

THE
WASHINGTON
AND LEE
ALUMNI MAGAZINE

FALL, 1961

Flying High:
National Recognition

Class Agents for 1961-62

- 1912-A—Gordon L. Groover, 2809 Blaine Drive, Chevy Chase 15, Maryland
1912-L—Francis J. Heazel, P. O. Box 7437, Asheville, North Carolina
1913-A—Richard A. Smith, 626 Stonewall Street, Lexington, Virginia
1913-L—T. R. Bandy, Box 86, Kingsport, Tennessee
1914-A—Paul J. B. Murphy, "Kolosandra," 304 College Circle, Staunton, Virginia
1914-L—John L. Hughes, Box 32, Benton Arkansas
1915-A—W. W. Cash, Jr., Cashmary Farm, Eagle Rock (Botetourt County), Virginia
1915-L—Wilbur C. Hall, Leesburg, Virginia
1916-A—Russell S. Rhodes, 23 E. Third Street, Tulsa, Okla.
1916-L—T. A. Myles, Box 126, Fayetteville, West Virginia
1917-A—Raymond L. Cundiff, 409 West Seventh Street, Owensboro, Kentucky
1917-L—Robert R. Kane, Boyce, Virginia
1918 —Allein Beall, Jr., P. O. Box 467, Helena, Arkansas
1919 —W. F. Barron, Rome Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Box 671, Rome, Georgia
1920-A—Randolph M. Cabell, Box 837, Waynesboro, Va.
1920-L—John W. Drye, Jr., 350 Park Avenue, New York 22, New York
1921-A—William J. Rushton, Protective Life Insurance Co., P. O. Box 2571, Birmingham, Alabama
1921-L—Fred C. Parks, P. O. Box 135, Abingdon, Virginia
1922-A—L. Waters Milbourne, 603 Somerset Road, Baltimore 10, Maryland
1922-L—R. Bleakley James, 132 Alleghany, Clifton Forge, Virginia
1923-A—Herbert L. Elias, 199 DeMott Avenue, Rockville Centre, New York
1923-L—Emmett W. Poindexter, Riggs, Ferris & Greer, Room 1201, 74 Trinity Place, New York 6, N. Y.
1924-A—Albert M. Pickus, 2424 Main Street, Stratford, Connecticut
1924-L—J. Hampton Price, Box 466, Leaksville, N. C.
1925-A—John T. McVay, 1404 Washington Boulevard, Huntington 1, West Virginia
1925-L—Perry A. Norman, Western Union Telegraph Co., 1416 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas
1926-A—Rufus A. Fulton, 155 River Drive, Lancaster, Pa.
1926-L—E. G. Hundley, c/o U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., Baltimore 3, Maryland
1927-A—Allen Harris, Jr., P. O. Box 300, Johnson City, Tennessee
1927-L—John O. Strickler, 115 West Kirk Avenue, Roanoke, Virginia
1928-A—F. W. Sherrill, P. O. Box 1551, Pensacola, Florida
1928-L—T. B. Bryant, Jr., P. O. Box 265, Orangeburg, South Carolina
1929-A—Hayward F. Day, 144 Rockview Avenue, N. Plainfield, New Jersey
1929-L—Samuel C. Strite, 122 W. Washington St., Hagerstown, Maryland
1930-A—John P. Lynch, 118 Paxton Road, Richmond 26, Virginia
1930-L—N. Dawson Hall, 1415 Hamilton Bank Building, Chattanooga, Tennessee
1931-A—James L. Rimler, 20 North Court Street, Frederick, Maryland
1931-L—Manuel M. Weinberg, 106 North Court Street, Frederick, Maryland
1932-A—Charles E. Long, Jr., 4939 Brookview Drive, Dallas 20, Texas
1932-L—Charles A. Wood, Jr., Box 484, Charleston 22, West Virginia
1933-A—Edward H. Bacon, 6 Picardy Lane, St. Louis 24, Missouri
1933-L—Bernard B. Davis, Box 367, Shelbyville, Kentucky
1934-A—Claude Harrison, Jr., State and City Building, Roanoke, Virginia
1934-L—Thomas D. Anderson, P. O. Box 2558, Houston 1, Texas
1935-A—Charles C. Smith, P.O. Box 53, Jacksonville, Fla.
1935-L—Thomas E. Sparks, P. O. Box 547, Fordyce, Ark.
1936-A—W. B. Hoofstittler, 3627 Northaven Road, Dallas 29, Texas
1936-L—John H. Thomas, 1723 Loudon Heights Road, Charleston 4, West Virginia
1937-A—William D. Fishback, R. R. 3, Versailles, Kentucky
1937-L—Edwin M. Marks, c/o Goldsmith's, 123-137 S. Main Street, Memphis, Tennessee
1938-A—Gerald M. Lively, 3125 Broadway, Kansas City 11, Missouri
1938-L—C. William Karraker, Jr., P. O. Box 5, Redding Ridge, Connecticut
1939-A—Thomas W. Moses, 1220 Speedway Avenue, Indianapolis 7, Indiana
1939-L—John D. Goodin, P. O. Box 457, Johnson City, Tennessee
1940-A—Brent H. Farber, Jr., 2100 N. Monroe Street, Baltimore 17, Maryland
1940-L—O. B. McEwan, P. O. Box 753, Orlando, Florida
1941-A—Emil C. Rassman, 417 Midland Tower, Midland, Texas
1941-L—Charles F. Heiner, 112 Lake Lane, Richmond 29, Virginia
1942-A—Charles P. Didier, 205 W. Broadway, Maumee, Ohio
1942-L—Elliot W. Butts, 4312 Pawnee Street, Jacksonville, 10, Florida
1943 —C. B. Myers, 130 Central Avenue, Lake Wales, Fla.
1944 —James P. Gilman, Box 41, Rt. 2, Salisbury, North Carolina
1945 —Edward B. Addison, 3099 East Pine Valley Road, N.W., Atlanta 5, Georgia
1946 —Robert W. H. Mish, Jr., Box 887, Lexington, Va.
1947 —John A. McWhorter, Jr., 1620 Eye Street, N.W., Washington 6, D. C.
1948-A—Lewis H. McKenzie, P. O. Box 510, Montezuma, Georgia
1948-L—Carter R. Allen, P. O. Drawer 219, Waynesboro, Va.
1949-A—Mark W. Saur, 1900 Parma Road, Richmond, Va.
1949-L—Jack B. Porterfield, Jr., 817 Frank Nelson Building, Birmingham, Alabama
1950-A—Bruce S. Parkinson, 117 Hillside Road, Strafford, Wayne, Pennsylvania
1950-L—Rufus B. Hailey, Airport Road, Gatlinburg, Tenn.
1951-A—W. Upton Beall, 217 Professional Bldg., Tyler, Texas
1951-L—E. McGruder Faris, Jr., Box 6091, Wake Forest Law School, Winston-Salem, North Carolina
1952-A—Roland E. Thompson, 4915 Longfellow Court, McLean, Virginia
1952-L—James C. Turk, P. O. Box 1089, Radford, Virginia
1953-A—Leonard B. Ransom, Jr., 1711 Lakeside Avenue, Baltimore 18, Maryland
1953-L—Robert Lee Banse, 116 W. Evergreen Avenue, Chestnut Hills, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
1954-A—Norman L. Dobyons, 7202 Leesville Blvd., Springfield, Virginia
1954-L—J. P. Kilgore, Box 276, Amherst, Virginia
1955-A—J. Hardin Marion, III, 1004 Dartmouth Road, Baltimore 12, Maryland
1955-L—John F. Kay, Jr., 1300 Travelers Bldg., Richmond, Virginia
1956-A—Geoffrey T. Armbrister, 210 West Street, Mamaroneck, New York
1956-L—Beverly G. Stephenson, 1105 Mill Creek Drive, Annandale, Virginia
1957-A—John J. Fox, Jr., 500 Tuckahoe Blvd., Richmond, Virginia
1957-L—Douglas K. Frith, 10 North Bridge Street, Martinsville, Virginia
1958-A—Thomas B. Branch, III, 1045 Hurt Building, Atlanta 3, Georgia
1958-L—Robert G. McCullough, 1200 American Trust Building, Nashville, Tennessee
1959-A—C. DuBose Ausley, 1410 Betton Road, Tallahassee, Florida
1959-L—Owen A. Neff, 3406 Martha Custis Drive, Alexandria, Virginia
1960-A—A. Prescott Rowe, 7-A Davidson Park, Lexington, Virginia
1960-L—Isaac Noyes Smith, Jr., Kanawha Banking & Trust Co., Charleston 22, West Virginia
1961-A—Robert J. Funkhouser, Jr., The Collegiate Schools, North Mooreland Road, Richmond, Virginia
1961-L—Paul H. Coffey, Jr., First National Bank Building, Lynchburg, Virginia

THE WASHINGTON AND LEE

ALUMNI MAGAZINE

Editor

WILLIAM C. WASHBURN, 1940

December, 1961

Volume XXXVI

Number 4

THE COVER: Quarterback Steve Suttle goes airborne as Emory and Henry tacklers close in. This exciting shot was taken by Roanoke Times photographer Oakie Asbury, and appears with the Times' permission.

THE WASHINGTON AND LEE ALUMNI, INC.

President

BERNARD LEVIN, 1942

Vice-President

RODNEY M. COOK, 1946

Secretary

WILLIAM C. WASHBURN, 1940

Treasurer

JOHN D. BATTLE, JR., M.D., 1934

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

- JOHN D. BATTLE, JR., M.D., 1934
- ANDREW H. BAUR, JR., 1937
- THOMAS B. BRYANT, JR., 1928
- RODNEY M. COOK, 1946
- E. STEWART EPLEY, 1949
- BERNARD LEVIN, 1942, President
- JAMES B. MARTIN, 1931
- C. WILLIAM PACY, II, 1950
- E. ALTON SARTOR, JR., 1938
- PAUL M. SHUFORD, 1943
- CLARK B. WINTER, 1937
- WILLIAM B. WISDOM, 1921

EDITORIAL BOARD

- FRANK J. GILLIAM, 1917
- FITZGERALD FLOURNOY, 1921
- PAXTON DAVIS
- JAMES W. WHITEHEAD
- RODNEY M. COOK, 1946
- W. C. WASHBURN, 1940

CONTENTS

The Generals Win Them All	3
A Sport For Gentlemen	8
A Message From the Fund Chairman	14
The Honor System—Ours To Preserve	15
News of the University	18
Homecoming and Opening Dances	23
ROTC Starts Eleventh Year	24
You're In the Cards!	26
Men Behind the Scenes	27
Class Notes	28-39
In Memoriam	39
Chapter Meetings	41

Published quarterly by Alumni, Incorporated, Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia.

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Virginia, September 15, 1924. Printed at the Journalism Laboratory Press of Washington and Lee University under the supervision of C. Harold Lauck.

Opposite: Silhouetted against a late autumn sky, COACH LEE McLAUGHLIN watches the practice of a team that would bring Washington and Lee its first perfect football season in 47 years.

The Generals Win Them All —and Many Friends

Experience, Depth, Superior
Coaching Culminate in a Season
That Attracts National Acclaim

ON A MARCH AFTERNOON back in 1957, Lee McLaughlin stood in what was then Washington Chapel and met, for the first time, the “football team” that he was to head up as the Generals’ new football coach. Among the two dozen or so students present there were, in fact, some boys who would play football for Coach McLaughlin. But there were just as many who were there only out of curiosity: they wanted to see what manner of man was interested in taking over a team that had not succeeded under a program many said could never succeed.

All of them heard from the new coach some words that must have had a strange, unrealistic ring to them. Said McLaughlin, “We’re going to think in terms of winning them all.” And said McLaughlin, “I believe in letting everyone play. If you come out for football for me, you’ll play for me.”

At that time, Washington and Lee had won only one game in fifteen contests, and if any solution was to be suggested, it might very well involve finding the eleven best players in the school, making sixty-minute men out of them, and hoping for the best.

Today, five football seasons later, those remarks by Lee McLaughlin constitute accurate descriptions of Washington and Lee’s football program, rather than the wishful thinking of a successful prep school coach making his first plunge into the perilous collegiate coaching profession. Not only do the Generals now think in terms of winning them all, but they have indeed won them all for 1961—the first all-winning season since the glorious time of Cy Young and the 1914 undefeated team. Not only does McLaughlin promise Saturday afternoon action for all his players, but he gives it to them, and this, as much as anything, has brought victory to the Generals time after time through 1960 and 1961.

Because he let many freshmen and sophomores play back in the lean years that followed in 1957 and 1958, he was able to develop over the seasons a strong, deep squad of many boys of nearly equal football ability. As these youngsters grew to football maturity under the expert coaching of McLaughlin and his staff, there developed in them a team spirit and loyalty that has amazed even their coach. And with the surge of team spirit and pride there came the inevitable victories, starting in 1959 when the record was a prophetic three wins, four losses, and one tie.

One of those three wins came in the last game of the season at Washington University in St. Louis. As it was to do so many times in the future, the Generals' three-team depth had brought them from behind to win, 35-26, in a last-quarter surge. Perhaps the boys themselves sensed it, but few knew then that that game was the beginning of an unbeaten string of contests that is still intact, nineteen games later.

In 1960, the Generals were 8-0-1, with only an 8-8 tie at mid-season against Johns Hopkins marring the record. This year there was no tie game to spoil the final-season memories of 18 seniors, most of whom had suffered with McLaughlin through the 1-7 record in 1958. It was a tremendous season, in so many ways.

Now that the perfect year is a fact, McLaughlin admits that he felt it coming back in early September.

"It had to come this year if it were to come at all," he declares. "This was a peak year for us. I doubt if we'll ever again have such a combination of experience, depth, and bright young sophomores. As it turned out, it was a perfect combination."

It was indeed. The seniors provided the seasoned stability and leadership, while the talented juniors and sophomores in their eagerness kept sufficient pressure on the veterans to assure that no letdown or "senioritis" would threaten the team's chances for the banner year it deserved.

There were outstanding individual stars—like Little All-American center Terry Fohs and All-Virginia Small College quarterback Steve Suttle—but by and large the victories came because McLaughlin commanded a varsity squad of 50 boys—all eager to play. The standard strategy was to alternate three complete units on a nearly equal basis of playing time, wearing down the opposition, taking advantage of mistakes and breaks, playing rugged defense. The tactics would vary from game to game, like in the opening encounter with Hampden-Sydney when the Gold, or third unit, proved to be the stingiest on defense and played most of the second half. Or the Franklin & Marshall game when the Red, or second team, proved an explosive scoring threat, or the Emory & Henry and Washington games when the Blue, or first unit, was called on for service above and beyond the usual expectations.

But behind it all was the team's pride, its mutual self-respect among its members, and its confidence in itself that it could face week after week fired-up teams that would boast of a successful season if only the Generals could be upset.

Hampden-Sydney provided the closest game from a scoring standpoint, although other games would present greater challenges and evoke better performances. Against the Tigers, the Generals had to come from behind with a cliff-hanging third quarter drive that netted their only touchdown and a narrow 7-6 victory. After an open date, the wars resumed and Franklin & Marshall, Randolph-Macon, and Johns Hopkins fell in domino order, 40-0, 43-0, and 38-6, setting the stage for a showdown battle with Emory and Henry for the state's small college title.

The Wilson Field clash with the Wasps proved to be the best football game played there since the Generals beat Virginia in the final home game of the 1953 season. The opportunist Washington and Lee squad turned a Wasp fumble into one touchdown, a blocked punt into another, and led, 14-6, at half-time. In the second half, the Generals' depth again paid off, Emory and Henry wearied in the stretch, and the Red and Blue teams marched for a touchdown apiece and a final score of 27-6.

The Generals took a physical pounding in the Emory game, so the rest the first two units got in the following game with Centre was welcome. The score was 53-0.

The next week, unbeaten but once-tied Sewanee admittedly sought revenge for the previous year's 32-8 lacing, and the Tigers fought like their namesakes for four quarters before bowing, 26-8. It was only 3-0 at halftime in a contest of determined, poised opponents, representing the very best in small college football.

COACH McLAUGHLIN doesn't look it, but believe it or not, W&L is winning.

Tense Moments

A dressing room before the game is a tense place. The quick suit up rapidly, then stretch out on the floor in an effort to relax while their sober companions pull on their pads and check equipment. Assistant Coach Boyd Williams gives last-minute advice to Quarterback Steve Suttle, while Halfback Jim Russ gets a final check of an injured elbow by Trainer Norris Eastman. Assistant Coach Buck Leslie, whose scouting report dictated the strategy for the game, sits quietly and wonders if he has been correct in his recommendations.

After a ragged, penalty-marred 30-0 win over Frederick College, Virginia's newest four-year college with football ambitions, the Generals headed west for St. Louis and their quest for victory No. 9 that would bring the perfect season. They nearly didn't make it in time for the 10 a.m. Thanksgiving Day kickoff.

Bad weather in St. Louis forced the chartered DC-3's to set down in Evansville, Ind., and from there—9 p.m. Wednesday until 3 a.m. Thursday—the team bounced and lurched on a local Greyhound across Indiana and Illinois, some players and all the coaches standing most of the way. It was a tired and groggy squad that forced itself awake four hours later to prepare for the early-morning game.

There were still cobwebs in their heads in the second quarter when Washington, a team winless in eight games against a tough schedule, led the Generals, 13-0. Although Halfback Charley Gummey's 50-yard touchdown run kept the Generals close, they fell behind again at 20-6 with less than a minute and a half remaining before intermission. Then came the play that lifted the team by its shoelaces and broke the Bears' spirited surge.

On first down from the Generals' 20, Red unit quarterback Chuck Lane called "the Boomer," a pass designed to put six points on the scoreboard. Halfback Stuart Yoffe ran his decoy pattern to perfection, drawing in all four Bear secondary defenders while senior halfback Jim Hickey shot into the clear along the right sideline. Lane's pass was on target, and Hickey, who holds the school record of 9.7 in the 100, cleared the goal fully 25 yards

The Unbeaten String of 19

1959

W&L 35—Washington 26

1960

W&L 21—Centre 6

W&L 23—Dickinson 6

W&L 38—F & M 8

W&L 26—Randolph-Macon 3

W&L 8—Johns Hopkins 8

W&L 14—Hampden-Sydney 7

W&L 6—Carnegie Tech 0

W&L 32—Sewanee 8

W&L 28—Washington 0

1961

W&L 7—Hampden-Sydney 6

W&L 40—F & M 0

W&L 43—Randolph-Macon 0

W&L 38—Johns Hopkins 6

W&L 27—Emory & Henry 6

W&L 53—Centre 0

W&L 26—Sewanee 8

W&L 30—Frederick 0

W&L 33—Washington 20

ahead of his pursuers. The Generals were down only 20-12 at the half, and although the Bears hollered and yelled when they came back on the field, it was to be W&L from then on.

With Suttle's sure hand directing the offense, the Generals took the second-half kickoff and drove for the tying touchdown and conversion points. They had promising drives slowed twice more in the second half before Gummey again took charge personally midway in the final quarter with a 49-yard scoring burst off right tackle. The conversion try failed, and following a good break on the kickoff, the Bears had one effort left.

They drove to the W&L 27, but the Generals stiffened and threw the Bears back to the 34 where the ball changed hands with only 54 seconds remaining to play. Suttle elected to run out the clock on quarterback sneaks, but on his first try he nearly ran out of the ball park. Suddenly in the clear, he raced to the 18, from where the Generals struck in three quick plays for the final touchdown of a glorious season. Senior halfback Jim Russ, who scored the first points of the year against Hampden-Sydney, added the 297th on a perfect placement and the Generals had, indeed, won them all.

Because of its successes in the 1961 campaign, but more because of the rags to riches story of Coach McLaughlin's patient labors, the team attracted the attention of Sports Illustrated magazine, perhaps the most highly-regarded sports publication in the country. Walter Bingham, one of the magazine's most gifted reporters and writers, came to Lexington on the story. What he saw prompted him to write an article which Sports Illustrated used as its six-page lead story the following week. The article is re-printed in this issue of the Alumni Magazine for the benefit of those who may have missed it in its original form.

CHARLIE GUMMEY gains against R-MC.

What impressed Walter Bingham about the Generals was not so much their ability to play football, but their general attitude and demeanor, both on the field and off. He spent many hours chatting with members of the team and other students, and what he observed and what he heard prompted him to entitle his story, "A Sport for Gentlemen."

The appearance of the article in mid-season made the Generals all the more prime targets for upset-minded opponents and, on occasion, their role as gentlemen was staunchly tested.

Just as there have been great teams in Washington and Lee's past, there will be other great teams in the future. But somehow, particularly for those who saw its struggled beginnings in 1958 and 1959, the 1961 squad has earned a special place in Washington and Lee athletic history and tradition.

As good as it was at its own level of competition, no one will try to equate it with the 1914 team or the 1950 team in football ability. Yet, in its own way, it ranks with the very finest that the University has ever produced.

Each player dedicated himself completely to the game, yet this total commitment never caused any of them to lose sight of the fact that football, after all, is a game and should be played for the fun of it.

It was a team that was proud to represent Washington and Lee. It was a team that often unsettled its opponents by singing the Swing in the dressing room before taking the field before the game or at half-time.

When Coach McLaughlin handshook his way through well-wishers after the final game and entered the team dressing room, he didn't find a joyous madhouse of exultant victors. He found every member of the squad, down on one knee, in silent prayer of gratitude for the good victory, for the good season.

It was that kind of team, a team that all W&L men can be proud of.

Winter Schedules

BASKETBALL

- Dec. 1—At Virginia
- Dec. 4—Bridgewater
- Dec. 8—Catholic
- Dec. 11—At Emory & Henry
- Dec. 15—Franklin and Marshall
- Jan. 6—Lynchburg
- Jan. 9—At Hampden-Sydney
- Jan. 13—Randolph-Macon
- Jan. 17—At Bridgewater
- Jan. 20—Norfolk William and Mary
- Feb. 10—Hampden-Sydney
- Feb. 14—Roanoke
- Feb. 16—At Catholic
- Feb. 17—At Washington (Md.)
- Feb. 22—At Randolph-Macon
- Feb. 24—Emory & Henry
- Feb. 26—At Norfolk William and Mary

WRESTLING

- Dec. 1—North Carolina
- Dec. 9—Franklin and Marshall
- Dec. 15—At Chattanooga Tournament
- Jan. 6—Gallaudet
- Jan. 13—At North Carolina State
- Jan. 20—Norfolk William and Mary
- Feb. 10—At Duke
- Feb. 14—At Hampden-Sydney
- Feb. 17—West Virginia
- Feb. 26—At Virginia

SWIMMING

- Dec. 1—Roanoke
- Dec. 5—At Virginia
- Dec. 8—At Norfolk William and Mary
- Dec. 9—At William and Mary
- Dec. 15—American
- Jan. 13—Georgetown
- Feb. 12—At Maryland
- Feb. 13—At Catholic
- Feb. 16—Pittsburgh
- Feb. 19—East Carolina
- Feb. 24—Wake Forest

■ REPRINTED on the following pages is the article which appeared in the November 6 issue of Sports Illustrated Magazine. The editors of Sports Illustrated granted special permission to the Alumni Magazine to reproduce these pages exactly as they appeared in the nationally-circulated publication. Because of the reproduction process involved, photographs in the reprinted pages are not of the same high quality they were in the original publication. The Alumni Magazine is indebted to Sports Illustrated for its permission to bring this story to the attention of Washington and Lee alumni who may not have had the opportunity to read and enjoy it.

Sports Illustrated
NOVEMBER 6, 1961

A SPORT FOR GENTLEMEN

by WALTER BINGHAM

At Washington and Lee University, deep in the heart of the Confederacy, football is a winning game even though it is played purely for fun

Photographs by James Drake

Standing shoulder to shoulder with the undefeated football teams of the nation—Michigan State, Alabama, Texas, Mississippi, Colorado and Ohio State—is Washington and Lee, which last Saturday won its fifth game of the season by beating Emory and Henry 27–6. While naturally proud of its record, students at Washington and Lee are quick—even happy—to admit that their team is not in the same class with those other undefeated teams. At Washington and Lee football is strictly amateur. No athletic scholarships are given, nor have any been given for the past seven years, a decision which at the time it was taken brought screams of protest from ardent alumni. But this year's team, made up purely of students who play football rather than football players who study, is proving that winning football on an unsubsidized basis can be as much fun to play and as exciting to watch as any football anywhere.

Washington and Lee, of course, is not the only college to have abandoned big-time football. The University of Chicago, in perhaps the most famous instance of de-emphasis, dropped football completely in 1940 after 44 years in the Big Ten. Carnegie Tech, a football power of the '20s, toned down its schedule in 1936, just as Johns Hopkins (SI, Dec. 5) had done the year before. Santa Clara, which twice played in the Sugar Bowl and once in the Orange, withdrew from national competition in 1952, although it has been creeping back quietly during the past two years. Of all the schools that have in varying degrees de-emphasized their football programs and kept them that way, Washington and Lee, which has not lost a game since 1959, has been the most successful.

Washington and Lee University is located in Lexington, Virginia, deep in Civil War country, a school of red brick buildings fronted by white columns. The grounds are hilly and crowded with giant elms. Reminders of the Civil War and its Southern heroes are everywhere. Robert E. Lee is buried on campus. Stonewall Jackson lies not far away in the Stonewall Jackson Memorial Cemetery. There is a Robert E. Lee Hotel, a Robert E. Lee Church and a Stonewall Jackson Hospital.

continued

GENTLEMEN'S SPORT continued

No university office is considered properly furnished without a portrait of Lee.

Washington and Lee is a gentleman's university. Coats and ties must be worn in class. When one student passes another on campus, it is customary for both to say hello. The honor system prevails, and violators are disciplined by the students themselves.

It was partly to preserve this reputation that the university decided in 1954 to secede from big-time football. The 1950 team had been a powerhouse, winning eight of its 10 games, being ranked 15th in the country and going to the Gator Bowl. To maintain its eminence in competition with larger schools like Tennessee, Maryland, Navy and Alabama, Washington and Lee had offered athletic scholarships to boys who, in the words of one university professor, "were not Washington and Lee types."

When the football teams of the next three years did poorly, causing alumni to press for even more athletic scholarships, the time for a policy decision was at hand. The football program was costing the university a great deal of money. The football players, on the whole, were proving scholastically inferior. Still, it is possible that the Board of Trustees might have yielded to the pressure of the alumni had not a large portion of the football team been caught cheating during the final exams of 1954. Somehow they had made duplicate keys to rooms where exams were kept and had bought off the janitor. Those caught were expelled immediately, but the feeling still exists that many more violators graduated before an investigation could be carried out.

A month later the Board of Trustees announced that Washington and Lee would award no more athletic scholarships and that the football schedule for that fall would be canceled. When the university resumed varsity football the next season, 1955, it was against teams like Sewanee, Centre and Hampden-Sydney.

It was a lean season. The team lost all its games and scored only four touchdowns. In one game it gained only three yards. "No one covered our games," says Frank Parsons, the university's sports publicity man. "It was lonely in the press box. Just the P.A. announcer, a statistician and me."

It was lonely in the stands, too. What few people would come to watch a game usually left at half time for the warmth of the fraternity house and the big game on national television. "It took guts to watch our games," says one professor.

NEAR WASHINGTON AND LEE'S INFORMAL BENCH YOUNG BOYS WATCH GAME CUTTING SHARPLY TO HIS RIGHT, WASHINGTON

Not many boys turned out for football that first season of unsubsidized football. During practice one afternoon Boyd Williams, an assistant coach, told all the ends to follow him down to a corner of the field. Williams trotted to the appointed spot and when he turned around found that he was being followed by only one man.

The pressure to return to big-time football increased after the winless 1955 season. Campus polls favored it. "The students were embarrassed to have schools like Hampden-Sydney as opponents," says one faculty member.

One professor took his daughter to a dentist on a Saturday in 1955. "His waiting room was crowded with children," he recalls, "but when he saw me he took me aside and started arguing that Washington and Lee just had to return to big-time football. He got so worked up over it I decided right then not to let him work on my kid's teeth anymore."

The weakest link

A local columnist urged the university to give up football entirely. "If a football team is to be a link between a school and its alumni, it had better be a stronger link than the 1955 Washington and Lee team." Many influential alumni, through the press, seconded the motion. "They were like a bunch of kids who had their little red wagon taken away," said a former player recently.

After Washington and Lee won only one game in 1956, Coach Bill Chipley was fired. "It was a ticklish situation," says one faculty member. "It didn't look too good, firing the coach just after we had de-emphasized." The official statement released by the university explained that Chipley had been let go because he was not "a good teacher of football."

In his place the university hired Lee McLaughlin, a solidly built man in his late 30s with a grin as wide as his shoulders. When he held his first football meeting, less than 20 boys showed up. "It had become fashionable not to play football," says Frank Parsons. "Boys used to say, 'I was great in prep school, but I wouldn't play here.'"

"People used to come up to me and say, 'Isn't it a shame that so-and-so hasn't come out for football,'" McLaughlin says. "I'd tell them maybe, but I don't think so-and-so could make our team. I knew we couldn't get anywhere until we stopped making heroes out of boys who didn't want to play."

continued

AND LEE FULLBACK TOMMY KEESEE (32) GAINS YARDAGE THROUGH BIG HOLE IN EMORY AND HENRY LINE. W. & L. WON 27 TO 6

GENTLEMEN'S SPORT continued

McLaughlin traveled about looking for football players, although he could not, of course, offer anything more than a good education. He covered New England, concentrating on Connecticut. "Many of our boys come from prep schools," he says. "You can't throw a rock in Connecticut without hitting a prep school." McLaughlin used to get depressed when prospective Washington and Lee football players were lured away by athletic scholarships. "I've gotten used to it now," he says. "Recruiting is like selling insurance. If you see a thousand boys, maybe you get 10."

SMILING COACH MCLAUGHLIN PATS W. & L. TACKLE AFTER EMORY AND HENRY GAME

What Washington and Lee liked best about Lee McLaughlin is the way he accepted the de-emphasized football program. He held a spring practice, but it was only for two weeks in February so that the boys were free to go out for spring sports. Daily workouts in the fall were only an hour and a half, and if a boy could not make practice because of studies, McLaughlin understood. In fact, several times he ordered boys not to show up for practice because he knew they had important tests coming up. He held a weekly skull session, an hour every Monday night. If the session ran past the hour, McLaughlin told his boys that they were free to leave.

McLaughlin's first two seasons were no better than Chipley's, but in that second year many of the boys who form the foundation of this year's fine team arrived on the Washington and Lee campus. One was Terry Fohs, the 145-pound linebacker who consistently leads the team in tackles. "One of the reasons I came to Washington and Lee is that I knew I could make the team," he says.

Quarterback Steve Suttle had no intention of playing college football. McLaughlin invited him out to watch a practice session one day. "When I saw that the players weren't a bunch of goons," says Suttle, "I changed my mind." Suttle also went back to his dormitory and talked his friend Ned Hobbs into trying out. Hobbs became the right end and is now a captain of the team. Jerry Hyatt had never played football before he entered Washington and Lee, because his high school in Maryland had no team. Hyatt tried out anyway, made the team and is now an outstanding center.

In 1959 the team won three games, one more than it had won the previous four seasons. And last year Washington and Lee was undefeated, being tied only by Johns Hopkins. With each victory the howls of the alumni to return to big-time football diminished and interest in the team grew. Once again people showed up to watch Washington and Lee play football, and if most of them still left at half time occasionally it was because the team was winning by such big scores, not losing.

COMFORT IN DEFEAT comes to Captain McHarris of Emory and Henry.

This year's team, after barely winning its first game against Hampden-Sydney 7-6, has scored 148 points in its next four games to its opponents' 12. There have been no outstanding stars, although Fohs, the little linebacker, has again led the defense. A dozen players have scored touchdowns for Washington and Lee. In last week's victory over Emory and Henry, for instance, the four touchdowns were made by four different men. Coach McLaughlin generally uses most of his 50-odd players, not because he is kind but because the talent is evenly distributed. Washington and Lee uses a running game, passing only when necessary. "When you pass," says McLaughlin, "three things can happen and only one of them is good."

The resurgence of football at Washington and Lee has created a new worry among university officials. At the close of last season there were a few moments when it looked as if the school might lose McLaughlin. Virginia was looking for a new football coach and McLaughlin had graduated from there in 1941. But McLaughlin, if he got an offer, turned it down and now says he has no intention of ever leaving.

"I have the best coaching job in the world," he says. "I have the rank of associate professor, tenure and extra benefits. This is a nice town, a fine place to live. And I work with nice boys."

McLaughlin recently gave a small party for some of the faculty. One of the guests was Dana Swan, a young man who in his first season as coach of the freshman team has had the unhappy experience of watching his team lose every game. In fact, the team has yet to score a touchdown.

As the guests were leaving, McLaughlin came over smilingly to Swan's young wife. "You've probably heard already," he said, "but in case you haven't, your husband is doing a fine job." At Washington and Lee, even the football coach is a gentleman. END

Turn page for story on a less happy facet of the 1961 football season

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED NOVEMBER 6, 1961

In recent session in Lexington, the Alumni Fund Council is shown above. Clockwise from the foreground are WILLIAM C. WASHBURN, '40, J. FRED COOK, '33, FRANK H. CALLAHAM, JR., '52, M. W. PAXTON, JR., '47, FRANK L. SUMMERS, '52, DONALD M. FERGUSSON, '51, and ROBERT M. KIME, '51.

Chairman PAXTON

What Does Your University's Future Mean to You?

By M. W. PAXTON, JR., Chairman
The Alumni Fund Council

BY THE TIME this issue of the Alumni Magazine reaches you, I hope you will have read thoughtfully the message of the Alumni Fund Council mailed to you in connection with the opening appeal of the 1961-62 Alumni Fund Campaign.

You'll recall that it urged some "tough-minded thinking about a sound investment."

I hope you have found the time during a busy season to reflect in an objective way about what your support of the Alumni Fund means to Washington and Lee and to you as an alumnus.

This current Fund effort is perhaps the most important ever undertaken by your Alumni Fund Council. For three years, many of us worked for and contributed to the University Development Program. The success of this program was of paramount importance to Washington and Lee, and our alumni did a good job in assuring this success. But, now, it is equally important that we reestablish and improve the pattern of annual giving which we demonstrated so effectively four, five, and six years ago. There is, indeed, a lot of catching-up to be done. How well we catch up this year will be the key to future successes of the Alumni Fund.

As you know, the gifts received through the Alumni Fund make up what we often hear called "bread and butter" money for the University. This means the University uses this income to meet current operating expenses, like the merit salary increases for the nearly 100 fulltime professors, or for an important piece of equipment in one of the science departments, or for expanding the book budget of McCormick Library, or for any of dozens of improvements that will make Washington and Lee a better University for educating today's young men.

But over and above the direct financial benefits to the University which the Fund provides, there is another enrichment which is harder to evaluate or translate into dollars and cents. This is the demonstration of faith in the University by its alumni, who, through their annual giving, testify that Washington and Lee has had an influence for tremendous good on their lives and that this has instilled in them a loyalty and concern commensurate with the University's continued well-being.

If you haven't gotten down to that objective thinking we suggested earlier, how about taking the time right now to re-examine this inescapable relationship between you and your University.

As we wrote you before, this appeal for your support is fundamentally for an investment in the future strength of your Alma Mater. Again, your response will be more meaningful to you and this University if it is motivated by some tough thinking about the values represented by Washington and Lee which seem significant to you.

The Honor System—

—Ours To Preserve

DR. SIDNEY M. B. COULLING, '46

Assistant Professor of English

An Alumnus Looks
At the Honor System
With Keen Insight and Offers a Challenge
To Today's Students

IF EVERYONE WHO KNOWS Washington and Lee well were asked to select the single most valuable asset of the University, I have little doubt that the choice would be almost unanimous—our honor system.

From time to time, I know, there has been vigorous competition from other quarters: a Gator Bowl football team, a sensationally successful group on the Quiz Bowl, an historian of international fame, a new endowment enthusiastically applauded by educators throughout the country. But year in and year out it has been the honor system, more than anything else, that has placed Washington and Lee in its distinguished position in American education.

It is the honor system that has made possible much of the characteristic life of the college community, from unproctored examinations to the unquestioning acceptance of student checks.

It is the honor system that has helped to create an environment in which serious intellectual pursuits are possible and in which excellence is respected. And, as I learned once again last summer when I was among Washington and Lee's representatives at a conference in Colorado Springs, it is the honor system that attracts more praise and more interest, among students and educators from New England to California, than anything else that can be mentioned about the University.

Don't Forget 'Why' of Honor System

This is so because, of all we can boast of here, our genuinely effective honor system is the one thing that is shared by only a handful of institutions in the nation.

All of this seems so obvious that it hardly needs to be said. And yet in recent years I have increasingly sensed that we do not sufficiently appreciate the true importance of the honor system. Even with the scandal of the early fifties only a decade behind us we are prone to regard the honor system with complacency, to accept it as the natural course of things, to consider it simply as something else here that is old and traditional.

DR. COULLING

(Reprinted from THE RING-TUM PHI)

“ . . . a very practical system of assuring that honorable behavior shall be the rule of life here.”

Too many of us, I am afraid, are either unaware or forgetful of what exists where there is no honor system, casually dismissing the matter with the tired witticism about the faculty with the honor and the students with the system. We tend to think that inevitably Washington and Lee will always have an honor system, and that the loss or weakening of the honor system “can never happen here.” Or, if I may judge by the themes I read now and then, we are tempted to speak of “the three great Washington and Lee traditions—conventional dress, the speaking tradition, and the honor system,” as if the student’s integrity is on the same level of importance as his custom of wearing a jacket and speaking to his friends.

If I regard our honor system as pre-eminently important, the reason is that I have had first-hand experience with the immense problems that are created in institutions with inadequate honor systems, or no honor system at all. My first teaching assignment, for example, was at a large southern university which had an honor system supported largely by elaborate rhetorical claims.

Once when I reported a student for submitting an essay that he had copied from the New York Herald Tribune I caused a stir which affected the entire campus and lasted for weeks. Although the penalty for such an offense—failure in the course and expulsion for a semester—was clearly and explicitly stated in a book of regulations, the student and administrative authorities sought every possible evasion.

No one seemed too remote from the case to help decide it: no testimony was too irrelevant to include. The student’s minister at home wrote to say that his family were pillars of the church; his dormitory counselor testified that he rarely kept late hours or created disturbances; and some of his other professors said that in class he seemed pleasant and attentive. Eventually I was notified by a dean that since most of the evidence pointed to the conclusion that the accused was really a prince of a fellow who had somehow mistaken an article in the Herald Tribune for one of his own essays, I should forget the whole matter and permit the student to write another paper.

Cheating Condoned Elsewhere

At a second institution where I taught there was not even the pretense of an honor system, for the students were so accomplished in deception that the faculty and administration had long since abandoned any serious attempt to deal with the problem. One of my students, a third-string fullback who had made himself valuable as the extra-point specialist, was so skillfully assisted in his work that only late in the semester, and then by accident, did I discover that in reality he was scarcely literate. Another student was a cheater so clumsy that he was repeating English 1 for the fourth time, but he was beginning to learn. He came to class one day to write an impromptu theme, pulled out an old issue of The Readers Digest, and began copying one of its articles of condensed but lasting interest. When I challenged him he replied that he was merely taking notes in preparation for the paper—the paper he was supposed to be writing at that very moment! Both of us knew this was an outrageous lie, but both also knew that I was utterly powerless to do anything about it. Had I tried to take the matter to the administration I would have experienced the same treatment which a colleague of mine received when he attempted to press an honor case. He was accused by his dean of being a trouble maker and was encouraged to seek a teaching position elsewhere.

However absurd such incidents may seem, however foreign they are to our experience at Washington and Lee, it is salutary to be reminded that such things can and do happen every day on campuses throughout the country. If we are to speak of the honor system with something other than glibness and complacency, we must always keep in mind what the absence of an honor system can do: it can sap the vitality of an institution; it can make a travesty of the whole educational process; it can create an atmosphere of mutual hostility between faculty and students and demoralize everyone by establishing a mood of cynicism and futility.

I have insisted on this point because I believe there is danger in complacency. But there is a second danger, I think, still more serious—the tendency, apparently growing in recent years, to subject the honor system to a scrutiny that obscures rather than illuminates. I do not mean that we should never examine or discuss the honor system. Certainly the lively debate of this past spring was a good and healthful sign. Nor do I mean that the honor system is sacred or perfect, that it should be immune from criticism.

If there are faults and weaknesses then by all means they should be corrected. But there is a difference between an examination of the honor system that is useful and an examination of it that is not, and it has seemed to me that we have not always observed this distinction.

What is Honor?

In the past few months, for example, I have heard the complaint that in applying the honor system we face a vast difficulty because of our inability to define what we mean by honor. I hope that I am not being semantically naïve when I say that I cannot believe we have any real difficulty here. I think that we know in general what we mean by the word, and even if we cannot adequately define it we at least know what is not honest. We know that lying and stealing and cheating are not honest, and we know what lying and stealing and cheating are. The honor system was never intended to be the object of metaphysical or semantic speculation. It is a very practical system of assuring that honorable behavior shall be the rule of life here, and to introduce into it questions which lie outside its province is to weaken it without purpose.

A second kind of unhelpful criticism is the demand to have the application of the honor system described in the most minute details, to indicate precisely the boundary between the area where it applies and the area where it does not apply.

We need, of course, to know where we stand, and obviously we must state what offenses are punishable and what are not. But there is a danger in wishing to be too specific. Just as the desire to know exactly what pages of the text are included in the examination material encourages one to study only what is absolutely essential, so too does the insistence on minutely describing the application of the honor system encourage one to avoid any unnecessary honesty. Again I hope that I am not being naïve when I say that I think we know the area covered by the honor system. Its strength, we are accustomed to repeating, lies in its not being overworked, in its applying to a fairly restricted and well-informed area. But this has always meant that the honor system is strong because it has not attempted to regulate social conduct. It has never meant that the honor system is strong because it does not demand too much honor of a student. It has never meant that honor can be compartmentalized, that stealing in a dormitory is forbidden but stealing in a fraternity house is permissible. The word integrity suggests, etymologically, wholeness. We cannot have this “wholeness” if our concern is with discovering what dishonorable deeds we can get by with rather than with being honorable in all that we say and do.

Washington and Lee Supports Honor System

Whatever may have been the inadequacies of Washington and Lee students, they have at least made one great and enduring contribution that is the bedrock of everything else—they have developed, administered, supported, and maintained the honor system as a vital force in the University.

If the present and future students wish to make a contribution, they can make no more significant one than continuing the same tradition. But one thing they may not do. They may not regard the honor system as their exclusive possession. It is not theirs alone; it belongs to every student who through the years has faithfully helped establish it as an integral part of our lives. For this reason the enjoyment of it is not simply a right and a privilege, but a solemn responsibility.

As Ruskin said of the architecture of the past, the honor system is not ours to do with as we please; it is ours only to preserve.

“ . . . it belongs to every student who through the years has faithfully helped established it as an integral part of our lives.”

University News

Varsity Scholars Meet Tough Opposition on TV College Bowl

■ HEADLINING fall campus events was the University's opportunity to participate in the General Electric College Bowl program over CBS network television.

Washington and Lee's "varsity scholars" appeared on the program of November 12, and in what can be described best as a tough break in scheduling, they had to engage a four-time winner of the contest, Pomona College of Claremont, Calif.

Under the rules of the program, a team is permitted five victories before it must retire as an "undefeated champion." Pomona had defeated Texas Christian University, Washington University of St. Louis, Hood College, and Amherst College before facing Washington and Lee in its final test.

The Pomona team's experience and stage presence were the deciding factors in its eventual victory over Washington and Lee by a score of 330 to 110.

Only five teams in the four-year history of the television version of the popular quiz program have retired as unbeaten champs, and members of the production staff of the program said the Pomona team was the sharpest ever to appear.

Although Washington and Lee's fine team was unable to upset the champions, it was universally credited with having made a good effort. The Pomona captain paid tribute to the Washington and Lee men in accepting the championship bowl from Quizmaster Allen Ludden, and the general opinion of the winners was that the Generals' "varsity scholars" had provided them with their sternest challenge of their five-week reign.

Washington and Lee's team was composed of senior Rick Anderson of Startex, S. C., juniors Bill Lowry of Hobbs, N. M., and Jim Campbell of St. Petersburg, Fla., and sophomore Tom Lybass, of Jacksonville, Fla.

They were chosen from among some 75 candidates who tried out for places on the team and the trip to New York. A lengthy series of written and oral examinations, given by team coach Frank Parsons, reduced the field to eight finalists from which the four best were chosen on the basis of their broad knowledge of many fields and their ability to recall specific fact with great speed and accuracy.

Alumni will recall that Washington and Lee appeared three times on the radio version of the College Bowl in 1954 and 1955. The most successful team won five times in 1954 before bowing.

THE CAMPUS

■ THE COLLEGE BOWL TEAM wasn't the only team that spent long hours in practice this fall. The University's revitalized debate team devoted some 100 hours of preparation that resulted in the Virginia State Championship in the fall Tau Kappa Alpha Tournament. In winning, the debate team out-argued fourteen teams from ten other Virginia colleges, and several members ranked high individually.

Under its coach, English instructor Bill Chaffin, the debate team has enjoyed a resurgence of interest on the part of Washington and Lee students. Some thirty-four students make up the team and engage in the exhaustive research and practice that enables competent handling of the year's national debate question: "Resolved: That labor organizations be subject to the jurisdiction of antitrust legislation." Long hours have been spent in the Tucker Hall library and in McCormick Library, and team members have sought advice of experts in preparing their arguments.

Among the top performers for Coach Chaffin have been Al Eckes, of Bradford, Pa.; William Noell, of Bluefield, W. Va.; Richard McEnally, of New Bern, N. C.; William Boardman, of Columbus, O.; and John Clark, of Birmingham, Ala.

■ INITIAL ENROLLMENT at Washington and Lee for the 1961-62 school year was 1,185 students, according to Registrar E. H. Howard. It marked an increase of 22 students over the initial enrollment a year ago.

Included were 315 freshmen and 124 law students. A total of 252 Virginians enrolled, along with students from forty-two other states, the District of Columbia, and seven foreign countries.

■ THE UNIVERSITY's eighteen social fraternities pledged 260 freshmen at the conclusion of the annual rush week activity. The figure represented approximately 83 per cent of the first year class. Delta Tau Delta led with 25 pledges.

■ UNDERGRADUATE FINANCIAL AID at the University this year totals $169,922, more than $15,000 more than was extended last year.

Sharing in the aid are 201 students, comprising some 18 per cent of the undergraduate enrollment, according to James D. Farrar, director of student financial aid and scholarships.

The current level of aid continues an upward trend that had its beginning in 1954, when only $44,970 was offered. Two years later, the total was $66,240, and by 1958-59, the level had risen to $119,280.

Among freshmen this year, fifty-nine students are sharing in $54,035 in financial aid.

■ DUKE ELLINGTON and his famous orchestra will play for Washington and Lee's annual Fancy Dress Ball on February 2.

President of the 1962 Fancy Dress Ball is William Ide, a senior from Statesville, N. C.

■ A MOBILE radioisotope laboratory from the Atomic Energy Laboratories at Oak Ridge, Tenn., visited the campus for a two-week instructional period.

Faculty members and advanced science students took part in the basic course in radioisotope techniques. They attended a 90-minute lecture daily, and then engaged in a two-hour laboratory class five days a week.

FACULTY

■ TWO INSTRUCTORS and two visiting lecturers were added to the University faculty for the 1961-62 term.

Edwin M. Curley a graduate of Lafayette College, is an instructor in philosophy; and Jay Laurence Taylor, a graduate of New York University, is an instructor in Romance languages.

Dr. John H. Bennetch and Dr. Thomas E. Weir, both local ministers, were added to the staff as visiting lecturers in classical languages, filling a vacancy created by the death in July of Dr. Earl L. Crum.

The new science building rises steadily.

■ PAXTON DAVIS, associate professor of journalism and communications, is now serving as book editor of the Roanoke Times.

■ DR. MARSHALL W. FISHWICK's latest book is Gentlemen of Virginia, published by Dodd, Mead and Company of New York. It is Dr. Fishwick's tenth book and his sixth about the Old Dominion.

An article by Dr. Fishwick about the hill folk of Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee appeared in the November issue of the Ford Times. It carried the title of "Conjur Country," and dealt with the colorful superstitions and life of the people who live in the upper regions of the neighboring states.

Dr. Fishwick also was the author of several leading articles in the Roanoke Times' 75th Anniversary editions. A native of Roanoke, Dr. Fishwick's articles described the growth and progress of Southwest Virginia's leading city. Dr. Fishwick is professor of American Studies at Washington and Lee.

■ DR. EDGAR W. SPENCER, head of the Department of Geology, is the author of two textbooks in his field which are scheduled for publication by T. Y. Crowell early in 1962.

Both lengthy works, one deals with Basic Concepts of Physical Geology, while the other deals in Basic Concepts of Historical Geology.

■ THE CIVIL WAR DIARIES of David Hunter Strother, popular writer and artist better known as "Porte Crayon," have been edited by Dr. Cecil D. Eby, Jr., assistant professor of English, and published by the University of North Carolina Press.

The volume, entitled A Virginia Yankee in the Civil War, is the third by Dr. Eby dealing with the Old Dominion native who fought for the Union during the war. His earlier works include The Old South Illustrated, a Strother anthology, and Porte Crayon: The Life of David Hunter Strother.

■ DR. CHARLES F. PHILLIPS, JR., continues to appear frequently as an author in the nation's leading economic journals. His newest byline appeared in The Southern Economic Journal over an article entitled, "Workable Competition in the Synthetic Rubber Industry."

Dr. Phillips is building a reputation as one of the nation's brightest young minds in the field of government and business. He is the son of the president of Bates College in Maine and holds an assistant professorship at Washington and Lee.

■ ROBERT STEWART, associate professor of fine arts, was elected recently to the board of trustees of the Bennington Composers Conference and Chamber Music Center in Vermont.

UNDERGRADUATES

■ FRESHMAN SHANNON JUNG of Alexandria, La., won the alumni award at Freshman Camp for being able to identify the most fellow campers by name at the conclusion of the three-day outing. The award is sponsored by the Alumni Association to recognize and preserve the speaking tradition on the Washington and Lee campus.

■ THE FACULTY agreed to authorize the organization of a Student Control Committee which will assist the University's Administrative Committee in matters relating to student misconduct in Lexington and elsewhere.

The new student group, whose formation was requested by the student Executive Committee, will have authority to handle minor disciplinary matters, but its work will be subject to review by University officials.

Previous attempts to delegate

University Host

To V.F.I.C.

WASHINGTON AND LEE University was host on September 23 to the Trustees of the Virginia Foundation of Independent Colleges and to the presidents of the eleven Old Dominion colleges which, with Washington and Lee, make up its membership.

The visit to the campus was the first of a series of annual meetings planned by the VFIC on the campuses of member institutions.

The trustees are afforded an opportunity to observe first-hand the colleges in whose behalf they work in soliciting support for higher education among Virginia corporations, partnerships and businessmen.

In eight years, VFIC supporters have added $2,944,628 to the instructional resources of the twelve member colleges.

University Host

To Parents

THE LARGEST ATTENDANCE in the seven-year history of Washington and Lee's popular Parents' Weekend was recorded on October 27-30 when 1,050 parents and other guests took part in a full three-day program.

The busy schedule included a meeting of the Parents' Advisory Council and the rejuvenation of the annual Parents' Fund which had been inactive during the University Development Program's capital fund campaign.

Other activities included a report on the University by President Cole and his chief administrative officers, personal conferences with individual professors, guided campus tours, lectures by professors on subjects of timely interest, a reception at the President's Home, and luncheon in Evans Dining Hall.

Above, l-r, DEAN GILLIAM and CLARENCE J. ROBINSON of Alexandria; WILLIAM E. BLEWETT, JR., of Newport News, PRESIDENT COLE, and unidentified VFIC trustee; VFIC President DR. SAMUEL R. SPENCER, JR., and Executive Secretary LEA BOOTH, '40. Right, RECTOR JAMES R. CASKIE, '06, Hollins President and MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN, JR., and VFIC Chairman and MRS. STUART T. SAUNDERS of Roanoke visit Lee Chapel and meet custodian MISS MARY HAMILTON.

Right, Parents' Advisory Council Chairman RICHARD T. EDWARDS of Roanoke with PRESIDENT COLE, DEANS PUSEY and GILLIAM; Senior ELLIOTT MAYNARD of Portland, Maine, and his parents; PROFESSOR ROBERT KENNEY and parents in conference. Below, PROFESSORS CHARLES PHILLIPS and LELAND MCCLOUD, in center, with MR. and MRS. JOHN J. SMITH of Danville, Virginia; a busy Colonnade scene.

The parents of 491 students, or forty-six per cent of the student body, attended the weekend.

greater authority to the students in the control of conduct breaches have met with less than perfect results. In approving the new body, the faculty placed its status on a trial basis.

■ TWO SENIORS have been endorsed by the faculty as candidates for Rhodes Scholarships. They are Rosewell Page, of Beaverdam, Va., and Stephen W. Rutledge, of Middletown, Ohio.

Page is a B.A. candidate, while Rutledge is seeking the B.S. in Commerce degree. Both are honor students, and in the opinion of Dr. Fitzgerald Flournoy, chairman of the University's Rhodes committee and a former Rhodes Scholar himself, they are "extremely well-qualified."

Jon B. McLin, a 1960 graduate, was the last Washington and Lee student to receive one of the coveted awards for study at Oxford.

■ KENNETH R. BOIARSKY, of Louisville, Ky., was elected freshman class representative to the Executive Committee, while Thurmond Bishop, of Greenwood, S. C., was chosen the Executive Committeeman from the freshman law class.

■ JOHN SOPER, a senior majoring in German and physics, participated in an undergraduate training program at the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies this summer. Recommended for the position by the University's Department of Physics, Soper worked under the supervision of Dr. Robert C. Block.

SPEAKERS

■ AMONG the notable speakers who visited the campus during the first months of the new school year were: Dr. Louis Wright, director of the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D. C., who spoke on "Shakespeare for the Layman."

Dr. Kenneth E. Boulding, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, who spoke on ethical problems of capitalist and socialist development in two addresses before a Seminar in Religion and Economics.

Dr. Taylor Cole, Duke University professor of political science, who spoke on "The New Governments of West Africa." He is the brother of President Cole.

Howard Adams of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, who spoke on "The Presence of the Past."

George F. Carter, chairman of the Isaiah Bowman Department of Geography at Johns Hopkins University, who spoke on "A Fable in Reverse."

Sean O'Faolain, Irish critic and author of fiction, who spoke on "Trial by Pleasure" under the sponsorship of the Department of English and Phi Beta Kappa.

■ THE SEMINARS IN LITERATURE series brought to the campus controversial British author Colin Wilson and author Montgomery Beligion. Wilson discussed "The Younger Generation of Writers in Europe," while Beligion talked about "The Aesthetic Delusion."

THOMAS B. BRYANT, JR.

ANDREW H. BAUR, JR.

■ A ST. LOUIS INDUSTRIALIST and an Orangeburg, S. C., attorney have been named to the Alumni Board of Trustees, bringing the board to its full membership of twelve as authorized by changes in the association's charter. The board originally had eight members.

They are Andrew H. Baur, Jr., president of Industrial Properties, Inc. in St. Louis, and Thomas B. Bryant, Jr., of Orangeburg.

Baur's term expires in June, 1963. Bryant will serve until June, 1964.

A member of the class of 1937,

Baur has served as president of the St. Louis alumni chapter. During World War II he served in the military intelligence branch of the U.S. Air Force. He is the father of four children.

Bryant, who received his bachelor of laws degree from Washington and Lee in 1928, is a former South Carolina state senator. He was judge of the Orangeburg City Court for six years and has served in the state House of Representatives. His son, T. B. Bryant, III, received his LL.B. from the University last June.

Homecoming and Opening Dances Combine for a Colorful Weekend

A Good Time For All

Except Joe McCutcheon, '51

FOR PROBABLY the first time in the University's history, Homecoming was combined with Opening Dances, resulting in an exciting weekend for alumni and students. Colorful football and rock 'n' roll music were the ingredients which brought record crowds to the campus for the occasion. The campus was traditionally adorned with creative and imaginative fraternity house decorations. Four houses were awarded prizes with SPE getting the nod for first place and Sigma Nu, Beta, and ZBT following in close order.

Friday night's pageant featured a "pep" rally in front of the brilliantly-lighted Doremus Gymnasium with Cy Young, retired Alumni Secretary and former W&L great, sharing the spotlight with the judging of eighteen candidates for Homecoming Queen. Inside, the resounding beat of three different "combo" groups was "warming up" to the occasion. During intermission of the concert, a dark-eyed brunette from Sweet Briar, Miss Jean Inge, was crowned Queen.

In spite of drizzling rain Saturday morning, alumni began arriving in force—some from such distances as Miami, Florida; Missouri; and Alamo, California. After a warm reception at a morning coffee in the President's home, some 419 alumni and their families joined in Evans Dining Hall for luncheon and pre-game conversation.

Clearing skies over Wilson Field prevailed throughout the game as the Generals wrapped up their second consecutive Homecoming win, this time over Randolph-Macon. McLaughlin's "untouchables" were determined to stay in the win column and within 10 minutes of the first quarter had a margin of 21-0 over alumnus Joe McCutcheon's Yellow Jackets. Halftime activities included a well-drilled high school band from Waynesboro, presentation of the Homecoming Queen, and a second-place finish by W&L's cross-country team in a three-way meet, despite the individual triumph of the Generals' Mike Shank in record time for the course.

At the final whistle, the Generals led, 43-0, and the large crowd dispersed for the evening entertainment.

Alumni joined on the mezzanine of the Robert E. Lee Hotel for a reception where talk of "the undefeated" was rampant. Both alumni and students attended the evening dances in the gymnasium where Lloyd Price and his orchestra supplied the music. As the sun rose Sunday, alumni and students agreed the "two for one" weekend was highly successful and one of the year's finest.

Sigma Phi Epsilon's winning decoration.

"Good Men Willing To Serve"

By MAJOR EDWARD ROXBURY
Professor of Military Science and Tactics

THE RESERVE OFFICER Training Corps started its eleventh year at Washington and Lee this fall. While this anniversary hardly belongs in the same ranks as the Civil War Centennial, it does seem an appropriate time to review the program as it operates at Washington and Lee.

ROTC follows the same general pattern at W&L as it does at the many other colleges and universities throughout the country which have a voluntary program. However, the Army purposely leaves the day-by-day specifics of operation open for adjustment to fit the particular circumstances of the university involved. As a consequence, just as Washington and Lee has developed its own History Department, so it has its own Military Science Department.

Since the program is voluntary, the immediate problem at the beginning of each year is freshman enrollment. This usually runs slightly more than half of the incoming class. A sincere effort is made to insure that all freshmen understand what the ROTC program offers. It is advantageous both to the student and the Department that freshmen do not enroll unless they have a real desire to participate actively and continue this participation until they receive a reserve commission.

The sophomore class is usually about thirty per cent smaller than the freshman class. This attrition is due both to students who do not find ROTC desirable for them and to the policy of the department of dropping others who apparently do not have an aptitude for the military.

The freshman and sophomore years make up a block of instruction which constitutes the Basic Course. The curriculum for this course is as follows:

FRESHMAN YEAR

Organization of Army & ROTC
Individual Weapons & Marksmanship
US Army & National Security
European Military History
Leadership Lab (Drill)

SOPHOMORE CLASS

US Military History
Map & Aerial Photo Reading
Introduction to Operations and Basic Tactics
Leadership Lab (Drill)

PRESIDENT COLE, accompanied by MAJOR ROXBURY, commends distinguished cadets at the annual "President's Day" review.

New recruits learn how to "dress right" under the instruction of upperclass officers.

The next two years of ROTC are grouped together as the Advanced Course. The reason for this grouping is the very different relationship between the student and the Army once he enters the Advanced Course. For the first time he comes under a contractual arrangement which obliges him to remain in the program while, at the same time, he begins receiving a monthly payment in addition to a uniform. Also he has embarked in the last stage of training which is going to bring his reserve commission. Entrance into the Advanced Course remains voluntary, but, since not all students who want to enter can be accepted because of a quota system set up by the Department of the Army, it is also very selective. Generally, about seventy per cent of the qualified applicants are accepted.

The courses taught in the Advanced Course are designed to meet the needs of the future officers as opposed to those in the Basic Course which are more concerned with an initial understanding of the military and the acquiring of certain individual skills. The courses taught are:

JUNIOR YEAR

- Leadership
- Military Teaching Principles
- Branches of the Army
- Tactics and Communication

Pre-camp Orientation
Drill and Command

SENIOR YEAR

- Operations
- Logistics
- Military Law
- Army Administration
- US Role in World Affairs
- Officers Orientation
- Leadership Lab (Drill)

To give the Advanced Course student a chance to exercise his military knowledge, he must attend a six-week summer camp at the end of his junior year. This year, Washington and Lee cadets went to Fort Bragg, North Carolina, where they participated in everything from tactical problems to K.P. While summer camp may never replace the Grand Tour in popularity, it does perform the important function of providing practical experience in areas which have previously been covered only in the classroom.

To supplement this summer camp experience three field exercises are conducted here at Washington and Lee. Last year, these included a night problem, a platoon attack exercise, and work with helicopters.

The four years of training and education in ROTC culminate in the commissioning ceremony held just before graduation. Each year approximately fifty officers are commissioned in all branches of the service except the Medical and Judge Advocate General Corps. After commissioning, these new reserve officers go on to serve in the active army for six months or two years on the same basis as the other 14,500 officers produced each year from ROTC units, such as the one at VMI, all over the country.

In addition to producing reserve officers, Washington and Lee also furnishes the regular army with two or three career officers a year. Through the Distinguished Military Graduate program a Washington and Lee student may enter the regular army if he is qualified and desires to do so.

Since its inception on the campus there have been 470 students commissioned in the Army reserve and fifteen commissioned in the regular army. Comparably, Washington and Lee, with a Corps of Cadets of around 300, has one of the highest commissioning rates in the United States.

In the coming years when it will be more important than ever that the Armed Forces of this country have high quality, dedicated officers, Washington and Lee, through its Military Science Department, can, as it always has, continue to provide that most important ingredient of all—good men willing to serve.

You're In The Cards!

Initial Response
To Questionnaire
On Jobs Is Good

AT FIRST there were 300 per day, then 400, and one day 552 Occupational Questionnaires were returned. More than 4,000 returns in all were received in the first two weeks after mailing, approximately 40 per cent of the total number of questionnaires originally mailed. It is an excellent start but there is a long way to go to reach the 100 per cent mark of 10,966 alumni. Reminders will be mailed soon, but in the meantime, alumni are urged to look up that blue questionnaire and return it promptly before the year ends.

As the returns come in, they are being coded. IBM machines are busy "punching" the information that later will be used to develop statistical data on former students and their activities. While there are roughly 11,000 alumni for whom there are addresses, the total number of IBM cards will approach 70,000. Various sets of cards are necessary to collate the different statistical programs.

On the whole, the questionnaires have been fully and accurately completed. Some adjustments and clarification may be required at a later date.

An important aspect of the Occupational File is the interest and enthusiasm of the alumni as reflected in the good early returns. If the rate of progress continues, usable data in significant quantity will be ready by Spring.

Collectively, this occupational record will form a more accurate profile of Washington and Lee alumni and their careers. Individually, the record will provide a more complete description of the alumnus as a person. It will become a part of his permanent file and will be a lasting account of his achievements.

From Executive Secretary Bill Washburn comes this message: "Be one who cares. Return your questionnaire!"

In Washington

Men Behind The Scenes

THE OCCUPATIONAL FILE CARDS FOR four Washington and Lee alumni might well indicate "men behind the scenes in Washington."

Their titles vary, but each holds an important administrative post in the office of a Virginia Senator or Representative.

The senior member of the group, from the standpoint of Washington service, is Robert S. Bradford, '55, administrative assistant to Rep. Richard E. Poff, veteran Republican legislator from the Sixth District. He has been with Congressman Poff since 1957, and is a native of Blacksburg, Va.

Robert B. McNeil, '47, is also from Blacksburg originally, and has served as legislative assistant to Senator A. Willis Robertson since 1960.

Andrew H. McCutcheon, Jr.,

Washington and Lee's Congressional aides, standing on the steps of the Capitol, are, left to right, ROBERT B. McNEIL, '47, ROBERT E. BRADFORD, '55, ANDREW H. McCUTCHEON, JR., '48, and NORMAN L. DOBYNS, '54.

'48, formerly of Charleston, W. Va., but later of Richmond, has been executive secretary to Rep. J. Vaughan Gary since 1960.

Norman L. Dobyms, '54, a native of Newport News, joined Rep. Thomas N. Downing's staff as his administrative assistant in 1960, also.

All four are former newsmen, and all majored in journalism at Washington and Lee. Their journalistic backgrounds are particularly valuable in handling the various press contacts that Senators and Congressmen must maintain. But this is only one of many responsibilities that make the job of a Congressional aide a challenging and interesting occupation.

Alumni Sons at Freshman Camp: Which Is Yours?

CHAPTER CORRESPONDENTS

Appalachian—Judge M. M. Long, Jr., '43, St. Paul National Bank Building, St. Paul, Virginia

Augusta-Rockingham—J. B. Stombeck, '41, Box 594, Waynesboro, Virginia

Atlanta—Farris P. Hotchkiss, '58, 370 Alberta Terrace, N.E., Apt. 2-D

Baltimore—John D. Mayhew, '26, 38 Northwood Drive, Timonium, Maryland

Birmingham—John V. Coe, '25, 1631 North 3rd Street

Charleston, West Virginia—Ruge P. DeVan, Jr., '34, United Carbon Building

Chattanooga—Gerry U. Stephens, '50, 2720 Haywood Avenue

Chicago—Charles A. Strahorn, '28, Winnetka Trust and Savings Bank, Winnetka, Illinois

Charlotte—John Schuber, Jr., '44, 1850 Sterling Road, Charlotte 9, N. C.

Southern Ohio—Robert F. Wersel, '42, 1925 Rockwood Drive, Cincinnati 8, Ohio

Cleveland—Hal R. Gates, Jr., '48, 19801 Wickfield Road, Cleveland 22

Cumberland Valley—James L. Rimler, '31, N. Court St., Frederick, Maryland

Danville—C. Richmond Williamson, '51, P. O. Box 497

Florida West Coast—Charles P. Lykes, '39, P. O. Box 2879, Tampa, Florida

Houston—Robert I. Peebles, '57, 2344 South Boulevard

Jacksonville—A. Lee Powell, Jr., '50, 34 Buckman Building

Kansas City—W. H. Leedy, '49, 15 West 10th Street

Louisville—Robert W. Vaughan, '50, Suite 1149, Starks Building

Lynchburg—Frank H. Callahan, Jr., '52, 1521 Parkland Drive, Lynchburg

Mid-South—J. Hunter Lane, Jr., '52, 727 Commerce Title Bldg., Memphis, Tenn.

New Orleans—James W. Hammett, '40, 1215 Prytaina Street, New Orleans 40, Louisiana

New York—Robert E. Steele, III, '41, 7 Pine Ridge Road, Town of Rye, Portchester, New York

New River and Greenbrier—Harry E. Moran, '13, Beckley, West Virginia

Norfolk, Virginia—Ferdinand Phillips, Jr., '51, 1705 Banning Rd., Norfolk

North Texas—J. B. Sowell, Jr., '54 Edwards, Fortson, Sowell and Akin, 23rd Floor Adolphus Tower, Dallas 2, Texas

Northern Louisiana—Robert U. Goodman, '50, 471 Leo Street, Shreveport, Louisiana

Peninsula—John P. Bowen, Jr., '51, The Daily Press, Inc., 215-217 25th Street, Newport News, Virginia

Palm Beach - Ft. Lauderdale—John F. Ginestra, '44, 2748 N.E. 20th Street Ft. Lauderdale

Philadelphia—Stephen Berg, '58, 535 Pelham Road

Piedmont—A. M. Pullen, Jr., '36, 203 Southeastern Building, Greensboro, N. C.

Pittsburgh—A. M. Doty, '35, Quail Hill Road, Fox-Chapel, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Richmond—C. W. Pinnell, Jr., '42, Pinnell's, Incorporated, 701-703 West Broad Street, Richmond 20, Virginia

Roanoke—William R. Holland, '50, Mountain Trust Bank, P. O. Box 1411

San Antonio—John W. Goode, Jr., '43, 201 N. St. Mary's Street

St. Louis—Albert H. Hamel, '50, 433 Polo Drive, Clayton 5, Missouri

Tri-State—Joe W. Dingess, '21, 151 Kings Highway, Huntington, West Virginia

Tulsa—Phillip R. Campbell, '57, 603 Phil-tower Bldg., Tulsa, Oklahoma

Upper Potomac—Thomas N. Berry, '38, 15 N. Allegany St., Cumberland, Maryland

Washington, D. C.—Arthur Clarendon Smith, Jr., '41, 1313 You Street, N.W.

Wilmington, Delaware—A. Robert Abrahams, Jr., '37, 303 Waverly Rd.

If you move, contact the nearest chapter correspondent for news of meetings.

CLASS NOTES

1902

As a posthumous award to Dr. WILLIAM ALLAN, a medal was given this year to Mrs. Allan of Charlotte, North Carolina, at the annual meeting of the American Society of Human Genetics. The Allan medal will be awarded annually hereafter for "outstanding research in human genetics." Until his death in 1943, Dr. Allan was a tireless worker in uncovering the relationship of heredity to disease. His practice in Charlotte included patients in the most remote and simple dwellings in the mountainous surrounding areas where he found one of the few spots in the United States where hereditary disease could be located in quantity.

The study of hereditary disease became a compelling force in his life, so much so that he kept "pedigrees" of his mountain patients and visited their relatives in every part of the state to trace the incidence of their genetic diseases. In addition to private practice and individual research, Dr. Allen organized the department of medical genetics at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

1905

Late in July HANEY BERLIN CONNER of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, was presented with a 50-year Masonic membership pin. This presentation was made to Mr. Conner by Masonic officials of the state of Louisiana because of his years of out-

Carlton E. Jewett—Resolution of Richmond Chapter

■ "THE LANGUAGE that we speak seems insufficient to measure the sorrow and sense of loss by the alumni in the passing of Judge Carleton Ellsworth Jewett, Law Class of '21, our esteemed and valued friend and member of the Richmond Chapter of the Washington and Lee Alumni.

"His death on August 24, 1961 was a profound loss to his host of friends. We are all poorer by his absence.

"In his association with us and with Washington and Lee he was always generous with his time. His loyalty, good judgment, high integrity and leadership are reflected in the growth of our alumni chapter today. He seldom if ever, missed any of our meetings. His devotion and enthusiasm were inspirational.

"A goodly company will hold the Judge in grateful and affectionate remembrance as a Christian gentleman, a leader in his church, who won hearts and attained nobility in his capacity for doing the many little things for so many that made life for the beneficiaries thereof happier and less burdensome. His amiable manner and the warmth and sincerity of his friendship will long be treasured in the members of this organization.

"BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED: That a copy of this resolution be sent to his bereaved family as an expression of our heartfelt sympathy.

"BE IT FUTHER RESOLVED: That this memorial be made a part of this meeting and that a copy thereof be sent to our alumni secretary, Mr. W. C. Washburn in Lexington, Virginia.

Reno S. Harp, III, '54; E. J. McCarty, '42; C. W. Pinnell, Jr., '46; John F. Kay, Jr., '51.

standing work in Masonic circles, particularly as grand master of the Masonic Lodge of the State of Louisiana. Beginning in 1922, Mr. Conner was in the state legislature for three consecutive terms. He was then elected treasurer of the State of Louisiana and afterwards was employed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. He was also a state bank examiner until his retirement two years ago.

1907

The maternal ancestors of WILLIAM F. SEMPLE for four generations have been concerned with the local affairs of the Choctaw Indian tribe in Oklahoma. Mr. Semple is now serving as Choctaw tribal attorney for the third time, having been appointed by President Taft in 1913, President Wilson in 1918, and again in 1950. Mr. Semple's relationship with the Choctaws may be traced as far back as 1774 when his great-great-grandfather lived with the tribe and was appointed interpreter by President George Washington. In 1932 he came to Tulsa as chief counselor for the Deep Rock Oil Company but retired from this position in 1949. The Tulsa attorney is an authority on and has written a book about Indian land laws, and currently he is engaged in winding up the tribal affairs of the Choctaws and disposing of their property consisting of many tracts of valuable land and of oil and gas mineral rights.

1909

CARL HINTON has been elected for his third term to the city council of Hinton, West Virginia. The council elected him president, which means that Mr. Hinton carries the duties of vice-mayor of his community.

1912

LEONARD B. RANSON retired seven years ago and makes his residence in St. Petersburg, Florida. For many years he was district manager of the Equitable Life Insurance Company in Baltimore.

1913

WILLIAM TAYLOR THOM, JR., has written an essay for the "Science and the Future of Mankind" which is sponsored by the World Academy of Art and Science. The work is entitled "Science and Engineering—and the Future of Man" and was published in July, 1961. Dr. Thom is professor of Geology, emeritus, at Princeton University.

1914

COL. FRANCIS PICKENS MILLER, well-known Virginia political figure and former Rockbridge resident, has recently been appointed special assistant to Philip H. Combs, the Assistant Secretary of State for Education and Cultural Affairs. A former consultant to the Department of State with a broad background in international affairs, Colonel Miller will serve as the liaison officer between the assistant secretary and voluntary and educational groups in the field of international exchange programs.

Prior to World War II he served ten years as chairman of the World's Student Christian Federation with headquarters in Geneva. He then became organization director of the Council of Foreign Relations in New York City.

After a distinguished career in World War II he served in Berlin as executive officer for intelligence for the U. S. Military Government. A former member of the Virginia House of Delegates from Fairfax County, Colonel Miller has been a leader in the Virginia Democratic party for many years. He is married to the journalist, Helen Hill Miller, and they have two sons, Andrew who practices law in Abingdon and the Reverend Robert Miller who is a minister in Tuskegee, Alabama. Colonel Miller has served on the board of visitors of the U. S. Military Academy; on the board of the College of William and Mary; on the board of St. John's College at Annapolis; and is now a member of the board of Mary Baldwin College.

■ WILLIAM L. "PIN" WEBSTER, '12, veteran Schenectady automobile (Ford) dealer, was named New York State Automobile Dealer of the Year at a special award luncheon at the Concord Hotel in Kiamesha Lake, October 24th. The award, the second of its kind, was the highlight of the 38th annual convention of the New York State Automobile Dealers' Association.

The Dealer of the Year Award was presented to Mr. Webster in recognition of his outstanding leadership, meritorious contributions to the automotive industry, and leadership in public service.

Mr. Webster, a former president of the Washington and Lee Alumni Association, celebrated his forty-fifth anniversary last July as the owner of the Ford dealership in Schenectady. He is a member of the board of directors of the Schenectady Trust Company and president of the city's Hotel Corporation.

As chairman of the Board of Visitors for Union College, Mr. Webster has been instrumental in establishing the John Quinlan Memorial Scholarship Fund. He has served on a number of important industry committees, including the Ford Dealers National Council.

New York's lieutenant governor MALCOLM WILSON congratulates WILLIAM L. "PIN" WEBSTER, '12.

CLASS NOTES

food package labels state the type of fat contents.

1926

The financial vice-president and treasurer of the Shenandoah Life Insurance Company, THOMAS THORN MOORE, has been elected to the company's Board of Directors. Aside from his position with Shenandoah Life, Mr. Moore has been unusually active in insurance and banking circles. He has been chief examiner for the Virginia Bureau of Insurance, a director of the Virginia Development Corporation, a member of the Richmond Society of Financial Analysts, and a member of the Joint Tax Committee of the American Life Convention and the Life Insurance Association of America.

1927

Since 1927 JOE W. PITTS has been with the firm of Brown-Roberts Hardware and Supply Company, Ltd., in Alexandria, Louisiana. This big Louisiana firm is now completing its sixtieth year, and the Pitts family has been a part of the successful growth of the business since the beginning, and today Joe is chief executive.

■ ON AUGUST 1, 1961, Robert D. Powers, '29, attained the rank of Admiral in the Navy. This promotion has come to Admiral Powers after a distinguished career in service.

His training and experience as an attorney enabled him to accept assignments as a legal officer in Resigning after seven years as U.S. Attorney for the Western District of Virginia, JOHN O. STRICKLER is engaged with his son in general practice of law under the firm name of Strickler and Strickler in Roanoke.

1928

WILLIAM P. WOODLEY of Norfolk was elected to the board of directors of the Shenandoah Life Insurance Company at the fall meeting in October. Mr. Woodley has been president of the Columbian Peanut Company since 1947. Active in state and national organizations, he is a member of the board of the Department of Conservation & Economic Development of Virginia, the National Association of Manufacturers, and serves on the board of the Norfolk Bank of Commerce, the Norfolk General Hospital, and the United Communities Fund.

1929

Since 1953 JOHN D. STANARD has been the publisher-editor of Tennessee Food Field. This publication is issued for the food industry of Tennessee. John also serves as a roving correspondent for many national business magazines and as a con-various phases of duty: Assistant Security Officer in Trinidad; in the office of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy in Washington; Counsel for the Judge Advocate Naval Court of Inquiry to Investigate the Japanese Attack on Pearl Harbor; District Legal Officer for the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk; and from 1950 to 1961, duties in the Office of the Judge Advocate General leading to his present designation as Deputy and Assistant Judge Advocate General, Navy Department.

Admiral Powers holds the American Defense Service Medal, with Star, the American Campaign Medal, the World War II Victory Medal, and the National Defense Service Medal.

While at Washington and Lee, Admiral Powers served as a member of the Student Body Executive Committee and was active in Pi Kappa Phi, Phi Alpha Delta, and Omicron Delta Kappa fraternities.

He is a native of Gloucester County, Virginia.

1916

JOSE CAMINERO, a former journalist, publisher, and career diplomat in Cuba, is now living in Coral Gables, Florida. Prior to the Castro regime, Jose was at one time Cuban ambassador to Nicaragua and later to Colombia.

1917

CHARLES WALLACE McNITT has opened an office for the practice of dermatology in Charlottesville, Virginia.

1918

Longevity records of many kinds have been set by B. F. TILLAR, member of a hardware firm in Emporia, Virginia. He is most proud of a 33-year perfect attendance record at Sunday School and of holding official positions in the First Presbyterian Church for 35 years. Mr. Tillar's interest in fire-fighting has resulted in service with the Emporia volunteer fire department spanning a 40-year period. He has also been president of a building and loan association, on the Board of Directors of the Citizens National Bank, past commander of the American Legion Post 46, past president of the Emporia Rotary Club, and past president of the Virginia Retail Hardware Association.

1923

A prominent Logan, West Virginia, attorney, CLAUDE A. JOYCE, has assumed duties as assistant attorney-general of the state of West Virginia. Mr. Joyce's long experience in the practice of law suits him for this position. He has served as Logan city attorney and police judge, and in the fall of 1933 was elected prosecuting attorney of Logan County in which office he served until last December. Mr. Joyce also has been active throughout the years in Democratic Party affairs, serving one term as Logan County Democratic Executive Committee Chairman.

1925

BORN: ROBERT ADAM FULWILER, JR., and Mrs. Fulwiler announce the birth of their son, Robert A. Fulwiler, III, on March 7, 1961. The Fulwilers have an older daughter and live in Wilmington, Delaware, where Bob is a practicing attorney.

A New York heart specialist and a leader in the American Heart Association, DR. HERBERK POLLACK is quoted extensively in the October 27th issue of the Wall Street Journal on the question: Can changes in the diet help prevent heart attacks? The article is in the interest of two major medical research projects on the question. In line with the research on this heart problem, Dr. Pollack is advocating that

■ AN OVERFLOW CROWD of lawyers witnessed the swearing in of J. Robert Martin, '31, to the federal bench on September 29th. Judge Martin was sworn in as "roving" judge for the eastern and western districts of South Carolina, one of seventy-three new federal judge-ships approved by Congress this year. Senator Olin Johnston of South Carolina presented Martin with the pen President Kennedy used in signing the legislation and the nomination of Martin to be a federal judge.

Previous to his election as judge of South Carolina's 13th Judicial Circuit in 1944, Judge Martin served in the state House of Representatives. During the past eighteen years he has presided in every county in South Carolina and knows almost every member of the bar in the state.

The syndicated columnist, W. D. Workman, in devoting an entire column to Judge Martin's appointment writes: "A foregone conclusion became an accomplished fact Friday when Judge J. Robert Martin of Greenville became South Carolina's newest, youngest, and biggest federal district judge.... The fact that he has done so, however, is more a tribute to his legal and judicial ability—and industry—than to the political considerations which sometimes dictate the choice of judges... and it was his diligence and capacity, not his political connections, which won for him the endorsement of local bar associations throughout the entire state.

"... he is no court-room dictator, but he runs a strict and straight court. His height, about six feet two, and his weight, topping 200 pounds, make him an impressive figure, but he retains the agile mobility reminiscent of the days when he was varsity tackle of the Washington and Lee football team.... Judge Martin is expected to bring to the federal bench a new vigor.... He also brings to the bench a rare degree of political acceptability."

sultant to food manufacturers and advertising agencies in the Southern food field. He lives at "Wild Acres" atop Lookout Mountain, on Bagby Lane. Mrs. Stanard is Executive Assistant at the Chattanooga Public Library.

JOHN BELL TOWILL of Augusta, Georgia, is district governor for Rotary. He is also president of The Home Federal Savings and Loan Company and is a former vestryman and lay-reader of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

1930

As head of the office of Civil Defense Mobilization, Transportation, Region III, Thomasville, Georgia, CHARLES WILBUR COCKE has been asked to address the Canaveral Chapter of the Defense Transportation Association of Cocoa Beach. Charley is a transportation coordinator and as such has served in the engineering departments of several railroads, pipeline companies, and state dock offices. He also had nine years of active service in the Transportation Corps of the U.S. Army and fulfilled an assignment under the Chief of Transportation Traffic Control Division, Washington, D.C. After duty in World War II as a member of the staff of various military Transportation Schools, Charley was relieved from active duty with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and joined the Federal Defense

Administration office, Region III, as regional transportation officer.

HOWELL FRANK SNOGRASS is District Sales Manager for the Champion Spark Plug Company in Houston, Texas.

1931

WILLIAM CARVER WAGNER is President of the York Bank and Trust Company in York, Pennsylvania. The result of the merger of two banks several years ago, The York Bank and Trust Company is now the largest operation in this area. Bill has been with the banking business for a number of years.

1932

BORN: ARTHUR B. SCHARFF and Mrs. Scharff announce the arrival of a daughter, Kathleen Clark, on September 30, 1961. Art is in the American Express Travel Office in Cincinnati, Ohio.

JOHN CLINTON HARRIS is president of the Alabama Wholesale Grocers Association. He and Mrs. Harris have one son and three daughters and reside in Scottsboro, Alabama.

1933

CLAUDE A. LAVARRE and his family have moved from Medellin, Colombia, South America, to the capital of Colombia, Bogota. Claude is with the Singer Sewing Machine Company, and this move was made so that the head office of the Singer Company for Colombia could be located in the capital of the country. Claude has lived in many cities in South America since he joined the Singer Company in 1934.

1937

WILLARD E. PETERSON has been in the finance business for twenty-two years. For sixteen years he was a manager of a large finance chain and now owns his own company, Peterson Finance Company, in Duluth, Minnesota. "Pete" and Mrs. Peterson have two daughters—the eldest is a sophomore at the University of Minnesota and the youngest is in junior high school.

Since receiving his degree JOHN MALCOLM McCARDELL has been associated with the Potomac Edison Company in Frederick, Maryland. In July he was elected assistant secretary and assistant treasurer of the company.

M. COWL RIDER, JR., advertising copywriter with N. W. Ayers & Son, Inc., Philadelphia, since 1953, has joined the editorial staff of the Wall Street Journal's New York offices. Mr. Rider is a former associate editor of the Richmond (Va.) News Leader.

Among the new class of the Fourth Senior Seminar in Foreign Policy at the Foreign

CLASS NOTES

Service Institute is RICHARD K. STUART. The class was officially opened by Secretary of State Dean Rusk who marked the importance attached to this particular program of in-service training by the State Department. The Senior Seminar is the most advanced training program offered by the Department and is designed to prepare officers to assume positions of highest responsibility in policy recommendations, coordination, and administration at home and abroad. Dick's previous position has been Chief, Southwest Pacific Division, Office of Research Analysis for Asia.

EDWARD G. RAWLS has been appointed a representative of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company. He will be associated with the D. Conrad Little Agency in Norfolk.

■ GERALD M. LIVELY, '38, agent of National Life Insurance Company, is one of eleven selected company representatives from nine states who attended a special home office training school in September in Montpelier, Vermont. He is associated with the firm's general agency in Kansas City, Missouri, Harold E. Goss Company. The National Life school, now in its 64th session, provides two weeks of intensive study and work in various phases of life insurance planning and selling.

Lively was former vice-president and trust officer of the City National Bank and Trust Company and an earlier practicing attorney before entering the insurance profession in 1960. Among his civic, community and professional activities he is the director of the estate planning division of the Law Center of the University of Kansas City. This fall he will lecture on life insurance and estate planning in the adult education program at St. Theresa's College in Kansas City.

After receiving his law degree from the University of Michigan Law School in 1941 he was tax attorney for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for four years be-

Cruise director, WILLIAM H. HUDGINS, recently guided three hundred Americans, tourists on the cruise liner, SS Argentina, through four large Brazilian cities which were in the midst of rebellion. Sight-seeing during the revolution entailed added responsibilities for director, Bill Hudgins, but using all precautionary measures possible, he was able to afford the cruise passengers all the delights of traveling in Brazil. Extensive travel experience came to Bill as he logged his first million miles of globetrotting in the foreign service as a Navy commander in World War II. In the Navy he also served on ex-President Truman's staff and in southern European NATO headquarters.

1938

1939

An extensive business trip in connection with U. S. Steel company insurance has fore joining the City National Bank and Trust Company in 1956. He is a member of the Kansas City and American Bar Associations, the Missouri Bar, and is charter president of the estate planning council of Kansas City. He heads the downtown Kansas City Optimist Club and has been its vice-president and on its board of governors.

He has for many years been an outstanding class agent for the Alumni Fund. He and his wife and two daughters live in Prairie Village, Kansas.

taken CHARLES G. GILMORE to many of the Latin American countries. During July, Charlie visited from one to three days in Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Peru, and Nassau, and covered many intermediate points by plane. Along this route he had occasion to see several alumni. Charlie is with Marsh and McLennan, Incorporated, of Pittsburgh.

VICTOR A. SNOW, JR., former director of sales for the Southeastern Division of Belknap Hardware and Manufacturing Company in Louisville, Kentucky, has been named director of sales and to the board of directors of the Van Camp Hardware and Iron Company of Indianapolis, Indiana. Victor has been associated with Belknap in Louisville for twenty-two years.

In September ALAN BUXTON HOBBS resigned his position as assistant general counsel with the Federal Trade Commission in Washington and joined the legal staff of the American Optical Company in Southbridge, Massachusetts. Upon leaving the Commission, Alan was presented with its Distinguished Service Award by Chairman Paul Rand Dixon for his record in handling the agency's cases in the courts.

1940

When the 100th Division of the Kentucky National Guard leaves Louisville for Ft. Polk, Louisiana, LT. COL. ERNEST WOODWARD, II, will be among its officers. Ernie, a leading attorney in Louisville and past president of the Alumni Association, is a lieutenant colonel in the operational branch of the 2900 man division. The division has been ordered to Ft. Polk, which is in southwest Louisiana about sixty miles southwest of Alexandria. Ernie is among the top officers, the list of whom reads like part of a Who's Who in Kentucky business and industry.

GUILLERMO MOSCOSO, JR., is returning to Puerto Rico where he is associated with DELTEC, an investment banking firm. Bill has been in South America since graduation and most recently in Lima.

On leave of absence as a reporter for the New York Herald-Tribune, FRANCIS SUGRUE is author of a book entitled Popes in the Modern World. Published by Crowell, the work is the story of the lives of six modern Popes who led the Catholic Church into modern times. After serving aboard an LST in World War II, Francis joined the Herald-Tribune where he has held a variety of assignments. He and Mrs. Sugrue have three children.

Luria Bros. & Co. has appointed MERVIN H. LURIA Assistant Regional Vice-president. Luria Bros. is a division of the Ogden Corporation. Mervin, who has been with the company since 1939, will assist in company operations in a broad area encompassing eleven western states, and will remain in charge of Luria's Los Angeles office. He served in the company's Detroit office until 1948, and then moved to the Buffalo office until 1958, when he assumed charge of the Los Angeles office.

1941

MARRIED: JOHN A. GURKIN, JR., and Miss Anne Ireland were married in Christ St. Lukes Church in Norfolk, Virginia, on October 21, 1961. Also in October, John became associated with the firm of Nusbaum and Alfriend in Norfolk for the general practice of law. Entering the field of law as an attorney is a change for John. After a five-year tour of duty in the Navy, he was released in 1946 with the rank of Lieutenant Commander, and for the past ten years he has served in the capacity of president of the Gurkin Electric Company.

JAMES ROGER McCONNELL is associated with the Pangborn Corporation, manufacturers of blast cleaning equipment and abrasives, in Hagerstown, Maryland. Jim is vice-president of the abrasive manufacturing division.

RICHARD W. SMITH, attorney and former mayor of Staunton, has resigned from the City Council after seven years service. His term of office had one more year to run. The resignation was accepted by the Staunton City Council with "deep regret."

As executive manager, KENNETH B. VAN DE WATER, JR., is carrying out the tradition that someone in his family heads the Sentinel Printing Company of Hempstead, Long Island, and Ken takes pride in this fact. At the same time, he is aware of the need for progress in technology and management, and he is an enthusiastic association man, having served as the founding chairman of the Nassau Printers Group and as treasurer and a member of the board of directors of Master Printers Section, NYEPA.

HAL W. SMITH has been appointed Chief of the Department of Otolaryngology of the Kaiser Foundation Hospital and Clinic at Fontana, California.

ARTHUR C. SMITH, JR., was selected for a full "Colonelcy" in the U.S.M.C.R. last February. After serving two years as president of the Washington, D. C., Trucking Association, Art was elected director and vice-president in the Mayflower Warehousemen's Association. Art also has interests other than that of the transfer and storage business, for he is a director in the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Kensington, Maryland, and an organizer and director of a new insurance company in Washington.

1942

BORN: SAM CIENER, JR., and Mrs. Ciener announce the birth of a daughter, Cyd, on September 16, 1961.

EVANS JASPER has been elected to the local Board of Education in Kankakee, Illinois. He is also chairman of the Athletic Committee in this high school which is planning extensive expansive developments.

MERVIN H. LURIA, '40

OSCAR CLEAL was critically wounded in a shooting during an abortive attempt to hijack a Pacific Airlines DC-3 plane on August 2nd in Chico, California. Cleal, formerly of Buffalo, was a Navy pilot in World War II. He and Mrs. Cleal have two children.

1943

In a hard-fought contest, JOHN W. GOODE, JR., of San Antonio was defeated in his race for a congressional seat in the Texas primary in November. In this vote the political spot-light was focussed on Texas, and the race brought attention because of the participation locally of both Vice-President Lyndon Johnson and ex-President Eisenhower.

LAWRENCE C. SULLIVAN, JR., is a partner now in the firm of Baker, Brydon, Reynolds, and Whitt, certified public accountants, and is the manager of the office in Manassas, Virginia.

The new assistant superintendent in the bond department of the American Insurance Group in Newark, N. J., is ERNEST E. SMITH. Ernie went into insurance in 1948 as a claim adjuster and then joined American in 1959 as a supervisor.

After being affiliated with The United Corporation, WILLIAM H. ARMSTRONG is joining Continental Research Corporation as vice-president in charge of research. Continental Research runs the various United Funds, Inc., with assets in excess of one billion dollars.

JACK C. MURRELL was named vice-president of the Commercial National Bank of Shreveport, Louisiana. Jack started his banking career in 1947 with the Continental-American Branch which was later merged with the Commercial National Bank. He is finance officer of the local post of the American Legion, treasurer of the YMCA branch and was chairman of the business division of the United Fund in 1956. He and Mrs. Murrell have three children.

1944

BORN: STANCLIFF CHURCHILL ELMORE and his wife, Betty Buchanan, announce the birth of a son, Stancliff Churchill, Jr., on February 14, 1961. Mr. Elmore is an attorney with the firm of Lambert & Northrop in Washington, D. C.

A former attorney-general of West Virginia, JOHN GEORGE FOX, has been appointed assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Since 1958 John has been a general attorney for the A. T. & T. of West Virginia and has been living in Charleston. Prior to his association with the telephone company, he practiced law in Fayetteville, West Virginia. At the time of this recent appointment, John was also serving on the visiting committee of the College of Law of West Virginia University, as a member of the State Rehabilitation Advisory Council, and on the Executive Council of the West Virginia Bar Association.

LEON HARRIS, JR., received his Master of Arts degree with a major in science from Middle Tennessee State College in August.

1945

DAVID W. FOERSTER has been appointed a member of the Board of Governors of The Florida Bar. David is past president of the Jacksonville Bar Association, 1959-60, and has been active in the committee work of The Florida Bar, serving as chairman of the public relations committee in 1955-56.

1946

MARRIED: FRASER KINGSTON MACMINN and Aleene Merle Barnes were married on July 28, 1961, in Los Angeles, California.

Appointment of GEORGE R. PEGUILLAN to the sales staff of Foilcraft Printing Corporation of West Hempstead, Long Island, was announced in September by the president of the firm. George will be primarily responsible for foil printing sales to the cosmetic industry. Prior to joining Foilcraft, he was associated in various sales posts in the cosmetic field.

JAMES F. BREWSTER has been transferred from Towson, Maryland, to the New York City sales office of the United States Steel Corporation. He resides in Mt. Kisco, New York.

RODNEY M. COOK waged a successful campaign for alderman from the Eighth Ward in Atlanta, Georgia, sweeping to a decisive victory over his opponent. During his school days, Rodney established

Name Your Candidate

In compliance with Article 9 of the By-Laws of the Washington and Lee Alumni, Inc., we are listing below the names of the Nominating Committee for the coming year.

Under the By-Laws, any member of the Association may submit the names of alumni to fill the vacancies on the Alumni Board of Trustees and the alumni representation on the University Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics.

There are three vacancies to be filled on the Alumni Board of Trustees and one vacancy in the alumni representative to the University Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics. These vacancies are to be filled at the June 1962 meeting of the Alumni Association. Members are urged to submit names of their candidates for these offices. The Nominating Committee will close its report on April 9, 1962. Present alumni trustees whose terms expire this year are: Paul M. Shuford, '43, Clark B. Winter, '37, Bernard Levin, '42. The term of Lea Booth, '40, on the University Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics also expires this year.

The Nominating Committee as appointed by the President of Washington and Lee University Alumni, Inc., is as follows:

JOHN BELL TOWILL, '29, Chairman
1015-21 Southern Finance Building
Augusta, Georgia

WILLIAM H. LEEDY, '49
Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City
10th and Grand
Kansas City 6, Missouri

FRED BARTENSTEIN, JR., '39
R. D. No. 1
Mendham, New Jersey

himself as an academic leader. He served a distinguished three years in the Navy in the Pacific Theater of War, and since his return to civilian life he has become a church and business leader, who founded and operates his own insurance agency. In alumni affairs, Rodney is an Alumni Trustee, vice-president of the Washington and Lee Alumni Association, and a past president of the Atlanta Washington and Lee Alumni Association. All of Rodney's experience and interests enable him to offer leadership in civic life.

1948

MARRIED: JAMES THOMAS MCKINSTRY and Jane Carol Edwards were married on August 26, 1961, in Wilmington, Delaware. Mrs. McKinstry is a member of the faculty of Warner Junior High School in Wilmington, and Jim is associated with the law firm of Richards, Layton, and Finger.

RICHARD W. LOWERY was transferred in September from the New York office of the American Surety Company to the Western Regional Office of the firm, located in Chicago. Dick is the Bond Claim Superintendent and is responsible for twenty-three states.

1949

The United States Instrument Corporation promoted JACK M. PEYTON from sales engineer to switchboard sales manager. Jack joined USI in 1955 after four years as central office supervisor with the Lexington, Virginia, Telephone Company.

H. GARNETT SCOTT, who has been practicing law in Woodstock, Virginia, has been appointed assistant U. S. attorney for the Western District of Virginia. He will serve in this office with another Washington and Lee graduate, Larry Musgrove, whose appointment had been announced a few days earlier. Garnett has also served as assistant county and juvenile and domestic relations court judge for Shenandoah County.

HENRY M. BARKER has recently moved from Memphis to Knoxville, Tennessee, where he is in charge of Claims in East Tennessee for The Home Insurance Company.

Effective October 1st, WILLIAM HUDSON LEEDY was appointed general counsel and secretary of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. Earlier this year Bill was appointed to the Kansas City Board of Police Commissioners and served as board treasurer, but he has resigned this position in order to fill the office with the Federal Reserve Bank.

CARLTON D. JOHNSON has recently been named District Manager for Shampaine Industries, Inc., manufacturers of major hospital equipment. His district will include the states of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. Carlton and Mrs. Johnson were recently on a vacation trip to the British West Indies. While at the Grand Bahama Hotel they met Mr. and Mrs. Robert Early, '39, of Louisville, Kentucky, who were vacationing there also.

1950

MARRIED: FRANKLIN STUART PEASE, JR., and Jeanette Chadwick Uzzell were married in Asheville, North Carolina, on August 19, 1961. Lin is with the Union Bag Camp Corporation of Franklin, Virginia.

ROLOPH B. DAVENPORT, III, has been elected president and treasurer of the Krystal Company, a firm operating seventy-two restaurants in nineteen cities in eight southern states. Rody joined the Krystal Company in 1950, and later that year was elected a vice-president, continuing in that capacity until this present promotion. In addition to his position with the restaurant firm, Rody is a director of the American National Bank and Trust Company, the Fleetwood Coffee Company, and the Volunteer State Life Insurance Company, and is a trustee of the McCallie School.

RONALD E. LEVICK was made a general partner in Joseph Mayr and Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, on September 7th. Ron has been in the brokerage business for a few years. He and his wife, Judith, have a son, Stephen, and a daughter, Jill, and they make their residence in Woodmere, New York.

The Virginia Division, United Daughters of Confederacy, awarded to MARION GORDON ROBERTSON the Cross of Military Service, a high UDC honor. Pat's father, Senator Willis Robertson, received this award in 1940 for his service in World War I. Pat is living in Portsmouth, Virginia, where he has established a Christian and cultural television and radio enterprise for the Norfolk area.

BROOKINS TAYLOR has opened offices in Bluefield, West Virginia, for the practice of Internal Medicine, after completing an internship at Vanderbilt Hospital and a three-year residency at the University of Virginia Hospital where he was chief medical resident. During his residency, Brookins had special training in the field of diabetes and in arthritis and chronic diseases.

The proprietor of The Golden Nugget, WILLIAM N. CLEMENTS, II, dispenses excellent food in this spacious and unique restaurant in Frontier Town near Ocean City, Maryland. Bill has worked in every capacity in the hotel business, from wine steward to banquet chairman, as preparation for his present position. In its decor, in the food served, and in a floor show, the Golden Nugget achieves the spirit of the Old West which is exemplified for visitors to "Frontier Town." This novel development is owned and managed by WILLIAM PACY, II, '50.

1951

BORN: PETER EDWARD FORKGEN and his wife, Julia, announce the birth of a son, William Ogden, on July 27, 1961. Pete is with the Geology Department of the Mene Grande Oil Company, Apartado 45, Barcelona, Venezuela.

WESLEY GREGORY BROWN has been awarded the professional designation of Chartered Life Underwriter by the American College of Life Underwriters.

The securities firm of Goodbody & Company of New York has appointed HERBERT G. MCKAY co-manager of its Tampa, Florida, office. Herbert has been assistant manager since 1957. He has also been made a director of the newly established Berkeley private school in Tampa.

FREDERIC J. AHERN is now president of Unicorp of Canada, Ltd., with offices in Montreal, Canada.

In October THE REV. THOMAS C. DAVIS became the rector of the Church of Our Saviour in Roslindale, Massachusetts.

JOHN K. BOARDMAN, JR., has been named president of Sam Moore Furniture Industries, Incorporated. John has been serving as vice-president and general manager of Moore of Bedford, Inc., the firm's largest manufacturing unit located at Bedford, Virginia. He now succeeds Mr. Samuel S. Moore, the founder of the firm and president since 1940. Under John's management the Bedford plant has announced completion of a large expansion program. John's wife is the former Marilyn Moore, daughter of the founder of the firm.

1952

MARRIED: HENRY I. WILLETT, JR., was married to Miss Mary Madison Turner on June 16th in the First Baptist Church in Richmond. The wedding party included a number of Washington and Lee alumni among whom were GIDEON STIEFF, '52, BOB CROSS, '54, and DR. MILTON CHALKLEY, '52, who were ushers.

HUGH C. NEWTON, '52

HUGH CURTIS NEWTON has joined Reynolds Metals Company in Richmond, Virginia, as manager, public relations services. For the past two years Hugh has been assistant director of public relations for Rockwell Manufacturing Company in Pittsburgh. Previously he was an account executive with a Pittsburgh public relations agency, editor of the news service at Carnegie Institute of Technology, and a reporter for the Danville Bee.

The nomination of HARRY G. CAMPER, JR., by President Kennedy to the office of

■ JOSEPH H. REESE, JR., '50, is president of the J. H. Reese, Jr. & Co., Inc., which has just been established as a general agency of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Philadelphia.

Reese received his Chartered Life Underwriter designation in 1955, is a Life and Qualifying member of the Million Dollar Round Table, served three years as a member of the Executive Committee of the Philadelphia Estate Planning Commission, and has received the National Quality Award each of the seven years in which he has been eligible.

Active in industry and community affairs, Mr. Reese is immediate past president of the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, and is currently serving as a member of the Query Board of the national Society. He is chairman of the Qualification Procedures Committee of the Million Dollar Round Table and is a member of the city, state and national associations of Life Underwriters.

He is a veteran of the U. S. Air Force in which he served as a 1st Lieutenant of Intelligence. Reese lives with his wife and two children in Rydal, Pennsylvania.

HENRY L. CAMPER, '52

CLASS NOTES

United States attorney for the southern district of West Virginia was confirmed by the Senate, and he assumed the duties of this important post on November 1st. Harry is a life-long resident of Welch, West Virginia, and has been actively engaged in the practice of law there since his graduation. Since 1958, he has been prosecuting attorney of McDowell County. As United States attorney his jurisdiction will be over twenty-five counties in the southern district of West Virginia. His activity in community affairs includes the past-presidency of the West Virginia Junior Chamber of Commerce, the chairmanship for the Red Cross and the Heart Fund Drives, and service in a number of fraternal organizations. He is well-known in his county as an athletic official and has worked several games in recent years. WILLIAM M. CANBY is now associated with the firm of Miller and Miller in the general practice of law in Rockville, Maryland.

Handcrest, Inc., of Seattle, Washington, has elected RAYMOND W. HAMAN as secretary. Handcrest markets products made by the sightless. Raymond has served on the board of trustees of this organization since 1957. He is a partner in the law firm of Evans, McLaren, Lane, Powell, and Beeks in Seattle.

JOHN L. BOWLES has been associated with the municipal bond department of Folger, Nolan, Fleming-W. B. Hibbs & Company of Washington, D. C. John was formerly with the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company.

1953

MARRIED: HENRY WOODFIN GRADY, JR., and Matilde Anne Farrell were married on September 16, 1961, in the Cathedral of Christ the King in Atlanta, Georgia.

BORN: ROBERT HENRY WARREN, JR., and Elissa Warren announce the birth of a son, Richard Gillert, on July 7, 1961.

BORN: HUGH S. GLICKSTEIN and Mrs. Glickstein announce the birth of a daughter, Leslie, on October 13, 1961. Hugh is associated with the law firm of Glickstein, Crenshaw, Glickstein, & Hulsey in Jacksonville, Florida. He and Mrs. Glickstein have two sons also, Gregg and Cary Douglas.

BORN: LOYD LYNWOOD WILKINSON and Mrs. Wilkinson announce the birth of their second daughter, Laura Lynn, on September 24, 1961. Loyd is employed by Deering Milliken Research Corporation in Spartanburg, South Carolina.

BORN: ROBERT S. GOLDSMITH, JR., and his wife, Isabel, announce the birth of a son, Alan Houston, on October 15, 1961. Bob is an attorney in Roanoke, Virginia.

BORN: WILLIAM L. JOHNSON, JR., and Mrs. Johnson announce the birth of their second daughter, Margaret Campbell, on August 18, 1961.

EDGAR W. SPENCER, associate professor of geology at Washington and Lee, has been elected a counselor for the Yellowstone-Bighorn Research Association. This association is a non-profit educational organization engaged in teaching and research on the geology of the Northern Rockies. Edgar has done extensive research in the geology of this locale.

1954

MARRIED: RENO HARP, an assistant to the attorney-general for the State of Virginia, was married on April 22, 1961, to Miss Ann Dudley George Hagerty. The ceremony was performed in St. Stephens Church in Richmond. Reno has been with the Attorney-General's Office since 1959.

MARRIED: CARL D. SWANSON and Janice Clair Stoep were married August 31st in Ludington, Michigan.

BORN: DAVID PIERSON COMEGYS, JR., and Mrs. Comegys announce the birth of a son, David Pierson Comegys, III, born on August 28, 1961. David is the associate rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Shreveport, Louisiana.

JASON B. SOWELL, JR., has announced his association in the partnership of Edwards, Fortson, Sowell, and Akin for the practice of law in Dallas, Texas. Jason is also the president of the Dallas alumni chapter.

GEORGE W. FELLOWS has been appointed Manager of the Washington, D. C., office of Francis I. duPont & Company. George had previously been the assistant manager of the firm's Philadelphia office. He joined Francis I. duPont & Company in 1957, following two years of Army service.

GEORGE W. FELLOWS, '54

JOHN G. O'BRIEN has taken a position in the Trust Department of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Roanoke attorney, LAWRENCE C. MUSGROVE, has been appointed Assistant U. S. Attorney for the Western District of Virginia. Larry, immediate past president of the Young Democratic Club and a member of the Roanoke City Democratic Committee, has practiced with the law firm of Martin, Martin, and Hopkins in Roanoke since 1954.

SAMUEL LOUIS DAVIDSON has announced the merger of his law firm of Davidson and Cutler with the law offices of Jacobi and Jacobi. Under the name of Jacobi, Davidson, and Jacobi the firm will continue the practice of patent, trademark, and copyright law in Washington, D. C. The two offices, in merging, also announce their association with a Washington and Lee graduate of the class of 1954, ROBERT BENNETT JACOBI who was formerly trial attorney, Federal Communications Commission.

1955

MARRIED: BRIAN HAMMOND SHANLEY and Virginia Lorraine Henry were married on July 22, 1961, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Morrison, Illinois.

MARRIED: ROBERT MILLER CULLERS was married to Shamsi Djavaheri on September 30th in Tokyo, Japan. The bride is from Teheran, Iran, but for the past two years she has been secretary to the Iranian Ambassador to Japan. While a student in journalism in the Overseas Training Program of Syracuse University in Japan, Bob is a field representative of the Japan Society in New York and teaching English to Japanese instructors of English in Tokyo. In addition he has appeared on television in four Japanese movies, has been a reporter for a Japanese newspaper, has published magazine articles, and has just completed a study on what happens to Japanese Fulbright scholars after they return to Japan from the United States. The couple will spend six months in Hong Kong where Bob will work on the editorial staff of Asia Magazine, and at the conclusion of this work they will return to this country.

After receiving a law degree from the University of Michigan, ROBERT ALLEN PFAFF has returned to South Bend, Indiana, where he will practice with the law firm of Oare, Thornhill, McGill & Deahl. Bob has been formally admitted to practice before the Indiana Supreme Court.

The reading clerk of the Ohio House of Representatives, GERARD WAYNE FEE, has just returned from England after graduating from Oxford University, The Queen's College. Jerry received two Fulbright scholarships, enabling him to study for four years in Great Britain.

The appointment of J. HARDIN MARION, III, as an assistant U.S. attorney in Baltimore was announced recently.

The Trust Company of Georgia has promoted JOHN WADE STACKHOUSE to an assistant treasurer in the Atlanta division of the bank. Jack earned his master's degree in business administration at Harvard in 1957. In a case study program conducted by the southeast chapter of Robert Morris Associates, he won first prize.

After receiving an M.D. degree from Tulane University School of Medicine in 1960, JOE WARREN CHAMBERLAIN has begun his specialty training in general surgery at the Oschner Medical Foundation in New Orleans.

1956

MARRIED: JOHN MITCHELL ELLIS and Jacqueline Betz were married in August, 1961. John was awarded a bachelor of architecture degree from M.I.T. in September.

MARRIED: JEAN-MARIE GRANDPIERRE was married September 2, 1961, to Miss Anne Boulard. The ceremony was performed by Canon Paul Carriere, Arch-minister of Notre Dame d'Epervay in the Parish Church of Saint-Briac-sur-Mer. The new couple will reside in Paris, France.

BORN: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. ABBOTT of Lynchburg, Virginia, announce the birth of their second son, Mark Harrison, on August 11th. Rud is a salesman for Mead Board Sales, Incorporated, in Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina.

BORN: HEADLEY S. WHITE, JR., and his wife, Priscilla, announce the birth of their second son, Alexander Stapler, born on September 18, 1961. Headley is a medical officer in the Navy on the USS Calvert, stationed in San Diego. He received his M.D. degree from Temple University in 1960.

BORN: CHARLES A. MACINTOSH and his wife, Elizabeth, announce the birth of a son, William Archibald MacIntosh, on August 6th at Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia. Charles is a Resident in Administration at Lankenau Hospital and is also a candidate for the degree of Master of Public Health in the Yale Medical School Program in Hospital Administration.

JOEL DAVID BENNETT is now vice-president and assistant general manager of the Saint Paul Union Stockyards Company, in South St. Paul, Minnesota.

DEDERICK C. WARD, III, is now the Geology Librarian with the University of Colorado at Boulder.

WILLIAM CLARENCE NORMAN, JR., senior credit analyst of the First National Bank in Dallas, has been elected by the board of directors to the position of assistant cashier.

Having completed the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Education at Duke University, SAMUEL A. SYME, JR., is currently serving as an instructor in the Department of Education at Duke where he is associated with the Cooperative Program in Teacher Education, a fifth year teacher training plan supported by a grant from the Ford Foundation.

1957

MARRIED: CHARLES CARTER KANNAPELL and Patricia Mudd were married on September 23, 1961, in La Plata, Maryland. They will make their home in Washington, D.C., where Charles is connected with the American Air Filter Company.

MARRIED: LEONARD E. GOODMAN and Carolyn Dean Rothschild were married on October 15, 1961, in Baltimore, Maryland.

MARRIED: PHILIP R. CAMPBELL married Sylvia McCormick of Tulsa on June 23, 1961. She attended Mills College for three years and will graduate from Tulsa University next spring with a degree in commercial art. Phil has law offices in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

MARRIED: DANA CURTIS was married August 25 to Miss Sumer Ertur, who was born in Istanbul, Turkey. The Curtises live in Memphis where she has been taking voice culture for several years.

BORN: WALTER C. CREMIN, JR., and his wife, Carol, announce the birth of a son, Walter C. Cremin, III, on July 20, 1961, in San Angelo, Texas. A claim agent for State Farm Insurance Company, Walter covers twenty-one counties.

BORN: WILLIAM JACOB LEMON and Mrs. Lemon announce the birth of a son, William Tucker, on August 11, 1961. They also have a daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, born on June 12, 1960.

BORN: Mr. and Mrs. THOMAS C. BROYLES announce the birth of their second daughter, Anne Walker. Tom is a partner in the law firm of Brydges and Broyles. He and Mrs. Broyles, the former Miss Betsy Fraley of Cleveland, Virginia, and their two daughters live at Virginia Beach.

JEB ROSENBROOK has joined the Los Angeles office of Foote, Cone & Belding Advertising Agency. Jeb and his wife are living in Los Angeles.

WARREN GOODWYN is now serving as Law Clerk for the Supreme Court of Alabama in Montgomery, Alabama.

1958

MARRIED: JAMES MILLER BROWN and Elizabeth McAlpin Froment were married in Convent, New Jersey, on August 19, 1961. Jim is associated with Spencer Trask and Company in New York.

MARRIED: HARRY EDGAR BRUNETTE, JR., and Joan Marilyn Forsell were married on September 2, 1961, at the Church of the Redeemer in Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts.

BORN: CHARLES E. NOLTE, III, and Mrs. Nolte announce the birth of a daughter, Linda Susan, born on August 18, 1961. The Noltzes also have a son, David, who is three years old. Charles is working as salesman and the assistant retail supervisor for Walter Leaman Company, Food Broker, in Washington, D. C.

BORN: THOMAS FITCH KING, JR., and Mrs. King announce the birth of a son, Thomas Fitch King, III, on January 26, 1961. Tom recently returned to Jacksonville, Florida, to live after completing a three-year tour of duty with the Marines. He is presently in the mortgage department of the firm of Kirbo, Mills & McAlphin, Inc., in Jacksonville.

On September 24th, WILLIAM RICHARD GOODMAN, JR., was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry and installed as pastor of McDowell and Williamsville Churches in Bath and Highland Counties, Virginia. After receiving his degree from Washington and Lee, Bill studied at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, and the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. He is married to the former Miss Martha Kessler, and they are the parents of a son, William Richard Goodman, III.

RICHARD D. HAYNES has been appointed Assistant Secretary of Electro-Science Investors, Inc., Dallas, Texas. Electro-Science Investors, Inc., is one of the nation's largest small business investment companies with major interests in electronics and applied sciences fields. Dick was most recently a junior partner in the law firm of Rainey, Flynn, & Welch in Oklahoma City.

SHELDON CLARK is working in the Advertising Promotion Department of Reader's Digest in the New York office.

Following a family tradition, ALBERT STEVES, IV, is manager of Ed Steves & Sons, Sunset Yard, San Antonio, Texas. The Steves men have left their imprint on the lumber business in Texas for five generations, and their company is the oldest building material firm in Texas.

ROBERT H. LARUE, JR., is engineer officer aboard the Destroyer U.S.S. Eaton (DDE 510). Employed in anti-submarine warfare, the home port of the ship is Norfolk, Virginia.

At the National Conclave held in New Orleans, THEODORE G. RICH, JR., was named National President of the Pi Tau Pi Fraternity. The social and philanthropic fraternity has chapters in 18 cities for men of the business world. Also elected as National Treasurer was Ted's classmate, WILFRED "BUDDY" KULLMAN, JR. Ted is manager of the Men's Store of Gimbel's Cheltenham and resides in Dresser, Pennsylvania.

LIEUTENANT NEIL BENNY, '59, with COMMANDER LEE SPAULDING, '40.

1959

MARRIED: EDGAR MILLER BABER and Cary Ellen White were married on November 4, 1961, at St. John's Episcopal Church in Bedford, Virginia.

MARRIED: AMZI GODDEN BARBER, JR., and Jane Parker Andrews were married on August 26, 1961, in Richmond, Virginia.

BORN: To EDWARD D. "CORKIE" BRISCOE, JR., and Mrs. Briscoe a daughter, Kathryn Lindsay, on July 24, 1961. The Briscoe family live in Louisville, Kentucky.

DANIEL M. DOD is now with the American Security & Trust Company in Washington, D. C.

Having joined Esso Standard, Division of Humble Oil and Refining Company in Roanoke in 1959, JAMES A. WOOD has been promoted to sales representative for the Covington, Clifton Forge and Lexington area. Jim is married to the former Dorothy Leach and they now reside in Covington, Virginia.

NEIL BENNEY, Lt. j.g. has served aboard the anti-submarine aircraft carrier USS Wasp for the last year with gunnery officer Commander LEE SPAULDING, Class of 1940. Neil has reported to the Officer's Candidate School in Newport, Rhode Island, where he is to be an instructor.

JOHN H. BORGI received his M.A. degree in Psychology from the college of William and Mary in June, 1961. He is married to the former Patricia Bayer of Jackson Heights, New York, and the couple announce the birth of a daughter, Patty Bea, born December, 1960. John is presently at the University of Arizona where he is working towards his Ph.D. degree.

1960

MARRIED: RICHARD MARVIN WRIGHT, JR., and Mary Frances Ailstock were married October 7, 1961, in the Old Presbyterian Meeting House in Alexandria, Virginia. The couple will reside in Alexandria where Richard is associated with The Journal Newspapers of Northern Virginia.

MARRIED: DAVIS REED was married to Nancy Ward on August 19, 1961, in Sterling, Illinois. Nancy was graduated from Randolph-Macon Woman's College this last June. Davis is serving as ASW officer aboard the USS Carpenter an anti-submarine destroyer based at Pearl Harbor, and the couple is living in Honolulu.

MARRIED: ARIEL PRESCOTT ROWE and Jane Fielding Fenlon were married on September 2, 1961, at the R. E. Lee Memorial Episcopal Church in Lexington, Virginia. The couple will live in Lexington, where Pres is assistant director of information services at Washington and Lee.

MARRIED: RICHARD ABERSON was married August 27th to Miss Bonnie Rovics, a graduate of Mary Washington College. Rich is a second year law student at Washington University Law School in St. Louis, Missouri. He and Bonnie reside in Olivette where she is a seventh grade teacher of general science.

MARRIED: WILLIAM JENKINS GIBBS and Penelope Jen Morton were married on August 19, 1961, in St. James Episcopal Church in New York City. The couple will live in Charleston, South Carolina.

MARRIED: PAUL BARGAMIN, III, and Roberta Joan Nelson were married on July 28, 1961, in Lexington, Virginia. Joan is the daughter of Dr. Rowland Nelson, of the English Department of Washington and Lee, and Mrs. Nelson.

BORN: WILLIAM FREDERICK ROBERTSON, III, and his wife, Merry, announce the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Burns, on June 18, 1961. Bill is employed as a training supervisor by the J. P. Stevens Company and is living in Greer, South Carolina.

BORN: RICHARD and LOIS COHEN are parents of a daughter, Dale Beth, born September 28th. The Cohens reside in Elkins Park, Pa.

A 2nd Lt. in the Army, JAY B. EPPERSON is receiving a 24-week course of instruction in the French language at the Army Language School, Monterey, California.

Commissioned Ensign, U.S.N.R., upon graduating March, 1961, from Officer Candidate School in Newport, Rhode Island, WILLIAM M. GIBSON is now serving on the staff of the Commander, Fleet Air Wing Atlantic, at the Naval Station in Norfolk, Virginia.

Admitted to the Florida Bar last August, DAVID W. PALMER, II, has set up his offices with Attorney Earl R. Duncan in St. Andrew, Florida.

GORDON E. ROUNDTREE recently returned to Berlin after participating with other personnel from 6th Infantry in a four week field training exercise in Wildflecken, Germany.

1961

MARRIED: WILLIAM MACKWELL STOREY and Judith Bria were married on September 2, 1961, in Pound Ridge, New York. The bride was graduated in June from Randolph-Macon Woman's College. The couple will live in New Orleans where Bill will do graduate work at Tulane University.

MARRIED: CHESTER BRUCE BARTELS and Vickey Dunton Spencer were married on September 2, 1961, at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Marblehead, Massachusetts.

MARRIED: ROBERT S. DIEHL and Maxine Humphrey of Buena Vista, Virginia, were married in Lexington on August 21, 1961, at "Mulberry Hill" where Bob had made his home while attending Washington and Lee. The couple is living at 2243 West Grace Street in Richmond, where Bob is employed as a city desk reporter by the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

MARRIED: JOHN MALCOLM BROWNLEE, JR., and Sarah Jane Hale were married on September 2, 1961, in the Presbyterian Church of Gordonsville, Virginia. The couple will live in Richmond where Malcolm will attend Union Theological Seminary.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. CLAREL B. MAPES announce the birth of a son, Christopher Bowman Mapes, born August 1, in Tulsa, Oklahoma. "Bo" is a lieutenant with the 71st Artillery which is stationed in Germany near Heilbronn. Mrs. Mapes and son, Chris, expect to join "Bo" as soon as housing is available.

NICHOLAS H. RODRIGUEZ has been appointed United States commissioner for lower Delaware to succeed his brother, Charles Conway Rodriguez, who was killed in May as he was repairing his automobile. Nick's duties will primarily concern Dover Air Force Base, a government installation requiring federal jurisdiction, but he will also work on other federal cases in the lower part of Delaware. In order to assume this post, Nick will give up a scholarship for graduate work at the University of Virginia and also an assignment to teach one course at Washington and Lee during the coming year. He was graduated in June with high honors, having received the John W. Davis Award with the distinction of being first in his graduating class.

As a first year law student, MICHAEL F. MEADE entered the Faculty of Law at McGill University in Montreal, Canada, in September.

NORBERT IRVINE began work this fall on an M.F.A. degree at Claremont Graduate School in Claremont, California.

COURTNEY R. MAUZY, JR., was awarded a $4,200 fellowship for two years of study in the University of Virginia's school of business administration. The fellowship was made possible by a grant from the United States Steel Foundation to the University.

HUGH VERNON WHITE, JR., is employed in Richmond by the Virginia Commission on Constitutional Government.

FRANK B. WOLFE, III, completed the eight-week field artillery officer orientation course at The Artillery and Missile School, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, in October.

JAMES W. SHUGART, III, completed the orientation course at The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, recently.

1896

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HARLOW, 87, life-long printer, editor, teacher, and owner of the Lexington Gazette for the past 37 years, died on September 13, 1961. During his student days, Mr. Harlow was on the board of the Southern Collegian, editor of the Calyx, and editor of the Ring-tum Phi. This experience in journalism led him to adopt newspaper work and printing as a career which took him to West Virginia and then to Roswell, New Mexico, where he established a printing company and a weekly newspaper, the Roswell Tribune. Mr. Harlow returned to Lexington, and after both teaching at Washington and Lee and working for the Gazette and the Rockbridge County News, he acquired the Lexington Gazette in 1924. Under Mr. Harlow's direction, the Gazette improved in format and in the quality of editorship. Mr. Harlow was an eminent citizen of Lexington, influential in community and church affairs and respected by the townspeople.

1899

EWING DAVIDSON SLOAN died in Jackson, Mississippi, on October 20, 1961. Mr. Sloan's career was principally with various railroads, such as the Great Northern, the L. & N., and the N. C. & St. L. After World War I, in which he was a Commander of a Company of Engineers in France, Mr. Sloan was in the mining business in Kentucky. He later returned to Mississippi where he served as District Engineer with the FWA in charge of operations in Mississippi. While a student at W. & L., Mr. Sloan was the recipient of several scholarships, was president of the Athletic Association, a member of the Varsity football team, and rowed in 1899 with the Harry Lee Boat Crew.

DR. FRANCIS LESLIE HARVEY, 90, a practicing physician in Arlington, Texas, for sixty years, died in Arlington in July, 1961. Dr. Harvey came to Arlington in 1898 and was a local surgeon for the Texas and Pacific Railroad since 1903, and also served as physician for the Arlington Downs Race Track and for the Arlington State College and Arlington Home for the Aged Masons.

ROGER WAYLES HARRISON, former mayor of Greensboro, North Carolina, died on August 31, 1961. Mr. Harrison came to Greensboro in 1906 to begin his law practice, which he continued, in addition to serving several terms as mayor, until three years ago. A large legal practice involving probate and equity work on titles and estates brought him into contact with many real estate, title, and insurance companies. Mr. Harrison was a past president of Kappa Alpha Fraternity, a member of the North Carolina State Bar Association, and a member of the Washington and Lee Alumni Association.

1904

ROBERT LEE KOLB, former superintendent for the General Supply and Construction Company of York, Pennsylvania, died on August 19, 1961. Mr. Kolb made his home in Frederick, Maryland.

1910

CHARLES J. ELLISON, well-known retired school teacher, sports enthusiast and writer, died August 29 in Waynesboro, Virginia, after a long illness. A native of Virginia, he graduated from Fishburne Military School where he later became an instructor of English for a number of years in the 1920's. He also taught at Greenbriar Military School, Fork Union Military Academy, Edgar's School for Boys in Montgomery, Alabama, and Horner Military Academy of Charlotte, North Carolina. He returned to Fishburne Military School in 1940 as head of the English Department and retired in 1952. Among other activities Mr. Ellison was an insurance representative, a highway construction official and a writer of short stories and poetry.

1912

CHARLES LEE ORDEMAN of Westport, Connecticut, died on May 13, 1961. Mr. Orde- man was the retired vice-president of the Mead Sales Company of New York and had been with this paper sales firm for twenty years before retiring eight years ago. He was a member of the board of directors of the YMCA of Westport, treasurer of the local Red Cross Chapter, and a vestryman at the Christ and Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

A leader in the dental profession, DR. WILLIAM NEWTON HODGKIN died Friday, September 8th, in a local hospital in Warrenton, Virginia. Dr. Hodgkin was a past president and vice-president of the American College of Dentists and at the time of his death was treasurer. A member of the Board of Visitors of the Medical College of Virginia, he was a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Dr. Hodgkin has held many offices in the State Dental Association and both the American and British Dental Associations. He was author of a number of pamphlets on dentistry and the history of dentistry. A director of the Fauquier National Bank of Warrenton since 1934, he was chairman of the board at the time of his death.

ROBERT MASON DESHAZO, a lawyer and business man for half a century, died in Washington, D. C. on October 19, 1961. In 1911 Mr. DeShazo moved to Greenville, South Carolina, where he practiced law until 1924. He then moved to Washington where he opened a real estate brokerage firm. For the past decade he was associated with his son, Robert M., Jr., at International Business Services, Washington, D. C.

1913

JOHN LETCHER CRIST, former president of Southern Dyestuff Corporation of Charlotte, North Carolina, died on September 11, 1961, in Asheville, North Carolina. Starting out as a chemist in Saltville, Virginia, in 1912, Mr. Crist worked with several dye and chemical companies in Virginia, Tennessee, and New York before going to Charlotte, North Carolina, in 1930 as Southern sales manager of American Cyanamid Company in the Dyestuff Division. In 1936 he organized the Southern Dyestuff Corporation, the first dyestuff-producing company in a textile area of the South. The first ready-to-dye sulfur base dyestuffs ever produced were invented and patented by Mr. Crist. He was a sectional chairman of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists and a member of the War Production Board Advisory Committee during World War II.

In 1958 Washington and Lee University bestowed an honorary doctor of commercial science degree on Mr. Crist. His interest in and devotion to Washington and Lee were evidenced by his services as a member of the Alumni Board of Trustees, vice-president of the Alumni Association, the president of the Charlotte Chapter of Washington and Lee Alumni. A John L. Crist Scholarship Fund has been established at Washington and Lee University.

1914

JOHN LAFAYETTE BABER, JR., died on March 30, 1961, in Washington Hospital Center, Washington, D.C. Mr. Baber lived in Arlington, Virginia.

DR. MALCOLM BETHEA, a dentist of Birmingham, Alabama, died on September 5, 1961. Dr. Bethea was interested in amateur radio and held an operator's license and was also quite active in the writing of detective stories, which he successfully published in national magazines.

1916

EDWARD A. DONAHUE died in New England Baptist Hospital in Boston on October 29, 1961, and was buried in Bellows Falls, Vermont. "Jiggs" was here on campus for Homecoming, 1958, to participate along with other Washington and Lee athletic greats in the celebration for Cy Young when Cy was named to the Hall of Fame. "Jiggs" was a founder of ODK.

1917

LAWRENCE DEWOODY LYLE, a Pine Bluff, Arkansas, attorney, insurance claim adjuster, and leader in youth work, died July 18, 1961. Mr. Lyle had been active in youth work from the time of his high school days and one of his main interests concerned the Arkansas Boys Training School and the program of rehabilitation for its youth.

1920

GUS HAMMOND FORD, a Jackson, Mississippi, business executive, died on July 19, 1961. Mr. Ford was chairman of the board of the Mississippi School Supply Company and also treasurer of the Office Supply Company. He was a former president of the Jackson Community Chest, a vice-chairman of the city's Appeals Review Board, on the board of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce, and has been recently elected vice-president of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

1921

DR. JOHN MASON BISHOP of Roanoke, Virginia, died on September 11, 1961.

TORRENCE WOLFORD, a former attorney for Veterans Administration's Board of Veterans Appeals, died in Washington, D.C., on October 4, 1961. Mr. Wolford retired in September from the VA, where he had served for thirty-five years.

GEORGE GERALD STONE, the senior surgeon at Good Samaritan Hospital in Suffern, New York, died in his office on August 15, 1961. Dr. Stone had been practicing in Suffern since 1932.

CARLETON ELLSWORTH JEWETT, Judge of Traffic Court and Police Court of Richmond, Virginia, died on August 24, 1961, of a heart attack after undergoing major surgery. Judge Jewett had served in the Richmond municipal courts for twenty-five years and on the City Council for six. He was known and respected for his fairness in helping a defendant or in prosecuting the guilty. He was responsible for obtaining land for Negro playgrounds in Richmond. In 1953 he accepted an award from the American Bar Association for "outstanding progress in the improvement of Traffic Court practice and procedure, 1951-52" in cities the size of Richmond. Judge Jewett was a member of the board of Central Methodist Church, a member of the board of governors of the Masonic Home of Virginia, and a vice-president of the Association of Judges of the County and Municipal Courts.

E. FRANKLIN GARBER died in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, on July 9, 1961. Mr. Garber was employed by the Richmond, Virginia, Branch of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company for twenty-five years. He retired in 1959 and moved to Fort Lauderdale.

1922

LINUS KAY HERBERT REDDITT died on August 1, 1961, in New Orleans, Louisiana, and was buried in Columbia, Louisiana. Mr. Redditt was for many years with the Board of Commissioners of the Port of New Orleans.

JERE PIERPONT CAMP of Hattiesburg, Mississippi, died on October 3, 1961.

1923

CYRUS W. HALL, a lawyer for the past 35 years and a former judge of the Muni-pal and Intermediate Courts of Charleston, West Virginia, died August 21, 1961. Before starting the practice of law, Judge Hall taught for three years at Princeton Preparatory School. Judge Hall's father also served as judge of the Intermediate Court, the only father and son to serve on this court in Charleston, and their portraits hang in the judge's chambers of Intermediate Court. Judge Hall was active in all affairs of the alumni association and for several years was fund agent for his class.

1924

RUSSELL WARREN HOOPER, president of Palmer-Hooper Motors and the Tennessee Wine and Spirits Company, died on August 12, 1961, in Nashville where he had made his home. Mr. Hooper is survived by his wife and two sons and two daughters.

1925

CLARENCE W. MEADOWS, governor of West Virginia from 1945 to 1949, died on September 12, 1961. Governor Meadows maintained business interests in Virginia and West Virginia, although he moved to Florida about six years ago. He began a law practice in Beckley in 1927 and three years later was elected to the West Virginia House of Delegates. In 1933 he was named County Prosecutor and served until he was elected West Virginia attorney-general in 1936. He then accepted appointment as judge of West Virginia's 10th Judicial Circuit. In his race for the governorship in 1944, Governor Meadows received, in the Democratic primary, twice as many votes as the combined total of his three opponents.

1934

ALFRED NEWTON EDGAR, a practicing attorney in Chesterfield, South Carolina, died July 27, 1961.

1939

JOHN CLAUDE O'QUIN, JR., died in Dallas, Texas, on September 2, 1961.

1949

WILLIAM SIRRET ALLEN, publisher of the Scottsville Sun, died October 12, 1961, in Charlottesville, Virginia. He had been stricken a few hours before he died during a visit to the University. Mr. Allen purchased the Scottsville weekly paper in March and previously owned the Shenandoah Herald, of Woodstock, Virginia. A newspaper publisher for fourteen years, he also owned several other weekly newspapers in Virginia and North Carolina.

1953

WILLIAM ALVIN WHITNEY of Montchanin, Delaware, died on August 7, 1961, of leukemia. He was associated with the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

Lynchburg's delegation to the freshman class included these three young men, shown here at the chapter fete in their honor. Left to right, BERT SCHEWEL, '41, KIAH FORD, JR., President FRANK CALLAHAM, '52, WILLIAM T. DICKSON, CLUNET PETTYJOHN, JR., and Secretary ROBERT TAYLOR, '44.

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY
ALUMNI MAGAZINE

A Statement

The following is a statement of ownership, management, and circulation of The Alumni Magazine of Washington and Lee University as required by act of Congress on August 24, 1912, as amended by the Acts of March 3, 1933, July 2, 1946 and June 11, 1960. The Alumni Magazine is published quarterly and entered as second class matter at the post office at Lexington, Virginia, September 15, 1924.

The printer is the Washington and Lee Journalism Laboratory Press with C. Harold Lauck as superintendent. William C. Washburn is the editor and business manager. The address of the preceding is: Washington and Lee Alumni, Incorporated, Lexington, Virginia.

The owner is the Washington and Lee University Alumni, Incorporated, Lexington, Virginia. There are no bondholders, mortgage, or other security holders. The average number of copies of each issue of the publication during the twelve preceding months was 10,700.

Alumni Chapter Meetings

LYNCHBURG

The Board of Directors of the Lynchburg chapter accepted the hospitality of the Bert Schewel, '41, home for their freshman reception on August 27th. President Frank H. Callaham, Jr., '52, made the arrangements for the entertainment of the five young men who were entering Washington and Lee as freshmen from the Lynchburg area. After the alumni members greeted the parents, Mrs. Schewel poured punch, and the accompanying refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table.

The Lynchburg chapter is unusually proud of having a total of twenty boys now on campus. Of this number, there are eight sons of alumni.

President Callaham expressed his appreciation to the recruitment committee and to the arrangements committee for the success of this very splendid reception. The freshmen honored were Michael Kirk Crabill, William Thomas Dickson, Kiah Thornton Ford, III, Clunet Holmes Pettyjohn, Jr., and Franklin Broadus Reynolds, Jr.

ATLANTA

The Atlanta alumni chapter held a meeting at the Cherokee Country Club on September 30th. E. S. Humphreys presided at the business session which elected the following new officers for the ensuing year: President, Dr. W. Perrin Nicolson, III, '44; Vice-President, Mr. John H. Cheatham, Jr., '46; Secretary, Mr. Farris P. Hotchkiss, '58.

Plans were discussed for an early fall meeting at which time it was hoped that the principal speaker could be a member of the Administration from the University.

BALTIMORE

The Baltimore Chapter played host to a large gathering of over 150 alumni following the W&L-Johns Hopkins game on October 21st. Invitations were extended to the adjoining chapters and, in spite of rain, the reception at the Park Towson Motel saw alumni representatives from Frederick, Wilmington, Cumberland, and Washcinnati. Robert Cofield and Stephen Hussey, new students entering the freshman class, were honored together with their parents. The large group extended a hearty welcome to the new members and the new students and enjoyed talks by the upperclassmen on the recent changes and developments on campus. Mr. Robert Wersel, president of the alumni chapter, presided over the luncheon.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The estate of Randolph Rouse in Alexandria, Virginia, was the site of a reception on Tuesday, August 29th for the new freshmen

HOUSTON

With a program presented by upperclass students, the Houston Alumni Chapter entertained the newly entering freshmen with a social banquet on September 6th at the Forest Club. Six freshmen together with their parents were the honored guests and joined the alumni in this most informative program. Presiding over the well-attended meeting was President Robert W. Davis, Jr.

At a short business session which followed the social meeting the following new officers were nominated and unanimously elected: Nelson C. Steenland, '42, President; ington, D. C. Many present students who were following the Generals' team were also on hand for the party. John Mayhew, president of the Baltimore Chapter, in welcoming the many alumni from the surrounding chapters, paid special tribute to his committeemen who had made the splendid arrangements. The Generals' win 38-6 over Johns Hopkins added tremendously to the gaiety of the occasion.

These freshmen attended the Washington, D. C., Chapter outing. Left to right, they are B. A. LANE, JOHN BYERS, JR., BROUGHTON EARNEST, ARTHUR SMITH, '41, secretary BROOKS BROWN, III, JAMES LOFTIS, III, JULIAN GILLESPIE, '52, president, BRAXTON TABB, III, JEROME KAHN, and CHRISTOPHER BONNETT.

SOUTHERN OHIO

The Alumni Chapter of Southern Ohio entertained the local students at a luncheon on September 5th at the University Club in Cinentering Washington and Lee in September, 1961. Roughly 100 alumni and their wives gathered in this beautiful setting to acknowledge and welcome the new men and their parents. Refreshments were served around the swimming pool and many of the group enjoyed a swim. In introducing the freshmen, President Julian Gillespie, '52, expressed on behalf of the entire chapter a sincere welcome to the new men and their parents. Bill Washburn from Lexington was on hand and together with upperclassman Bill Outman, gave a brief review of the first few weeks on campus to the assembled group of freshmen.

Robert A. Mossbacher, '47, Vice-President; Robert I. Peebles, '57, Secretary-Treasurer.

ST. LOUIS

A "Welcome Freshmen Party" was sponsored by the St. Louis Chapter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Les Inger in University City on the evening of September 6th. The occasion, in honor of the new men from the St. Louis area entering Washington and Lee, was a barbecue and swimming party. A. H. "Hap" Hamel, '59, president of the chapter, presided at the function and expressed a warm welcome to the large group of alumni and upperclassmen as well as the freshmen. Fred Webber, '56, was in charge of arrangements while Bob Mendelson, '50, tantalized the group with his culinary technique. Announcement of the plans for the future chapter programs was enthusiastically received.

BIRMINGHAM

In honor of the five entering freshmen from their area, the Birmingham Alumni Association entertained alumni, undergraduates and parents of the new men at Joe's Ranch on Tuesday, August 31st. A large group attended the banquet to extend an enthusiastic welcome to the new freshmen and several short talks were made on various phases of college activities.

St. Louis freshmen, seated, l-r, DAVID MOSBAUGH, ROBERT TAYLOR, ROBERT BROOKS, JAMES LEGG, JR., JOHN MOLYNEAUX; standing, HUGH MCNEW, JR., JAMES WOOD, GEORGE SANDERS, and GREGORY EUSTON.

NEW ORLEANS

The New Orleans Chapter held a luncheon at the International House on September 7th in honor of the entering freshmen from the area. A fine group of alumni together with several upperclassmen and the new freshmen with their parents were entertained with discussions of the first few weeks of college. Herb Jahncke, Jr., an upperclassman, showed colored slides of the campus, social activities, football games and Fancy Dress Ball. The parents of the new men expressed appreciation to the officers for the opportunity of joining in this alumni activity.

New Orleans freshmen, l-r, MICHAEL LITTLE, DOUGLAS HAGEDSTED, and LEE JOHNSON.

ROANOKE

In honor of the nine men from the Roanoke area entering the University this year, the Roanoke chapter had a luncheon in the Panel Room of the Ponce de Leon Hotel on Thursday, September 7th. A large and enthusiastic group of alumni, as well as upperclassmen attended this meeting to welcome the freshmen. Jack Coulter, President of the Roanoke Chapter, introduced each of the new freshmen and the upperclassmen in expressing sincere welcome to each and everyone. Of the nine new freshmen, four of them are sons of alumni.

Birmingham freshmen, l-r, TIMOTHY VANDERVER, KIRK GRIFFIN, PAUL MURPHY, BLAIN BROWNELL, and LAURENCE HEARTBURG.

The Roanoke Chapter entertained these future Washington and Lee men. Front row, left to right, F. A. Stone, M. L. Woodrum, E. P. Hayes, W. D. S. Lee; back row, William R. Holland, '50, chapter secretary, H. W. Moore, W. K. Bolton, W. S. Smith, H. B. Quekemeyer, and Jack B. Coulter, '49, president.

* * *

The Roanoke chapter entertained Coach Lee McLaughlin and freshman coach Dana Swan at the Shenandoah Country Club on October 10th with a special banquet. The stag affair was attended by a large group of members who listened intently as Coach McLaughlin gave highlights on the prospective season. Jack Coulter, '49, presided at the dinner and conducted the short business meeting.

Upon request, Claude Harrison, chairman of the nominating committee, offered the following slate of officers for the new year: President, Robert S. Goldsmith, Jr., '51; Vice-President, A. Linwood Holton, Jr., '44; Secretary-Treasurer, William R. Holland, '48.

The nominees were unanimously elected and the gavel was turned over to President Goldsmith. Also named at this meeting was the board of directors as follows: Gilbert Bocetti, '52; William A. Gibbons, Jr., '21; Dr. Robert S. Hutcheson, Jr., '40; Joseph N. Moffatt, '46; Jack B. Coulter, '49; and Benno M. Forman, '52.

Secretary-Treasurer Bill Holland gave a treasurer's report. President Goldsmith enjoined all members to attend the Homecoming football game in Lexington on the following Saturday.

TULSA

The Tulsa chapter conducted its fall meeting on October 30th and enjoyed vigorous talks concerning football and old times among the enthusiastic group. Among those who attended were three from a considerable distance: John Maley, '52, Okmulgee; T. J. Hughes, '30, Cushing; and C. Price Berryman, '38, Coffeyville, Kansas.

In the business session the chapter elected officers as follows: Philip R. Campbell, '57, for his second term as president, and Eric Hubert, '51, for his second term as vice-president for public relations. The other officers named are Oscar Curd, '38, and Burt Tyler, '57. The meeting ended with a discussion of the chapter's program for the recruitment for new students for Washington and Lee for September, 1962.

NEW YORK

A large group of the New York Chapter were on hand Tuesday, August 15, at the Overseas Press Club to welcome the new freshmen from their area. There were 21 new men from the New York area entering Washington and Lee in September. Ten of these young men, together with their parents, were honored at a cocktail-reception party where Bill Washburn, Alumni Secretary, outlined what they might expect in the first few weeks on campus. Several upperclassmen were also present to welcome their new schoolmates. Alumni sons who attended the party were Emerson Dickman, III, Jolyon Girard, and Richard Saunders, III. Also among the sons of alumni entering this fall are Claxton E. Allen, III, and Thomas Stover. The annual affair was a large success.

CUMBERLAND VALLEY

Joining at the Alexander Hotel in Hagerstown, Maryland, on Wednesday evening, August 16, 43

The Richmond Chapter's luncheon was attended by these freshmen. Seated, left to right, J. M. Slay, J. N. Cargill, Jr., V. C. Adamson, Jr., L. G. Crenshaw, III, W. G. Broaddus, J. M. Morris, C. C. Bright; standing, John F. Kay, Jr., '51, treasurer, C. W. Dickinson, IV, J. H. DeJarnette, A. J. T. Byrne, Reno S. Harp, '54, president, and Edward J. McCarty, '42, vice-president.

New officers for the Cumberland Valley Chapter were elected at the August meeting in Hagerstown's Hotel Alexander. Left to right, they are JAMES L. RIMLER, '31, secretary-treasurer; ROBERT E. CLAPP, JR., '30, outgoing president; CHARLES R. BEALL, JR., '56, president; and J. MALCOLM MCCARDELL, '37, vice-president.

alumni and their wives of the Cumberland Valley Chapter welcomed the new freshmen from their area at a delightful banquet. Several students presently enrolled at the University were on hand to add to the occasion. Bill Washburn, who attended from Lexington, welcomed Robert Stauffer and gave a short talk on the new developments at the University with special emphasis on the prospects for the football season.

At a short business meeting the nominating committee offered the following slate of officers and directors which was unanimously approved: President, Charles R. Beall, Jr., '56; Vice-President, J. Malcolm McCardell, '37; Secretary-Treasurer, James L. Rimler, '31.

Elected as directors were: Glenn Shively, '36; Samuel C. Strite, '29; Merle G. Kaetzel, '31; David G. Simpson, '56; Harry George, Jr., '36; William C. Hamilton, '43; Clyde E. Smith, Jr., '42; Robert E. Clapp, Jr., '30.

DELAWARE

The Washington and Lee Alumni Club of Delaware held its first stag picnic at the Hercules Powder Company Farm on August 24, 1961. About 25 alumni were present, together with the studentes in collegio. In addition, the five students from Delaware entering Washington and Lee this year were guests and they were a fine group of boys. A buffet dinner, headed by Virginia ham and the additional trimmings, was enjoyed, along with the usual refreshments and aperitifs. There was horseshoe pitching and bull slinging, and two junior "Generals" played catch. Bud Roberson, president of the Delaware Alumni Club, made a brief talk to the new students, followed by a brief panel discussion covering the wonders of Washington and Lee for the new students. A recording by the Washington and Lee Glee Club, including "The Swing" and "College Friendships" furnished inspiration for singing. Plans were discussed for the chapter programs for the balance of the year.

RICHMOND

A large group of alumni in the Richmond Chapter area met at a luncheon in honor of the new freshmen on Tuesday, August 29. The affair was held in the Mark Raleigh Hotel with the president, Reno Harp, '54, presiding. Of the fourteen freshmen from the chapter area, ten of the young men together with their fathers were present. Ed McCarty, '42, introduced a resolution, which was unanimously approved, expressing sympathy of the entire chapter over the death of Judge Carleton Jewett, '21. A copy of the resolution was sent to the family and appears elsewhere in this magazine.

Four present upperclassmen, Kenneth Lane, Jr., Dave Montgomery, Bob Henley, and Rosewell Page gave short and interesting talks on various phases of college life which was of much interest to the new freshmen as well as to the alumni. On behalf of the chapter and the Alumni Association, President Harp expressed a welcome as well as much pride in the new freshmen. The freshman luncheon is an annual affair.

* * *

President Fred Cole was the honored guest and principal speaker at the Richmond Alumni Chapter meeting on October 20. The well attended banquet was held in the Richmond Room of the Hotel Richmond, preceded by a social hour. Reno Harp, '54, president of the chapter, presided at the meeting and presented other guests who included Dr. John Thomas and Dr. J. Morrison Hutcheson, members of the University Board of Trustees. Also present was Dr. Robert Tucker, former Dean of the University. Vice-President Ed McCarty, '42, gave a report on the Student Recruitment Committee and Secretary, C. W. "Buck" Pinnell, '46, presented the program for the balance of the year, including a large dinner-dance which is scheduled for February 10th.

In his address, President Cole made a very interesting and up-to-the-minute report on the developments on the campus not only in terms of the physical plant but also in terms of the student profile and plans for the future. His remarks were received with much enthusiasm and interest.

For that Special Christmas Gift!

WASHINGTON AND LEE

Commemorative Plates

(Wedgwood)

Sold only in sets of eight different scenes

Price, $20.00 per set, f.o.b., Lexington, Virginia

Colors Available: Mulberry (Rose) or Blue

WASHINGTON AND LEE ALUMNI, INC.

Lexington, Virginia