

the alumni magazine of washington and lee

Volume 53, Number 2, March 1978

William C. Washburn, '40 Editor
Romulus T. Weatherman Managing Editor
Robert S. Keefe, '68 Associate Editor
Douglass W. Dewing, '77 Assistant Editor
Joyce Carter Editorial Assistant
Sally Mann Photographer

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Lewis Hall Portfolio	1
ODK-Founders' Day Exercises	8
Fancy Dress 1977	10
Fancy Dress Postscript	13
W&L Gazette	14
Norm Lord	16
Winter Sports Wrapup	17
New Football Coach	18
Pat Dennis, Basketball Star	19
Chapter News	21
Class Notes	23
In Memoriam	35

Published in January, March, April, May, July, September, October, and November by Washington and Lee University Alumni, Inc., Lexington, Virginia 24450. All communications and POD Forms 3579 should be sent to Washington and Lee Alumni, Inc., Lexington, Va. 24450. Second class postage paid at Lexington, Va. 24450 and additional mailing offices.

Officers and Directors Washington and Lee Alumni, Inc.

EDWIN J. FOLTZ, '40, Gladwyne, Pa.
President
ROBERT M. WHITE II, '38, Mexico, Mo.
Vice President
JERRY G. SOUTH, '54, San Francisco, Calif.
Treasurer
WILLIAM C. WASHBURN, '40, Lexington, Va.
Secretary
WILLIAM P. BOARDMAN, '63, Columbus, Ohio
PHILIP R. CAMPBELL, '57, Tulsa, Okla.
RICHARD A. DENNY, '52, Atlanta, Ga.
SAMUEL C. DUDLEY, '58, Richmond, Va.
MARION G. HEATWOLE, '41, Pittsburgh, Pa.
SAMUEL B. HOLLIS, '51, Memphis, Tenn.
COURTNEY R. MAUZY JR., '61, Raleigh, N.C.
PAUL E. SANDERS, '43, White Plains, N.Y.

ON THE COVER: A montage of Washington and Lee insignia—a needlepoint rendering of the University crest and a needling bumper sticker—the kind of things one would expect to find in, say, a dormitory room. These particular decorations, however, showed up among the carrels of Lewis Hall, where W&L law students spend much of their time. Photographer Sally Mann made the picture while documenting activity in the new building. The picture essay begins on the opposite page.

LEWIS HALL PORTFOLIO

Lively Activity in the New Law Building Confirms Its Place Among the Finest

Lewis Hall has attracted increasing attention ever since its dedication less than a year ago—attention from the judiciary and bar, from legal educators, and, not least, from current and potential law students. Even before the School of Law moved into the building in 1976, interest in the new facility, which is generally considered to be among the finest in the country, prompted a dramatic rise in numbers of applications, even beyond the general nationwide increase. (W&L now receives more than 10 applications for each place

From continuing professional education such as the client counseling conference . . .

LEWIS HALL PORTFOLIO

... to realistic training for future professionals provided by moot court competitions.

in each fall's entering class, and quality has increased no less dramatically.)

Literally from the first day, when the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals held formal hearings in the Moot Court Room in conjunction with dedication activities, Lewis Hall has been much sought-after as a place to conduct conferences, symposia, competitions and the like. In terms of physical facilities, the consensus among law educators who have been around is that W&L and Stanford, in that order, possess the best. (The Lewis Hall architects, Marcellus Wright, Cox & Ladd of Richmond, have recently been engaged to develop a law-school building program for Northwestern University, for instance, on the strength of their achievement here.)

The level of activity in Lewis Hall in a period of only several weeks in mid-winter perhaps best indicates the professional interest in the building among judges, lawyers and lawyers-to-be. There were three separate moot court competitions, a major interdisciplinary conference on the topic of client counseling, and a regional meeting of the American Bar Association's law student division.

Despite the growth of technological aids to learning, such as audio-visual equipment allowing the student to watch himself in practice and computer-based information retrieval systems for research, the most-used tool in the law library is still the book.

LEWIS HALL PORTFOLIO

Learning takes place all over Lewis Hall: in the library, classroom and study room . . .

More than 60 professionals in the field of law, medicine and counseling attended the client counseling conference, which was coordinated by Lawrence D. Gaughan, W&L law professor. All four Virginia law schools had a hand in planning for the conference, as did the Virginia Bar Association, the Virginia State Bar, the counselor education program at James Madison, the family development department at Virginia Tech and the Judge Advocate General's School in Charlottesville. The authors of two recent books on client counseling for lawyers, together with three other scholars in the fields of psychology, psychiatry and law, made up the guest faculty. The rest of the faculty for the conference, designed to provide continuing education for professionals, consisted of law professors, counselors, educational consultants and attorneys.

The regional Jessup International

... but home away from home for most is the carrel.

Moot Court Competition was held in Lewis Hall in early March. The W&L team—John E. Coffey, William D. Broadhurst, Jessine A. Monaghan, Robert B. Hill and Ellen Arthur—came in second, losing to Catholic University by one point. Monaghan won second place for best oral arguments. Ten schools besides W&L—from Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina and Washington, D.C.—participated.

That same weekend, 10 schools competed in Lewis Hall in the ABA-sponsored client counseling competitions, ultimately won by the

LEWIS HALL PORTFOLIO

Lewis Hall enhances the W&L traditions of small-group meetings, close student-faculty relationships and the latest learning tools, combined with something Tucker Hall had little of—room to relax and read the sports page . . .

University of Kentucky. The University of Louisville came in second place. The W&L team of Channing J. Martin and Stanley G. Brading was knocked out of the competition during the early rounds.

The fourth circuit of the law student division of the ABA also held its regional conference here in March, complete with moot court competition, workshops, and a lecture by Clark Mollenhoff, professor of journalism at W&L and Pulitzer Prize-winning former Washington Bureau chief of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. He spoke about the case of former U.S. Attorney David Marston in a talk on "The Political Pitfalls of Philadelphia

... or room to house speakers of University-wide interest, student conventions and conferences, and community participation in seminars of interest to all.

Prosecution." W&L won the regional finals of the National Appellate Advocacy Competition, held during the conference. W&L law professor James Phemister and his wife, Carol, led a seminar and workshop on the Equal Rights Amendment during one of the afternoon sessions of the conference.

ODK-FOUNDERS' DAY

22 Students and Four Leaders Are Honored During Convocation

Seventeen undergraduates, five law students, three prominent alumni, and the father of a recent W&L graduate were "tapped" into membership in Omicron Delta Kappa in January.

The honorary initiates were Walter E. Michaels, '51, head coach of the New York Jets; Houston H. Harte, also '51, chairman of the board of Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. of San Antonio; Stuard E. Wurzbarger, '28, a retired New York City labor consultant who now resides in Lexington, and W. Martin Kempe of Orange, Va., father of Martin A. Kempe, '75, and chairman of the W&L Past Parents' Fund.

The ODK "tapping" ceremony took place on Lee's Birthday, Jan. 19, in conjunction with Founders' Day exercises. Dr. William A. Jenks, William R. Kenan Jr. Professor of History, was the principal speaker; his topic was "Other Founders."

Dr. Jenks said that "with some admitted strain upon logic," parallels could be found in the careers of V. I. Lenin and Abdul Aziz Ibn Saud, the founders of the Soviet Union and Saudi Arabia.

"Most Westerners in 1918 discounted Lenin as a shooting star, soon to disappear," he said, "and few knew anything of Ibn Saud. In retrospect, they too were founders—founders of states widely dissimilar today, save in their significance to us."

"If we fail to get along with the first, the world may come to a rather abrupt end," Dr. Jenks said. "If we mismanage our ties with the Arab Mideast, who supply us with 25 percent of our petroleum imports, who tend to op for moderation in oil negotiations, we could face panic at home and discomfiture abroad."

Concluding his scholarly talk, Dr. Jenks said:

"We commemorate today a man who could not have enjoyed that power which sends men to their deaths in battle. His last years might have been exercises in futility and bitterness, as I think Lenin's and Ibn Saud's were. Rather, he was able to refound a school which had become a shadow. And I like to think that all who come to Washington and Lee are better persons thanks to his stay here. As citizens, taxpayers, possibly as Congressmen, military men or diplomats, you will have to live with entities as complex as the Soviet Union and Saudi Arabia.

Dr. Jenks addresses ODK-Founders' Day convocation; in background are Roy L. Steinheimer, dean of the School of Law, and Edwin Craun, assistant dean of The College.

Whatever your station in life, you can learn from President Lee's courage, patience, and sense of justice:

"Courage to recognize that our integrity as a community requires our treasure, and if all goes badly, our blood;

"Patience to evaluate the proposals which come from other communities, proud of their accomplishments, yet aware of the catastrophe which a resort to naked power can bring;

"A sense of justice that admits that all is not pretty in the American past, and yet remembers that we have shared our material goods with, and often have demonstrated an affection for, the world's distressed.

"A fearsome challenge? Yes.

"One that my generation met with signal success? You know better.

"The sort of thing old men preach to the young? Indubitably.

"But President Lee obviously thought that his generation's failure did not preclude the next generation's attainments. If you spent 35 years of your life at his college, as I have, you have to believe that there is a reasonable chance that the dedicated few will offset the follies of the many."

Omicron Delta Kappa is the national honor society for campus leaders. It was founded at W&L in 1914. Currently, there are chapters at about 130 other colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Michaels went directly into professional football after his graduation from W&L, playing successively with the Green Bay Packers and the Cleveland Browns. He then spent 10 seasons with the Jets as defensive coordinator, moved to the Philadelphia Eagles in 1972, and rejoined the Jets in 1976 as head coach. He was inducted as a member of the Virginia Sports Hall of Fame last April.

Harte has been an extremely generous supporter of both the annual and capital fund-raising programs at Washington and Lee. The communications firm of which he is chairman owns 26 daily newspapers and 54 non-daily publications in 33 markets. It also owns three television stations and will acquire, pending F.C.C. approval, Southern Broadcasting Co., whose holdings include radio stations in Virginia. Harte is a regent of East Texas State University and a former member of the Air Force Academy board of visitors.

Wurzburger is a former member of the W&L Alumni Association Board of Directors. He has been Class Agent for 1928 for several years, and that class will set a record for participation at its 50th reunion this spring. He is a member of the Lee Associates.

Kempe, former vice president of The Rochester Foundation, currently owns and manages a farm in Orange in central Virginia. Though he is a graduate of Dartmouth, he was chairman of the Parents' Council while his son was a student and is now head of a new parents-of-alumni program.

Third-year law students "tapped" were Mary Kathryn DePoy of Rutland, Vt., editor-in-chief of the Washington and Lee Law Review; Edward T. Duncan of Washington Grove, Md., a Law Review editor who ranks at the top of his class academically; David P. Falck of Manchester, Conn., head of the law school's Burks Scholars, and Jon P. Leckerling of Huntington, N.Y., managing editor of the Law Review.

Undergraduate seniors "tapped" were Jerry M. Baird of Fort Worth, assistant head dormitory counselor; Mark A. Bradley of Roanoke, named a Rhodes Scholar this winter; Charles V. Brown III of Stony Brook, N.Y., All-American goalie on the lacrosse team; Mark H. Derbyshire, co-captain of the soccer team and a midfielder on the lacrosse team; T. Mark Duncan of Roanoke, co-captain of the football team and president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes;

Also, Charles E. Hinkle of Temple, Tex., president and director of the W&L Jazz Ensemble; Howard F. Knipp III of Gibson Island, Md., vice president of the Interfraternity Council and a varsity wrestler; James S. McNider III of Lynchburg, senior class vice president, chairman of the Student Control Committee and co-chairman of the 1980

Houston H. Harte, '51

Martin Kempe

Walter E. Michaels, '51

Stuard E. Wurzburger, '28

Mock Republican Convention; Gerald L. Maatman Jr. of Inverness, Ill., All-American golfer; Stephen E. Mattesky of Carlisle, Pa., president of the IFC; Richard W. Stein of Jacksonville, president of the University Federation, and John S. Strong of North Wales, Pa., assistant head dorm counselor and student representative on the faculty Courses and Degrees Committee.

Juniors elected into O.D.K. membership were George Ballantyne of Houston, a three-year letterman on the football team; Douglas A. Byrd of Baton Rouge, a class representative on the University Council; Malcolm G. Coleman II of New Orleans, one of 53 Harry S Truman Scholars in the nation and entertainment editor of the Ring-tum Phi; William M. Webster IV of Greenville, S.C., co-chairman of "Contact '78"; and Peter M. Williams of Cincinnati, class president and vice chairman of the Student Control Committee.

FANCY DRESS 1977

Fabulous Affair Lives Up to the Glories of the Pharaohs

W&L students had their 71st Fancy Dress Ball the last weekend of February—and proved that the party is still what the New York Times once called “the outstanding collegiate social event of the South.”

The music was provided by Duke Ellington’s band. (Fancy Dress’s impresarios, sophomore Art Dunnam and senior Jim Foreman, told the Ring-tum Phi that the word they received was that the crowd enjoyed the old Ellington standard songs more than the more modern music.) Evans Hall and the adjoining Student Center were exquisitely and elaborately decorated in line with this year’s theme, “The Glories of Egypt.” (The Fancy Dress Committee didn’t overlook anything to make it a never-to-be-forgotten evening. Couples even received a pair of souvenir coins specially made for the affair.)

There were about 3,000 people at the ball—mostly in tuxes and gowns, but a noticeable number in full evening dress. Jerry Darrell, the popular manager of W&L’s food services, staged a candlelight dinner just before Fancy Dress in the University dining hall and a hangover brunch the next day.

Fancy Dress began the day before the Ball, with fraternity and other small-group parties and a Student Activities Board concert with the Four Tops that night. Partying continued through the weekend, highlighted, as usual, by the schoolwide Saturday afternoon get-together at Zollman’s Pavillion on the Buffalo Creek just outside town. (One of Fancy Dress Weekend’s fans must be Mother Nature. The bitter cold broke just long enough for the party at the river, with the temperature way up in the 50s. The same thing happened last year, too.) A Washington Post reporter who had been at Fancy Dress last year came back again this year (his brother is a W&L sophomore) and wrote a story headlined “THE PARTY: College-Wide Bash Makes Rousing Comeback,” mostly about the Buffalo Creek party, and although he did point out that working hard during the Fancy Dress was fancier and dressier this year than ever. They came in costumes ranging from Fred Astaire white tie to Lawrence of Arabia desert duds (facing page). The exotic decorations included a genuine belly dancer who was the favorite decoration of everyone who could get into the Cockpit to see her; clearly she was the hit of the evening in the eyes of Dr. William J. Watt, Dean of The College (immediately above). A concert by the Four Tops, who have become practically a fixture at W&L big weekends, inaugurated Fancy Dress Weekend (top right). Ball-goers were wall-to-wall the next evening (lower right).

week and partying hard on the weekends "has become a tradition, almost a credo, at Washington and Lee," some people weren't amused at the publicity over some of the crazier antics at the creekside party. (The Ring-tum Phi dismissed the Post article as "typically slanderous," and Charley McDowell, who heads up the Richmond Times-Dispatch's Washington, D.C., coverage and who insists that no Fancy Dress can possibly top the 1947 ball he vividly remembers, genially teased the Post reporter, in an article reprinted in this magazine, for only now discovering "that a lot of 'dancing, drinking and carousing' goes on during a college dance weekend.")

But Fancy Dress is best told in pictures. Four W&L photographers covered it this year—Sally Mann, head photographer; David Abrams, '78, and Nancy Spencer at the Ball, and Douglass W. Dewing, '77, assistant publications director for the University, at the river party Saturday. These are some of their photographs.

Alumni and other older types will be glad to see proof (top left) that W&L undergraduates still actually can dance—and do. They were perhaps inspired by the mellow sounds of Duke Ellington's orchestra (immediately above). The decorations were intricate and extensive; the chairman of the Student Activities Board, Bill Tucker, reports they used 2½ acres of paper and 1,250 square feet of gold foil, a third of a mile of wire to light 749 bulbs, two gallons of glue, four pounds of nails and two pounds of glitter; they bought four bales of hay for the camel they rented (we told you it was authentic right down to the ultimate details!) and 54 kegs of beer for the humans. The next day, everybody took it easy at the traditional afternoon-after party on the banks of the Buffalo Creek outside Lexington (left).

By Charles McDowell, '48

FANCY DRESS POSTSCRIPT

Washington's Presence in Lexington: Look and You Shall Find

Old George

Peale portrait

Stuart portrait

In Admissions Office

In President's Office

This column by Charles R. McDowell Jr., a 1948 graduate of Washington and Lee, appeared in the Richmond Times-Dispatch on March 2, 1978, and is reprinted with permission.

A reporter for the Washington Post recently attended "Fancy Dress" weekend at Washington and Lee University in Lexington and wrote a story in which he disclosed that a lot of "dancing, drinking and carousing" goes on during a college dance weekend.

The story was less banal than that really. It was lively in some of its specific observations and interesting in its view of generational fluctuations in college partying over the years. Anyhow, I am not in a mood to challenge the author's facts or theme.

But I do have a quibble. A reporter from a grand Washington paper, venturing deep into the Valley of Virginia on a sociological mission probably would expect at least a quibble from somebody like me—a resident for my first 22 years of the town he visited and an alumnus of the college he wrote about.

The following paragraph from the story is the subject of my quibble:

"It's a sheltered community, always has been," said one old grad. Politically conservative, Lexington has pictures of Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson prominently displayed around town. ('How come there aren't any pictures of Washington?') one date wondered. 'I don't know. There just aren't,' her escort answered.)

I have no doubt that those quotes are legitimate. But because no effort is made to give perspective to the quotes, I would say the paragraph suggests that Lexington is a silly old holdout for the glory of Southern rebellion, a town so backward and conservative that it doesn't properly appreciate the father of the federal republic.

It is true that Robert E. Lee is well-represented around town in paintings and sculpture and in some marvelous prints by a pioneer photographer, Michael Miley. You see, Lee went to Lexington after the Civil War to be president of the college. He lived in Lexington, died in Lexington and is buried in Lexington. Some considerable continuing interest in him strikes me as normal and not necessarily sociologically significant.

As for Stonewall Jackson, he was a roomer for a time on the college campus (in a house I later lived in without swearing allegiance to the Confederacy), and he was a teacher at the neighboring Virginia Military Institute. He, too, is buried in Lexington.

I am not sure that George Washington ever came any closer to Lexington than Natural Bridge, 14 miles away, and, to be frank, I am not convinced it was he who carved his initials in the bridge. Washington did give $50,000 worth of canal stock to the college in 1796, the largest endowment laid on a college up until then. It was appreciated and still is, and so is Washington the man.

The young lady who didn't see any pictures of Washington and her escort who said there aren't any betray limited range and curiosity. Perhaps the most famous portrait of Washington, Charles Willson Peale's of 1772, hangs prominently in Lee Chapel, of all places. It really isn't a parochial picture. It was lent to the National Portrait Gallery (right here in Washington) a couple of years ago to be the central piece in the bicentennial exhibition.

A Gilbert Stuart portrait of Washington hangs in the Washington and Lee library. The young man in the newspaper story ought to have seen it, although the girl and the reporter probably should be forgiven.

There are dozens of other Washington pictures in Lexington, and there are several famous sculptures. I suppose sculptures count as symbols of respect. Anyway, "Old George," a massive wood carving, stands atop the main building of the college.

VMI has a Houdoun statue of Washington. The president of Washington and Lee has a bust of Washington in his office, and there is another in the admissions office.

A booklet readily available in town gives the following standings on important sculptures in Lexington: Washington, 6, Lee, 5, Jackson, 4.

But enough of fine art, I want to disagree with the notion that Lexington is sheltered. It has two colleges, and the comings and goings of their students and faculties create a continuing stir. The town receives television and newspapers, and fairly regularly is host to lecturers, wandering politicians and big-city reporters.

As for the idea that Lexington is conservative politically, that has to be a relative judgement. I would say it is moderate and enlightened, but I am prejudiced. Many of the conservatives in the surrounding county of Rockbridge would say Lexington is radical-liberal.

If anything is clear to me after living in both Lexington and Washington, it is that Lexington has the broader and less self-conscious view of the world, including the place in it of pictures of Washington, Lee and Jackson.

James D. Farrar, W&L's director of admissions for the past 16 years, resigned that position in March to assume new duties as the University's coordinator of alumni for student recruitment.

The University began a search for a new admissions director immediately, and hopes to name a successor to Farrar in that position by the end of the current academic year. Dr. Lewis G. John, dean of students, will continue to act as admissions director in the interim. Dr. John's office has overall responsibility for both student affairs and admissions.

In his new position, Farrar will greatly expand the use of alumni—both as individuals and through organized alumni chapters—in seeking to attract qualified students to attend W&L. He will work closely with both Director of Development Farris P. Hotchkiss and Alumni Secretary William C. Washburn in drawing on “the enthusiasm and energy of Washington and Lee's far-flung alumni,” Farrar said.

“For many years, we have seen effective use made of alumni by other colleges and universities. While W&L has been able to make only limited efforts along these lines so far, our experience clearly indicates that we have a large untapped source of help in our alumni, if we can coordinate and direct their efforts properly.”

Farrar said he views his new duties as “a challenging change. I'll be working in an area that requires the kind of professional guidance and coordination to which I can bring my experience in admissions and my knowledge of Washington and Lee's constituencies.”

Noting his length of service in the admissions directorship, Farrar said his resignation stemmed from his conclusion that “the job is one that no person should hold indefinitely, both because of the pressures it entails and the need for new perspectives in student recruitment and selection.”

President Huntley praised Farrar's “dedicated and skillful service” throughout the 16 years he was admissions director. “Jim Farrar is one of Washington and Lee's great strengths and resources. For 26 years he has performed invaluable service to the University, and I am grateful to know that he will continue to do so in the years to come.” He said Farrar is better qualified to undertake the new alumni/admissions responsibilities than anyone else.

James D. Farrar

A 1949 W&L graduate, Farrar joined the staff in 1952 as assistant admissions director. When the late Dean Frank J. Gilliam retired as admissions director in 1962, Farrar succeeded him in that position and was also made associate dean of students.

UCLA law teacher named head of Lewis Law Center

A leading international law authority, Frederic L. Kirgis Jr., has been named the first director of W&L's Frances Lewis Law Center.

Kirgis is currently professor of law at the University of California at Los Angeles, where he has taught since 1973. He was visiting professor of law at W&L last autumn. He will assume his new duties at Washington and Lee Aug. 1, according to Roy L. Steinheimer Jr., dean of the W&L School of Law, who announced Kirgis' appointment.

The Frances Lewis Law Center was established through a $2-million endowment in 1972 from Frances and Sydney Lewis of Richmond. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis gave $9 million in all to Washington and Lee's law program, $7 million of which supported construction of the University's new law building, named for them.

Kirgis received his undergraduate education at Yale University and his law degree from Berkeley. He was an associate in the Washington, D.C., law firm of Covington & Burling, specializing in international claims, prior to entering teaching. He was a member of the law faculty at the University of Colorado from 1967 until he joined the UCLA law faculty seven years later, and spent a year's leave of absence in research study at the London School of Economics.

He is the author of International Organizations in Their Legal Setting: Documents, Comments and Questions, and is currently working on a book on international consultation, scheduled for publication next year.

The Frances Lewis Law Center is designed to function in support of W&L's law faculty and students both inside and outside the formal law-school curriculum. W&L faculty may be able to take sabbaticals to work full-time on law-center research projects; there may be research programs for students and summer research opportunities for faculty members. Visiting scholars may be brought to the law center in residence for a semester or academic year or for the summer; there may be visiting attorneys' and visiting judges' programs as well. Special-topic seminars and conferences will also be conducted under the sponsorship of the law center.

Exhibitions

Recent exhibitions of artworks by W&L people:

—Black-and-white photos by W&L's prize-winning head photographer, Sally Mann, were on display this winter both in duPont Gallery on campus and in New York City's Pfeiffer Gallery. Among the prints on display in both exhibitions were a number of her rare platinum prints, several traditional silver prints of landscapes and other familiar Rockbridge scenes, and examples from a new series of abstract photos on which she is currently working.

—A photo-essay on the development of French cathedrals in the middle ages was exhibited in duPont Gallery for part of March, and the deputy cultural counselor to the French Embassy, Roland Husson, visited W&L for the opening.

—Photos by Frank A. Parsons, assistant to President Huntley, and paintings by Mrs. Ralph Daves of Lexington, mother-in-law of S L Kopald, a member of the Board of Trustees, were on display in the W&L Bookstore.

—Photographs by David Abrams, a senior journalism major who is a student assistant in the W&L News Office, were on display in a one-man show in January at the Roanoke Fine Arts Center.

New poetry editor named by Shenandoah

Richard Howard, Pulitzer Prize-winning poet and former poetry editor of American Review, has been named the new poetry editor of Washington and Lee's quarterly literary review Shenandoah. Howard, who is also president of the American chapter of P.E.N., the international association of literary writers, succeeds Eleanor Ross Taylor as poetry chief of W&L's award-winning magazine.

Howard, a frequent visitor to campus, was here most recently in March for a reading from his own works in a program sponsored jointly by Shenandoah and the Glasgow Endowment for the creative arts.

Other visitors

Other visitors to campus this winter have included:

—Robert P. Clark, executive editor of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal and Times, for two days of meetings with W&L journalism students, and to deliver a public talk on the topic "Our Beleaguered Press: Ethics on Trial," sponsored by the Society and The Professions ethics program;

—Robert W. Greene, a senior editor of Newsday (Long Island) and director of the so-called "Arizona Project," a team of 20 journalists who followed up the investigation of crime in that state which cost fellow reporter Don Bolles his life, for a two-day symposium involving W&L students and professional reporters, and for a public talk, "Exploring the Impossible—A Search for Journalism Ethics," also sponsored by the Society and The Professions program;

—John F. Melby, a career American foreign service officer with extensive experience in the Far East, including the chairmanship of joint State-Defense Department missions in the Philippines and Southeast Asia, for a lecture, "The Chinese Civil War Revisited," sponsored by W&L's East Asian Studies Program;

—Gerald C. Loucks, vice president of Sunburst Exploration Inc. of Denver, on the topic of searching for oil in geologic formations similar to those in the Rockbridge area, sponsored by the geology department;

—Pianist Richard Collins for a concert of 20th-century works by Berg, Schoenberg, Busoni and Ives, sponsored by the Concert Guild; and —Charles H. Breecher, a former officer with the State Department, the Agency for International Development (AID) and NATO, for a talk on "The Constitutionality of the Panama Canal Treaties."

Phi Beta Kappa taps 25

W&L's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa has elected 14 undergraduate seniors, 10 juniors and one 1977 graduate to membership.

They were initiated into the academic honor society at Phi Beta Kappa Day ceremonies in March. David D. Bien, a 1951 W&L graduate who is now chairman of the history department at the University of Michigan, was the speaker at the convocation.

Phi Beta Kappa initiates from the senior class were David T. Adams of Panama City, U.S. Canal Zone; Walter P. Benda of Austinville, Va.; Hall B. Clark of San Antonio; William J. Edwards of King George, Va.; Bill R. Fenstemaker of Warren, N.J.; Robert F. Hedelt Jr. of Warsaw, Va.; David J. McLean of Rutherford, N.J.; Gerald L. Maatman of Inverness, Ill.; Glenn A. Miller of Rockville, Md.; Mark L. Mitchell of Blacksburg, Va.; Robert W. Moorhead of Denver; Robert N. Mucciola of Windber, Pa.; Keith A. Teel of Dublin, Ga., and James M. Underhill of Babylon, N.Y.

Elected from the junior class were Robert E. Atkinson Jr. of Kingstree, S.C.; Douglas A. Byrd of Baton Rouge; Malcolm G. Coleman II of New Orleans; Michael F. Follo of Gadsden, Ala.; Harry F. Hoke III of Richmond; Edward U. Kissel of Birmingham; John R. Lewis Jr. of Natural Bridge; Larry P. McNulty of Nicktown, Pa.; David Randolph Scott of Grosse Point, Mich., and James R. Shoemaker of Frederick, Md.

Robert A. Ford, a 1977 graduate, was also elected to membership in the W&L Phi Beta Kappa chapter.

Bien, who earned his Ph.D. at Harvard, spoke on the topic "Time's Perspective and the Problem of Understanding: The French Revolution's Enemies."

Construction on the new $9.26-million library—with a capacity of 500,000 volumes and individual study areas for 800 students—remains ahead of schedule. Occupancy of the new building is scheduled for the Christmas holidays in December. Then, McCormick will be remodeled for the Commerce School and Newcomb Hall renovated for The College.

NORM LORD

W&L's High Priest of Total Fitness

"I've never seen Norm Lord at rest," says Jim Farrar, who's been pretty energetic himself in admissions work at W&L for 26 years. "The man is a horse. He never stops."

Lord has been going strong ever since he joined the faculty at W&L in 1946. Whatever he does—teaching, coaching, running or officiating—"he always does it 101 percent."

Lord's inexhaustible enthusiasm for sports, his positive attitude, and his belief in what he calls the "euphoria of fitness," have made him a paragon at W&L.

"You have to take a Norm Lord course. He's a legend," said Michael Gallagher, '79, editor of the Ring-tum Phi.

These days Coach Lord is deeply involved in teaching aerobics, which used to be called running. Students from earlier years probably recall his hearty welcome at freshman camp.

"He'd come out to Natural Bridge with all kinds of equipment and set up an elaborate physical competition involving everything from badminton to football called the 'Olympic Games,'" Farrar remembers. "He would introduce the other coaches and always had some kind of story about the origin of their sport. He told the kids soccer developed from a skirmish between the Romans and Gauls. When someone was decapitated during the fight, the excited victors started kicking the head around."

According to Lord, cheerleading was born when a frenzied group of Englishmen cheered Lady Godiva's barebacked approach into Coventry.

Other alumni may remember Lord as coach of the successful track teams from 1955 to 1967 or as the coordinator of team trips to other colleges. With characteristic thoroughness, he planned for everything—even "rest stops" were thoughtfully included for the comfort of the traveling athletes.

"In all those years, he never missed a detail, except for once," said Frank Parsons, assistant to the president and a pretty fair detail man himself. "Coming back from a trip to Sewanee, he forgot about the time-zone change and we had to race to catch the train at Chattanooga. But that was his only oversight ever!"

Students today either marvel or joke about Lord's thoroughness. "He treats his courses with such seriousness," says Gallagher. "At the beginning of the term, he hands out a syllabus. He gives assignments, homework and handouts in class. It's just like being in the Commerce School!"

There are plenty of student stories about his classes. Regardless of what is being taught, Lord includes physical fitness tests, heartbeat and pulse rate checks at the beginning and at the end of the term and a series of intraclass competitions including the "Telegraph Tournament," run over long distances by telegram; the "Tombstone Tournament," an all-day event testing stamina; and a

"Co-ed Tournament." In the last-named, dates are required to participate, fostering Lord's philosophy of "Fun, Fitness and Friendship."

Many students take Lord's courses not because they want to develop a particular sports skill, but just to get in shape. "You get results from Coach Lord," said Bill Kerr, a 1977 graduate. "I took squash and lost my beer gut."

Lord uses class tournaments and fitness tests to keep his students' interest while they improve physically, and he has applied the same techniques to his aerobics course.

"If you run the same course, it gets boring," he says. So he mapped out a series of courses throughout Lexington and Rockbridge County which might be compared to historic walking tours—except the students run. Students have the choice of seven courses. The Stonewall Jackson, an innercity run, pays tribute to the Civil War hero by covering all the Lexington buildings and shrines associated with him—including the Jackson Arch and statue at VMI, the Lee-Jackson House on the W&L campus, the Jackson House on Washington Street, Stonewall Jackson Hospital, and the Stonewall Jackson Cemetery.

The House Mountain run takes students out into the county—they are allowed to drive to the base of the mountain—and up and over one of the county's most scenic landmarks.

Lord practices what he preaches. He runs every day no matter where he is. "I've run in parking lots in Detroit," he says, "on hotel roofs in Tokyo, in strawberry patches in Norway and cemeteries in Copenhagen." He believes in his own gospel. "There may be better forms of exercise, but for total fitness, running is tops."

Frederic Schwab, professor of geology and another avid runner, once overheard students talking about the aerobics course. At the beginning of the term Coach Lord told them "This is the best course you'll ever have at W&L." One student said he thought Lord was kidding at first, "but by the end of the term I agreed with him."

Schwab credits Lord not only with promoting fitness among students but in the faculty and staff as well. "He's teaching us all how to fight middle age."

Lord hasn't confined the fight to the locker room, gym or athletic field. Although it was more than a decade ago, many faculty members remember an impassioned speech he gave at a faculty meeting to protest a proposal to do away with physical education requirements. Lord argued that it was important to preserve a program of fitness at W&L because American society was being overrun by machines and man was already too dependent on them. At the climax of the speech he asked his audience "What will you choose?" and held up a stopwatch, representing fitness, and an electric toothbrush, signifying decadence. The faculty voted for the stopwatch, and the physical education requirement stayed on the books—the only mandatory requirement left at W&L.

No picture of Coach Lord would be accurate if he weren't wearing his referee's whistle. For 38 years, he has officiated for every sport "except ice hockey and horse polo" and at every level "from the majors to girls' basketball."

"Norm is considered the best track and swimming starter in the state. He's been a leading Southern Conference football official for years," said Farrar, who has officiated with Lord at many games since Lord taught him as a student.

"It's impossible for him to overlook a penalty," laughed Farrar. "I remember the time Norm officiated at a little junior varsity game against St. Christopher's about five or six years ago. He was down the field when he saw a penalty upfield. He threw his handkerchief and was running toward the players when the W&L coach called out from the bench, 'What was that for?' He hesitated for a split second—because he didn't see the penalty exactly but he knew there was one—and then answered, 'A flicker, that was a flicker' and ran on. That's Norm."

—Jan Shivel

WINTER SPORTS REVIEW

Basketball Team Has Banner Season; Swimmers and Wrestlers Excel

The 1977-78 basketball Generals won both the regular season and tournament championships in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference this winter, had their second consecutive 20-plus-victory season, and won the first NCAA post-season game in the University's history. The team finished the season with a 22-6 record.

For the third time in the last four years, W&L went to the NCAA South-Atlantic Regional tournament. The Generals won the semifinal game against Jersey State City State College, 66-65. In the championship game, W&L was defeated by host Kean College, 80-64. Entering that final game, the Generals had won 12 of their last 13 contests.

Senior guard Pat Dennis, a 1977-78 co-captain, was named Outstanding Player in the South-Atlantic Regional tournament. He had 29 points in the Jersey City win and 30 in the loss to Kean. Those 59 points gave him an even 700 for the year, breaking the school record for points in one season of 656, set by Jay Handlan, '52, 27 years ago. Dennis finished his W&L career with 1,428 points, seventh on the all-time W&L scoring list.

A third-team All-American last season, Dennis averaged 25.0 points a game this season and was named the ODAC Player of the Year for the second straight season. A potential first-team All-American this year, he would be the first W&L first-team selection since Dom Flora, '58.

Junior forward Dave Leunig was named second-team all-ODAC this season and set a school record with a free throw percentage of .852. Junior point guard Mike Wenke passed off for 259 assists in 1977-78, a new W&L mark, and now has 548 career assists, also a W&L record. Sophomore forward Larry Meyer's .553 field goal percentage was the fourth highest in W&L history, while the team's average of 88.9 points per game is the highest ever.

The basketball Generals received honorable mention in every NCAA Division III national poll this season. Last year they finished the year ranked fourth nationally, but failed to win an NCAA game.

Included in this year's wins were three each over Lynchburg and Bridgewater.

The wrestling Generals won the ODAC title and captured Wrestler of the Year honors with junior Ed Rodgers. The team finished with a 9-8 record and defeated VMI, James Madison and the three ODAC opponents. It was the second straight year W&L took the conference title. Seven other wrestlers won all-conference honors. Rodgers won 24 matches, one shy of the school record.

Sophomore Ray Gross (142 lb.) was 22-9-1 this year, second best on the team. Other double figures winners for W&L were Dan Kniffen (190), 18-14; Warren Mowry (ULT.), 15-13; Howdy Knipp (126), 14-11-1; and Jim Flippen

(150) and Tom Oxendine (177), both at 12-14.

Rodgers, Gross, Knipp and Kniffen competed in the NCAA Division III national championships. Only Knipp won a match.

The W&L swimmers set three state records in the state meet and took third place, behind Richmond and Virginia Tech. They finished their season with a 10-1 dual meet record, their best ever, losing only to Richmond. Among the opponents defeated were Division I schools James Madison, VMI, Virginia Tech, George Washington, William and Mary, Virginia Commonwealth and Old Dominion.

At press time, seven W&L swimmers were competing in the Division III nationals in Grinnell, Iowa. Senior 13-time All-American John Hudson qualified in the 200, 500 and 1,650 yard freestyle events. Co-captain Keith Romich qualified in the 100 and 200 yard freestyle and the 200 yard butterfly.

Junior tri-captain Ed Rodgers was named ODAC Wrestler of the Year.

Other W&L national qualifiers were Drew Pillsbury in the 100 and 200 backstroke and the 400 individual medley, Chip Hoke in the 500 and 1650 freestyle and the 400 individual medley, Bob Newcomb in the 100 and 200 freestyle, and freshman Jay Diesing in the one meter diving. The 400 free relay team of Newcomb, Scott Duff, Romich and Hudson also qualified.

Hudson, Romich, Duff and Hoke are all returning All-Americans. Last year, W&L finished ninth nationally and had five All-Americans on the roster.

The indoor track and field team finished third in the ODAC Indoor Championships. Junior Phil Dunlay was all-conference in the 35 pound weight toss event. The two mile relay team of Richard Bill, John Morris, Bill Welch and Chris Daniel also won all-conference standing.

The 1978 spring season opened on March 6th with Duke upsetting the lacrosse Generals, 12-10. The stickmen had an exhibition against Mount Washington on March 11 and were to be at home for four games, beginning March 20 with Ohio State.

13-time All-American John Hudson

NEW FOOTBALL COACH

Gary R. Fallon Comes to W&L From Princeton

Gary R. Fallon, most recently offensive coordinator at Princeton University, is Washington and Lee's new head football coach. He had been a member of the Princeton coaching staff since 1972.

Fallon, 37, a 1962 graduate of Syracuse University succeeded William D. (Bill) McHenry, who stepped down as W&L's head coach at the end of the 1977 season to devote his full time to his duties as athletic director and head of the physical education department. Fallon was also appointed an associate professor of physical education at W&L.

McHenry, in announcing Fallon's appointment said, "We are very fortunate to obtain the services of Gary Fallon. He brings to Washington and Lee an exceptionally fine football background which spans a coaching career at several levels. Gary, as an Ivy League coach at Princeton, has worked with the type of students and alumni we have here at W&L, and his basic coaching and teaching philosophy regarding Division III football should enhance our position in years to come."

Fallon is the 30th head coach in the 93-year history of football at Washington and Lee. He was chosen after an exhaustive search that began in November and continued into January. "We were most impressed," McHenry said, "by the quality and quantity of the applicants for the position."

Fallon was Princeton's offensive backfield coach and receiver coach before becoming offensive coordinator last season. For three years prior to his term at Princeton, Fallon was assistant football coach and offensive coordinator at Ithaca College and also assistant lacrosse and assistant wrestling coach.

He received his B. A. in physical education from Syracuse in 1962 and his M. A. in special education from there in 1967. At Syracuse, he was an honorable mention All-East fullback in 1961, and the Syracuse teams on which he played went to the Cotton Bowl in 1959 and to the Liberty Bowl in 1961. He was captain of the 1962 Syracuse lacrosse team and was chosen to play in the North-South All-Star lacrosse game. He was also a wrestler at Syracuse.

After graduation, he spent the 1962 season with the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League and with the Hamilton Ti-Cats of the Canadian Football League. He was a member of the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL in 1963, and he also played semi-pro football as a runningback and linebacker with the Syracuse Stormers of the Continental League and Mohawk Valley and Scranton of the Atlantic Coast League.

A native of Watertown, N. Y., Fallon is married to the former Patricia Grant; they have three daughters, Kelly, 15, Carrie, 13, and Susan, 10.

By Steve Waid

PAT DENNIS

Basketball Star Proves
That Good Athletes Do
Find Happiness at W&L

This article by Steve Waid appeared in the Roanoke Times & World News on March 4, 1978, just before W&L played its first game in the NCAA Division III South Atlantic Regional tournament. Excerpts are reprinted with permission.

Pat Dennis has those well-scrubbed, big-smile good looks that some smart ad executive might want to use in a Pepsodent ad, or something like that.

You know his type: solid college student, good upbringing, industrious, pleasant personality. Odds are he was an altar boy when he was a kid, maybe even a Boy Scout—or both.

But there's considerably more to Pat Dennis than being the image of Jack Armstrong. In the first place, he'd probably cringe if he thought everyone pegged him for the All-American boy.

Secondly, he is perhaps the most outstanding basketball player to come to Washington and Lee in two decades.

In a career that has spanned three varsity seasons and will last as long as the Generals advance in the NCAA basketball playoffs, Dennis has established himself as the complete player.

In the last two seasons, during which Dennis has metamorphosized into the premier player he is, W&L has won 46 games and lost only 10. It has won the Old Dominion Athletic Conference basketball championship three straight years and has been an NCAA post-season entry in three of the last four years.

In three seasons, Dennis has:

- Moved into seventh place on the W&L all-time scoring list with 1,369 points. [He wound up with 1,428.]
- Moved from a 4.8 points a game average in 1975-76 to a 24.7 average this season.
- Come well within range of the single-season scoring record of 656. Dennis has 641 points and needs only 16 more to break the mark. [He set the record with 700 season points.]
- Been named a third-team All-

American in 1976-77 as well as the Virginia College Division Player of the Year in the same season.

- Earned the ODAC Player of the Year title twice in succession.
- Taken second place on the General's squad in rebounds with 6.1 per game—and he is a guard.
- Established a school record in shooting percentage by hitting 57.4 percent of his shots last season.
- Let none of the above go to his head.

In fact, Dennis' beginning at W&L was downright humble.

"I remember I applied to the school because my parents knew about it and I knew some friends who went here," said Dennis. "I had heard of Washington and Lee at home (Towson, Md.), when the lacrosse team would come up there to play."

At Loyola High School in Towson, Dennis' basketball ability was camouflaged. He was the third guard on a Catholic league team that played routine, unspectacular basketball.

PAT DENNIS

"We would walk the ball down the floor and then set up for a good shot," said Dennis. "We would go up against Baltimore schools like Dunbar with Skip Wise and play like that. I didn't get to play much so I knew I wasn't getting much notice.

"In fact, I didn't draw much attention from the colleges. Washington College in Maryland was the only school that showed an interest in my basketball ability, but I guess that might have been because I applied there."

When Dennis selected W&L, he had no idea that the school's basketball style would complement him as it has.

Dennis was fully indoctrinated into a freewheeling, running attack when he came to W&L four years ago. It called for constant movement on offense in the search for the open man.

Dennis liked it immediately. "I preferred the quicker tempo," he said. "And in my first year, I played on the junior varsity team. That might have been the most important season for me. Coach (Dennis) Bussard worked with me and I began to get a whole lot of play.

"I found myself getting better and better because I grew more confident. I felt I was helping the team and things were falling into place."

Still, Dennis was by no means the player he is now. When he moved up to the varsity three years ago, he was as nervous as one might expect when he got into his first game.

"I was playing behind John Podgajny and I got in when it was time for him to take a rest," Dennis recalled. "I went out there and started pressing because I felt I had to do something while I was in there.

"My first shot was a 25-footer from the wing. It was an air ball. That was embarrassing."

For Dennis, air balls have been as rare as meat loaf at a vegetarians' convention since that day. Dennis is the compleat shooter, with the ability to hit from just about anywhere on the floor.

"I have always considered myself a good shooter," Dennis said "But when I got here, I learned to score in more different ways. I learned to shoot inside and to play the post. I've done both a lot more than I did in high school."

Dennis in action against Lynchburg.

Dennis at present carries a 24.7 scoring average and is hitting at a 52.9 percent clip. Those are more than impressive statistics.

But at W&L, basketball, while competitive, is still on the NCAA Division III level. At that level, good city players aren't lured by scholarships because there are none available. They are forbidden by the NCAA as Division III schools are small and have tight budgets.

Considering that, would Pat Dennis be the player he is now at say, North Carolina or Virginia?

"You often watch those teams play on television and you see the players that get a great deal of the attention," mused Dennis. "I've often thought as I was sitting there how I would do in another situation—like at one of those schools.

"But I would not trade the situation I have here for one at a bigger school with a bigger program. I'm content here.

"And at the big schools, you can find yourself starting one year and then they'll bring in a high school All-American the next year and you'll be on the bench. You are out of a job."

At W&L, much the same as it is at any other comparable school, the players have their goals and work toward them with the intensity shared by their fellow players in higher classifications.

"People look at Division III and say we're just out here playing," said Dennis. "But we are working as hard as the major schools. Sure, we don't have the overall talent and quickness of big schools but, for us, working for the ODAC championship and an NCAA berth is just as important as winning the ACC is for Maryland or North Carolina, no matter how many people bother to take an interest in us."

The Generals' next goal is to win in the NCAA, something they have failed to do in their previous two tries. [They beat Jersey City State College in the semifinal and lost to Kean College in the final.]

"We're working hard to win," said Dennis. "Last year, we felt pressure because we were ranked fourth when the playoffs got under way and we felt we had to win. This year, we don't feel that way. I think we are peaking just in time."

Dennis' career has been a satisfying one, he says, but there's always some concern over the future.

"In one way or another, I've played basketball every day since I was a freshman in high school," he said. "When it's all over here, I would like to try and play in Europe because realistically, I don't feel I have the talent to play in the NBA.

"But whatever happens, it is going to be tough to give up basketball. I'm not sure I'm going to know what to do without it when the time comes to go out into the world and get a job."

And it's a safe bet that for a good while, Washington and Lee basketball isn't going to know quite what to do without Pat Dennis.

CHAPTER NEWS

Lacrosse Coach Emmer Is Winner of '78 Lynchburg Citation

LYNCHBURG. Jack Emmer, head coach of Washington and Lee's nationally ranked lacrosse team since 1973, received the 1978 Lynchburg Citation, regarded as the most important honor any alumni chapter can bestow, during the chapter meeting Feb. 18. The annual banquet was held at the Fine Arts Center and the convivial crowd quickly forgot the threat of imminent snowfall during the cocktail hour. Following the buffet dinner, Rodger W. Fauber, '63, presided over a brief business meeting. Dr. G. Edward Calvert, '44, chairman of the nominating committee, proposed the following slate of officers, which was elected by acclamation: Cecil W. Taylor, '39, 41L, president; E. Starke Sydnor, '66, '73L, vice president; and William C. Washburn Jr., '66, secretary-treasurer. The evening's principal speaker was President Robert E. R. Huntley, who spoke briefly on the historic perseverance of Washington and Lee. The Lynchburg Citation for high service to W&L was presented to Coach Emmer, who expressed his pleasure at receiving an award for performing a function that is so much fun for him. The "State of the Chapter" address, a wry monologue by Bertram R. Schewel, '41, was a cheerful tonic on a cold February night and reassured those alumni disappointed once again not to have received the award. Special guests for the evening included Mrs. Huntley, Miss Martha Huntley, University Trustee and Mrs. H. Gordon Leggett Jr., '54, University Treasurer and Mrs. James W. Whitehead, and Alumni Secretary and Mrs. William C. Washburn.

PALMETTO. The annual winter business meeting and dinner of the Palmetto chapter was held on Jan. 24 at Seawall's Restaurant at the South Carolina Fairgrounds. The meeting was preceded by a cocktail reception for officers and chapter directors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Arlen Cotter, parents of Les Cotter, '80. Following the social hour and dinner, the meeting began with elections. The new chapter officers are John W. Folsom, '73, president; A. G. (Joe) Wilson, '69, vice president; and J. Hagood Ellison, '72, secretary-treasurer. Buddy Atkins spoke briefly on student recruitment efforts and John Hollister, a development associate, gave a similar talk on the future financial plans of the University. The evening's highlight was an informal talk on the Reeves Collection of Chinese

LYNCHBURG—Lacrosse coach Jack Emmer (second from left) receives the Lynchburg Citation from Rodger Fauber (left), '63, chapter president; with them are Cecil W. Taylor (right), '39, '41L, incoming president, and President Robert E. R. Huntley, who spoke at the banquet.

LYNCHBURG—Bert Schewel, '41, the perpetual scribe and historian of the Lynchburg chapter regales his audience with his annual "State of the Chapter" address.

CHAPTER NEWS

Export Porcelain, given by James Whitehead, the University treasurer. Plans were also developed for a big social affair sponsored by the Palmetto chapter in conjunction with the showing of the Reeves Collection and the paintings of Louise Herreshoff at the Columbia Museum in November, 1978. Outgoing president Patton Adams, '65, presided and was praised for his excellent leadership of the chapter during the last year.

NEW YORK. The annual "Coaches Night" reception and dinner was held Dec. 9 at the Cattleman East Restaurant. Walt Michaels, '51, head coach of the New York Jets, was the principal speaker. Also on the program was Bill McHenry, W&L's director of athletics. During a short business session, outgoing president J. A. Drabek, '53, received the nominations from Richard Warren, '57, and the slate of officers and directors was unanimously approved. John M. Ellis, '56, was named president and Emmett Poindexter, '20, was re-elected treasurer. Also at the meeting were William C. Washburn, '40, alumni secretary, and Buddy Atkins, '68, assistant alumni secretary.

WASHINGTON. The Reeves Collection of Chinese Export Porcelain was the theme exhibit at the Washington Antique Show on Jan. 13. In spite of severe winter weather, alumni gathered at the Shoreham-Americana Hotel for cocktails and a black-tie dinner. Guest speaker for the evening was President Robert E. R. Huntley. Among the honored guests were Trustees Lewis F. Powell, E. Waller Dudley, and Sydney Lewis and their wives. Ably assisted by his assistants, Grady C. Frank Jr., '75L, and Jeff T. Twardy, '67, '73L, chapter president Jay Meriwether, '70, presided over an outstanding event. Representing the University were James Whitehead, treasurer, William C. Washburn, '40, Buddy Atkins, '68, Dr. Leon Sensabaugh, dean emeritus and their wives. Robert S. Keefe, '68, and John M. Duckworth, '71, were also present.

NEW YORK—Walt E. Michaels, '51, and Bill McHenry, '54, at the head table on "Coaches Night."

SAN ANTONIO—W&L admissions aide Ken Ruscio, '76, talks with chapter president Ralph Lehr Jr., '73, at Nov. 30 meeting.

SAN ANTONIO—Also at the meeting at the San Antonio Country Club were Brooks and Warren Stewart, '62, and Chippy and Dick Penny, '68.

LONG ISLAND—Obviously pleased by the formation of a Long Island chapter on Dec. 8 are Clark B. Winter, '37, George F. McInerney, '39, Duncan F. Winter, '75, Caroline Jackson, Jeff Wexler, '69, president, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van de Water Jr., '41.

CLASS NOTES

Why not a W&L rocker too?

The Washington and Lee Chair

With Crest in Five Colors

The chair is made of birch and rock maple, hand-rubbed in black lacquer with gold trim. It is an attractive and sturdy piece of furniture for home or office. It is a welcome gift for all occasions—Christmas, birthdays, anniversaries, or weddings. All profit from sales of the chair goes to the scholarship fund in memory of John Graham, '14.

ARM CHAIR

Black lacquer with cherry arms

$75.00 f.o.b. Lexington, Va.

BOSTON ROCKER

All black lacquer

$60.00 f.o.b. Lexington, Va.

Mail your order to:

Washington and Lee
Alumni, Inc.
Lexington, Virginia 24450

Shipment from available stock will be made upon receipt of your check. Freight "home delivery" charges can often be avoided by having the shipment made to an office or business address. Please include your name, address, and telephone number.

1920

JUDGE E. B. BEATTY retired Jan. 2, 1978, after more than a half century of public service to Lee County, Ky., and the area. Ceremonies in his honor were held in the community room of the Peoples Bank at Beattyville and E. B. Beatty Appreciation Day was proclaimed by County Judge Executive Douglas Brandenburg and the Lee County Fiscal Court. He was the third member of his family to serve as the Lee County attorney.

1921

DR. DANIEL BLAIN led the opening march for the 230th annual dinner of the St. Andrew's Society of Philadelphia, which was held Nov. 30. He carried the sword that belonged to his 18th-century ancestor, Dr. Hugh Mercer. Blain is a former president of the American Psychiatric Association.

1923

THE REV. J. B. HOLLOWAY has celebrated his 50th year in the ministry. His church sent him and his wife on a three-week tour of the Holy Land.

J. W. C. WRIGHT JR. is chairman of the board of Globe Storage Co. in Baton Rouge, La. He is a past president and member of the Kiwanis Club, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Traffic Club, the Louisiana Motor Transportation Association, and the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association. He and his wife have seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

1924

CHARLES HARRELL retired from Bluefield Hardware Co. in 1968. He remains very active as a trustee of Bluefield College, a member of the River Road Church in Richmond, Va., and the West Richmond Rotary Club.

1926

Retired from his first career, CHARLES W. LOWRY is writing a weekly column for The Pinehurst (N.C.) Outlook and is teaching an advanced history class in O'Neal Day School.

HENRY M. WILSON of Owensboro, Ky., has resigned from the Owensboro-Daviess County Hospital board. After graduation, Wilson entered the telephone industry, spending 33 of his 43-year career in Owensboro. When he retired he was manager of the 15-county Owensboro district of South Central Bell. Wilson is past president of the Owensboro Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club. He was vice president and a director of the Community Chest, vice president of the Daviess County Red Cross Chapter, a director of the Kentucky

CLASS NOTES

A. M. Doty, '35

Chamber of Commerce and a founder of the Junior Achievement program in Owensboro.

1927

Although he maintains a limited practice in surgery, DR. ALEX S. MOFFETT is also interested in various fields of art and art appreciation.

ROBERT E. STEVENSON has been retired since 1972 and lives in Mobile, Ala. His career spanned 45 years with Gulf, Mobile, and the Ohio Railroad. He manages to play golf five days a week.

Rabbi DAVID WICE is completing 45 years of active service in the ministry. He continues as president of the World Union for Progressive Judaism.

GIBSON WITHERSPOON has been appointed a commissioner of The National Institute of Justice of the American Bar Association.

1928

WILTON M. (RED) GARRISON has retired after 30 years as sports editor of The Charlotte (N. C.) Observer. He now does free-lance writing for magazines.

GERALD F. HORINE is retired from the Lincoln division of Ford Motor Co. He lives in Alexandria, Va., where he is a member of the hospital corporation.

1929

WILLIAM F. CHANDLER is retired president of the coatings division of Porter Paint Co. He was with them for over 40 years. He enjoys golf and plays in regional, national and senior golf tournaments.

WILLIAM S. GAULT is semi-retired after 47 years of law practice in Pittsburgh, Pa.

ROBERT W. PHARR has retired from law practice after 48 years. He manages to stay active and enjoys a home in Memphis, a cruiser on Pickwick Lakes, and a condominium in St. Petersburg, Fla.

1930

DR. JOHN P. DAVIS, retired from private practice, is a medical consultant for Integon Life Insurance Co. of Winston-Salem, N. C.

HOWERTON GOWEN is working for both the Acme Oldsmobile-Cadillac Agency and the Gowen Oil Co. in Roanoke Rapids, N.C.

DR. STANLEY F. HAMPTON continues in the practice of allergy in St. Louis, Mo. In July, 1977, he was named associate professor emeritus of clinical medicine at Washington University. In 1975 he was awarded the Distinguished Service Award of the American Academy of Allergy.

JOHN P. LYNCH has completed 40 years of practice of internal medicine at McGuire Clinic in Richmond, Va.

1931

MARRIAGE: ELBERT E. HALL and Terry Hanagan Deegan on Sept. 9, 1977. The couple lives in Abilene, Texas, where he is a Chartered Life Underwriter and one of the few licensed insurance counselors in Texas.

DR. J. HANSFORD THOMAS JR. practices medicine in Greenville, Va. He and his wife have five children.

1932

JULIAN BROOME, who takes a night course in gourmet cooking, is retired and plays a lot of tennis.

WOODSON B. GILLOCK was elected president of the Blue Ridge Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons for 1978 and 1979.

After 11 years, DR. WILLIAM D. HOYT, has retired as president of the Essex County (Mass.) Historical Association. He succeeded in getting two areas designated as Historic Districts. Hoyt is currently helping to write the first town history of Rockport, Mass., since 1888.

1933

J. FRED COOK of Waynesboro retired from the hardware business in 1968, from teaching distributive education in 1976, and is now selling real estate for Cook Land Co.

1934

HAYDEN D. AUSTIN is counsel for the Small Business Administration in Utah. A former president of the Utah chapter of the Federal Bar Association, he was recently appointed to the long-range planning committee of the Utah Bar.

DR. NORWOOD E. BAND is headmaster of the Bayside School in Northfield, N. J.

GEORGE D. MCCLURE, a member of the Texas Game Fishing Club, competed in a tournament against the Mexican Tarpon & Sailfish Club in Acapulco. He boated and released 12 sailfish in three days. McClure sells insurance in Dallas.

FOSTER M. PALMER has retired again after 21 months as acting librarian of the Francis A. Countway Library of Medicine in Watertown, Mass.

RICHARD SALE, author of The White Buffalo, is working on a new novel, The Peril. He is also working on a new movie, Empire, which should begin shooting in April, 1978.

After 32 years, WILLIAM B. TYREE has retired from the Standard Register Co. of Dayton, Ohio, and lives in Clearwater, Fla.

1935

ARTHUR M. DOTY, president of the Alcoa Foundation, retired on Dec. 29, 1977, after a 31-year career with the Aluminum Company of America. After he received a masters degree in history and education from the University of Southern California in 1939, Doty became a civilian flight instructor at the Santa Ana Army Air Corps base. He taught at Washington State University and served two years as an officer in the Navy before joining Alcoa in 1946. Doty became manager of education and training in 1953, assistant manager of personnel relations in 1955 and manager in 1960. He became executive director of the Alcoa Foundation in 1967, and was elected president in 1970. He is a member of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, serves on the advisory council to the Business Committee for the Arts, and is a fellow for the National Center for Juvenile Justice.

LEROY HODGES JR. retired Dec. 22, 1977, from service with the U. S. Agriculture department. Since 1959 he has been assigned to the foreign agricultural service as a tobacco marketing specialist. He expects to live in Richmond, Va.

1936

DR. THOMAS H. ALPHIN is deputy vice president for administration at the Medical Center, University of Alabama in Birmingham.

HUGH J. BONINO is president of Bostik South, Inc., a subsidiary of USM Corp. The corporation was recently acquired by Emhart Corp. of Hartford, Conn. Bonino spends a great deal of time in Lausanne, Switzerland, which is the headquarters for the chemical division. He lives in Greenville, S. C.

JOEL GRAYSON III is vice president and major stock holder in a company which compounds and processes swimming pool chemicals. The company also is in the production of dairy chemicals, commercial laundry products and chemical specialty products.

PAUL G. HERVEY has retired as a professor and chairman of the psychology department at Del Mar College. Currently living in Corpus Christi, Texas, he is busy writing.

Former Virginia delegate LEWIS A. McMURRAN JR. of Newport News has been appointed by Gov. Dalton to fill a vacancy on the Virginia Council of Higher Education. McMurrin, first elected to the legislature in 1947, chaired the Roads and Internal Navigation Committee and the Virginia Independence Bicentennial Commission. He was a member of the Appropriations, Privileges and Elections, and Rules committees. He was instrumental in the establishment of Christopher Newport College, the Hampton Roads Bridge Tunnel, the Victory Center in Yorktown and the expansion of the Newport News port facilities. McMurran was a member of the Jaycees and the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, a founder and director of the Bank of Warwick, now the Bank of Virginia, and served as chairman of the Peninsula Industrial Committee and as a commissioner of the Virginia Ports Authority. Gov. Mills Godwin spoke at a luncheon on Dec. 14, 1977, when McMurran retired from the legislature.

R. S. Thompson Jr., '39

GREGORY S. MAURY JR. has retired from Reynolds Metal Co. of Richmond, Va., where he was manager of telecommunications for 14 years and corporate records manager for three years.

FRANK L. PRICE, who served with the F.B.I. from 1941 through 1964, was installed as national president of the Society of Former Special Agents of the F.B.I. He will head the 7000-member organization for one year.

JAMES L. PRICE of Duke University's divinity school collaborated with Thor Hall of the University of Tennessee in preparing literature for the Advent and Christmas Proclamation Series for Christian churches.

JAMES A. ROBERTSON retired in February, 1978, after 42 years of service with the tobacco firm of Dibrell Bros., Inc., of Danville, Va.

WILLIAM H. SEATON JR. retired from business in 1971 but soon began work with the West Virginia Insurance Dept. He is now assistant commissioner of insurance. He lives in Charleston.

1937

HENRY M. DRAKE has been general agent for the Southern Farm Bureau Insurance Cos. in Port Gibson, Miss., for 22 years.

KENT FORSTER spent the 1976-77 year on sabbatical leave from Pennsylvania State University, where he is head of the history department. He was a visiting professor at the University of Nairobi in Kenya.

ALEXANDER MCINTOSH, a resident of North Branford, Conn., is retired and spends the months of November through April in Deerfield Beach, Fla.

CHARLES S. McNULTY JR., a retired employee of the city of Roanoke, Va., is a real estate consultant.

DONALD R. MOORE is an attorney with a Washington, D. C., law firm after retiring from the Federal Trade Commission as an administration law judge.

MICHAEL A. PERNA retired from government service with the Navy department in 1970. He now is engaged in the investment business.

PARKE S. ROUSE JR. has been reappointed by Gov. Dalton as executive director of the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation.

1938

ART ALEXANDER retired in 1977 after a long career with Toledo Scale Co. in Houston, Texas. He and his wife, Marie, live in Columbia, Miss.

J. OLIVER GLUYAS, who retired from American Airlines in 1976, has been employed full time as a labor relations specialist in the legal affairs department of the City University of New York.

JOHN E. NEILL retired Nov. 1, 1977, as vice president of W. W. Norton and Co. in New York. He and his wife, Betty, now live in Southern Pines, N. C.

THOMAS C. NUGENT JR. is president of Nugent Sand Co. and director of the National Sand and Gravel Association. He is also board chairman of NESCO, Inc.

CALVERT THOMAS, a member of the Washington and Lee Board of Trustees and former secretary and assistant general counsel for General Motors Corp., has opened a Cadillac dealership in Hartford, Conn. The new company will be known as Thomas Cadillac Inc. and Thomas' son, Calvert Bowie Thomas, will be the company vice president. Before joining General Motors Corp., Thomas was a practicing attorney in Baltimore; was employed as an attorney by the Department of Labor, the Tax Court of the U. S., and the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue. He was with GM for 26 years and came up through the legal staff to the position of assistant general counsel.

FRANK L. PRICE (See 1936.)

1939

PHILIP R. BROOKS of Petersburg, Va., has been reappointed to a four-year term as director of the state department of purchases and supply. He directs a staff of 140 employees and administers an annual budget of about $150 million. Brooks was formerly associated with Lone Star Industries, Inc., of Richmond. Brooks has also been chairman of the State Fair Coordinating Committee and vice president of state agency heads.

DR. THORNTON R. CLEEK of Asheboro, N.C., was named "Family Physician of the Year—1977" by the North Carolina Academy of Family Physicians at their annual meeting Nov. 27, 1977, in Winston-Salem.

JOHN D. GOODIN is a trustee and an elder of the Presbyterian church in Johnson City, Tenn. He has been elected head of the Past National Commanders Organization.

ROY S. THOMPSON JR., president of American Southern Insurance Co. in Atlanta, Ga., became a member of Lloyd's of London on Jan. 1, 1978. Thompson, president of both Rate-O-Gram, Inc., and Thompson Enterprises, Inc., is a former director of the Southern Council on International and Public Affairs and a former member of the young presidents organization. He is currently a trustee of Pace Academy, a member of the Insurance Institute of America and a member of the National Association of Independent Insurers. He and his wife, Virginia, have four sons.

1940

JACKSON G. AKIN is the managing lawyer of a 40-man firm in Albuquerque, N. M., where he has been practicing for over 30 years.

CHARLES C. CURL is a pilot for Braniff International Airlines. He flies the Dallas-Fort Worth to Honolulu route.

C. HARRISON HOGAN will retire from Trans World Airlines, Inc., in July after serving 33 years as a pilot. He and his wife, Ruth, live in Huntington, Long Island.

1941

JAMES R. BURKHOLDER III is president and chief executive officer of Almstedt Brothers, Inc., a 93-year-old investment firm and member of the New York Stock Exchange located in Louisville, Ky. Burkholder was chairman of the Ohio Valley group of the Investment Bankers Association in 1966-67, vice chairman of the Southern District of the SIA in 1972-73, and a member of the national municipal bond committee of the IBA for 15 years.

JOHN D. DURHAM is working for C.N.I. International as a project coordinator. The firm builds department stores world wide.

CHARLES L. HOBSON has practiced law for 31 years in Frankfort, Ky. He and his wife, Alice, have two children.

BERTRAM R. SCHEWEL, president of Schewel Furniture Co., headquartered in Lynchburg, Va., received the Award of Merit during a recent conference at the High Point, N. C., furniture market. The award, presented annually by Furniture South magazine, recognizes distinguished service by an outstanding retailer. Schewel is one of Lynchburg's most active civic leaders, receiving the National Conference of Christians and Jews Brotherhood Award in 1973, and the Willis Award in 1975.

CLASS NOTES

1942

JAMES S. HILL is president of George W. Hill Co., a whole seed and turf supply firm, in Covington, Ky. He is also vice chairman of General Savings and Loan Association.

1943

WILLIAM H. ARMSTRONG is a partner and director of Jennison Associates, a management firm in New York specializing in the management of corporate pension funds.

RICHARD J. BROMLEY is associated with Bache, Halsey, Stuart, Shields of New York as an account executive in their Garden City office.

BARTON W. MORRIS, publisher of the Roanoke Times & World News since 1973, has been named president of Times-World Corp. The Roanoke paper is a part of Landmark Communications, Inc., of Norfolk. Morris began his career with the Roanoke newspaper as a reporter in 1945. He has been a legislative correspondent, assistant to the general manager, corporate secretary, promotion manager, executive editor and vice president of the newspapers. Morris was a Southern Neiman Association fellow in North Africa in 1957, chairman of the Roanoke Community Fund and a trustee of Virginia Western Community College.

Since July, 1973, ROSCOE B. STEPHENSON JR. has been Judge of the 25th Judicial Circuit of Virginia.

1944

EARLE PALMER BROWN has two other W&L men in his advertising and public relations firm, Earle Palmer Brown Associates of Bethesda, Md. They are his son, JEREMY (JEB) BROWN, '69, and CHARLES M. BROWNING, '71.

WILLIAM R. MALLOY retired from Kavanaugh Industries, Inc. of Lynchburg, Va., and is on Hilton Head Island where he is employed by Sea Pines Co. as a tennis court maintenance specialist.

1945

S. ALLAN McALLISTER will be a visiting professor in chemistry at Western Carolina University in Cullowhee, N. C., for the spring semester of 1978.

JOSEPH C. MINGIOLI is the director of learning resources for Project Hope, the international health and education organization.

JOHN H. SORRELLS JR. is promotions editor of The Commercial Appeal in Memphis. He retired from the U. S. Army Reserve after 30 years.

1946

CLARENCE N. FRIERSON is still in the cotton plantation business in Shreveport, La. His son, Archer Frierson, '73, is also in business with him.

1947

WILLARD H. HART has accepted the position of coordinator of community relations for Edison State Community College in Piqua, Ohio. He had held a similar position at Indiana University since 1968.

ROSCOE B. STEPHENSON (See 1943.)

1948

EDGAR D. HOLLADAY is a portfolio manager at the State National Bank in Evanston, Ill.

ROBERT G. PATTERSON has been named professor of humanities at Southwestern at Memphis.

1949

COL. PAUL J. B. MURPHY JR. has joined a management consulting firm after 30 years of service with the Army. He lives in McLean, Va.

After 30 years of service with the federal government BENJAMIN L. WESSON has retired. He now lives in Huntsville, Ala., where he does legal aid work.

RICHARD M. YANKEE has formed his own sales representative firm and represents several companies serving dairy and food industries across the South. He is headquartered in Memphis, Tenn.

HAYDEN D. AUSTIN (See 1934.)

1950

STUART S. BAILEY is a general contractor for single family residences and small commercial buildings in Fairfax County, Va. Bailey is president of Century 21—Virginia Homes and Real Estate Co., Inc. of Falls Church, Va. He is a general broker and real estate developer in northern Virginia and in metropolitan Washington, D. C.

ARTHUR A. BIRNEY is a practicing attorney in Washington, D. C. In September, 1977, he and a law partner purchased a 134-slip marina in Annapolis, Md., and began a "do-it-yourself" boatyard. The marina is called the Port Annapolis Marina and, according to Birney, has the only fuel dock on Back Creek.

GERARD A. BURCHELL JR. is chairman of the science department at the Kingswood Regional Junior High School in Wolfboro, N. H.

MAURICE DICK will retire in June from the San Diego city school system after 28 years of teaching. He expects to operate a ranch near Clarks-ville, Ark.

R. DABNEY CHAPMAN is still with the U. S. Information Service and recently transferred from Bonn to Berlin. He is deputy director of the information agency's owned and operated "Radio in the American Sector" (RIAS).

JOHN D. LETHRIDGE has been made vice president and national sales director of National Distillers Products Co. of New York City. He lives in Wilton, Conn.

DR. ROBERT H. MAUCK practices orthopedics in Martinsville, Va. He and his wife, Langhorne, have three children.

BRUCE S. PARKINSON is vice president of sales for Whiting Patterson Co. of Philadelphia. The firm is a manufacturer of envelopes and other paper products.

HOWARD L. STEELE works with the international development staff of the Agriculture Department and is assigned to Bolivia with the U. S. Agency for International Development. He is project manager of a crop diversification and integrated rural development program. Steele married the former Jane Cornelius in July, 1977.

After more than five years of teaching in the family practice department at the University of Minnesota, DR. CHARLES DWIGHT TOWNES JR. is returning to private practice. He and his wife, Carolyn, have two children, Jane and Charley.

1951

GEORGE F. ARATA JR. is serving as director and president of the Southeast Bank of Sebastian, Fla.

DR. EARL R. CAMPBELL JR. is practicing orthopedic surgery in Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and living in Chattanooga. He and his wife have three daughters.

JACK E. GREER was elected a fellow of the American Bar Foundation. He lives in Norfolk, Va.

Since 1967 ARTHUR HOLLINS III has served as chairman of the First National Bank of Lake Charles, La. In June, 1977, he also became president of the bank and withdrew from public practice as a certified public accountant.

JOHN I. THOMPSON JR. is employed by the engineering division of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission as contract administrator.

1952

ERNEST H. CLARKE is teaching at the Capital University law school in Columbus, Ohio.

EDWARD E. GARDINER, formerly of Rosemont, Pa., is part-owner and operator of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He and his wife, Nancy, have three children.

ARTHUR A. BIRNEY (See 1950.)

1953

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. BRANTLEY F. BARR, a daughter, Marci Lynne, on Dec. 14, 1977. The family lives in Chatham, N. J.

WILLIAM M. HOLLIS has written another book, Scenes From An Old Album, published by Bardic Books of Bryn Mawr, Pa. He is also preparing a TV series on the arts for the CBS station in Philadelphia.

THE REV. SAM B. HULSEY has accepted a call to become rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity in Midland, Texas. He has been serving with Saint David's Church in Nashville, Tenn.

THE REV. SCOTT MAY is rector of St. James Church in Marietta, Ga. He recently was on a two-month education program studying biblical theology at Salisbury and Wells Theological College in Salisbury, England.

KENNETH B. SIZER is medical director for Dan River, Inc., in Danville, Va., in addition to maintaining a private practice.

1954

DAVID P. COMEGYS JR. is rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in San Antonio, Texas.

JAMES C. CONNER is a partner in the Washington, D. C., law firm of Bowman & Conner, specializing in the financing of ships, drilling rigs and other international matters.

DANIEL D. DICKENSON is the administrator of the Westminster-Canterbury Home of Norfolk, Va. He oversees the development and construction of a full-service retirement residence of 384 units plus a 120-bed health center. He had been pastor of the Lafayette Presbyterian Church of Norfolk, Va.

HASWELL M. FRANKLIN is president of the Baltimore Life Underwriters Association. He and his wife have seven children.

CARL D. SWANSON was re-elected chairman of the Virginia Board of Licensure of Professional Counselors. He has just had a book published entitled Legal and Ethical Concerns for School Counselors.

DR. ROBERT N. WASHBURNE, his wife, and three children have moved to Jenkintown, Pa., after living seven years in Switzerland and France. He is working for Rohm and Haas and is responsible for new product development at the central research laboratories.

1955

I. THOMAS BAKER is associated with Mead Associates Realtors in Lexington, Va. He is past president of the Lexington Board of Realtors. He and his wife have a son and a daughter.

LAURENCE LEVITAN is in the Maryland State Senate. He practices law with Paul Weinstein, '55, and the firm is one of the largest in Montgomery County.

DUDLEY B. THOMAS is general manager of the News-Herald in Willoughby, Ohio. He and his wife have two sons and the family lives in Painesville, Ohio, where they raise Old English mastiff dogs.

1956

MARRIAGE: ROBERT G. CALLAWAY and Gail Davidson Overbeck, on Sept. 10, 1977. Callaway, the author of Platform Tennis, recently published by J. B. Lippincott, is a platform tennis teaching pro and owner of the Paddle Center in Norwalk, Conn. He and a partner recently won the state's platform tennis championship. Callaway and his wife live in New Canaan.

MARRIAGE: JOHN RANDOLPH HEARST JR. and Kathleen Bickley, on Dec. 18, 1977. He is the grandson of the noted publisher William Randolph Hearst. She is the head of fashion designer Geoffrey Beene's sportswear division.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. JOHN LYNN HARE JR., a son, Ashby Ryan, on July 20, 1977. The family lives in Rock Hill, S. C.

JOHN ELLIS is one of six men who make up HAUS International, Inc. (Housing and Urban Services), an architectural firm which designs large-scale projects in the U.S. and abroad. The firm's first project was a new community for 6,000 families in Tehran. Ellis is currently project architect for another Tehran project, a $300 million mixed-use development which will include housing, offices, schools, shopping and health facilities. Construction is scheduled to begin in October, 1978.

1957

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. CHARLES B. RICHARDSON, a daughter, on Jan. 8, 1978.

SMITH W. BAGLEY will hold the title of president and publisher of a new national Sunday supplement which will compete with Parade and Family Weekly. The publication is called Today is Sunday.

DR. CARL F. BARNES JR., professor of art history at Oakland University in Rochester, Mich., has been elected president of the International Center of Medieval Art. The ICMA has its headquarters in the Cloisters Museum in New York City and has over 700 members in 31 different countries.

JOEL H. BERNSTEIN and his partner, Glenda Clay Bradshaw, have contracted to write the history of dude ranching in the United States. He can be contacted at the University of Montana in Missoula.

JAMES R. CREEL JR., formerly with Carlisle & Jacquelin, is working for Wood Gundy, Inc., Wall Street, New York. The firm deals in securities.

HAROLD GREIG CUMMINGS JR., a vice president of Legg Mason Wood Walker, Inc., members of the New York Stock Exchange, has been elected a director of The Boys Club of Washington, D. C.

JOSEPH C. KNAKAL JR., a partner in the law firm of Caskie, Frost, Hobbs & Hamblen of Lynchburg, Va., has been elected to the board of directors of the United Virginia Bank/First National. Knakal is a member of the American, Virginia, and Lynchburg Bar Associations and the Virginia State Bar. He is a past president of the Lynchburg Bar Association, a member of the board of overseers for Sweet Briar College, and officer and director of the Greater Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce, the Oakwood Country Club, the Greater Lynchburg Housing Corp. and the Lynchburg Community Action Group. Knakal was a director of Junior Achievement of Lynchburg, and the Boy Scouts of America-Blue Ridge Council.

ROBERT D. MILLER is director of the national mission division of the Presbyterian Church with an office in Atlanta, Ga. He has been pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Montgomery, Ala.

JORDAN M. SMITH has been teaching American constitutional history at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill since 1972. He received his Ph.D. in history from U.N.C. in 1977.

CHARLES M. SWEZEY is a member of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.

1958

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. EDGAR H. MACKINLAY, a fourth daughter, Charlotte Campbell, on Jan. 6, 1978. The family lives in Virginia Beach.

JOHN C. BINFORD has formed his own commercial real estate firm in Albuquerque, N. M.

CHARLES M. HELZBURG is a private investor and real estate dealer in Kansas City, Mo. He is also a director and consultant to several corporations.

D. G. Noble, '58

After a tour of duty with the U.S. Coast Guard, DAVID G. NOBLE joined Deere & Co.'s Syracuse, N. Y., sales branch in October, 1962. He has held executive positions with the company at several levels and was recently appointed general sales manager for agricultural equipment in Columbus, Ohio. The branch is one of 10 in North America which markets Deere's farm equipment and consumer products. Noble and his wife, the former Diane M. Hollkamp, have two children. Since his arrival in Columbus, Noble has been a coach in the Kiwanis soccer league and active in the YMCA youth program and other community events.

THOMAS P. O'BRIEN JR. has been promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve. He is senior trial counsel, 135th JAG Detachment, located in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Since July, 1977, THEODORE G. RICH JR. has been president of Morville Clothes in Philadelphia. The firm is an eight-store division of After Six Corp. He was re-elected vice president of Moss Rehabilitation Hospital and in November was elected to the board of trustees of the Philadelphia Federation of Jewish Agencies.

ERNEST H. CLARKE (See 1952.)

1959

MARRIAGE: OWEN H. HARPER and Kathleen McEnerney, on Oct. 29, 1977. The couple lives in Los Angeles where Harper is connected with the Crocker National Bank.

DR. THOMAS P. FOLEY JR. has been promoted to associate professor of pediatrics at the University Health Center of Pittsburgh, which he joined in 1971. In 1976 he was appointed director of the Clinical Research Center of Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh. As program director, Foley developed a laboratory test which can accurately and economically screen for congenital hypothyroidism, a subtle and difficult to detect medical condition which can cause irreversible mental retardation in infants if not discovered and treated early.

ANTHONY J. FRANK was promoted to executive vice president and secretary-treasurer of Anderson & Strudwick Holding Corp. The firm operates five companies in the fields of investments, real estate, insurance, business brokerage, and corporate and individual consulting. He and his wife have two sons.

TOM L. LARIMORE, a partner in the Fort Worth, Texas, law firm of Bishop, Larimore, Lamsens & Brown, is president of the Fort Worth Horse-shoe Club and president of the Senior Citizens Center, Inc. He is a director of the Rotary Club and chairman of All Saints' Parish Day School capital fund campaign.

CLARK M. LEA is president and owner of Marine

Metal Products Co. in Belleair, Fla. The company manufactures fishing tackle and specializes in artificial bait. He and his wife have two children.

MAJ. BRUCE MACGOWAN retired from the U. S. Army in July, 1977. He now holds a job with the Sarasota Memorial Hospital.

DR. EDWARD M. REAVES is a practicing physician in Memphis, Tenn., with a specialty in cardiovascular disease. He and his wife have two children.

LAURENCE M. SMAIL is chief counsel for the U. S. Army's Aviation Research and Technology Laboratory at Fort Eustis, Va.

JOSEPH C. KNAKAL JR. (See 1957.)

1960

W. E. KNICKERBOCKER JR. got both his B.D. and his Ph.D. degrees from Emory University. He is an associate professor of church history at Memphis Theological Seminary and an ordained United Methodist minister. He married the former Sandra Hargraves and the couple has two children.

Financial Programs, Inc., has named DANIEL B. LEONARD senior vice president and director of research for the mutual fund management company. Leonard is also continuing as manager of the subsidiary Financial Industrial Fund, Inc., the largest and oldest company advised by Financial Programs. He lives in Denver.

J. THOMAS TOUCHTON was recently elected a director of Merrill Lynch Basic Value Fund, Inc., and a trustee of Merrill Lynch Ready Assets Trust. Touchton is with the Witt Co., an investment firm in Tampa, Fla. He is also vice chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Tampa and treasurer of the Financial Analysts Society of Central Florida.

JORDAN M. SMITH (See 1957.)

1961

JACK H. BREARD JR. is vice president and general manager of the Dallas Office of EBSCO Industries, Inc. He recently gained membership in the EBSCO Founders Club and life-time membership in the EBSCO $250,000 Club.

J. MALCOLM BROWNLEE JR., a member of the faculty of the United Christian Theological Seminary of Yogyakarta, Indonesia, has been named associate editor of the Presbyterian journal, The Outlook.

DWIGHT R. CHAMBERLAIN, an authority on the common black crow, was taped for the NBC program "To Tell The Truth." The program was aired during September and October.

J. A. Russ, '62

GRAYFRED B. GRAY is associate professor of law at the University of Tennessee College of Law.

RICHARD W. HOOVER was transferred from the U. S. Embassy in Prague to the embassy in Gaborone, Botswana, where he is the political and economic officer.

WINSTON E. KOCK JR. joined Bache, Halsey, Stuart, Shields Inc. in July, 1977, as vice president of sales, GNMA originations for western operations in the San Francisco office.

ROBERT K. PARK II is president of the Jackson County, W. Va., board of education. He is also a member of the United States League of Saving Associations legislative committee. He and his wife have three children and live in a restored 19th-century home in Ravenswood, W. Va.

1962

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. G. T. DUNLOP ECKER, a son, Franklin Henry Dunlop, on June 20, 1977. Ecker, administrator of the Morris Cafritz Memorial Hospital in Washington, D. C., completed a year as president of the District of Columbia Hospital Association. He is also first vice president of the board of directors of the East of the River Health Association and a member of the board of directors of the Visiting Nurse Association of Washington, D. C.

DR. R. A. (TONY) COUNCIL JR. is practicing obstetrics and gynecology in Benton, Ark.

GEORGE E. HONTS III has been named to the board of the First National Bank of Troutville, Va., an affiliate of the Valley of Virginia Bankshares, headquartered in Harrisonburg.

R. WILLIAM IDE III has been appointed chairman of the American Bar Association's special committee on federal limitations on attorneys' fees. He has served in several national positions with the ABA and is involved in a number of national, state and local legal organizations. He is a partner in the Atlanta firm of Huie, Sterne and Ide.

LESLIE H. PEARD III is completing his 10th year in marketing with Eastman Kodak Co. He and his wife have two children. The family lives in San Rafael, Calif.

JAMES A. RUSS has been appointed to the board of trustees of Prince George's Community College in Largo, Md. Russ is president of Buffalo Sand and Gravel. Russ, his wife, and three children make their home in Upper Marlboro, Md.

LAURENCE M. SMAIL (See 1959.)

1963

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. DAVID C. SWANN, a son,

H. D. Jones III, '65

Andrew Whitaker, on Oct. 21, 1977. The family lives in Morganton, N. C.

GEORGE T. COWARD, who studied tax law at New York University, is a partner in the firm of Campbell, Dunlap, Coward & Blakeman with offices in Bartow and Lakeland, Fla.

DR. R. THOMAS EDWARDS III is practicing internal medicine and cardiology with a group of four internists in Roanoke. He is chief of medicine at Community Hospital Roanoke Valley. He and his wife have four children.

HENRY A. FENN is vice president and trust officer of United Bank and Trust Co. of Hartford, Conn. He and his wife, the former Holly Garrison of Greenwich, Conn., have four children.

STEPHEN E. GUILD is associate director for education at the Graduate Research Center of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

DR. EDWARD W. HOLMES JR. is associate professor of medicine and assistant professor of biochemistry at Duke University Medical Center in Durham, N. C.

KEN C. KOWALSKI, entering his third year as principal of E. C. Glass High School in Lynchburg, Va., is serving as president of the Virginia Association of School Executives, a professional association of superintendents, principals, and supervisors. He also manages to teach courses in the law and the community relations schools at the University of Virginia. Kowalski is one of three delegates from Virginia to the convention of the American Association of School Administrators.

THOMAS P. McDAVID is vice president in charge of the corporate banking department at the Union Trust Co. of Maryland. He has completed the program for managerial development presented by the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

J. HOLMES MORRISON is vice president and senior trust officer of the Kanawha Valley Bank, N. A., in Charleston, W. Va. He and his wife, Antoinette, have a five-year-old daughter and a three-year-old son.

JOHN H. MULLIN III is senior vice president of Dillon Read & Co., Inc., an investment banking firm in New York City. He and his wife have two sons and the family lives in Brooklyn.

ANTHONY D. SCHLESINGER is a partner in the New York City law firm of Milbank, Tweed, Hadley & McClay. He and his wife have one son and the family lives in Brooklyn.

ANDREW A. SMITH has been promoted to assistant vice president in the trust department of Wilmington Trust Co. in Wilmington, Del.

1964

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. DONALD B. McFALL, a daughter, Mary Crawford, on June 14, 1977. McFall is a partner in the law firm of Butler, Binion, Rice, Cook and Knapp in Houston.

BIRTH: DR. and MRS. JOHN M. SAMET, a second son, Steven Richard, on July 24, 1977. Samet practices cardiology in St. Louis.

PHILIP BOOTH is in his third season with the Metropolitan Opera. This summer he expects to make his Seattle Opera debut as Fasolt in "Das Rheingold." His wife, Sandy, plays the part of Nurse Horner on the TV production "As the World Turns." The couple has one daughter and the family lives in New York City.

WILLIAM T. BRAITHWAITE is a partner in the law firm of Mayer, Brown and Platt in Chicago. His wife is a doctor and assistant professor of medicine at Loyola University. They have three sons.

KENNETH E. BRANDENBURGH has been commissioner of state police for the Commonwealth of Kentucky. He directs 980 officers and supervised police operations during the present coal miners strike.

DR. GEORGE CRADDOCK JR. is attached to the hospital at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. He is an assistant professor of medicine specializing in cardiology.

JOHN P. EDWARDS is the community affairs manager for Caterpillar Tractor Co. in Peoria, Ill. Edwards has two sons, Robb and Peter.

STANLEY FINK has been elected to the National Advisory Board of the United Synagogue of America. He is also a trustee of the Union County, N. J., Bar Association.

ALVIN B. HUTZLER II has been elected president of Cliff Weil and Patrick-McRee, Inc., in Richmond.

ROBERT A. PADDOCK is working on the effect of power production on the physical environment at the Argonne National Laboratory in Argonne Ill. He and his wife have a daughter, Holly Margaret.

First Alabama Bancshares, a holding company, has named CHARLES B. SAVAGE JR. of Montgomery as a corporate banking officer. He is serving a fifth term as president of Alabama Junior Miss. Inc., one of the nation's leading junior miss programs.

PAUL F. VAN AVERY is manager of a new office of Merrill Lynch in Erie, Pa. He was elected an assistant vice president of Merrill Lynch in February, 1977.

DR. STUART J. YOFFE is a practicing pediatrician in Houston, Texas. He recently had a book published entitled How to Raise the Perfect Child or the Impossible Dream.

EDGAR H. MACKINLAY (See 1958.)

1965

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. VICTOR GALEF, a daughter, Wendy, on May 30, 1977, in Northbrook, Ill. She joins a sister and brother. Galef is marketing director for the Wyler Foods division of Borden Foods.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. D. BYRD GWINN, a son, David Harvey, on May 1, 1977. He joins a nine-year-old brother, William. Byrd manages the Houston office of Chubb and Son, Inc.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. PAUL H. DUNBAR III, a daughter, Katherine Hammond, on July 1, 1977. The family lives in Augusta, Ga.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. EARL MAGDOVITZ, a daughter, on Nov. 30, 1977. The family lives in Memphis, Tenn.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. J. MALCOLM MORRIS, a son, David Theodore, on Dec. 18, 1977. Morris is an attorney with the firm of Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton in New York.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. THOMAS E. STOVER, a son, Thomas Christopher, on Sept. 3, 1977. The Stovers also have a daughter. Stover practices law in Washington, N. J.

PETER H. ALFORD is director of admissions at the 700-student Loomis Chaffee School, a boarding and day school, in Windsor, Conn.

JAMES C. BUSSART and his wife, Debbie, live in Atlanta with their two children, Tim and Suzanne. Bussart practices law there.

DAVID M. ELLIS was certified a labor law specialist by the Texas Bar in October, 1977, and became a partner in the Dallas firm of Clark, West, Keller, Sanders and Butler.

STEPHEN T. HIBBARD is an institutional municipal bond salesman for White, Weld and Co. in Boston. Hibbard, his wife, and two young sons are living in and restoring a 150-year-old farm house in Weston, Mass.

H. DANIEL JONES III is executive director of the American Society of Pension Actuaries in Washington, D. C. Jones has served as a legislative assistant and a public relations director on Capitol Hill; a trust officer with responsibility for corporate pension and profit-sharing trusts at one of Washington's largest banks and as tax counsel for the electric utility industry.

CLASS NOTES

ANDREW C. KILPATRICK is a reporter for the Birmingham (Ala.) News and his wife, Kay, reports for the Post-Herald. They have a son and a daughter.

MICHAEL J. MICHALES is a partner in the Bolton, Mass., law firm of Mirick, O'Connell, DeMallie and Lougee. He is also an officer of the board of directors of the Tri-Community YMCA and active in other civic and legal organizations. He spent several days with classmate DAVID KILLIBREW, who lives in London, during a trip to that city.

EUGENE L. PEARCE III was promoted to assistant vice president in the personal trust division of Citizens and Southern Investment Counseling in Atlanta. Pearce and his wife, Libby, have two daughters.

GEORGE W. PRICE III is assistant vice president of Yeargin Properties Inc., specializing in condominium development and management of income producing properties based in Spartanburg, S. C. He and his wife, Betty, have two children.

MAX L. SHAPIRA is vice president of Heaven Hill Distilleries, Inc., and a director of Liberty National Bank and Trust Co. in Louisville.

1966

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. CLYDE H. FOSHEE JR., a daughter, Patricia Grahm, on July 9, 1977. She joins two older brothers. Foshee is counsel and assistant secretary to First Kentucky National Corp., a bank holding company in Louisville.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. S. BIRNIE HARPER, a daughter, Sara Margaret, on Nov. 17, 1977. The Harpers have four children and the family lives in Ft. Smith, Ark.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. THORNTON M. HENRY, a son, Thornton Bradshaw, on April 15, 1977. Henry is a tax attorney in West Palm Beach, Fla.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. JOHN C. HENSLEY JR., a son, Scott Martin, on Aug. 28, 1977, in St. Louis. Hensley is general agent for an insurance firm and has recently earned the C.L.U. title.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. JOSEPH G. MILLER, a second son, William Campbell, on Feb. 19, 1977. Miller is farming in Franklin, Tenn. and is also an officer in William F. Miller & Associates, a manufacturer's representative company.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. PAUL N. MURPHY, a son, Conor Comfort, on Sept. 7, 1977. Murphy is an assistant U. S. Attorney for the District of Columbia, a position he entered in 1974. He spent a year ocean racing and served with the Naval Security Group for three years after graduation. He graduated from the University of Virginia

Law School in 1973 and married the former Helen Longstreth of Philadelphia.

DANIEL W. BIRD JR. practices law in Wytheville, Va., with Franklin P. Slavin Jr., '75.

ANDREW N. BAUR, formerly president and chief executive officer of Commerce Bank of St. Louis, has joined St. Louis County Bank as executive vice president and was elected to the bank's board of directors. Baur was president of Commerce Bank three years. Previously he was vice president of Mercantile Trust Co.

HARRY DENNERY is living in New Orleans and is president of Denner's Home Beverage Delivery, Inc., of Atlanta, Ga. His wife is vice president and director of personnel for the Times-Picayune Publishing Corp.

MICHAEL T. GOODE has opened his own office for the practice of law in Portsmouth, Va.

HARRY G. GOODHEART III is a practicing attorney in Bradenton, Fla. He is married to the former Ann Jones and the couple lives on a farm. Goodheart is active in the Big Brothers Program and is an ardent ocean racing fan.

PETER C. MANSON JR. has been made a partner in the law firm of Pender, Coward, Addison and Morgan. The firm's offices are in Norfolk and Virginia Beach.

ROY ALLEN TYLER is a partner in a law firm in Evansville, Ind. He is also a deputy prosecutor, attorney for the Indiana Fraternal Order of Police, an instructor for the National College of District Attorneys at the University of Houston law school, and an instructor for the Ohio Organized Crime Council in Columbus. Tyler and his wife have two daughters.

VAL S. MCWHORTER (See 1969.)

1967

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. ROBERT B. PRIDDY, a first child, Robert Brackett Jr., on Christmas Day, Dec. 25, 1977. Priddy is director of development at the Nichols School in Buffalo and is a newly elected deacon at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

NELSON J. ADAMS is an independent film producer in Washington, D. C. He has written a script for a National Geographic Society film on Mark Twain and is producing a film for the Smithsonian Institute. His current project is a film on historic preservation for which Lexington is a model case history.

MARK R. FERDINAND has opened his own law office in Chicago where he deals in corporate, real estate and estate planning law. He and his wife, Joan, have a daughter and a son.

ROGER A. MILAM is sales manager of John S. Milam Optical Co. in Nashville.

GEORGE N. STAMAS is assistant vice president of the European American Bank in Chicago.

J. HOLMES MORRISON (See 1963.)

1968

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. ALLEN B. CRAIG III, a son, Daniel Brewington, on March 5, 1977. Craig became a partner in the Houston law firm of Hutcheson and Grundy in January.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. WILLIAM E. HART JR., a daughter, Valerie Elaine, on Jan. 19, 1978. Hart has completed the M.B.A. program at Old Dominion University and is assistant professor of accounting at Tidewater Community College.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. GEORGE A. MORGAN JR., a son, George A. III, on Sept. 6, 1977. Morgan is president and owner of Morgan Real Estate, Inc., in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. STEPHEN K. SHEPHERD, a son, Paul Darrow, on Dec. 5, 1977. Shepherd is vice president of Pulaski Federal Savings and Loan Association in Little Rock, Ark. He also is an officer with Pulaski Financial Services Inc., a wholly owned service corporation of Pulaski Federal.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. GUY M. TOWNLEY, a son, Peter Morrison, on Sept. 27, 1977. The Townleys also have two daughters and live in Oklahoma City.

DR. PAUL A. BROWER is currently chief resident in urology at U.C.L.A. Hospital in Los Angeles.

KENNETH M. FINK is in the private practice of adult and child psychiatry in Huntington, W. Va. He is a diplomate of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology.

EUGENE R. (SKIP) JACOBSEN III is executive vice president of Sterling Textile Services in Washington, D. C.

DR. HOUSTON M. KIMBROUGH JR. will complete his residency in urology this June in Roanoke, Va. He plans to open a practice in urology afterward in Greensboro, N. C.

ROBERT H. MOLL is specializing in environmental law at the National Law Center of George Washington University. A senior trial attorney in the office of the general counsel of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Moll is seeking an L.L.M. degree.

MICHAEL G. MORGAN has been promoted to assistant vice president at United States Trust Co. of New York. He joined the company in 1976 and is with the corporate banking division.

D. D. Kympton, '70

Morgan, his wife, and daughter reside in Stamford, Conn.

CAPT. JOHN W. RICE JR., U.S.A.F., is stationed at the Weapons Lab/Nuclear Systems Division in Albuquerque, N. M.

SIDNEY B. ROSENBERG is vice president of First Fidelity Mortgage Corp. in Atlanta.

PAUL H. DUNBAR III (See 1965.)

WILLIAM F. STONE JR. practices law with his brother, CHARLES M. STONE, '70, '73L, in Martinsville, Va. Stone and his wife, Cathy, have two sons.

GEORGE E. HONTS III (See 1962.)

MICHAEL J. MICHAEL (See 1965.)

THOMAS E. STOVER (See 1965.)

1969

MARRIAGE: JOHN GREGORY SIMMONS and Bettie K. Bernhardt on May 7, 1977, in San Antonio, Texas. Simmons is completing a residency in the Department of Otolaryngology and Maxilla Facial Surgery at Tulane University Medical School in New Orleans.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. ROBERT G. ARMSTRONG, a son, Clark Andrew, on Sept. 9, 1976. Armstrong is an independent oil producer and president of Armstrong Energy Corp. in Roswell, N. M.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. W. DOUGLAS HALL, a daughter, Katherine Elizabeth, on Dec. 2, 1977. Hall is with Montana State University's agricultural experiment station. The family lives in Bozeman, Mont.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. ROBERT A. MOSELLE, a daughter, Monica Gayle, on Oct. 20, 1977. The family lives in San Francisco.

G. WILLIAM ALLEN JR. is associated with the law firm of Waltou, Lantaff, Schroeder and Carson in Fort Lauderdale.

BARNABAS B. B. BREED has opened the firm of Breed, Stairs and Handal for the general practice of law in New York.

DR. J. GILLUM BURKE will be chief resident in orthopedic surgery at North Carolina Baptist Hospital, Bowman Gray School of Medicine, in July.

WILLIAM J. COOK is a research project leader with Nordson Corp. in Amherst, Ohio. Cook is married to the former Thalia Reffner of Coburn, Pa. They have a son and daughter.

Since receiving an M.B.A. in marketing from the Wharton School in 1971, H. WARD DORER has worked for the marketing department of Nabisco, Inc., in East Hanover, N. J., where he is presently a brand manager.

STEPHEN FLETCHER is employed with the Environmental Research & Engineering Co. in Gainesville, Fla. He and his wife have two children.

RUFUS D. KINNEY is studying for his M.A. in English at the University of Montevallo in Alabama.

JAMES J. LIVESAY is chief resident in general surgery at U.C.L.A. Hospital in Los Angeles.

VAL S. MCWHORTER was appointed general counsel of the Renegotiation Board on July 5, 1977. He is a specialist in government contract law and was campaign coordinator for President Carter's election in Virginia's eighth district. McWhorter, his wife, and two children live in Springfield, Va.

W. WILLIAM MELNYK will enroll this summer at the Episcopal Seminary at the University of the South at Sewanee for three years of study leading to the Episcopal priesthood. Melnyk, his wife, Cathy, and their daughter and son will move to Sewanee in August.

DR. THOMAS M. NEWMAN has opened a private medical practice for neurology in Houston.

RALPH E. PEARCY II graduated from law school at the University of South Carolina and is now stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., with the Marine Corps. The Pearcys have a daughter.

DAVID L. ROSS lives in Richmond where he serves as general counsel and legal advisor to the Medical College of Virginia and Virginia Commonwealth University.

C. CRAWFORD WILLIAMS JR. is in a private law practice in Birmingham. His wife, Lynn, is an attorney with Protective Life Insurance Co.

THORNTON M. HENRY (See 1966.)

1970

MARRIAGE: GEORGE Z. BATEH and Janan Shannam on May 8, 1977, in Livonia, Mich. The couple lives in Jacksonville, Fla., where he is assistant state attorney in charge of the career criminal division which prosecutes habitual offenders.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. EDWARD A. POWELL JR., a son, Ashton Winfield, on Sept. 20, 1977. Powell receives his M.B.A. in June from the University of North Carolina and will enter the banking trade in Boston.

DAVID R. FRANKSTONE is practicing law in Chapel Hill, N. C., with the firm of Manning, Jackson, Osborn and Frankstone.

DAVID D. KYMPTON has been promoted to assistant vice president by the Bank of Virginia in Richmond, where he had been a corporate accounts officer. He received an M.B.A. degree from the University of Virginia in 1974.

DR. CHRISTOPHER R. MARTIN, who practices in Fremont, Ohio, has been certified as a diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice.

STUART L. PORTER is an assistant professor of animal science at Blue Ridge Community College in Weyers Cave, Va. He teaches in the veterinary technician training program.

THOMAS R. ROBINETT has resigned as town attorney for Farmville, Va., and has formed Wilson and Robinett, a law firm in Crewe, Va.

BRUCE S. SAMUELS has completed a residency in internal medicine at Charity Hospital in New Orleans and is now in private practice in east New Orleans.

WILLIAM F. STONE JR. (See 1968.)

1971

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. JERRALD J. ROEHL, a daughter, Katherine Channing, on Aug. 4, 1977, in Albuquerque. Roehl is immediate past president of the New Mexico Bar's young lawyers section, a member of the board of directors of the Albuquerque Bar Association, and of the executive council of the American Bar Association's economics section. He heads his own law firm.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. ROBERT G. WOODWARD, a son, Charles Frederick, on Nov. 22, 1977. Woodward is associated with the King and Spalding law firm in Atlanta.

JAMES R. ALLEN was promoted on July 1, 1977, to audit manager in the Washington office of Price Waterhouse and Company.

CHRISTOPHER C. DOVE is working for WTOP, the CBS radio affiliate in Washington, D. C.

THE REV. JEFFREY B. SPENCE is the new pastor of the Schroon Lake Community Church in Schroon Lake, N. Y.

E. PEYTON VICKERS and his wife live in Miami where he is employed by the Georgia Pacific Corp.

1972

MARRIAGE: BERNARD C. GRIGSBY II and Carol A. Burins on Oct. 8, 1977, in Wilmington, Del. W&L men in the wedding were Mark Young, '73; Phil McFarlane, '71; T. Brown, '73; Bud

CLASS NOTES

At the wedding of Craig B. Jones, '73, were (from top row left to right) Carl R. (Russ) Fletcher III, '74; George L. McChesney, '75; Wilson F. (Wick) Vellines Jr., '68; Randolph L. Hutto, '72; Michael T. Thornton, '70; Richard H. Middleton Jr., '73; Hobson G. (Skip) Booth, '72; James A. Drakos, '72; W. Hugh Baugher, '68; Frank L. Dudley, '76; Charles M. (Mac) Cushing, '75; Thomas H. (Harry) Wall IV, '75; Mrs. Drakos; Lee S. Thalheimer, '73; Timothy F. Haley, '73; Gary W. Poliakoff, '73; Thomas L. Howard, '68; Frederick W. Woodward III, '73; Michael S. Davis, '73; John W. Folsom, '73; George B. Wolfe, '73; Mark R. Young, '73; Donald A. Sharpe, '69; and Jones.

Miller, '71; and John Smith, '69. Grigsby is a government bond trader with Kidder, Peabody Investment Bankers in New York. His wife is a health care analyst for Blue Cross.

MARRIAGE: RICHARD L. WEBB and Patty Kallas of Culpeper, Va., in February, 1977. After a honeymoon in Europe that included a visit with her family in Greece, the Webbs settled in Silver Spring, Md. Both are employed by the Library of Congress.

MARRIAGE: LLOYD SHELTON WOLF and Mary Margaret Thompson on July 9, 1977, in Dallas. Groomsmen included Harry Phillips, '72; Donald Cartwright, '72; Ken Evans, '72; Stephen Swenson, '73; Gerald Weedon, '70; Mark Grobmyer, '72; and Charles Holbrook Jr., '72. Guests included Mitt Younts, '72; Bill Brown, '69; Drew Kumpuris, '71, and about 25 other W&L alumni.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. ROBERT P. BEAKLEY, a son, Timothy Andrew, on Aug. 7, 1977, in Ocean City, N. J. Beakley is a staff attorney with Cape Atlantic Chapter of the American Institute of Banking. He is included in the first edition of Who's Who in American Law.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. DONALD W. WEIR JR., a son, Donald William III, on Aug. 26, 1977, in Shreveport, La.

STEPHEN V. ANDRE earned the M.S. degree in population ecology from the University of Maryland in June, 1977. He is an instructor at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County campus, and lives in Vienna, Va.

BRADLEY G. BOONE is employed by the Johns Hopkins University applied physics laboratory in Laurel, Md. He is married to the former Sandra Dixon and the couple has two children.

RALPH D. CALDRONEY is at the Medical University of South Carolina where he will be a chief resident in medicine next year.

IRA FELDMAN is a new corporate attorney for McDonald's Corp. in Oakbrook, Ill.

ARTHUR N. FURHMAN is associated with the law firm of Belson and Carlin in Basking Ridge, N. J.

After graduating from Dickinson Law School in 1976, JOHN M. GLACE became an assistant public defender for Dauphin County, Harrisburg, Pa. He continues to play for the Gallic Rugby Club of Carlisle.

MARK J. HANSON has earned an M.B.A. from the University of Utah. He works as a management consultant in the finance and accounting office of the Department of Energy in Washington.

DR. CHARLES JAMES HARLAND JR. is stationed at the Naval Regional Dental Center, NTC, Orlando, Fla. He will be discharged in June and expects to enter private practice in Richmond, Va.

E. AUSTIN McCASKILL III is practicing law with the firm of Barber, McCaskill, Amsler and Jones in Little Rock, Ark. He and his wife have a one-year-old daughter, Mary Grace.

RICHARD J. SPLITTORF has joined the general advertising staff of the San Diego Union and evening Tribune. He is living in La Jolla, Calif.

JOHN GRAHAM TUCKER has received an M.A. in art history from the University of Chicago.

JOHN F. WATLINGTON III is an insurance broker for Modine, Nesbit and Co. in Charlottesville. He specializes in the design and administration of executive fringe benefit programs. For several years he has been a member of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co.'s Million Dollar Round Table and won a number of other company awards.

WILLIAM T. ANDERSON (See 1975.)

1973

MARRIAGE: LAWRENCE E. EVANS JR. and Nancy R. Campbell on Aug. 20, 1977, in Chattanooga, Tenn. The couple is living in Houston where Evans is practicing patent law with the firm of Gunn and Lee.

MARRIAGE: ANDREW G. HOLLINGER and Mary Catherine Bader on Dec. 31, 1977, in Rochester, N. Y. Hollinger received an M.A. in history from Emory University and now works in Rochester as a systems engineer for I.B.M.

MARRIAGE: CRAIG B. JONES and Carol Fulwiler on Nov. 25, 1977, in Atlanta, Ga. Jones is an attorney with the firm of King & Spalding. A large number of W&L men were among the wedding guests (see picture). Others present but not pictured were Phil Thompson, '68; Bob Woodward, '71; Marshall Washburn, '73; Dick Marsh, '73; Laurie McAlpine, '73; Dave Cranshaw, '77; John Keith, '75; George Quarm, '73; Allan Brown, '72, and Ed Callison, '77.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. THOMAS A. GOSSE, a daughter, Emily Noel, on Sept. 19, 1977. The family lives in White Stone, Va.

GATES G. BRELSFORD lives in Houston and works for Occidental Petroleum, Inc., as a corporate internal auditor. He audits subsidiaries in Canada, Mexico, Latin America and Europe.

ROBERT T. BRUYERE is an architect with the Houston firm of Nix, Spencer, Herolz and Durham, Inc.

JEFFREY C. BURRIS is associated with the law firm of Burris and Gross in Indianapolis.

JOHN H. DUMAS II is in his first year of medical residency at the University of Cincinnati Medical Center.

JOHN W. FOLSOM is vice president of a subsidiary of South Carolina Federal Savings and Loan Association and director of secondary marketing.

WILLIAM B. FOWLER is with the institutional sales department of the investment firm of Bache, Halsey, Stuart, Shields in Atlanta, Ga.

JOHN C. FULLERTON III is a captain in the Army Medical Corps undergoing a surgical internship at Beaumont Army Medical Center in El Paso, Texas. He will begin a general surgery residency there next year.

RONALD T. GOLD has completed his duty with the Marine Corps and is now an associate with the law firm of Carter, Ansley, Smith and McLendon in Atlanta, Ga.

RICHARD E. GRAY III is practicing law in Houston with the firm of Butler, Binion, Rice, Cook and Knapp.

ROBERT M. HEMM received his medical degree from Cornell Medical School and is an intern at Roger Williams Hospital in Providence, R. I.

LT. CLYDE M. HENKEL was transferred to Coast Guard headquarters in Washington as a lawyer in the marine environmental protection division.

DAVID A. KANTOR graduated from Emory Law School in 1976 and is licensed to practice in Ohio. He lives in Cincinnati where he and his wife, Leslie, have started the Springwater Cookie Co., wholesale manufacturers of all-natural chocolate chip cookies.

JAY H. KERN graduated from Tulane University's law school in 1976 and works in construction defects litigation for the Louisiana attorney general's office. He is vice president of the Alliance for Good Government. Kern married the former Betty Jean Straus in 1974.

GARY L. MARTIN is working as director of finance for the Catholic Diocese of Richmond, Va.

JAMES JASON MATTHEWS works as editor for an analysis unit employed jointly by the defense and state departments and writes short stories for magazines in his free time. With David Finnell, '74, he was a crewmember on a sloop in the last Bermuda Race.

THE REV. FREDERICK E. ROBERTS is pastor of the Gaston, N. C., charge of the United Methodist

At the wedding of W. Kennedy Simpson, '75; were (left to right) Simpson, Mark J. Mennel, '75; Robert R. Gray, '75; E. Neal Cory, '77 (background); Thomas H. (Harry) Wall IV, '75; Caldwell Willig; William W. Crawford Jr., '76; Rogers L. Crain, '75; and Charles M. (Mac) Cushing, '75.

Church and youth ministries coordinator for the Rocky Mount District.

SIDNEY C. ROSEBERRY JR. has worked since graduation in Africa for the Peace Corps and the Agency for International Development. He will return to Senegal this spring to train new Peace Corps volunteers and hopes to pursue graduate studies in international development in the fall.

MARK E. SKELLENGER graduated from Baylor College of Medicine in May, 1976. He is now second resident in general surgery at Washington University Medical School in St. Louis.

PAUL C. SUTHERN has been promoted to controller of the international division of Conval Corp. with headquarters in Chicago. He has completed the M.B.A. program at Xavier University in Cincinnati.

STEPHEN B. SUTTON is associated with the Kansas City, Mo., law firm of Gage and Tucker. He was formerly a staff attorney for the Missouri Court of Appeals.

J. STANLEY TAYLOR received the master's degree in accounting from the University of Houston on Dec. 20, 1977. He works with the investment division of First City National Bank in Houston where he sells government and municipal securities to institutions.

JACK V. H. WHIPPLE II works for Manufacturers Hanover Trust in New York as member of a corporate lending team in the bank's metropolitan division.

GEORGE B. WOLFE received his J.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania law school where he was editor of the law review and elected to the Order of the Coif. He currently serves as law clerk to Judge Russell, U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. He expects to join the Washington, D. C., firm of Wilmer, Cutter & Pickering in the fall of 1978.

1974

MARRIAGE: VIRGIL OATES BARNARD III and Martina Gayle Swain on Oct. 8, 1977, in Frankfort, Ky. Barnard is an auditor for the Kentucky revenue department and is mapping and appraising unmined coal properties. The Barnards are living on a farm outside Frankfort.

MARRIAGE: T. CALDER EZZELL JR. and Janet Durham on Nov. 26, 1977, in Midland, Texas. John H. Curtis Jr., '74, was the best man. Other W&L alumni in the wedding party were Fred C. Durham, '66; Lynn D. Durham Jr., '72; Richard B. Adams Jr., '74; Virgil O. Barnard III, '74; Thomas L. Sansonetti, '76, and E. Brew Houston Jr., '77. Also present were William Pifer '76; Bayard J. Snider, '76; and John Ray Taylor, '76.

The couple will live in Roswell, N. M., where Ezzell is associated with the law firm of Hinkle, Cox, Eaton, Coffield and Hensley.

BIRTH: MR. and MRS. MARTIN E. STEIN JR., a daughter, Ashley Wellhouse, in May, 1977. The family lives in Jacksonville, Fla.

JACK E. ALTMAN III is an associate minister at the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation in Dallas, Texas. He was ordained on Jan. 6, 1978.

ARTHUR P. BOLTON III has earned diplomate status from the Court Practice Institute. He completed an intensive week long seminar designed to improve the trial skills of attorneys. Bolton practices law in Birmingham, Ala.

CHESTER F. BURGESS III has been appointed weekend anchorman and producer for WTAR-TV News in Norfolk.

JAMES D. FARRAR JR. is assistant director of admissions, history teacher, assistant varsity football coach and junior varsity lacrosse coach at Episcopal High School in Alexandria, Va.

W. BRADNEY GRIFFIN has started a new law firm; Griffin and Griffin, Ltd., in Rutland, Vt. His partner is his brother, H. Vaughan Griffin Jr., '70L.

AVERILL C. HARKEY is president of the student bar association at Wake Forest University Law School.

WILLIAM R. LAROSA JR. and classmate WILLIAM F. BEACHAM are seniors at Tulane Medical School. LaRosa and his new wife, Lark, live in New Orleans.

FLOYD W. LEWIS JR. has completed a year of theological study in Portland, Ore. He is now studying at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

NEIL D. LUTINS will graduate from dental school at the Medical College of Virginia in May and enter a hospital residency program with the Air Force. While at MCV, he received the A. D. Williams Scholastic Award and Fellowship.

MICHAEL D. PEPPLER will graduate in June from the University of Miami School of Medicine and will begin an internship in surgery at the Navy Regional Medical Center in Portsmouth, Va.

An alumnus of Gilmour Academy in Gates Mill, Ohio, GERARD D. PORATH returned there in July, 1977, as director of development and alumni affairs.

ROBERT M. RAINEY earned the M.A. degree in ecology and evolutionary biology from the Johns Hopkins University. He teaches physics and biology at the Brookwood School in Thomasville, Ga.

JAMES G. ROGERS is working in the problem loans division of Philadelphia National Bank and has bought a home in St. Davids, Pa.

WILLIAM H. SANDERS JR. is a new member of the Missouri Bar and is associated with a law firm in Kansas City.

WILLIAM R. SPOFFORD III is working for DASD Inc., a management consulting firm specializing in data processing. He coached and played for the Merion Cricket Club soccer team, which won the Meinham Cup, the oldest trophy for soccer in this country.

JOHN S. WALLACE is working for First Computer Services, a subsidiary of First Union Holding Co. in Charlotte, N. C. He is a data base-communications developer in the electronic funds transfer application.

WILLIAM P. WALLACE JR. is practicing law with the Roanoke firm of Eggleston & Glenn.

JOHN C. WEITNAUER graduated from law school at the University of Georgia in June, 1977. He was an editor of the Georgia Law Review and coach of a moot court team. He is associated with Alson, Miller and Gaines in Atlanta.

JOHN M. ZAMOISKI is a regional marketing director for Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus and spends half of each year working on the West Coast.

1975

MARRIAGE: PAUL R. GARLOCK and Peg Scott on June 4, 1977. The Garlocks are living in North Canton, Ohio.

MARRIAGE: Thomas P. Lloyd and ANGELICA PRESTON DIDIER on Dec. 17, 1977, in ceremonies in St. John's Episcopal Church, Roanoke. She is a member of the Norfolk and Western Railway legal department. Her husband is associated with the law firm of Dodson, Pence, Viar, Young and Woodrum.

MARRIAGE: JESSE THOMAS MANN and Victoria Leigh DeJarnette on June 25, 1977, in Virginia Beach. Mann has received his M.A. in French literature from the University of Virginia where he was a duPont Fellow and graduate instructor. The Mann's are living in Chesapeake and he teaches French.

MARRIAGE: WILLIAM KENNEDY SIMPSON and Ann Tracy Sullivan on July 23, 1977, in Louisville, Ky. In the wedding party were: Edmund Seibels, '74; Rogers Crain, '75; Mac Cushing, '75; Robbie Gray, '75; Mark Mennel, '75; Harry Wall, '75; Bill Crawford, '76; and Neal Cory, '77 (see picture). Also in attendance were: Robert C. Hobson, '40; Ernest Woodward II, '40; A. T. Bishop, '41; Don Sharpe, '69; Doug Madison,

CLASS NOTES

'72; Terry Tyler, '72; Craig Dumesnil, '73; Ted Blain, '74; Bob Doll, '74; Ray Webb, '75; Will Ogburn, '76, and Barry Barlow, '77.

MARRIAGE: WILLIAM KELLER SMITH and Margaret Hope Womble on Dec. 4, 1977, in Charlottesville, Va. Smith will graduate in May from the University of Virginia law school and will then reside in Atlanta.

WILLIAM E. FORLAND JR. was promoted to computer systems analyst by Boeing Aerospace Co. in Seattle, Wash.

LT. J.G. KARL E. KLINGER, assigned to Attack Squadron 65, home-ported in Virginia Beach, is on extended deployment aboard the U.S.S. Independence in the Mediterranean Sea. Klinger is a bombardier/navigator for the A-6 aircraft.

KIM D. KUEHNER completed the M.B.A. program at Washington University in St. Louis and was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma. He is participating in the executive training program with the May Co. there.

W. DAVID LAWSON IV works in New York for J. P. Morgan Interfunding, a lending and leasing affiliate of Morgan Guaranty Trust Co.

RALPH F. MACDONALD III is in his third year of the combined M.B.A./J.D. program at the University of Virginia. He is also clerking for the Charlottesville law firm of Richmond and Fishburne.

CAPT. JOHN I. MCCLURKIN III is one of three Marine Corps instructors on the staff of the Naval Justice School in Newport, R. I. Also on the staff is Capt. WILLIAM T. ANDERSON, '72.

T. O. RAINEY III is a senior law student at the Marshall-Wythe law school at William and Mary. He took the bar exam in February and plans to open a practice in Virginia after graduation.

THOMAS B. RAMEY III is a first-year student at Dallas Theological Seminary. He expects to intern in the summer of 1978 at the Fourth Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C.

A third year student at SUNY Downstate Medical Center, MITCHELL J. SELEZNICK has won second prize in the 1977 medical student research competition with his project "Computer Analysis of Factors Influencing Frequency of Infection in Systemic Lupus Erythematosus."

FRANKLIN P. SLAVIN JR. has become a partner in the law firm of Bird and Slavin in Wytheville, Va. His partner is DANIEL W. BIRD, '66L.

ANDREW T. SMITH is practicing law in Nashville, Tenn.

THOMAS R. ROBINETT (See 1970.)

1976

MARRIAGE: RANDALL W. ATKINS and Barbara Moses in May, 1977. The couple lives in Ashland, Ky., where Atkins is employed in the legal department of Ashland Oil, Inc.

MARRIAGE: LELAND G. MCCULLOUGH III and Emily Ann Fulgham were married Dec. 21, 1977, in Dallas, Texas.

ROBERT H. ANDERSON III is an assistant attorney general for the Commonwealth of Virginia in the criminal division.

R. STEWART BARROLL is a second-year law student at Wake Forest University. Also in the second year class are: Ralph Tellefsen III, '76; Thomas McClellan, '76; Scott Stevenson, '76, and Averill Harkey, '74 (See 1974.)

BEN REED BARTON worked in the summer as a surgical assistant for a hospital in Nashville. He is in his second year at the University of Tennessee School of Medicine in Memphis.

FREDERICK L. BATES has passed the examination for a certified public accountant and is employed by Bates, Buras and Associates in New Orleans.

JAMES P. CARMODY has started his own law practice in Richlands, Va. He is counsel for the inmates at nearby Bland Correctional Center.

DAVID S. CAYER is in his second year of law school at American University in Washington, D. C.

MARK RANDALL CHAMBERS is working as a woods supervisor for James M. Vardaman & Co. in Macon, Ga. He plans to enter graduate school in forestry in the fall.

Stationed at Fort Riley, PHILIP L. HANRAHAN is executive officer of a tank company.

ANDREW M. HEMM is teaching English at Fu Jen University in Taiwan and studying Chinese.

RICHARD F. MACDOWELL is working as a probation and parole officer for Cook County, Chicago, Ill. He is also attending law school at night.

HENRY M. MONTAGUE is selling real estate in Charlottesville, Va., for the firm of Montague, Miller & Co.

SPENCER W. MORTEN III has joined the Bassett Mirror Co. of Bassett, Va., as sales manager.

JOHN S. NORRIS JR. lives in Virginia Beach and is an associate in the firm of Williams, Worrell, Kelly, and Greer of Norfolk.

LT. ROBERT D. PROPST is stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky. He is target acquisition platoon leader and recon survey officer to the HHB division artillery of the 101st Airborne Division.

GARY SELDOMRIDGE is attending the University of Pennsylvania's School of Dental Medicine. Before entering dental school in September, 1977, he spent a year coaching swimming, working as a carpenter, and traveling. He also plays water polo for a Philadelphia club and competed in the AAU indoor nationals in Providence, R. I.

PAUL A. SIMPSON is an admissions officer of Alliance College in Cambridge Springs, Pa.

CURT N. SMITH and his wife are living in the Panama Canal Zone where he is serving as a second lieutenant with the 610th Military Intelligence Detachment.

PAUL K. STILLWAGON is in his first year of medical school at the University of Virginia.

STEPHEN R. STRAWSBURG will receive his M.B.A. from Northwestern University in June, 1978.

1977

MARRIAGE: STEPHEN D. GOOD and Becky Frost on June 25, 1977, in Little Rock, Ark. Jim Fisher, '77, and Trip Wornom, '77, were members of the wedding. Good is enrolled in the Yale Law School.

MICHAEL D. ARMSTRONG is working for an advertising agency in Atlanta and is enrolled in a masters degree program at Georgia State University.

WILLIAM FOLEY BEAUCHAMP is working as a management trainee for Loyola Federal Savings and Loan in Baltimore. He is doing graduate study at night at the Johns Hopkins University.

MICHAEL HOWARD CLARY is living in Hillsville, Va., and working as a respiratory therapist technician at Radford Community Hospital.

JACK B. DUDLEY is assistant director of admissions at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va.

ROGER B. DURHAM lives in Baton Rouge where he works for the Louisiana State Mineral Board.

RICHARD P. FINK is completing his basic training courses as an Army armor officer at Fort Knox, Ky. After Ranger school, he will be stationed for three years in Galenhouse, Germany.

W. SCOTT FRANKLIN is in the training program of the First National Bank of Md. and lives in Baltimore.

BRIAN LEE GARR is the office manager for a real estate firm in Washington, D. C.

JAMES G. HOUSTON is working for the Century National Bank of Broward County and attends night courses at the American Institute of Banking. He lives in Ft. Lauderdale.

THOMAS H. HUNTER III is teaching American history at Hargrave Military Academy in Chatham, Va. He expects to attend law school in September, 1978.

EDWARD C. IRBY JR. is a first year medical student at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

DAVID B. JOHNSTON is in his first year of graduate work at the University of Michigan.

JAMES E. KOCH is attending the U.S. Army Ranger School at Ft. Benning, Ga. Upon completion of the school he expects to be stationed with the 76th Engineer Battalion in Ft. Meade, Md.

RICHARD M. KOCH was elected to the law review at Wake Forest University Law School where he is a senior.

MARK A. KRIEGER III is working in Baltimore, Md., as manager of the bindery department in a large printing firm. He plans to play or coach lacrosse in the spring and plays tennis to stay in shape.

BENJAMIN M. LOWE is serving in the army. After the basic officer's course at Fort Bliss, Texas, he will report to Germany for duty in May.

ROBERT K. LYFORD lives in Livingston, N. J., and works as a commercial casualties underwriter for Chubb and Son, Inc.

RICHARD HENRY McCULLOCH has been promoted to account executive at Cox Advertising in Atlanta, Ga.

Having completed infantry officer basic training, LT. JAMES B. MALLORY III is stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., awaiting airborne school. He expects to be permanently stationed at Ft. Bragg, N. C., with the 2nd Brigade of the 82nd Airborne Division.

E. MORGAN MAXWELL III was admitted to the Ohio Bar on Nov. 4, 1977. He is associated with Arter and Hadden, a corporate and general law firm in Cleveland.

JOHN D. ROSEN is at the Northwestern University School of Business and expects to graduate in June with an M.B.A. in marketing and finance.

JAMES D. SCHAKENBACH is a reporter and advertising editor for WBIS radio in Bristol, Conn.

JAMES U. SCOTT is a first-year medical student at the Johns Hopkins University.

JOHN H. SCRUGGS is employed as a merchandising manager by Vulcan Metal Products, Inc. in Birmingham, Ala.

STUART W. SERENBETZ is doing graduate work at the Amos Tuck School of Business Administration at Dartmouth.

FRANK K. TURNER JR. has returned from a five-week tour of Europe and has entered the job market.

JOHN ULIZIO is working as a legislative and administrative aide to U.S. Senator Gary Hart. He plans to attend law school.

TIMOTHY R. VAUGHAN is a first year student at the University of Texas law school.

JAMES WILLIAM WILKINSON is working in Roanoke. He sings in his church choir and is chairman of the music and worship committee.

After a summer spent in Greece, LEWIS R. WINDHAM II has returned to Springville, Ala. where he is vice president of three family-owned gas companies.

WARREN WOLFE is a first-year-law student at Wake Forest University.

T. CALDER EZZELL JR. (See 1974.)

WILLIAM P. WALLACE JR. (See 1974.)

RICHARD L. LOVEGROVE is the education writer for the Martinsville, Va., Bulletin.

S. F. RAYMOND SMITH began law school at West Virginia University in Morgantown in September.

ROBERT A. WILSON JR. is working in Research and Development for General Tire and Rubber Co. in Charlotte N.C.

IN MEMORIAM

1910

FRANK YOUNG CONNER, the senior member of the Conner Building and Construction Co. in Tuskegee, Ala., died Dec. 16, 1977. A native of Tuskegee, Conner had served as a deacon at the First Baptist Church.

1912

DR. ROBERT C. HOOD of Arlington, Va., died at Baker Veterans Administration Center Jan. 31, 1978. Hood was a graduate of the Johns Hopkins medical school and was in private practice of pediatrics in Clarksburg, W. Va., and in Arlington, Va., for 40 years. He served as director of the National Crippled Children's Program; director of maternal and child health in Florida; past president of the Arlington Medical Society; diplomate of the American Academy of Pediatrics; and director of public health for Berkely County, W. Va., for five years. He was a veteran of World War I, having served in the Army Medical corps.

1915

GASTON CHAVES, a prominent industrialist and businessman in Curitiba, Brazil, died Nov. 30, 1977. Chaves, an electrical engineer was partner and director of Industrias Eletricas Do Brasil Ltda., who are manufacturers of electrical and gas products. Chaves held a Brazilian patent on an electrical device for burning rubbish. Chaves had visited the W&L campus in the spring of 1977.

THE REV. ROBERT M. MCGEEHEE, a retired Presbyterian minister who served for years in Mississippi and Louisiana, died Dec. 11, 1977. McGehee was pastor in Magnolia, Miss., Mansfield, La., and Weatherford, Texas. He served as regional director of C. E. Synod of Louisiana. The burial service was held in the church in which he was reared in Liberty, Miss.

1916

SHARMAN OWSLEY, an insurance man in Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla., died July, 1977 in Chickasha.

1917

CHARLES GIVEN PETERS, senior member of the Charleston, W. Va., law firm of Peters, Merriks, Leslie, Kenna and Mohler, died Jan. 1, 1978. A veteran of World War I, Peters was past president and a member of Kanawha County Bar Association and a member of the West Virginia Bar. He was active in Democratic politics and was campaign manager for the late Gov. Homer A. Holt in 1936 and Gov. Meadows in 1945. Peters served in the West Virginia House of Delegates from 1948 to 1950 and the Presidential Electoral College in 1937 and 1945.

1919

JESSE WILSON BENTON, an attorney in Danville, Va., died Dec. 6, 1977. Benton was the author of several books including Men of the Time, Sixty Years at Mount Vernon, Thirty Years at the Danville, Virginia Bar, Spring Breezes on a Rainbow, and Portrait, History of Benton Family 1966. Benton began practice in Danville in 1920.

1923

J. FRANK RUSHTON, long-time resident of Birmingham, Ala., and one-time president of the Alabama Chamber of Commerce died Jan. 4, 1978. Rushton is credited with being the author of the famous "Birmingham Plan," under which chief executives interviewed the returning servicemen and aided them in finding jobs.

IN MEMORIAM

1925

ALLEN MOSSER BALLIET died Jan. 22, 1978, in Belfast, Maine. He had served for many years as an accountant for the state of Pennsylvania. He served with the U. S. Coast Guard during World War II.

1932

Prominent Jacksonville attorney JOHN WILLIS BALL died suddenly on Jan. 28, 1978, while playing golf. Mr. Ball was a grandson of Willis M. Ball, editor and chief of the Florida Times-Union for 39 years, and the son of Philip M. Ball, long-time managing editor of the paper. Ball began practice in Jacksonville immediately after graduation from the W&L law school. From 1937 through 1954 he served as special attorney for the Lands Division of the United States Department of Justice. In 1947 Ball became a member of a law firm and in 1960 he became a senior partner of the firm, Ulmer, Murchison, Ashby & Ball. He was serving as class agent for the W&L Alumni Fund and had distinguished himself in service to his alma mater. Ball is survived by his widow, the former Margaret Ann Moreland, daughter of the dean of the W&L law school for many years.

THOMAS WEST WALKER, a native of Kentucky but a resident of Jacksonville, Fla., for the past 55 years, died Jan. 15, 1978. Walker was a veteran of World War II and former owner of Tommy's Gift Shop.

1935

HARVARD PAYSON SMITH, a retired Air Force colonel and a resident of Nashville, Tenn., died Jan. 15, 1978. A native of Franklin County, Tenn., Smith was a brother-in-law of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. He served 30 years in the U.S. Air Force and was a veteran of World War II and the Korean and Vietnam conflicts. Following his retirement in 1966, Smith lived in Panama City, Fla., where he was engaged with the Etheridge Boat Co. At W&L, Smith was an outstanding wrestler. Before World War II he was chief clerk for the Tennessee Electric Power Co. and a manager of a work clothes manufacturing firm in Shelbyville, Tenn.

1936

J. EARL HICKS, who was director of the Bureau of Statistics for the International Monetary Fund, died Jan. 12, 1978, at his home in Owings, Md. Following graduation from W&L Hicks worked for the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta and was an economist with the monetary research division of the Treasury Department. During World War II he served with the U. S. Coast Guard, returning to the Treasury Department after the war as principal economist in the Division of Monetary Research. In 1946, Hicks joined the newly-established International Monetary Fund as a researcher and in 1949 was appointed chief of the statistics division. During his service with the IMF he played a leading role in the development of such Fund publications as International Financial Statistics and Direction of Trade, the world's foremost publications on these subjects.

SIDNEY ULFELDER JR., a former representative for Iberia Airlines in Philadelphia, died Dec. 11, 1977. After graduate work at Cornell University, Ulfelder was a director of the Westgate Corp. in McLean, Va., a land-development firm. He retired from Iberia Airlines in 1967 and had lived for several years in southern Spain.

1937

WILLIAM HEATH ALLEN, a former real estate manager for Texaco Inc., Southeastern region, died March 4, 1977. Allen was also a practicing attorney. As a certified property manager he was a member of the Atlanta Real Estate Board, the American Right of Way Association, and the Grand Jurors Association of Fulton County, Ga.

GEORGE FRANKLIN GILLELAND, past president of the Bath Club, Miami, Fla., and former attorney for the Florida State Racing Commission, died Jan. 3, 1978. Gilleland was formerly associated with the law firm of Scott, McCarthy, Preston, Steel and Gilleland.

BEN EDWARD SCHULL, who opened his own insurance agency in Terre Haute, Ind., and represented The Travelers Insurance Cos. and other major companies for over 40 years, died Dec. 4, 1977. He was active in his insurance business until his death.

1938

JAMES ARTHUR INGALLS JR., a career officer with the U. S. Navy and former civilian purchasing agent for the Air Force at Hamson Field in Bedford, Mass., died Feb. 27, 1977, in Scottsdale, Ariz. He had retired to Scottsdale in 1971.

HENRY BRIDGESS POHLZON, a long-time employee of the Texas Employment Commission, died Dec. 19, 1977, in Dallas, Texas. Pohlzon was a veteran of World War II who served in the U. S. Army Air Corps.

1939

JAMES ALAN BALLARD, a retired executive of Ballard Fish & Oyster Co. in Norfolk, Va., died Dec. 9, 1977. He had been with the Ballard Co. for 30 years. Ballard was a member of the Virginia State Bar Association and the First Presbyterian Church.

WALTER SCRUGGS CARRUTH, a retired architect and lifelong resident of Dallas, Texas, died Dec. 4, 1977. Carruth was engaged in the insurance business.

1942

THOMAS OLIN FLEMING, retired chief counsel of the Nevada Operations Office of the Atomic Energy Commission, died Jan. 18, 1978, in Las Vegas, Nev. As an AEC attorney, Fleming worked with the legal aspects of the nuclear testing program at the Nevada Test Site and other locations from 1963 until his retirement in 1974. He handled several suits concerning tests of nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes in Colorado and also did legal work in suits arising from testing programs on Amchitka Island in the Aleutians. After obtaining his law degree from W&L in 1948 he joined the Department of Justice as a trial attorney. In 1953 Fleming transferred to the AEC. Prior to going to Nevada, he worked with the AEC in Portsmouth, Ohio, at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., operation office and at AEC headquarters in Washington, D. C.

1944

WILLIAM RALPH KRAUSMANN, a merchant and former purchasing agent for Roblin Steel Corp. of Tonawanda, N. Y., died Nov. 26, 1977, in Lewiston, N. Y. He was a veteran of World War II.

1960

ROBERT S. BANKS, formerly a vice-president of Banks Engineering Corp. a builder and developer in Bethesda, Md., died in a skiing accident on Jan. 15, 1978.

1961

DAVID K. E. BRUCE, a veteran American diplomat who received an honorary LL.D. from W&L in 1961, died Dec. 6, 1977. Bruce had served in a variety of posts including mainland China. His diplomatic career spanned six presidents' administrations. Bruce was the only American ever to serve as ambassador to Germany, France, and Great Britain. He retired from the diplomatic corps in February, 1976, at the age of 78, at which time President Ford presented him with the Medal of Freedom. Besides his diplomatic tours, Bruce served as chief representative of the American Red Cross in London during World War II. He also directed the European operations of the Office of Strategic Services, the predecessor of the Central Intelligence Agency. He maintained a farm near Brookneal in Charlotte County, Va.

1976

WILLIAM PATRICK COLEMAN JR. of Lexington, Va., died Dec. 22, 1977. Before attending W&L, Coleman had attended Davis & Elkins College.

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY ALUMNI, INC.

For members and their immediate families presents

Pick A Trip 1978

COPENHAGEN DELUXE

May 30—June 7, 1978

Dulles Departure

$459

(+15% Tax & Service)
Per person-Double occupancy
Single Supplement - $100.00

* Alcoholic beverages available at a nominal charge
† Copenhagen departure tax (approx. $1.90) not included

Your Trip Includes-

- Round trip jet transportation to Copenhagen via Trans International Airlines' wide-bodied DC-10 (meals and beverages served aloft*); stereo music and in-flight movies available at a nominal charge; normally evening departure
- Deluxe accommodations at the beautiful COPENHAGEN ADMIRAL HOTEL (or similar)
- Continental breakfast daily (tax and service included)
- Guided city tour
- Exciting low-cost optional tours available - Sweden, Norway, etc.
- United States departure tax ($3.00) included †
- All gratuities for chambermaids, bellboys and doormen
- All round trip transfers and baggage handling from airport to hotel
- Free time to pursue your own interests; no regimentation
- Experienced escort and hotel hospitality desk, staffed by an on-site team of professionals

Ireland

July 24—August 1, 1978

Dulles Departure

$459

(+15% Tax & Service)
Per person-Double occupancy
Single Supplement - $100.00

Your Trip Includes-

- Round trip jet transportation to Ireland (Shannon International Airport) via Trans International Airlines' wide-bodied DC-10 (meals and beverages served aloft*); stereo music and in-flight movies available at a nominal charge; normally evening departure
- Deluxe accommodations for three nights in Dublin at the BURLINGTON HOTEL (or similar) **
- Continental breakfast daily in Dublin (tax and service included)
- Round trip transportation via deluxe motorcoach from Dublin to Limerick (Shannon)
- Beautiful accommodations for two nights in Limerick at the LIMERICK RYAN HOTEL or LIMERICK INN HOTEL (or similar) **
- Continental breakfast daily in Limerick (tax and service included)
- Round trip transportation via deluxe motorcoach from Limerick to Tralee, in the heart of "Ryan's Daughter" country
- Beautiful accommodations for two nights in Tralee at the MT. BRANDON HOTEL (or similar) **
- Continental breakfast daily in Tralee (tax and service included)
- Passengers will be accompanied by Ireland's finest guides during transfers
- Exciting low-cost optional tours available
- United States departure tax ($3.00) included †
- All gratuities for chambermaids, bellmen and doormen
- All round trip transfers and baggage handling from airport to hotels
- Free time to pursue your own interests; no regimentation
- Experienced escort and hotel hospitality desk, staffed by an on-site team of professionals

† Ireland departure tax (approx. $5.25) not included

* Alcoholic beverages available at a nominal charge

 Some tours will be three nights in Limerick, two nights in Tralee, two nights in Dublin/or three nights in Tralee, two nights in Dublin, two nights in Limerick

For further information, contact: William C. Washburn, Washington and Lee University, Alumni, Inc., Lexington, VA 24450
PHONE: (703) 463-9111 Ext. 214-318

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY

Lexington, Virginia 24450

Available Again

WASHINGTON AND LEE
COMMEMORATIVE PLATES
(Wedgwood)

Sold only in sets of four different scenes

Price $50.00 for set of four including shipping charges

Available in blue color only

The four scenes are:

LEE CHAPEL

WASHINGTON COLLEGE, 1857

LEE-JACKSON HOUSE

WASHINGTON COLLEGE (contemporary)

Send order and check to
WASHINGTON AND LEE ALUMNI, INC.
Lexington, Virginia 24450