ON THE COVER: This mural showing the earth as seen from the moon covers one wall of the philosophy seminar room in renovated Newcomb Hall. The mural is a gift from Marc Firestone and David Finley, 1981 graduates who were co-winners of The Young Scholarship in Philosophy and who chose to donate the proceeds from the prize to purchase the mural. *Photograph by W. Making Sure the Promise Is Kept

The University Report for 1978-79 began with an analysis of the progress that Washington and Lee was making on “keeping its promise—the promise to remain one of the nation’s truly superior undergraduate teaching institutions.”

Now in 1981, only a short number of weeks away from the targeted December 31 conclusion of the $62-million development program, all indications point to the fact that Washington and Lee’s alumni and friends are making sure that the promise is kept by means of their gifts and pledges which have brought the program (as of the end of September) to within $2.2 million—or 91 percent—of completion.

Because the $2.2 million remaining is a considerable sum, the Washington and Lee family is being generously assisted in its quest to keep its promise by four special incentives:

- ✓ a dollar-for-dollar match for all capital pledges (construction or endowment funds) of $10,000 or more;

- ✓ a $250,000 challenge from the Kresge Foundation that will be funded if $1,250,000 is committed from other sources for the renovation of Tucker and Newcomb Halls by December 15;

- ✓ a $90,000 offer from the Dana Foundation, challenging the University’s alumni to increase the Annual Fund by attainment of certain new levels in dollars and participation;

- ✓ and an offer from the National Endowment for the Humanities to give Washington and Lee $200,000 on the basis of one dollar for every three dollars committed for an endowment for the University’s outstanding program, Society and the Professions: Studies in Applied Ethics.

Even though the time remaining is short,

Washington and Lee has much going for it in the demonstrated loyalty and generosity of its alumni and friends. It is the intention of the Board of Trustees to recognize that loyalty and generosity by erecting in the new library, sometime after December 31, a wall panel listing the names of all donors of capital gifts of $10,000 or more, made throughout the course of the 10-year development program.

Washington and Lee's development program, of course, is simply a financial expression of the University's aspiration to maintain and improve its excellence in the development of students' broad capacities to learn, to understand, and to use their education productively. The success of Washington and Lee's development program will also provide a means of continuing the University's historic independence which in large part is predicated on financial stability.

By achieving both objectives—maintenance of a superior educational program and assuring independence through financial stability—Washington and Lee will indeed be keeping its promise, and it is coming about because of those whose gifts are listed in this University Report and because of those whose gifts in support of Washington and Lee's future are needed between now and December 31.

Accomplishments

Since the development program was publicly announced in 1972, progress has been steady, impressive, and inspiring. There have been these accomplishments:

- Construction of the new undergraduate library, a magnificent structure which was completed in 1979 at a cost of $9.2 million;
- Construction of Lewis Hall, the ultramodern $9-million law school building, which was formally dedicated in May 1977;
- Construction of the J. W. Warner Athletic Center, a five-floor athletic complex that includes a 2,500-seat gymnasium, a six-lane swimming pool, and complete facilities for intercollegiate, intramural and recreational activities;
- Renovation and remodeling of the old library building to become the home of the School of Commerce, Economics, and Politics;
- Renovation and remodeling of both Tucker Hall and Newcomb Hall to provide substantially improved facilities for several undergraduate departments and for the University's computer center;
- A total of $18 million in commitments for enlarging the University's endowment, which, among other progress, has made possible the creation of 66 new scholarships, six new professorships, and three teaching funds;
- A tripling of the annual giving program, which reached an all-time high in 1980-81 when gifts exceeded $1.1 million.

Decade-Long Development Program is Driving Toward Successful Conclusion in December

Washington and Lee University—her trustees, alumni, parents and friends—has been engaged in a comprehensive development program which was announced publicly in 1972 and is to be finished by the end of 1981. The first phase of the program had a $36-million goal which was achieved on time in December 1976. The second phase of the program, a $26-million objective, is to be completed by December 1981, and gifts for the $26-million phase had reached $21,115,919 as of June 30. At the time of publication of this annual report $2,635,745 in additional commitments have been received, making the total remaining objective $2,248,336. As of June 30, these critically important capital objectives remained:

Completion of the announced 1981 requirement for endowment growth

Completion of the funding for the new home of the School of Commerce, Economics, and Politics

Final funding for the renovation of Tucker and Newcomb Halls

As has always been the case, Annual Giving is the flagship of the fleet in the overall success of the development program. The results of the Annual Fund for 1981-82 will be added to the above capital objectives in accounting for Washington and Lee's total achievement.

The Annual Fund: Parents

Gifts by parents are especially significant because they represent a generous "extra" investment in the quality of education offered by Washington and Lee. The University is especially grateful for this demonstration of confidence. Listed here are the names of parents who contributed to the 1980-81 Annual Fund. The heading Lee Associate indicates gifts of $1,000 or more made in 1980-81; the heading Colonnade Club indicates gifts of $100-$999 made in 1980-81. The 1980-81 Parents Fund exceeded its goal and showed an increase of 26% over last year's fund.

The Annual Fund: Friends

Each year, Washington and Lee receives many gifts in support of current operations from persons who are neither alumni nor parents. Most of the gifts from these "friends" are unrestricted and are given in the form of direct grants or in the form of memorials. Some are designated for student financial aid to be awarded during each academic year. Washington and Lee is deeply grateful for these gifts. The heading Lee Associate indicates gifts of $1,000 or more made in 1980-81; Colonnade Club indicates gifts of $100-$999 made in 1980-81.

Virginia Foundation for Independent Colleges

An above-the-goal sum of $2,006,962 was contributed by business and industry to 12 private Virginia colleges through the VFIC during 1980-81. Washington and Lee University's share was $187,077. (Member colleges' shares are based on undergraduate enrollment.)

Under the direction of a board that includes 35 business leaders and the presidents of the 12 independent colleges, the VFIC enlisted more than 1,000 supporters, primarily corporations doing business in Virginia who are concerned with strengthening private higher education. Although, because of space limitations, the full listing of donor sources published annually in the VFIC annual report is not repeated here, Washington and Lee acknowledges with gratitude the concern and leadership of the companies, foundations, and individuals, who made generous contributions through the VFIC.

Business and Industry

Washington and Lee University was assisted in large measure during 1980-81 by direct grants from corporations in addition to corporate assistance received through the Virginia Foundation for Independent Colleges (VFIC). Investments by private business in private education take on special meaning and importance. The total of these gifts during the 1980-81 year was $34,050.

Foundations

Because a foundation's grant to an educational institution is a highly respected public endorsement of the institution's leadership and educational program, Washington and Lee acknowledges with special gratitude the gifts it received from foundations in support of current operations in 1980-81.

Irrevocable Deferred Gifts

The following persons have made estate-planned gifts or gifts commonly known as "deferred." The term deferred denotes the fact that immediate income tax advantages and estate benefits accrue at the time the gifts are made even though (except with gifts of life insurance) income is retained for the donor or the donor's family. The three main forms of deferred giving at Washington and Lee are the Pooled Income Fund, the Unitrust and the Annuity Trust.
