Students love new revisions

By HUI WINN
Phi Staff Writer

All nine proposed constitutional revisions passed Monday's student body referendum, with 90 percent of voters approving the amendments. Executive Committee President Josh MacFarland said the referendum was a landslide once the Voting Regulations Board eliminated ballots cast by illiterate students.

"Most students couldn't even spell the word 'referendum', so we decided to eliminate their votes," MacFarland said. "Nine of the 10 qualified voters thought the amendments were a great idea, and I declared the referendum valid. That's not quite according to constitutional procedures, but most of the students couldn't read the constitution themselves to figure that out."

In The Ring-tum Phi office, Executive Editors Richard Peltz and Cathryn Lopocolo popped open a little of the bubbly to celebrate their victory.

"I can't believe those gullible voters approved our amendments," Peltz crowed.

"Now we can take over the university and overthrow the student government," Lopocolo said in a very business-like tone.

Under the revisions, Lopocolo and Peltz named themselves "permanent editors of the student newspaper, answerable to no human or deity."

"At last, I have all the power I've craved since arriving at Washington and Lee," Peltz said. "And I can even kill myself with work for another 50 years, and no one can stop me!"

IFC Dictator Leroy C. "Buddy" Atkins said he fears for the university now that Peltz is in control. "Everyone knows that he's completely brainwashed Miss Lopocolo, and she'll do anything he says," Atkins said. "Now there's no telling what he and his little puppet will do."

A few students expressed concern that the student newspaper would be free from the student government and administration.

"Imagine what would happen to the United States if President Clinton couldn't overrule the decisions of the Washington Post," senior Frank Fascist said. "All that truth running around, and no one to control it. I'm transferring immediately before I have to read things that I don't like."

W&L's Favorite Sexual Positions

W&L craves variety Survey: students save creativity for sex

By CREE A. TRIVE
Phi Staff Writer

A new survey of W&L students shows that the Generals have some interesting tactics in the bedroom.

The survey, conducted by the W&L Health Education Committee and Associate Dean of Students for Sexual Issues Anne Schroer, polled 600 undergraduate students about their sexual preferences, favorite positions and turn-ons.

About 85 percent of students surveyed said they preferred heterosexual encounters; 10 percent said they were usually homosexual; 3 percent said they switched preferences depending on their horoscopes and lunar cycles and 2 percent said they would have sex with anything alive.

"I think the percentages are quite healthy on our campus," Schroer said. "I was a little disturbed at how few students were open-minded enough to consider other species for sex partners, but W&L is notorious for its traditional, narrow-minded sex practices."

But Schroer said she was pleased with students' creativity in the bedroom.

"These kids are just sexual geniuses," Schroer said. "Why, I should be taking lessons from some of them. In fact, I think I may do just that. After all, I wouldn't want my little love-dove to get bored with me."

Over 98 percent of students said that they are sexually active and had experimented with different positions in bed and elsewhere.

Senior Minnie Lovers said she was glad to see that W&L students were so open to new ways of doing things and each other.

"I thought that my boyfriend and I were the only ones to ever do it on the '20,000 Leagues Under the Sea' ride at Disney World," she said, "but I found out that a few of my fellow students had done it too."

According to the survey, W&L students find it very stimulating to do the dirty deed while traveling in some kind of vehicle. Cited in the survey were many sexual experiences involving cars, roller coasters, golf carts and even "one of

'Foreign Student' to bare all

"The Foreign Student" is going to reveal more about Washington and Lee than anyone had anticipated.

Members of the administration said Wednesday that the movie, set to be filmed on the W&L campus in May, contains full-frontal nudity and multiple sex scenes, including an orgy in Lee Chapel.

"I couldn't tear myself away from the script," University Spokesgrinch Brian Shaw said. "The thought of all those luscious college women gyrating next to Robert E. Lee's statue excited me incredibly. Uhm, don't print that, okay?"

The university agreed to the shooting of "The Foreign Student" in February. The movie is very loosely based on the novel by Phillip Laymo, who attended W&L in the 1950s.

Shaw said the university had no idea that the movie would be pornographic, but the administration thinks any publicity will benefit the university.

"What better way to attract hormonal high school seniors?" Shaw said. "W&L has a long tradition of great sex, what with the abundance of ready-and-willing women from so many colleges. I think the movie will highlight the very best the university has to offer."

A representative from Caligula Films, which will produce the movie, said his company took just a few liberties with the movie script.

"Sure, the script's a little different than the book," said Caligula Films producer Ima Pervert. "But I talked to Phillip (Laymo), and he told me about all the things he left out of the novel. He said print just couldn't convey the steamy atmosphere at that time. I think our film can do it justice."

Pervert said the 80 W&L students who applied to be extras in "The Foreign Student" will figure prominently in the porn scenes.

"Some of those sorority girls just screamed sex," said Pervert. "I've invited a few over to my place for screen tests, and most of them are shaping up just fine. Of course, we still may have to do take after take before the men get it right."

Students chosen as extras for the film said they were a little surprised by how many of their parts would be shown on screen, but they are looking forward to the filming.

"Exposure is key to getting a break in the big league," Connie Co-opchick said. "Ira has been really patient teaching me all the right moves, and I can't wait to try them out for real. And neither can my boyfriends."

"Where else can you get paid $300 a day to moan, 'Yes, Yes, Robin. Don't stop, baby,'" extra Bob Hormonal said. "I had those lines memorized by the end of Rush my freshman year."

"The Foreign Student" is scheduled to be released in December.

EC reveals sex honor violations

By WHIATA JOKE
Phi Staff Writer

The Executive Committee came down the mountain Monday with its proposals for White Book revisions, developed at the Skylark retreat.

"We're all in complete agreement over these revisions," EC Grand Poobah Josh MacFarland said.

"Get away from that microphone," senior EC Rep. Susan Moseley said.

"You arrogant swine," junior EC Rep. Ashby Hackney said along with Moseley, before the pair was subdued by other EC members.

"The retreat was an enormous success," MacFarland said.

Among the revisions proposed by the EC after the closed meeting at Skylark are the addition of being an asshole and performing several sex acts and positions as honor violations.

But being an asshole while having sex will be allowed, MacFarland said.

MacFarland said the EC would also add cunnilingus and fellatio as exemptions to the Honor System.

"Doggie style is really where the problems start," MacFarland said. "We don't think that fits in with the tradition of honor here at Washington and Lee."

MacFarland said the EC based their new violations on recently released memos dating back to Gen. Robert E. Lee's tenure at the university.

ACLU President Andrew Schneider said he doesn't think the EC has any business in the bedroom.

"It's an outrage that the Executive Committee is discriminating among sexual positions," Schneider said. "Under these criteria, half the people in Lee Chapel for the orgy would be kicked out on HVs."

Junior EC Rep. Jimmy Kull said the solution to too many honor violations might be a multi-sanction honor system.

"We should let students guilty of HVs work off their penalties with community service hours," Kull said. "You know, a little doggy style, a few hours of Live Drive."

EC Secretary and President-elect Bob Tompkins said a man's degree of endowment should be taken into consideration under a multi-sanction honor system.

"Some men, you just have to say, 'wow,'" Tompkins said. "Sometimes they need different positions to be comfortable."

EC members said they are uncertain what next step in the White Book revisions process should be.

"We could send the revisions to referendum," MacFarland said, "but students are too ignorant for that. We'll probably just decree the revisions valid."

He said he knows such a decree would be unconstitutional, but "the EC can get away with it, because frankly, students don't care."

Schroer, Futch to wed in June

By U.N. LIKELY
Phi Staff Writer

The Lee Chapel wedding bells will soon toll for the campus' newest lovebirds, Associate Dean of Students for Women's Issues Anne Schroer-formerly-Lamont and Professor of History Jefferson Davis Futch.

Washington and Lee Director of Communications Ice-T officially announced the couple's engagement yesterday at a press conference in Arlington Women's Center.

"On behalf of the university and President Wilson, I would like to congratulate Anne and Jeff on their union," Ice-T said. "Boink away, pal! That's the only reason we're on earth!"

University President John D. Wilson Who said the engagement came as something of a surprise to the university administration and faculty.

"We had always thought of Jeff and Anne as being enemies," Wilson said. "But, from personal experience, I can attest that sometimes sparks fly when you least expect them. Like in the Phi Delt basement."

Schroer-formerly-Lamont said she and Futch had been adversaries until about two weeks ago, when they got stuck in the University Library elevator together.

"We talked for hours, waiting for Buildings and Grounds to get off their three-hour coffee break," Schroer-soon-to-be-Futch said. "I realized that Jeff really is such a sweetheart, and he does care about women and their special concerns. He told me about how much he admires the work I do on campus, and I admitted that I have really always wanted someone to dominate me in a relationship."

"That Annie is quite a gal," Futch said. "Underneath that tough facade is just a little girl waiting to be spanked."

Schroer-formerly-Lamont said that after she and Futch finally escaped the elevator, she immediately flew to Las Vegas for a quickie divorce from Professor of Administration Larry Lamont.

"Larry's been a wonderful husband, but he just isn't half the man Jeff is," Schroer said. "I can't wait to become Jeff's sex slave — uh, I mean, wife."

"Of course I was shocked by Anne's divorce," said the jilted Lamont. "But I was getting sick of being the woman of the house. And at least I won't have to use gender-neutral language."

Schroer said she and Futch have both decided to hyphenate their names after their marriage.

Futch said he will take charge of cooking and laundry, while Schroer has agreed to wear short skirts and address him as "Sir."

The couple will wed June 4 in Lee Chapel. The ceremony is open to the university community.

The wedding will have an antebellum South theme. The bride will wear a pink taffetta hoop skirt. The groom will be costumed in a Confederate uniform. In lieu of gifts, the soon-to-be-Schroer-Futches ask that donations be made to the National Organization for Women.

Boozeland provides excitement for all

SPY'S SPACE

By Beavis

Last weekend, Beavis had the honor of attending a killer party at Boozeland, Washington & Lee's "secret" retreat in Hilton Head, South Carolina. Everyone who's anyone in W&L's inner social circle was there: Howison, Atkins, and Ricardo (that guy that cleans up the vomit in the dorms). At this glorious reception, Beavis picked up many tidbits that he should share with his readers.

President John Wilson was the life of the party, showing up in a white tux with tails and a cummerbund that lit up and spelled out "BERMUDA" when you yanked on his tie. After downing several bourbon and water cocktails, Wilson ended up passing out under one of the tables with soon-to-be-married Anne Schroer, formerly Lamont. Oh, well. Kids will be kids.

Also making waves at the party was French Professor Kathy Koberstein, who lay atop the baby grand piano and sang a few bars of "Makin' Whoopee" in a sexy sequined dress that would make Michelle Pfeiffer jealous. Unfortunately, W&L's Brat Pack, a drinking society headed by self-proclaimed drinking king "Big" Leroy Atkins, emerged from a smoke-filled back room, completely schnockered and out for blood. Atkins poured his drink down the front of Koberstein's dress and attempted to grope her breasts, all the while slurring something about "women at W&L" and "the beginning of an error." Oh, those deans. What a lively bunch.

Beavis also saw David Howison hanging out amongst the cocktail weenies with Ricardo. The two discussed sexual conquests in such a loud and frank manner, Beavis couldn't help but overhear.

"Why do you think I put my office right outside the Co-op?" Howison asked a puzzled Ricardo. "Because that's where all the hot sorority babes hang out. How did you think I got so much nookie?"

Well, Mister Dean of Students, we know that once this gets out, those 'hot sorority babes' won't be counting ceiling tiles for you any longer.

Gerry "Warbucks" Lenfest made an excellent speech right after the 15th round of cocktails. Lenfest announced he would donate the money necessary to build a new football stadium.

Now that W&L has gone Division I," Lenfest said, "it will need a new football stadium. I plan to donate $156 million."

University Treasurer Larry Broomall immediately went into shock, unable to say or do anything until Atkins poured a drink on his head. Director of Capital Planning Frank Parsons listened eagerly as Lenfest announced the plans for the new stadium, which will seat 80,000 and will include sky boxes for the Board of Trustees, artificial turf, and a blimp.

Washington & Lee is truly grateful for this, Mr. Lenfest, even though we know that you're only doing it because the I.R.S. is catching up with you.

Halfway through the party, the caterers found that they were running low on alcohol. Security Officer Thomas "Baner" Bane was their savior. Baner backed his blue monster truck up to the loading dock in the rear of the building and unloaded 137 confiscated beer kegs, thanking Washington & Lee's fraternity system under his breath.

At four in the morning, the party came to an abrupt end when Professor of Economics Mike Smitka somehow acquired a firearm and forced several party guests to sit on the floor and listen to his lecture on China's modern economy. Most of the guests escaped, but Smitka is rumored to have 12 hostages, who he says will die one by one unless he is granted immediate tenure. Good luck, Mike! It's working for David Koresh! All in all, the party was a success. W&L will get its football stadium and several faculty are now more aware of the merits of trading with China. Truly, Washington & Lee is "not unmindful of the future."

Campus grape vine makes wine

GRAPE VINE MAGIC

By Sally Slammer

Hey all you kids out there in gossip land, have you heard the latest information off the grape vine? Well, let me tell you those grapes have been shaking so much they're about to become wine.

A very confidential source says that none other than our favorite French Professor Kathy Jo Koberstein was seen dancing the night away at the moose lodge with none other than President John Delane Wilson. The very same source says that Mrs. Ann Wilson was no where to be seen.

Personally I don't believe it. I saw the Wilson couple sitting in IL Palazzo at a cozy fireside table sipping sherry and feeding each other meatballs, all the while gazing into each others eyes. Could sneaky little John be carrying on behind poor Ann's back? Nah!

Have you all heard about that great party at Boozeland? Let me tell you that big Buddy Atkins gets wild when he is drunk. This reporter had to make herself scarce, when Buddy insisted on seeing exactly what coeds can do.

Our illustrious Dean of Students was seen in a passionate embrace with none other than Dean Schoer. All the while he was crying out that she could not marry Jefferson and leave him all alone in the office with Buddy. Apparently Howison is fearful of Buddy. Could Buddy be propositioning poor Dean Howison? Hmm. Maybe that's why Buddy enjoys working closely with all those fine young boys on the IFC. Schoer ensured Howison that she would not leave the office and would continue to protect Howison.

Just five minutes later this reporter heard none other than Jefferson Davis Futch III telling Frank Parsons that "Anne is going to quit her job and stay home and make babies as soon as we're married." Could trouble be on the horizon for the new loving couple?

Let me tell you Boozeland was the site of many a bizarre happening this weekend. Our quiet reserved Dean of Freshmen and Residence Life Dennis Manning was seen dancing on a table as he stripped off his bow tie. Manning told everyone at the party that all university housing will now be co-ed in every room.

Just five feet away from Manning was the illustrious trustee Tom Wolfe doing his impression of Mark Mark. Wolfe stripped down all the way to his tighty whities, at which point every woman in the room, except for myself, passed out. I have to tell you they did not pass out because Mr. Wolfe was impressive. No. No. They passed out from the uncontrollable laughter.

I'll tell ya, Boozeland was quite an eventful place. All in all he event was a smash hit with few glitches. Economics Professor Mike Smitka did get a little out of hand with an uzi, but other than that everything was fine. In fact everyone had such a great time there were even some tearful goodbyes. When everyone was wishing their favorite new loving couple Anne and Jefferson some fond farewells, the very pregnant Art Professor Valerie Hedquist and the slao pregnant Professor of English Demaree Peck were seen hugging crazy little Jefferson and telling him he "deserved only the best." Let me tell you, it was a touching scene. Very touching. FYI for all you health fo o l s : Valerie and Demaree were drinking chocolate milk cocktails.

Did you all hear that GQ is coming to do a profile on W&L men? Yes, it's true. All the publicity we have gotten from that wonderful Foreign Student film is finally starting to pay off. None other than Treasurer L a r r y Broomall, Professor J o h n Handelman, Professor S e v r e n Duvall, Professor Douglas Szajda and Professor Robert Huntley will be featured. Huntley was told they were interested in him for his stunning resemblance to Sean Connery. Huntley was heard saying he hopes this helps him "get some babes."

Well, here we are, at that point in the week where we make wild guesses about the possibilities of upcoming gossip. It's certainly my favorite part. I mean who wouldn't love just pulling stuff out of thin air?

O-kay, here goes! You've all heard about that titilating Foreign Student scene to be filmed in the chapel. Well, extremely, very confidential sources say that scene will involve several big-wigs in the university and perhaps even a city official or two. Shall we make some guesses?

Well, could you imagine Buddy, Mayor Derrick, and none other than Dean of the College John Elrod all appearing in the buff and showing the world just how manly they are? No, neither can I. But surely the wise directors of the Foreign Student will want to use the sex appeal drummed from the GQ article and use some of W&L's hunks in their sexiest scene!

Well kids, its time for little ole' me to leave you for another week. Don't forget, keep your ear to ground and keep Sally informed and in business!

Hiddy-Ho all, and have a very wonder week. Love Ya!

HOROSCOPES

Capricorn

(December 22 — January 19) Your sun and moon signs are fortelling good things capricorn. Venus and Jupiter are travelling through your sector signalling a rise in your emotion. Power is yours, but don't let it erupt before the climax. Premature excitement could cause problems in your personal life. But that zeal will spur good things in the work place. Libra lover will figure strongly in your bedroom.

Cancer

(June 21 — July 22) Watch out for crabs, your virgo virgin could be lying. Uranus will be in jeopardy this week, with attacks from the rear being quite prevalent. However, Venus and jupiter will be having a vertible love fest in your stealstion on tuesday. Enjoy every minute of it. Financially you will be secure. A rich man/woman will come take care of your every need for services rendered.

Aquarius

(January 20 — February 18) Don't be a fish out of water. Your sun sign speaks of luck in adventures and good travel opportunities. Don't be the guppy and miss out. All of you aquarians will have lots of luck in the bedroom, but you aquarain women need to watch out for yeast infections. Men, jock itch will be prevalent if you're not careful. Both of theses unfortunate circumstances could make you a lonely fishy. A big stong leo will be in your private sector.

Leo

(July 23 — August 22) Leo, you'll need your strong lioney strength this weekend. Jealous gemini will be seeking your ability to make others love you for who you are. However, a sagittarius will provide the romantic shelter you need. You may even loose yourself in ecstasy. Stay home on Monday, a tantalizing phone call will come in. A virgo will be prominent in your plans, but the won't be close to being the virgin they seem. Be careful in the bedroom.

Pisces

(February 19 — March 20) You aquatic wonder, you're about to have a greta month. There's a powerful super full moon floating on through your constellation. Make sure you grab that Bull by the horns, but not too tight, you might hurt him. A taurus figures stongly in your future. That big, strong bull looks to provide much fun and excitement in the future. Don't go out of the house on Sunday

Virgo

(August 23 — September 22) You're looking good this week and your sagittarian partner is drooling. A french toy will make you giggle Friday night. Be careful while making hanky-panky, your sun sign shows fertility and the pitter-patter of little feet could be in your near future. Money comes easy this week, but hold on to it for a little while, a good opportunity is approaching and it will require cash.

Aries

(March 21 — April 19) Venus will be cohorting with you this week. Love and sex will be good Saturday, but Sunday will bring a premature ending. A gemini will stroke your ego and cause irritation. Your croosroads are approaching. Will a Cancer of the opposite sex be waiting? Yes, but for you crabs will be bothersome. Look for a capricorn to ease the pain caused by the crab. The capricorn will be the one.

Libra

(September 23 — October 22) This weekend will liberate you from all your inhibitions with a little help from the spirit of the bottle. The gemini twins are moving in for a closer look at you, show them your best side. They could prove important in the long lasting future. A VIP will be waiting for you. Grab him/her but don't squeeze too hard you may scare him/her away.

Taurus

(April 20 — May 20) Important decisions will be made. An aquarian will swim up your stream this week. Enjoy the fishing, but don't use all your bait the first night. Your moon sign heralds the need for some incentive to real the fish in. Work and money will bring pleasures when pluto pnces into your constellation, but don't let them distract you from a sensational seafood supper.

Scorpio

(October 23 — November 21) Your sting will cause deep love and passion this week scorprio. A Libra will be lying in hopes of falling under the thrust of your mighty stinger. A new job prospect looms in the future and bodes well for you. You're impressive this week in all areas of your life. Take advantage of everyone and everything that will let you.

Gemini

(may 21 — June 20) Two will prove better than one for the twins. Many aries will be vicing for your attention, but the best ram will win by showing his/her bucking expertise. Watch out for those scorned rams, they'll want to kick you in the rear. The sun shines your way tomorrow. Use the extra light to find those hidden feelings in yourself. The weekend is a good time to search your soul and do spring cleaning.

Sagittarius

(November — December 21) Your mercury is on the rise. A Leo will make it pop right off the scale. Have fun, but be cautious. Illegal acts will get you in trouble this week. FYI: oral sex is illegal in Virginia. Hunches are important this week. Why? I don't know. Go with the flow and you'll be a happy camper. Make sure you go out on Monday, you're house may blow up.

surprised myself that night." Wilson smiles sheepishly as he recalls the costumed bash many years ago, the one Phi Delt refers to as the "Hell's Angels Party."

"I was driving down Main Street with a few of my colleagues," he said, "when I saw an entire horde of Chi O's descending on one of the fraternity houses. I said, 'Hey Johnny (Elrod), let's pull over and join in the festivities!'"

Unfortunately for Wilson, Elrod had an early-morning dentist appointment and couldn't join in the fun. Wilson forced Elrod to drop him off in front of Phi Delt.

"I had a little trouble getting into the fraternity house," Wilson said. "The pledges stopped me at the front door and asked me if I was on the guest list. At that point, I told them that unless they wanted to bag groceries for all of spring term, they had best get out of my way."

Wilson descended into the depths of the Phi Delt party, downing a six-pack of Milwaukee's Best before he even got to the room where the band was playing.

"When I finally got into the band room, I was good and sauced," Wilson said. "After my thirteenth beer or so, this girl approached me. I think her name was Gina—you'll understand if I can't remember all of the details."

From what Wilson does recall, he accompanied Gina to one of the bathrooms in the fraternity house and had an "amorous encounter" with her.

It was in this bathroom that Wilson got the idea for Fraternity Renaissance. "It occurred to me, as I was getting down, that the fraternity house bathrooms were completely inadequate for... well, you know."

Wilson then decided that the university could sponsor a renovation plan for all 16 fraternities.

"Notice that, in all the renovation plans for the fraternities the bathrooms have been enlarged to better serve the needs of all who might use them," Wilson said.

After his encounter with Gina, Wilson remembers very little.

He does recall waking up in one of the upstairs rooms at Phi Delt with Gina and three babes licking whipped cream off of his chest.

"I'll spare you the details," our illustrious president said. "But I'll say this: All four girls left that party completely satisfied."

And the dumpster fences? "Forget that pansy-ass stuff," he said. "Did I ever tell you about that time at Phi Psi when I threw the kegs down the stairs?"

'Porky's 8' to spy on W&L

By O. My
Phi Staff Writer

Lexington will be caught up in celebrity fever again this weekend while camera crews document Washington & Lee's social scene for a new version of a movie classic.

Buttco Films International, a movie company known for its B-grade greats, will film "Porky's 8" with 16 camera crews to record W&L's recreational activities. Buttco has assigned one film crew for each of W&L's 16 national fraternities to film the four-night-a-week social scene.

"Washington & Lee's social scene is ideal for what we hope to accomplish," said Shyster Brown, producer of "Porky's 8." "There's plenty of nudity, beer and debauchery, which we plan to exploit to the fullest."

Over 500 students and faculty came to a casting call in the University Center on Friday. Several W&L community members received roles in the film.

Senior Joshua Manning, cast as a random piece of underbrush in the film, said he was "so happy to be a part of all this."

"I am very happy," said W&L Director of Capital Planning Frank Parsons. "As a matter of fact, I am so happy that I may just go out and blow a hundred grand on real estate that nobody needs and make the students foot the bill."

University President John Wilson did not get a role in the film. Buttco claimed that Wilson's buttocks were "too saggy to contribute to the film in a positive way."

"There's nothing wrong with my butt cheeks," said Wilson in a phone interview. "I think that they are discriminating against me because I have a little tiger tattoo back there... like George Schultz."

Despite Wilson's failure to get a role, filming will go on as scheduled this weekend. Buttco attributed 13 injuries to members of camera crews Wednesday to "fraternity parties that turned sour."

In particular, Goober McFudd, a key grip from Hodgung, Kentucky, was listed in critical condition this morning at Stonewall Jackson Hospital.

Witnesses say that McFudd was filming two people having sex at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house when a keg of beer, apparently heaved out a second-story window, hit him in the head and knocked him unconscious.

"We certainly feel sorry for Goober," Buttco Spokesman Fibber Crappile said in a press conference this morning. "Unfortunately, our company health plan does not cover alcohol-related accidents, so Mr. McFudd will be unable to collect benefits."

Despite the injuries, Crappile said "Porky's 8" is expected to come in under budget and in time for its June 15 release date. The Lexington premiere will be held in the Troubadour Theatre June 14 at 8:00 p.m. A wet t-shirt reception with free beer and women will follow the film.

Schroer was not surprised. "Even (Professor of History) Jeff (Futch) and I have done it on a Big Wheel," she yawned. "If someone had done it on a 'Sit-N-Spin,' then I might have been impressed."

Also cited in the survey were several sexual experiences involving food. "I highly recommend maple syrup and Reddi-Whip," said sophomore Wilma Willing.

Again, Schroer was not impressed. "Futchy-Poo likes to rub me down with melted chocolate and eat me up like a Whatchamacallit bar," she said.

Futch could not be reached for comment.

According to the survey, 98% of all respondents had a favorite sexual position. The straightforward missionary position fared rather well, being the position of choice for 36% of the respondents.

The missionary position was followed by doggie-style, 27%; woman on top, 14%; woman twisted into a pretzel, 9%; hanging from the chandelier or ceiling fan, 4%; facing the television set, 3%; and over the hood of an automobile, 2%. The remaining 5% make up positions that cannot be discussed in a family newspaper.

Fortunately for us, we are not a family newspaper, so we will report that a few people in the remaining 5% prefer a position called 'the Frog' wherein the woman somehow kicks her leg up over her head and... oh, forget it. It's too complicated.

Schroer said she highly recommends the Frog Position and will teach a class on it next spring term.

"It will be called 'Women's Studies 251,'" she said. "I'm confident that we'll have a full classroom."

GENERAL NOTES

Film Society

The W&L Film Society will present "Hooked on Phonics" at 8:05 p.m. on Friday and Saturday in the TV in Carol Calkin's office. As always, there is no charge for admission but everyone is encouraged to bring a pencil.

Lost

A blond, 5'3" male prospective student was lost somewhere near the library. If you have information, please call Phil at 463-9816 or leave a note (or treasure map) in Carol Calkin's office.

Free Gerbils

The cutest gerbils - FREE! Spayed, declawed, barely used, comes with harness, case of Crisco, litter box, food and water dish. If interested please leave a note in Carol Calkin's office.

New Club

The Red Slide Rule Society. What's this?! We're a group of sexually frustrated math and physics professors and students that meet each Saturday night to do math equations by candlelight. Wondering about our name? Well, our slide rules are all swollen and red because some bitch named Amy who hangs out in Parmly said she was a virgin but lied because we heard from my girlfriend's sister who did some guy in a bathroom at Hampden-Sydney that this chick's name and phone number, with the words "Call for a good time, WERE ALL OVER THE PLACE. The infirmary says that there is nothing we can do to get rid of this disease except take penicillin and not stand in direct sunlight. So we sit up and do math equations all night, but hey, you don't have to have sex to be cool, so just shut up.

Deep Thought

You know, when it snows and the front of the Colonnade is all white, I bet it makes the grass underneath really cold and wet.

Blood

The American Red Cross, in conjunction with the Registrar Office secretaries, is out looking for blood. If you are type O and have a long neck, please leave a note and home address in Carol Calkin's office

Housing

Gaines Hall is now taking applications for next year's occupancy. Really, you wouldn't be a loser if you live here. Grey carpet and red furniture is AWESOME. It smells really neat too. Carol Calkins would want to live here if she didn't already have a home. Really.

CD&P

The Career Development and Placement Office says that seniors had better just forget about getting real jobs in June and focus on memorizing The Big Book of 1,000 Mixed Drinks and scouting out bars in Richmond for positions as stand-in bartenders.

Speak

Even though it's a dead tradition, do it anyway, because it makes the alumni happy and they give us a lot of money, so you WILL BE friendly whether you like it or not. For more information, contact Kathekon or Carol Calkins.

Calyx

The Calyx would like to thank the freshman who showed up to have his picture taken for this year's issue. Those students who chose not to be a part of the yearbook should just go STRAIGHT TO HELL AND BURN.

Toys

The Ring-tum Phi will be selling Rick Peltz and Cathy Lopiccolo action figures in front of the Co-op on Monday. Figures are anatomically correct, accessories sold separately. Batteries not included..

Compiled by Moe Hopkins

Student Body Notice

A student was sanctioned for using a firearm in defending himself against an innocent prank by his fraternity's freshman pledge class. Surely he had a good reason for brandishing his weapon. Thank God for the Second Amendment. It's so nice to know that firearms are in capable hands.

Welcome to Hunter's Hell Kiddies

Thompson replaces Richardson in J- school

By SENS A. MILLIA
Phi Staffer

World-reknown writer and drug user Hunter S. Thompson will replace Professor of Journalism Brian Richardson spring term. Richardson will join the Allman Brothers for the final leg of their North American Tour.

Thompson is obviously excited about his new position.

"Yeah, W&L...uh-huh. Yeah, uh-huh," Thompson said. "Goddammit! Where's my doobage."

He will be teaching a number of the standard journalism courses as well as a few more specialized courses.

He said his Introduction to Reporting class will emphasize "Gonzo" journalism.

"We just make shit up in the hopes of being sensational," he said.

Thompson also said he would like to guide students in a year-long individual study projects on different drugs (legal or otherwise).

"There would be an emphasis on experimentation," he said. "No fuckin' lab rats, man, the real thing."

He would also like to coordinate a study abroad program in which students can travel around the globe in search of previously unidentified hallucinogens.

"It would be a sort of scavenger hunt," he said. "The winner is the one who is left with the fewest functioning brain cells."

Professor Thompson

Thompson would also like to reintroduce sex education but on a much more advanced college level.

"There would be an emphasis on experimentation," he said.

Bondage and sado-masochism would be saved for the unpperdivision students, he said.

However, there would be a lab fee not covered in the price of tuition. But he would be very willing to assist students who are struggling at no extra charge.

"I'm not a whore, for God's sake, I don't get paid," he said.

Biographer E. Jean Carroll said of Thompson:

"Hell itself could not rival Dr. Thompson's struggles to become a writer - incarceration in a Louisville jail prevented his obtaining that all-important high school diploma: fistfights in Greenwich Village numbed his hands for high-speed typing; South American whores spent his money. But Dr. Thompson prevailed toride with the Hell's Angels, run for sheriff and take his place as one of the great stylists of the English language...."

Thompson hopes to one day become a university dean.

"I'd like to be Dean of ExtracurricularActivities... or some shit job like that," he said.

He said he's like to create a sense of comradesie among the deans of the university that is now absent. "We'd go to Skylark," he said. "I would emphasize experimentation."

As Dean of Extra-curricular Activities he would like to also emphasize the benefits of experimentation of all kinds among the student body.

"College isn't only a place to read books or write papers, but a place to explore your limits as a person, animal and/or vegetable," he said.

However, at the moment lofty dreams of being a dean must be play second fiddle to the matters at hand.

"Shit!" he said. "I can't find my goddamn doobage. Where the hell is my coke. Man, if I had my pistol... Yeah, sure there's an honor code here! Okay, who made off with my stash!"

W&L football to be spiked in the Bermuda Triangle

By MULDOON WHO?

Disclaimer: If this is not funny, blame the left side of my brain.

Warning! Warning! Warning! (Sorry, my CD player's skipping.) This is a warning to the W&L football team, DO NOT, I REPEAT, DO NOT GO TO BERMUDA!

This reporter has learned of an excruciatingly painful fate awaiting the team on its trip to Bermuda.

This reporter has learned that the Bermuda Voodoo High Priestess Terrasan, who believes "all men should be born guilty," has placed a curse on the football team.

According to a reputable source (I think it's the shoeshine man from the "Police Squad" television show, which preceded the two "Naked Gun" movies), High Priestess Terrasan was once a groupie for head coach Gary Fallon. But coach told her kindly that he wasn't interested. Since that time she has harbored a deep resentment for him.

Coach Fallon declined to comment on the situation saying he had no information about the threat, but he added Miss Terrasan and he were just friends.

But this reporter has learned from the same reputable source that the High Priestess threat is to be taken seriously. Just last year, Terrasan got even with another source of unrequited love. She put this team in the same situation that awaits the W&L team. And we've all seen what has happened with the Dallas Mavericks.

According to the reputable source, the team will be lost in the Bermuda Triangle. But Terrasan has no plans for any of the team members to be hurt in any way. The real danger comes from the mental abuse the team will have to endure.

Flight to be lost because of spurned ex-groupie of Coach Fallon's

Terrasan has ordained it so the Generals will have to endure the preachings of Branch Davidian leader David Koresh, Jimmy Swaggart and a Muslim Fundamentalist to be named later (sounds like a bunch of players involved in a trade) 24 hours a day and for the entire 31-day period.

Just for those who have been living with their heads someplace unnatural, this reporter will explain quickly who these demonic souls are.

David Koresh is new to the group above, and besides the Muslim Fundamentalist to be named later, has been the focus of national attention. He is holed up in a military-style compound in Whako, Texas (pardon me, Waco). He believes the world is going to end in a few years.

Hey, dork! If the world was going to end soon, do you still think this reporter would bother with this stupid article?

Jimmy Swaggart (or Swaggert, I'M not sure) is the perverse preacher who's been arrested for picking up prostitutes more time than this reporter has been shot down trying to pick up a mannequin.

The Muslim Fundamentalist will not be unknown until a few hours before the flight is to be lost. There is a fight among the various factions over who will have the honor of driving Americans nuts.

The results of this torture is unknown because it affects different people in different ways. I mean the Mavericks came out this season thinking they were a pro basketball team.

Other victims of Priestess Terrasan include: the 1972-73 Philadelphia 76'ers, the Columbia University football team, the '62 Mets, the 1976 Tampa Bay Buccaneers (how old is this woman?), Hitler, Benito Mussolini, the leaders of the Crusades. How many losers do you need to prove this lady carries some serious grudges?

University President John Wilson says he does not see any danger in the team going on the trip, but he's glad he's taking a different flight. He feels Priestess Terrasan's threat is nothing more than hot air (careful pot, the kettle's not that dark).

But who knows, the curse might work backwards and the Generals will go undefeated in 1994 and win the Division III championship. Stranger things have happened.

THE DOME IS COMING! THE DOME IS COMING?

By KEG

TSAR (or CZAR) of REID HALL

After the "Storm of the Century" (as proclaimed by the Phi) wiped out 90 percent of the Generals' baseball schedule, Washington and Lee Athletic Director Mike Walsh announced the conversion of Smith Field into a domed arena, this week.

Walsh, Washington and Lee President John D. Wilson, and head baseball coach Jeff Stickle were in attendance at the press conference in the Warner Center to unveil the design.

The project is being paid for by the estate of a 1930s W&L graduate, W. Laurence Thomas "Indy" Jones IV, esq. Jones received an honor's degree in Geology in 1931. He also taught at W&L part-time through 1934. Jones, an avid archeologist, has been missing since 1989, when he was leading a search for the Lost Art of Creativity in Hollywood. It was the last of three such projects for Jones, only the first of which proved successful.

The new baseball arena will display many of the artifacts from Jones's 50 years of expeditions and will be named, in his honor, the Jones Gallery of Artifacts and Baseball. Students may attend games on an appointment basis only.

The editors of the Phi proposed that the university install a retractable dome in order to take advantage of the field's surrounding view. Immediately, the Spectator called for a "No" vote.

Following a brief debate, the university and athletic department decided that a retractable dome would not be feasible. As a compromise, retractable fences will be installed, instead. Walsh thinks that this will be more beneficial to the team.

The playing surface will consist of artificial turf, the first of its kind at Washington and Lee. However, the new surface will not be installed until the 1995 season. In the meantime, Walsh said the team will play on the ivy that fell off of Payne Hall, last month.

"[The ivy] will be much better than that slop that they're playing on right now," he said.

Most of the players were unavailable for comment because the team is presently attempting to make up its canceled non-conference games at the nearest available fields which were untouched by the "Storm of the Century" (as proclaimed by the Phi). The Generals' last reported location was Okinawa. However, communications have been cut by a recent typhoon.

The Phi did manage to reach team captain and shortstop Jon Hesse, for some reason on a neighboring island, and asked him whether he preferred grass or "Astro-turf."

"I don't know. I've never smoked Astro-turf," he replied.

According to Wilson, while the team is away, Smith Field has been leased to a production company filming a TV mini-series about a foreign student who french-kisses dead Civil War veterans. Approximately 36.8 seconds of local footage will appear in each episode.

In a related story, coach Stickle announced that English Professor David Lynch will remain at Washington and Lee as an assistant with the baseball team.

"Davey's job will be to talk to the guys between innings and keep them up for the game," said Stickle. "We think, based on his record, that he'll be a big inspiration for us all."

Duane Van "Chip" Arsdale was reached briefly by phone in New Zealand, but responded to all questions with a strange gurgling sound.

The Jones Gallery should be ready by opening day next year. In the meantime, the Generals were supposed to play a three-game set this weekend with a Philippines Little League team of six-footers, but that has been postponed so the field can be cleared of the ash from recent volcanic activity. Stickle, however, is not concerned about completing the team's schedule. Immediately following the press conference, 26 English majors showed up requesting a tryout.

Column to Vent

By FED UP

I have never been one to bitch and complain, but enough is enough.

This PHI sports coverage is pathetic. I mean 20 some different sports and three people can't cover it.

Cut me some slack. In my hey-day I could cover the Winter and Summer Olympics on one cup of coffee and a doughnut (thank you Jim Schoenfeld).

Hey! he's another moron. I mean thank you ESPN for taking him out of the color commentator's seat and putting him in the studio. Next stop, the street.

But back to the PHI's coverage. I mean what kind of organization would not give blow-by-blow details of the varsity bridge club? Come on, now that's excitement.

Speaking of excitement, anyone see the SI Swimsuit edition. Not bad if I do say so my damn self.

But I digress. The argument I heard around the office was that these sports reporters had other lives and real work to finish. Pah-shah (thanks Glitter!)

What work? I mean what is more important, a detailed description of the men's 5,000-meter race or an ethics paper due in two hours? No contest.

Speaking of contests, who do you think deserved to be Queen on MTV's Beauty and the Beach competition? Number 4 won, but I personally thought number 1 had the best answers on how to save the planet.

Enough of this, back to my original topic. Oh hell, what was it again? Jeez-oh-man (thanks again, Glitter), what was it? Oh yeah, the PHI's sports coverage.

I've seen the great sports reporters like Red Smith break into as many as eighteen different people and cover the globe. Why can't the PHI's people do that?

I hope next year's group is better, but how can they be worse? I'm sure they will spend the 12 hours in the PHI office every Wednesday night to cover all the sports and to the degree they should be covered, the extreme degree.

Thanks for letting me vent.

My final good-byes:

Adios!

See Ya! I Wouldn't want to be Ya!

Hasta la vista, baby!

It's been your pleasure!

It's been my pleasure! NOT!

I AM OUTTA HERE!

Dear Abby,

I had two brothers. One of them went to Hampden-Sydney College and the other went to the electric chair. Now I have met a very nice girl and we plan to be married. My problem is should I tell her about my brother who went to Hampden-Sydney?

We all have our problems, but CRAFTS PLUS can solve yours when it comes to crafts and hobbies.
