison will offer again this season, while First Baseman Rives and Pitcher Hughie Jennings will return.

There will be new performers at second base, shortstop and catcher,

DR. DENNY WILL BE AT W. & L. IN APRIL

Former President Will Address University Assembly in April

Dr. George Hutcheson Denny will return to Washington and Lee in April to speak at the University assembly to the student body and especially to the class of '15. President Henry Louis Smith extended the former president a kind invitation to return to Lexington that he might have the honor of addressing the members of the graduating class—the last class that entered during his administration.

While the exact date has not been announced, it is anticipated that he will arrive in Lexington early in April. Dr. Smith felt that Dr. Denny would deem it quite an honor to address the class of 1915 and that they would appreciate the address. The subject of the address will be announced later.

Dr. Denny has been quite successful at the University of Alabama, having raised the number of students over 600, whereas before his administration the University had scarcely 400. He has also adopted several popular features at Alabama.

WASHINGTON AND LEE TRACK TEAM WILL ENTER ALL INDOOR MEETS

Coach Fletcher Will Contest For Indoor Title of South Atlantic I. A. A.— Generals Enter George Washington, Johns Hopkins and Georgetown Meets

Coach Forest Fletcher is gradually training his track aspirants to their top form for the series of the indoor track meets, the first of which will be held on Feb. 13th. Washington and Lee will enter the George Washington University games at Washington on Feb. 13th, the Johns Hopkins meet on Feb. 20th and the Georgetown University tourney in Washington on Feb. 27th.

A progressive tournament has been devised for the South Atlantic Universities by the S. A. I. A. A. In each of the three meets there will be a series of events especially for the South Atlantic teams. The aggregate of all the events in the three tournaments will comprise a complete program of events and the championship of the South Atlantic division will be determined. Washington and Lee will enter every event on the schedule. In fact, every member of the S. A. I. A. A. will have representation at the three indoor track events. However, for each of the collegiate events, three will be regular championship medals and individual medals for each of the members of the winning relay team.

Several Events at Each

At the George Washington games, there will be three collegiate events—the 400 yard dash, the two mile run and the pole vault. Besides the three regular events, there will be a two mile relay—a special event. At Johns Hopkins, the dashes and the hurdles will be contested. The various colleges will compete for supremacy in the 100 yard and 220 yard dash, while the 100 low hurdles will be contested. The mile championship relay is expected to be a hotly fought race. At the Georgetown University meet, the windup will come. There, the fifty yard dash, the fifty yard high hurdles, the 880 yard run, the shot put and the high jump will be on the program, while there will be a one mile relay race.

Coach Fletcher is grooming contestants for each of the events and expects to enter some of the handicap numbers that are open to all comers. For some time, the squad of track athletes has been in training. The following are the most likely members of the squad: Robert Schulz, C. A. Hastings, J. B. Gladney, E. A. Englebert, N. B. Adams, J. B. Johnson, Marion Saunders, N. Fox, G. de la Haba, W. B. Rogers, R. M. Curtis, G. Platt, R. Starnes and E. B. Hallmen.

The relay team is a matter of uncertainty. Bob Schulz and "Hastily" Hastings have cinched positions on the quartette, but a great deal of

GENERALS TO PLAY ON FOREIGN FIELD

Georgetown Will Be Met In Lynchburg Saturday—First Big Game

The Generals will make their first appearance on foreign battle field Saturday when the fast Georgetown University quintette is encountered in Lynchburg. Washington and Lee will meet the Washington five in a game that should be hotly contested.

Few definite arrangements have been perfected for the engagement. Neither the referee nor umpire has been agreed upon. The two teams will clash in the auditorium and an admission of one dollar will be charged for all seats, none of them being reserved.

From comparative scores, Georgetown and Washington and Lee should fight a very even game. In 1914, Georgetown downed the Generals in a rough, hard fight on the Georgetown court in Washington. The Generals hope to offset this by a victory in Lynchburg. There will be no special train to the Georgetown game, and the basketball squad will leave Saturday morning for the scene of action.

LIGHT QUINTETTE REPRESENTS W. & L.

Average Weight is Slightly Over 150—Forwards Are Light

One of the lightest teams in history represents Washington and Lee in basketball. Although the personnel of Varsity has not been definitely determined, it seems as though the quintette will average only a few pounds over 150. Captain Miles, the mainstay of the five, is the heaviest player on the squad, weighing 182. Cy Young, at left guard, possesses 161 pounds. A great deal of uncertainty exists as to who will land the other position at guard.

Pierotti, Dingwall, Bailey and Wadsworth are regarded as the most likely candidates for the other guard. Pierotti's weight is 175, Dingwall's 182, Bailey's 139, and Wadsworth's 150. At forward, the deficiency in weight is quite apparent. Neither Kenneth Seeley nor Leonard Zaiss weigh as much as 140 pounds. Seeley tips the balance at 132, while Zaiss is four pounds the heavier.

Should Pierotti be placed at guard, the Generals will average 157; with Dingwall, 158; with Bailey, 149; with Wadsworth, 152. The talent

GENERALS SUFFER A SECOND DEFEAT

West Virginia Wesleyan Scores Victory By a Late Rally —34-31

The infliction of fifteen fouls on Washington and Lee enabled the West Virginia Wesleyan five to administer a 34 to 31 defeat to the Generals yesterday afternoon. In a pitched battle, the Generals made a splendid rally in the second half, after Wesleyan had assumed the fore and overhauled their adversaries, but just before the close, the West Virginians gained sway and captured the struggle.

The Generals evidenced improved form over that shown in the opening struggle, but Wesleyan passed more deftly and with greater foresight. However their splendid teamwork did not produce a victory, but it was the belated fouls committed by the Washington and Lee players at critical moments. Holding was the chief offense, although a few fouls were called for running with the ball, "two men" and pushing.

In registering goals from the field, Washington and Lee outlusted the West Virginia five. The Generals caged the ball from the court on fourteen occasions, while Wesleyan obtained but ten in this manner. Kenneth Seeley, the General right forward, was the leading scorer, registering five of the fourteen baskets from field. Cy Young and Tommy Glasgow annexed three each, while Leonard Zaiss scored two and Miles one. Pierotti played a strong defensive game, although he led

CONCERT OF GLEE CLUB NEXT WEEK

Premiere Wednesday With Or- chestra and Mandolin Club

An event on the University calendar that is eagerly anticipated is the first appearance of the Washington and Lee Glee club. Announcement is made that the harmonists will give their premiere next Wednesday at the Lyric theater. The Glee club will offer a diversified program, ranging from the classics to the popular selections.

One of the main features of the performance will be the Scrap Iron quartette, with but two of the original four in the organization. With Bill Rafter, as first tenor, Mercer Graham, as second tenor, Pat Alderson as first-bass and the inimitable Eddie Parks Davis as second bass, the quartette should boom up strongly as a humorous feature.

The solo selections of the concert will come from A. M. Birdsall and Frank B. Scarry. Both possess rich bass voices and will render several numbers during the evening.

Making their formal debut with the vocalists will be the Mandolin and Guitar club and the orchestra.

HENRY ALLAN PRICE IS PLEASING TO HEARERS

Makes a Big Impression With Audience at Library—Strong on Child Selections

Henry Allan Price went straight to the hearts of his audience in the Carnegie library last Thursday night, and held its interest and attention for two delightful hours of interpretative reading and song. The concert was the second of the New York Artists' series arranged by Miss Annie White.

Mr. Price proved to be remarkably gifted as an entertainer. His high culture, melodious baritone voice, splendid physique, and ability to enter into and portray character made him a prince of impersonators. Mrs. Price's piano accompaniment to the musical parts of the program was all that could be desired, so that the entertainers were able to catch all the rollicking spirit of the old English and Irish songs, as well as the melody of such selections as "Sweet Miss Mary" or "Alcala." More charming than any other part of the concert, however, was Mr. Price's interpretation and appreciation of the child mind, which he presented in all its wondering beauty and whimsicality. It is said to be no easy matter for an entertainer to hold the full sympathy of an audience or two solid hours, but Mr. Price did even more, making the time fly by far too fast to the minds of his hearers.

After the concert, Mr. and Mrs. Price were entertained with the members of the faculty and their wives by Miss Annie White at her residence. Refreshments were served, and Mr. Price presented several humorous pieces to the guests. Seldom has there been enjoyed this year so pleasant an evening in University circles.

RECORD NUMBER MAY BE HERE FOR FANCY DRESS

Committees Have Started Work on Two Dances—Junior Lawyers to Participate

Arrangements are slowly being perfected to make an elaborate event of the 1915 Fancy Dress ball. From the number of acceptances of invitations received from the fair sex it seems as though there will be a record number of girls present for the Fancy Dress ball and the Junior prom.

Miss Annie White has requested that the students who expect to attend the Fancy Dress ball to order their costumes immediately and a few have responded. The various committees are beginning to start operations. As usual the costumes will be ordered from Van Horn.

The Finance committee of the Junior class has begun a campaign to collect the five dollar assessment from each of the members of the Junior class. The members of the Junior Law class have been invited to participate in the promenade and quite a few have signified their intentions of entering into it.

Quite a number of committee meetings are expected to be called soon. Announcement is expected soon that there will be a The Dansant on the afternoon of one of the dances.

The College Men's Pressing shop has moved to the Washington and Jefferson streets corner, opposite Willie Higgins' Pool room. We are now prepared to do better work than ever before. Let us do your work.

Great in Defeat

With two successive defeats, the Washington and Lee basketball team has inaugurated the 1915 season in an inauspicious manner. But despite this fact and the outlook for other possible reversals, we hardly feel that it is necessary to request the same, unflinching support for a losing as for a winning team. True it is that victory is sweet, but when a team of players, representing the Blue and White does its utmost to achieve victory but fails valiantly it deserves the commendation of the student body just the same as does one that overcomes a weaker combination.

With the proper support of the student body and the essential spirit of confidence behind it, there is little doubt but that the Generals will make a creditable showing and a spirited fight before the close. When the spirits of a team are at a low ebb a pat on the back or a thoughtful word rivets itself within the heart of the athlete.

Should Cast Watchful Eye

The class football season was a failure for no other reason than that a schedule was not drafted until the opportune moment had winged its flight. There should be no recurrence of this condition for the class basketball schedule. Therefore it behooves us to suggest that the proper authorities take up this matter soon and dispense with it.

With a definite date in view for each engagement the four classes can assemble their talent and have sufficient time for adequate conditioning and training.

Class activities should meet with every encouragement and merit proper attention.

Lawyers Can Lulu Fado, Too

Inasmuch as the arduous duties entailed in the study of law divorce the embryonic lawyers from frivolities and other activities, more so than the academic students, they have held aloof from the class social functions of college. But this, in a large measure, has been due not to a total disinclination on their part but the lack of consideration accorded them by the academic classes. There is no gainsaying the fact that a number in each class would enter into the events under favorable conditions. As time would be lacking to engineer a Cotillion and the college program is filled by the dances of other organizations, their desires would hardly create a new event.

It would seem that the time had arrived for the law classes to get some consideration in the matter. Monday the junior lawyers, as a class and for sufficient reasons, declined to participate in the Junior promenade, but quite a number among them generously agreed to aid the Juniors in the Promenade financially by contributing a stipulated sum for the participation.

The most significant reason the lawyers have refused to cooperate in the dances in the past has been that, after the honors and committee chairmen have been distributed among the members of the academic classes, the lawyers have been appealed to as an emergency source of revenue. Through an association of the law classes with the academic, the Juniors and Seniors would be in a position to give a more elaborate and better attended event at a lower individual expense. It would be an expedient movement, indeed, for the Seniors to interest the students of law before the arrangements are perfected for the approaching Senior Ball.

GENERALS SUFFER

A SECOND DEFEAT

pendant for fouling, but failed to score a goal.

Neale Was Mainstay

Neale, the loquacious right guard of Wesleyan, was the mainstay of the West Virginians. He registered four field goals and tossed eleven goals in fifteen trials at the basket. His unerring aim at the basket proved the downfall of the Generals, for he seldom missed. Singleton and Heavener scored three baskets from the floor. Miles had few chances for free tosses, but scored on each of his three trials.

The even fight waged with Wesleyan saw the entry of Tommy Glasgow at guard. The former captain of the Generals returned to the game in the second half, relieving Pierotti, and showed that he still possessed a crafty knowledge of the tactics of the game. He tossed three field baskets in a very brief period of time and was equally as effective on the defensive.

The style of play of the two quintettes was typical of former games. The players engaged in rough tactics continuously, handling their opponents in a conspicuously brusque manner. Few technical fouls were called, as fourteen of the eighteen fouls called were personal ones.

Wesleyan Scores First

West Virginia Wesleyan scored first. After a short scuffle, Zaiss fouled. Neale tossed the ball into the basket for the first score. Following the first point, the alert guard evaded the Generals' defense and scored a field basket. When Seeley fouled, Neale landed another foul goal and a fourth point. Young made an accurate pass to Seeley and the plucky little forward tossed the sphere into the basket. On another quick maneuver, he registered a second, tying the score. "Count" Pierotti shot the ball directly to Zaiss and enabled Washington and Lee to assume the lead as Zaiss landed a field goal.

A counter maneuver by the Wesleyan five saw the lead vanish from Washington and Lee to West Virginia. Miles fouled and Neale dropped the ball into the net. On a deft toss from Singleton Neale scored, after evading his guard. Heavener increased the score by landing another basket. Miles was adjudged fouling but Neale missed for the first time. Seeley was detected pushing and Neale scored. The little forward offset this gain by scoring a field goal. Count Pierotti was playing a strong game at guard, when in his over-anxiety to obtain the ball he fouled, as did Shoemaker. Both Miles and Neale scored on the free toss. Heavener was adjudged fouling and Miles registered a point, tying the count again 11 to 11. A long session of alternative shooting for the basket followed without event, until Miles was detected holding, and gave Neale an opportunity to add another point. Young ran with the ball and Neale landed another goal.

By a clever series of passes from Zaiss to Seeley to Young, the latter scored and tied the count again 13 to 13. One of the most sensational shots of the first half followed, when Zaiss scored from midfield. Young held and Neale scored. Young dribbled the length of the floor and finished his spurt by registering a goal. Miles fouled and Neale scored, just as the first half closed with the Generals leading 17 to 15.

Second Half Eventful

The second half was a nip and tuck encounter until the closing minutes, following Seeley's injury. When Singleton landed an opening basket, the count was deadlocked again. For an illegal jump, a foul was called on Pierotti. Neale scored.

Two more successive personal fouls were called on the strenuous guard, Neale missing the last after landing the first. At this juncture, an argument began between Neale and Referee Leech. After a few conferences, Neale promised to keep quiet and the referee allowed him to remain in the game. Shoemaker and Singleton scored goals from field, before Seeley annexed a field basket—the first to be registered in the second half by W. and L.

Glasgow relieved Pierotti. Singleton scored another basket, but Neale failed to count, following a foul on Miles for holding. Heavener scored, following a series of clever passes. Zaiss was injured, time being called. Young made a sensational spurt up the field and scored, while Seeley repeated after an accurate pass from Miles. Miles fouled but Neale missed. Glasgow scored a goal from field, his first point of the season. Neale located the basket following Glasgow's foul. Captain Miles annexed a goal, making the count stand 27 to 29. Neale scored, following Glasgow's foul. However the sturdy guard scored two successive baskets that sent Washington and Lee into the lead. However following this, Seeley was injured.

The Generals were awed by the blow and in the meanwhile Wesleyan spurted and won the game. Neale and Heavener scored two successive field goals and endowed West Virginia with a 34 to 31 victory.

The lineup:

Zaiss	L. F.	Shoemaker

CONCERT OF GLEE

CLUB NEXT WEEK

Under the leadership of Charles Switzer, who has made a striking success as director of the University band, the orchestra will furnish music for some of the chorus and solo numbers. The guitar and mandolin club, under the direction of Stuart Moore, will have had sufficient practice to make a creditable showing, without doubt. Miss Eutha Young, the pianist and musical director, will direct the musical numbers of the chorus.

While the exact personnel of the Glee club has not as yet been determined, the club will be composed of twelve to fourteen among the following. First tenors—W. C. Rafferty, R. K. Robertson, J. H. Sorrells, and R. S. Walker. Second tenors—C. A. Camp, Mercer Graham, Allen Beall, L. W. Brandon. First bass—L. C. Wales, Frank B. Scarry, Pat Anderson, G. Rivercomb, W. L. Carson. Second bass—J. D. McCready, C. Rivercomb, W. S. Hopkins, B. S. Hill, A. M. Birdsall.

The Glee club has been practicing constantly during the past two weeks and will have quite a number of selections to render. The leaders are at work on the composition of the program and will decide definitely soon.

Following the premiere in Lexington, the Glee club will take a series of trips to the neighboring institutions. Performances at Mary Baldwin Seminary, the State Normal school at Farmville and Randolph Macon Woman's college at Lynchburg, are planned. The exact dates have not been arranged but no trouble is anticipated in completing them.

Manager Eddie Parks Davis has announced that Wednesday, Jan. 27th, is the date tentatively agreed upon for the initial concert, but that it might be changed. Reserved seats for the concert will be placed on sale at McCrum's early next week.

GENERALS TO PLAY

ON FOREIGN FIELD

Coach Fletcher hopes to present his strongest array for Georgetown. The same combination that faced West Virginia Wesleyan will probably start the game. Georgetown has a seasoned quintette that should cope well with the Miles-Seeley-Zaiss-Young-Pierotti combination.

It is expected that quite a number of students will journey to Lynchburg to witness the conflict.

Social and Personal

E. S. Marshall visited Roanoke and Buchanan during the week end.

Miss Lucy Patton is visiting Miss Elizabeth Preston in Richmond.

G. H. Caperton, Jr., '06, was a visitor in Lexington Monday.

O. B. Barker, Lynchburg, Va., attended the Sigma Chi initiation Saturday.

Dan Owen, ex-'12, was a visitor at the University during the latter part of the week.

Miss Nell Carrington has gone to Savannah, Ga., where she will be the guest of Miss Ernestine Cutts.

Miss Virginia Tompkins has returned to Blacksburg, after a visit with the Misses Patton.

W. E. Henson and Carl C. Wurzbach were week end visitors to Roanoke.

Robert Serpell has recovered sufficiently from appendicitis to return to college.

LITTLE GENERALS SUFFER
OPENING DEFEAT BY A. M. A.

In a slow game, marked neither by much roughness nor great brilliancy, the Little Generals tasted their first defeat when they opened their 1914 season at the hands of the Augusta Military Academy five yesterday. The Fort Defiance lads outplayed their opponents completely in the first half, gaining the lead and maintaining their advantage throughout the remainder of the contest. While neither side demonstrated any particular versatility, the visitors were more careful in their passing and worked together more as a unit.

Bailey opened the battle with a field goal for the Junior Varsity, which was soon balanced by another on the part of Rawlings for the visitors. The A. M. A. aggregation soon gained the lead, however, and the half closed with the score 10 to 3 in their favor.

W. and L. again drew first blood in the second period when Heavener opened the fray with a goal from the field. He repeated this performance which was followed by another from Burton in short succession. Their opponents soon retaliated and the battle continued to the end without marked advantage on either side. No sensations were pulled off in this period, save when Leech, a local product, rang up an almost impossible basket from midfield.

Burton and Bailey, cavorted most consistently for the Little Generals, while the work of Fox of A. M. A. far outshone that of any one man on the floor.

The lineup was as follows:
A. M. A. W. and L.
Leech R. F. Heavener
Rawlings L. F. Bailey
Fox, capt. C. Burton
Balthis R. G. Dingwall
Burdette L. G. Collins
Substitutions—Wadsworth for Collins.

Field Goals—Burton, 1; Bailey, 1; Heavener, 2; Fox, 5; Rawlings, 2; Leech, 1.

Foul Goals—Fox, 3; Burton, 2; Bailey, 1. Personal Fouls—Burton, 2; Dingwall, 2; Rawlings, 1; Leech, 2; Burdette, 2; Balthis, 1.

Score—A. M. A., 19; W. and L., 11.

Referee, Leech; umpire, Gorton.

BOTH SCHEDULES
EXPECTED SOONBaseball and Football Drafts Are Nearly Completed

The completed and approved baseball and football schedules for 1915 are expected to be announced soon. Assistant manager L. T. White of baseball, has virtually completed the baseball draft but is yet to arrange for one or two dates. It is expected that the approved draft will differ a good deal with that announced in October. There have been a number of changes on the northern trip, while the local games have been switched about appreciably.

Manager McDougle is experiencing slight handicaps in arranging the opening games. The last five games have been definitely approved, but the opening engagements are still unsettled. Unless some agreement is reached soon, there is a possibility of Georgetown being replaced on the schedule by another strong team in the South Atlantic division that was not on the General's draft in 1914. However the date with Georgetown has not been abandoned.

At the same meeting of the athletic council which will approve the two schedules, the selection of a baseball coach will be included in the business.

VARIOUS STATE CLUBS
ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

During the latter part of the week many state clubs were formed and officers elected. Their organizations show that Washington and Lee is especially noted for the wide diversity of students who gather here from all over the country, and that it occupies a national instead of a sectional place among the educational institutions of the country.

The clubs that have been formed so far are as follows:

Florida Club: J. A. Timberlake, president; A. G. McKinnon, vice-president; C. E. Worth, secretary-treasurer; L. S. Anderson, historian.

Mississippi: J. C. Rivers, president; J. W. Milner, vice president; H. C. Holden, secretary treasurer; A. G. Paxton, historian.

Tennessee: E. B. Magers, president; Homer Powell, vice president; W. M. Brandon, secretary-treasurer.

West Virginia: C. C. Chambers president; L. L. Shirey, vice-president; A. W. Mann, secretary-treasurer.

Maryland: S. H. Showell, president; A. Derr, vice president; G. R. Shaw, secretary-treasurer; M. B. Ridenour, historian.

Several of the other state clubs will meet this week and elect officers.

HONOR MISS CARRINGTON

In honor of Miss Nell Carrington, who left Monday on an extended trip South, several members of the S. A. E. fraternity were hosts at a delightful banquet given last Wednesday night at the Dutch Inn. The banquet room was tastefully decorated in S. A. E. colors and pennants, and the color scheme was carried out in the menu, which consisted of eight courses. Those present were: Miss Nell Carrington with W. R. Burton, Miss Virginia Moore with M. R. Miles, Miss Mary Champe with H. R. Hampton, Miss Eutha Young with H. L. Morgan, Jr., Miss Anne Bosworth with L. P. Collins, and Miss Evelyn Champe with E. B. Hampton.

LITERARY SOCIETIES WILL HAVE THEIR CELEBRATION

Graham-Lee Holds 106th Tonight—
Washington's Programme
Announced

The literary societies are busily preparing for their annual intermediate celebrations. The celebrations of the two societies are held in the chapel every year and are very successful.

The 106th annual celebration of the Graham Lee Literary society will be held tonight, Jan. 19th, Lee's birthday. The Washington and Lee orchestra will furnish the music. The officers for the occasion are as follows: President, W. M. Brown; vice president, J. C. Fisher; secretary, J. E. Bear; chief marshal, W. J. Cox.

The orators will be P. C. Thomas and H. M. Shumate. The debate for the occasion is, Resolved, "That All Corporations Carrying on Interstate Commerce Should be Required to Take Out a Federal Charter"

The affirmative will be upheld by N. M. Bell and A. N. Williams against M. M. Keaton and R. N. Latture on the negative.

The Washington Literary society will hold its 103d celebration on Feb. 22nd, Washington's birthday. The Washington and Lee orchestra will likewise furnish music at this occasion.

The officers are as follows: President, T. McP. Glasgow; vice president, E. S. Smith; secretary, E. E. Grossman; chief marshal, L. W. Harris.

The orators who will compete for the gold metal are C. C. Chambers and C. E. Worth. The debate, Resolved, "That the Constitution of the United States Should be so Amended as to Grant to Men and Women Equal Suffrage," will be upheld on the affirmative by J. C. Rivers and J. D. McCready against A. L. Bennett and D. A. Falk for the negative. A gold metal will also be given to the best debator.

WASHINGTON AND LEE TRACK TEAM WILL ENTER

uncertainty exists as to who will land the other two positions. Quite a number are offering for the third and fourth positions, and there will be bitter competition until the squad of ten or twelve men leaves for Washington on Feb. 12.

Johnson May Lower Record

J. B. Johnson has lowered considerably the Washington and Lee record for the two mile run and is expected to shine in this event at the opening meet. R. Starnes has been showing well in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, while R. M. Curtis has evidenced good form on the fifty and 400 yard dashes. Eric Hellman is the leading candidate to represent the Generals in the pole vault.

Unless a change in plans is effected, Starnes and Schulz will represent Washington and Lee in the quarter mile event at the George Washington games, while Fox and Johnson will enter the two mile run. Hallman will enter the pole vault, while the two mile relay team, the personnel of which is not yet established, will be the other contestants. Coach Fletcher expects to carry a squad of twelve men to the games.

From the present outlook, the University of Virginia and Georgetown have the strongest track squads of the South Atlantic colleges.

Georgetown, especially, is strong in track and is expected to present a hard combination to down.

WAR IS REFLECTED IN THE LITERARY DEBATES

Debaters Argue About Preparedness of
U. S. For War—Interesting
Speeches

The Graham Lee Literary society held its regular weekly meeting on Saturday night, with the president, M. M. Keaton, presiding.

An oration by H. J. Blackford, who had for his subject, "United States as a Motor in the Present War," was the first to speak. A declamation by M. W. Paxton, who recited Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," followed. The first extemporaneous speaker, J. B. Gladney, spoke on "The Ship Purchase Bill." R. P. Hawkins addressed the society on "The Significance of the Protest Which U.S. Sent to Great Britain."

The debate for the evening was: Resolved, "That the present military equipment of the United States is not adequate for the protection of the country." J. E. Bear and T. A. Myles upheld the affirmative against E. L. Junkin and A. E. Crutherford for the negative.

The judges, N. M. Bell, C. H. Miller and H. M. Shumate rendered their decision unanimously in favor of the negative.

The Washington is Active

The Washington Literary society held its second weekly meeting of the new year, with the president L. W. Harris, in the chair.

The program for the evening was opened by an oration by C. C. Chambers on the subject, "Conquerors of This Civilization." F. B. Potter, delivered a speech by Susan B. Anthony to some of her constituents. The second declaimer, J. R. Collins, delivered the reply of Hayne to Webster in regard to slavery.

The debate: Resolved, "That the interests of the United States demand the building and maintenance of an increased navy," was well discussed by both sides. The affirmative was upheld by E. F. Grossman and T. R. Hamilton against E. B. Magers and Samuel Wofsy for the negative. The judges, D. S. Noble, H. L. MacGregor and R. C. Cole decided unanimously in favor of the negative.

A. L. Bennett spoke extemporaneously on "The Advantages the South offers to Immigrants." B. O. Burtner spoke likewise on "Value of Literature."

In "Penney" Bailey, the Generals have an outfielder and first baseman who has received major league bids from several clubs. "Buck" Sweetland is reputed to be a wonder behind the bat, while G. R. Right Guard KENNETH SEELEY

Captain BUCK MILES

FOUR SURE OF JOBS

While a hard fight is being waged at right guard for that position, four are virtually cinched. Captain Robert Miles has always proved a star at center, although he has not shown his true form in the opening games. Cy Young has improved wonderfully and is starring at left guard. Kenneth Seeley has become a conspicuously nifty forward while Zaiss has shown well also. Miles is the only one of the four regulars who has played more than one year. He is battling through his fourth season at center. Young, Seeley and Zaiss are playing their second year for W. & L. In 1914 Young was a regular at guard, while Seeley and Zaiss were substitutes.
