THIS PAGE is a special word to the alumni, one of the most sincere and most urgent words I have ever ventured to speak. It is a comment I recently made to the Trustees: I have unlimited faith in the large future of Washington and Lee but we face, almost certainly, a period—possibly two years—of as great difficulty as anything since the days of Lee.

1. Our student enrollment may touch 100 during the session, but there will not be that many boys on the campus at any one time. A considerable element of these students is made up of the pre-eighteen group who snatch a semester or two before reporting for military duty. We are not lowering standards of selection; and the boys of even the small student body are sustaining our best traditions and customs.

2. The Selective Service Act, requiring these boys to give themselves to the cause of the country, will probably continue in effect for the duration of the whole war and possibly for any immediate military consequences.

3. The return of the "college material" veterans will be slow. According to present plans demobilization will be in stages; the men first released will be the casualties, then the older men, probably the married men; it is conceivable, though there is no such assurance, that men may be released for important tasks in critical industry.

4. If the proposed manpower legislation, or any comparable act, is passed, it will greatly disturb the attendance of the 4-F boys, now about half of our enrollment.

5. The armed forces are withdrawing most of the military units of regular students; we lost ours in May,

1944. We still rent certain facilities to the Army School for Personnel Services, an utterly different arrangement from that with the ASTP unit which we instructed; but there is no guarantee that our rental contract will be maintained for any given length of time.

If thus boldly I lay before the alumni facts that threaten to make the next two or three years bleak, I shall ask permission to urge certain conclusions. Obviously the sympathy and the help of alumni are not only important but essential.

We need the assistance represented in the class-agent plan more than we have ever needed it, the money of course but also the enlistment of continuing interest. The encouragement brought to us in this way is a value that cannot be estimated.

Alumni who may be able will, we pray, consider the matter of special gifts, either from themselves as individuals or from corporations in which they exercise the legal influence that would authorize such generosity. Certain alumni are already helping in this way.

Alumni may encourage and even inform the veterans as to their return for additional training when circumstances permit. We are anxious for the return of our own students whose careers were interrupted, and for the coming of the other boys who in normal times would, or might, have chosen Washington and Lee.

Concerning any of these points, hurriedly suggested here, I should welcome correspondence from any alumnus or friend.

President

A History of the W&L Alumni Fund

NO HISTORY of the Alumni Fund can be separated from the name of Walter McDonald. While serving as President of the Alumni Association in 1931-1934, after a trip covering practically all of the Eastern and Southern states with the Alumni Secretary, he established the Class Agent Plan at Washington and Lee, under the direction of John Darnall, who worked out the details for three months in Mr. McDonald's office in Cincinnati, and then came to Lexington to install it in the Alumni Office.

The Alumni Board of Trustees, as well as the Alumni Secretary, were not at that time wholeheartedly in favor of the establishment of the plan at Washington and Lee, but their reluctance was overcome by Mr. McDonald's enthusiasm for it, and it was agreed to put it on trial.

Mr. Darnall remained in Lexington for three years, supervising the setting up of the Class Agents Plan, and at the same time reorganizing the work of the Alumni Office, with suggestions and cooperation from Mr. McDonald.

Starting in the spring of 1933, the returns, in both number and amount of contributions have shown a steady increase, except for the year 1936, when there was a slight falling off due to the fact that alumni were also solicited during that year for funds to be used in rebuilding the Law Building, which had been destroyed by fire during the previous winter.

Contributions to the fund have been used in building the much-needed Alumni Intramural Field, to furnish the Annie Jo White Memorial Browsing Room in the McCormick Library, having a portrait painted of Dr. James Lewis Howe, and toward the construction of an additional room in the Chemistry Building, assistance in financing the Law Review, besides making the Alumni Office self-supporting, and turning over all "Unrestricted" gifts directly to the University treasury.

The Washington and Lee Alumni Fund is the most effective avenue through which the alumni may give expression to their feeling of gratitude and loyalty to Alma Mater. Aside from the financial returns, the revival of interest in the University among the alumni has been almost startling. The exchange of letters each year between the Class Agents and their classmates, instead of becoming hackneyed on account of the annual repetition, have increased in warmth and enthusiasm, as well as in more concrete evidence of these sentiments in money returns. Every line of news in the public press, as well as in the Alumni Magazine and the News Letters and Bulletins from the University, are eagerly read and commented upon, displaying an intelligent and constructive interest in University affairs.

The Alumni Board of Trustees and the Alumni Secretary are now unanimous in their approval of the Class Agent Plan and feel that its adoption has been the greatest forward step taken by the Association, and that the entire credit for its inauguration should go to Walter McDonald. The record is as follows:

Year	Contributions	Amount
1933	505	$3,741.00
1934	660	4,524.00
1935	645	3,440.00
1936	612	3,708.00
1937	618	4,559.00
1938	779	5,154.00
1939	837	5,567.63
1940	911	6,817.00
1941	1039	8,438.00
1942	1187	10,151.00
1943	1409	12,301.75
1944	1542	15,811.72

Walter McDonald, '10

Contributors to the Alumni Fund in 1944

WE TAKE PRIDE in listing below the names of those who contributed to the 1944 Alumni Fund. Our objective was to raise $15,000 from 1500 individuals. The result—$15,811.72 from 1542 alumni is tangible evidence of the continued interest and ever increasing loyalty of Washington and Lee men to their Alma Mater. This list does not include the names of many alumni who replied to their Class Agent's letter without sending a contribution although their response is greatly appreciated. The results of the 1944 Fund are most encouraging and lead us to believe that its potentialities are far greater than anyone had anticipated.

We acknowledge a debt of gratitude to all alumni who responded and to the Agents themselves who have supplied the medium by which all alumni can have a material part in the support of the University.

Within a short time the Class Agents for 1945 will be mailing their letters. This service is a labor of love for the University. The job they have undertaken is a big one, accepted at personal sacrifice, with the confidence that their classmates will cooperate.

Our goal for 1945 is $20,000 from 2,000 alumni. Help us reach it by replying promptly to your Class Agents's letter.

Class Notes

General Robert H. Allen, U.S. Army, Retired, lives at 1048 Grenada, San Marino, California.

Hon. John W. Davis is an active member of the New York Alumni Chapter. He is a member of the law firm of Davis, Polk, Wardwell, Sunderland and Kiendl, 15 Broad Street, New York.

1893

Julian M. Bossieux is still with the Board of Real Estate Assessors, City of Richmond, Virginia.

H. A. Albright lives in Columbus, Mississippi. He says he has "completely" retired from his business but keeps up a keen interest in football and baseball and old Washington and Lee.

Dr. George Bolling Lee still practices medicine in The Plaza, New York. He sends all good wishes to his class agent, Washington and Lee and the friends of the Class of 1893. Dr. Lee is a member of the University Board of Trustees.

1894

William H. Keister, is still Superintendent of Harrisonburg, Virginia, Public Schools. When he had been in Harrisonburg for forty years the City Council and the School Board gave quite a celebration in his honor. Three years ago a dinner was given in Lexington in honor of Mr. Keister and Mr. Harrington Waddell, A.B., 1893, who had served forty-six years as Principal of the Lexington Public Schools.

1895

Rev. C. J. Boppel is now Pastor Emeritus of the West Side Church of Seattle, Washington, after nineteen years service there. After graduation he served for a time as a missionary in Gaboon, West Africa, (right on the equator). He has six children and three grandchildren. Address: 2666 37th Avenue, S.W., Seattle, Washington.

1896

Wm. Dickson Adams is Agency Director of the Great Southern Life Insurance Company of Dallas, Texas.

Jake Fisher is Judge of the Fourteenth Judicial Circuit, Sutton, West Virginia. This is his thirty-second year on the bench.

1897

F. Petrie Hamilton has been with the War

Class notes in the five issues of THE ALUMNI MAGAZINE, beginning with October each year, are compiled from the letters received by the Class Agents during the previous spring and summer. In this issue we are using as many notes as possible about alumni serving with the armed forces, feeling that much of this information will soon be out of date. Home addresses are given in most cases with the hope that letters will be written to them and forwarded promptly.

Production Board in New Orleans for the past year and a half. His only son has been with the Army Air Forces for two years.

George C. Peery, Ex-Governor of Virginia, lives at Tazewell, Virginia.

Dr. Leroy C. Barret is still teaching at Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut.

1898

Charles J. Faulkner, 316 South LaSalle Street, Chicago 3, Illinois, was given the honorary degree of LL.D. in 1941 by Washington and Lee.

W. Ross McCain, President of the Aetna Life Insurance Company at Hartford, says: "Like all other good Americans, we are busy trying to do our part to help the war effort and to keep our Company sufficiently manned to meet its business requirements in a No. 1 Critical Labor District."

Ruel E. Ebersole, Surgeon, USPHS, Retired, is at the U. S. Marine Hospital, Hampton Boulevard, Norfolk 9, Virginia. He asks to be remembered to the members of his class.

James Mullen is practicing law in Richmond where he came immediately upon leaving Washington and Lee and he is thankful to say his health has remained such that he is still able to be active although he has been practicing law for forty-five years. His firm is Williams, Mullen & Hazelgrove, 1001 East Main Street, Richmond, Virginia.

1900

S. Ruffin Horne is a member of the firm of H. R. Horne & Sons, Pharmacists, Fayetteville, North Carolina.

Lynwood R. Holmes is Manager of Furness, Withy & Company, Ltd., Steamship Lines, Public Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in which capacity he has served for twenty years.

1901

John M. Corbett sends a personal note to his class agent, Matthew Page Andrews, and "Bobbie Burns" in re baseball at Washington and Lee in their time. His home is in Bay City, Texas.

Volney M. Brown is a member of the law firm of Brown & Brooke, El Paso National Bank Building, El Paso, Texas. He writes:

"Last fall I had a very pleasant visit with Edward McDowell Moore, whom we had known as Stiffy Moore, when I was in Lexington. You will recall him as a guard and tackle on the football team. He has been in the Southwest and over the country pretty generally, during a number of years past, engaged in engineering work on various Government projects. The other day he was in town again and I had another very pleasant visit with him, going over old times. He left with me a book written by his father, 'A Cannoneer of the Rockbridge Artillery,' which I have read with very considerable interest. I spent about six weeks prior to entering Washington and Lee, in September, 1898, at Rockbridge Baths with Captain Tom Williamson, who was coaching me in Latin and one or two other subjects preparatory to entering Washington and Lee. Captain Williamson and I had a very pleasant stay together at Mrs. Horn's, just across North River from the covered bridge above Rockbridge Baths, and he often told me of incidents which happened when he was a member of the Rockbridge Artillery in the Civil War. Reading this book has recalled to my mind some of my conversations with Captain Williamson."

Dr. J. Morrison Hutcheson is a frequent visitor to the University in his capacity as a member of the University Board of Trustees. He is still practicing his profession in Richmond, Virginia.

Osman E. Swartz is General Attorney for the Consolidated Coal Company, Charleston, West Virginia.

J. P. Wall is practicing law in Seattle. He says: "The annual class letter is a happy reminder to me of Washington and Lee. Appreciation and gratitude bind me affectionately to this great institution."

1903

Stuart Chevalier, not content with a law business that reaches from Los Angeles to Washington, D. C., has reinforced his bid for posthumous fame with a second book, "War's End and After." In language happily free from the technical jargon that mars so many such books, this one presents to the man in the street the demands that must be met if our peace is to be durable. Incidentally, Stuart is the husband of Elizabeth Chevalier who wrote the thrilling best-seller, "Drivin' Woman," slated for early screen showing as one of the big pictures of the year.

A. C. Burkholder, after many years of service as a teacher, has to pinch himself to realize he is now retired, under the Texas pension plan. A son and son-in-law in service, and a granddaughter of unusual pulchritude are keeping old age from getting him down.

J. F. Wysor, of Pulaski, Virginia, finds himself the victim of long acquired habits, one of which is that of sending annually a substantial check for the Alumni Fund. Anybody know a better habit?

Charles R. Pilkington keeps busy at Orlando but with his accustomed modesty—"Hasn't a thing of real interest to say about himself." Address: Amherst Apartments, Orlando, Florida.

Col. W. Cole Davis has been Post Surgeon at Virginia Military Institute for a year. He performed the same service at West Point. He says: "It has made me very happy to be back in Rockbridge County where I was born; where I have old friends and have already made many new ones; where the climate is perfect and the scenery always beautiful."

J. B. Akers, Class Agent for 1904, is Assistant Chief Engineer, for the Southern Railway System, Washington, D. C. He has been in the service of the Southern Railway for forty years.

Matthew T. McClure is Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois. He says the University is planning to construct a large airport for research purposes.

David A. Bradham, Class Agent for 1905, is practicing law in Warren, Arkansas.

Col. D. T. Moore is business manager of Greenbrier Military School, Lewisburg, West Virginia.

Dr. T. Dwight Sloan is Superintendent of the Flagler Hospital, St. Augustine, Florida.

1906

William L. Hoge, Heyburn Building, Louisville, Kentucky, says in addition to his engineering and other work he started a little war business of his own, which hasn't left him much time for outside activities.

Dr. F. R. Crawford is practicing medicine in Farmville, Virginia. He thinks it is time the class began talking and thinking about its fortieth reunion.

Claude P. Light is Assistant Prosecuting Attorney of Wood County, Huntington, West Virginia. He has spent much time in connection with the establishment of a local airport which he hoped would be in use by this fall. He has been prosecuting many cases against public nuisance night clubs which have plagued the city and environs providing liquor and gaming for young people under eighteen.

James H. Howell writes from Waynesville, North Carolina, that the only change in his status from last year is that he has become a grandfather.

John E. Scott, Route 1, Box 30-A, Prattville, Alabama, writes his class agent; "I have no excuse for the lateness of my letter—just didn't get to it, but the good wishes to you and all the boys are as heartfelt as though they had been first at the wire. God bless all of you!"

A. W. Rutan is a member of the law firm of Rutan and Tucker, First National Bank Building, Santa Ana, California. He recalls having spent an uncomfortable night on House Mountain with his class agent and another friend, all three under one blanket.

Daniel W. Alexander has been with the United States Tariff Commission for the past twenty years. His son, William Howard, who graduated from Washington and Lee in 1935, is in Washington with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. His home is at Piney Branch Road, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Col. Harry W. Miller, Department of Mechanism and Engineering Drawing, University of Michigan, reports a busy year. He has had a multitude of war type jobs in addition to his work at the University. He reports that he is in good health and none the worse for the hard wear of the past year, and good for a lot more.

W. N. Doub is in the Small Loan Business in Tacoma, Washington. He has four daughters, two of whom are married, and two grandsons. His wife died two years ago. He sends warmest regards to all his classmates. His offices are in the Rust Building, Tacoma, Washington.

W. K. Ramsey is still in the oil business in Tulsa, Oklahoma. In 1942 he was made Land Agent of the International Boundary Commission.

G. W. Keller is in the natural gas business with the Midway Gas Company of Huntington, West Virginia. Most of their development work is in Southern West Virginia.

Roscoe B. Stephenson is still practicing law in Covington, Virginia. His son, Roscoe B., Jr., got an A.B. degree from Washington and Lee in 1943, entered the service, received a medical discharge, and is now back here, being one of the two students in the Law School.

Alan Porter Lee is a member of the firm bearing his name, Alan Porter Lee, Incorporated, Engineers, 136 Liberty Street, New York 6, New York. His year has been just about the same as in the past, consisting of hard work to keep his business going in the face of war conditions. As reported in a previous issue of the Alumni Magazine, he enlisted as a Seaman 1/C in the U. S. Coast Guard in December, 1943, and contributes one full day, of twenty-four hours each week, to patrolling coast waters in a standard Coast Guard Patrol boat.

Ben T. Smith is still managing the Ben T. Smith & Company, Accountants and Auditors, Lynchburg, Virginia, but says he is living in the country and enjoying all of its blessings and thinks he has just begun to learn what real living is.

Don Boyer says he is still teaching mechanical drawing, and last summer organized and ran an ordnance training school for girls for the U. S. A. ordnance depots. He is teaching vocational courses in drafting at Virginia Mechanics Institute in Richmond this winter. Address: 2804 DuPont Circle, Richmond, Virginia.

Robert S. Keebler, 212 Raymond Street, Chevy Chase, Maryland, commends his Class Agent for his "fine, persistent work," but does not give any information as to his activities. Our files show that he is a writer; has an A.B. from Washington and Lee, and an A.M. and LL.B. from Harvard.

Alonzo B. McMullen is living in Tampa, Florida, and practicing law there. He has just finished serving twelve years as the City Attorney. He is also the owner and proprietor of a large citrus fruit grove near Tampa.

William F. Riser lives in Agujita Coah, Mexico. He says a girl of his neighborhood married a graduate of the Washington and Lee Law School a year ago, and this is the first and only alumnus he has seen in a long time.

William H. Jackson, Class Agent for 1908-Law, is a member of the law firm of McKay, Macfarlane, Jackson & Ferguson, Maas Office Building, Tampa, Florida. Three of the members of this firm are alumni of Washington and Lee;

K. I. McKay, LL.B. '04; Howard P. Macfarlane, LL.B. '13, and W. J. Jackson, LL.B. '08.

J. I. Triplett is with the Florida Narcissus Farm, Inc., 304 Florida Theatre Building, Jacksonville 2, Florida.

Dozier A. DeVane is United States District Judge of the Northern and Southern Districts of Florida, Orlando, Florida.

Joe Lykes is still President of Lykes Brothers Steamship Company, Inc., 17 Battery Place, New York. He has been a member of the University Board of Trustees since 1941. His son, J. T. L., Jr., who got his B.S. degree here in 1941, is now a Lieutenant, U.S.N.R.

Kester L. Denman is still practicing law under the firm name of Mantooth and Denman in the Lufkin National Bank Building, Lufkin, Texas.

S. N. Hoshour is City Collector of Staunton, Virginia. He says: "I notice that the number of alumni contributing is steadily increasing. It seems that the cause is gaining in favor."

Jasper J. Barrett does not bring us up to date on his activities so we presume he is still practicing law in the Southern Title Building, San Diego, California. He says that San Diego is the busiest "burg" in the world, whose population has more than doubled during the past four years. One airplane plant employs 50,000 persons and there are three or four other aircraft manufacturing plants having sizeable payrolls, to say nothing of its being headquarters for the Pacific Fleet, having the largest Naval Hospital in the world, etc. He is "too busy to look out of the window."

Russell L. Frink practiced law at Jasper, Florida for fourteen years after graduation and then went to Jacksonville, where he is an attorney in the Graham Building. He has been General Counsel for the Florida East Coast Railway Company for the past five years. His son is a Captain in the Field Artillery and he has a daughter who is living at home.

Grover C. Worrell is Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board for West Virginia, at Charleston. They try on an average of forty cases each term, many of which are argued and he finds it very interesting work.

M. H. Myerson is practicing law in the Professional Building, Jacksonville, Florida. He has been successful in the practice of law and his health is good—as far as he knows. He is still a bachelor and lives at the Seminole Hotel.

S. G. North is practicing law in San Diego, California, with offices in the Broadway Building. He says his activities are about the same as any other run-of-the-mine successful attorney, that he is a grandfather and his hair is getting a little thin, but outside of that he is O.K. and he hopes to live long enough to see Washington and Lee again.

Dr. Hugh J. Hagan is practicing medicine in Roanoke, Virginia. He is too busy to give us any news.

Bronson L. Wood is Minister of the Piedmont Presbyterian Church, Callaway, Virginia. After spending nearly eighteen years in Rockbridge County, he has been for the past four years in Franklin County, in one of the great apple zones of Virginia. He has four children ranging in age from twenty-one to three and a half. His oldest son, Bronson L., Jr., is an air cadet, and expected to complete pilot training this past July.

C. P. (Chuck) Robinson has been living in the Pittsburgh District for the past twenty-one years and has been with the Better Business Service Company for the same length of time. He has two daughters, three grandchildren, and has been a widower since 1928. He and Orange Richardson made frequent trips to Lexington before the war. His address is 802 Park Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Larry Wilson runs the Greensboro Motor Car Company, Greensboro, North Carolina. Writing to three sons, all overseas, and trying to run an automobile business, he says, occupies all his time.

Alton T. West at present and for the past two years, has been Cashier and Paymaster of the du Pont Company's plant at Martinsville, Virginia. He says: "I am only about a hundred miles from Lexington and go back once in awhile. Was up there last fall. I love to go back. It affects me something like going to Church. I may not understand what I am absorbing or why, but after I have been there I feel better, and just to visit the place makes me feel that I have been in touch with and in the presence of something much greater and far higher than I am. I wish I could have known that when I was there, for that realization does us all good."

John T. Gray, Jr., is a member of the law firm of Gray and Gray, Brownsville, Tennessee. He is married and has three children, two daughters, 16 and 12 respectively, and a son, 13. From May 18, 1942, to November 1, 1943, he served as State Director of Tennessee for the Office of Price Administration, resigning to return to his law practice in Brownsville.

Philip F. L'Engle has been in the house construction business and for the past year and a half has been engaged in the construction of houses for war workers, operating under the authority of WPB, Defense Homes, Inc., 79 West Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Georgia.

Tobias C. Phillips is engaged in the general practice of law in Washington, D. C., and tax consultant in Baltimore, Maryland. His address is 1615 Cypress Street, Baltimore 26, Maryland.

J. Tom Watson is Attorney General of the State of Florida, and lives in Tallahassee. His three sons are in the service—two of them in the Infantry and one in the Air Forces.

Job Saunders has been a member of the Suffolk, Virginia Bar for the past thirty-three years and up to two years ago a member of the firm of Saunders and Hutton, when the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Hutton became Circuit Judge. He says he still shares the solitude of bachelorhood but maintains a keen interest in feminine charm.

James Somerville, Jr., who has been with the Foreign Service Department of State, assigned to London, England, was a visitor to Lexington in August. He has now been designated as Commercial Attache to Teheran, Iran, and expected to take up his new duties within a short time.

Byron L. Ballard, 1400 Olds Tower Building, Lansing, Michigan, reports having one son, Capt. Thomas B. Ballard, who is in China, entering the service from the Freshman Class at Washington and Lee. Byron is Chairman of the Board of Law Examiners for Michigan.

1913

Harvey B. Apperson has been elected by the General Assembly of Virginia to membership on the State Corporation Commission of Virginia. He has been practicing law in Roanoke and Salem, Virginia, and misses his old haunts but enjoys contact with other members of his class who are connected with the State Government in one capacity or another.

C. E. Hunter is City Attorney of the City of Roanoke, Virginia. He has two sons in the armed services and two little girls who are at home.

Will E. Ward is practicing law in Starkville, Mississippi. He has not returned to the campus since graduation and has seen only one classmate during those years.

H. Wise Kelly is a member of the law firm of Bowen & Kelly, Potomac Electric Power Co., Building, Washington, D. C. His home is in Fairfax, Virginia. His son is now a student at Washington and Lee.

Dr. Ludo von Meysenbug says he is not much of a correspondent as far as a lengthy class letter goes, but that he is always anxious to keep in touch with "Good Old Washington and Lee." Ludo is practicing medicine in Daytona Beach, Florida.

C. W. Tharpe is in the clothing store business with the firm of Hardie and Caudle, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

S. C. Rose is doing his part in putting the Axis down and American morale up on his production of cotton, corn, hay and dairy products on his plantation, "Roselands," near West Point, Mississippi.

Dr. Taylor Thom, Jr., has been Blair Professor of Geology at Princeton University since 1937. Recently he has been doing a research job for the University, looking toward facilitating new industrial developments and new employment in the post-war period. Also he is planning and hoping to continue experimentation with field work and field courses as a basis for drawing good pre-college students into exploratory work—if that is their natural line of professional activity.

Walter Lowrie Tucker has resided at his ancestral home in Amherst County, Virginia since leaving the University in 1913. He says he has never been brave enough to trust the farm for a livelihood. His address is Box 146, Lynchburg, Virginia.

C. H. Zerkle has been with the Bank of St. Albans, St. Albans, West Virginia, since leaving school, except for his service in the first World War. He has two children, a boy and a girl—the boy now in school at Episcopal High at Alexandria, Virginia, and the girl at St. Catherine's School in Richmond.

Thomas F. Raines is with the Travelers Insurance Company at Houston, Texas, with offices in the Sterling Building.

Robert P. Hobson, member of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association, is still practicing law as a member of the firm of Woodward, Dawson and Hobson, Kentucky

Home Life Building, Louisville, Kentucky. His son, Bob, is a lieutenant in the Navy and has been recently transferred to the Air Corps.

Dr. Vann M. Matthews is a practicing physician at Charlotte, North Carolina.

Clarence Avery of Chattanooga, Tennessee, member of the University Board of Trustees, is still running the Chattanooga Glass Company. He is also head of the local USO, and is a director in the Southern Manufacturers Association.

Stephen F. Chadwick is a member of the law firm of Chadwick, Chadwick and Mills, Suite 656 Central Building, Seattle, Washington.

Ben D. Smith is a member of the law firm of Ben D. Smith and Son of Somerset, Kentucky. He has one daughter Beverly, now the wife of William E. Jennings, Lieutenant in the Naval Air Corps, member of the class of 1942, Washington and Lee.

Charlie Lile is with Koppers Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He writes that he hopes to be remembered to all the alumni.

Richard Williamson Fowlkes, M.D., continues to reside in Richmond, Virginia. He has always been active in alumni work.

Leslie Anderson is in the tobacco business at Mayfield, Kentucky. He has a son in the army, a daughter attending Wellesley College, and one daughter at home.

Paul C. Thomas continues to reside in Bluefield, West Virginia. He has a son, Paul, Jr., who is a lieutenant in the Infantry. He also has a married daughter and a younger son who plans to enter Washington and Lee later.

Walter C. Preston is a chemist with Procter and Gamble Company. He has one daughter. He hopes to come to Lexington to the first Home-Coming after the war is over.

Joseph C. Rivers, with War Finance Committee, Commerce and Industry Division, Treasury Department, New York City, has been remarkably successful in his field. He expresses his delight that the Washington and Lee Alumni Board of Trustees is suggesting that alumni give War Bonds, Series F, and hopes a number will respond to that suggestion in making gifts to the University. The general public has responded magnificently, Joe says, in his territory.

Bruce Woodruff heads the law firm of Woodruff, Ward & Etheridge in Atlanta, Georgia. He is steadfast in his interest in all pertaining to the welfare of Washington and Lee.

Seth Moorhead, Charleston, South Carolina, contributing liberally, refers to golfing as his favorite source of recreation. He is with Army Service Forces, Charleston Port of Embarkation Exchange.

Lycurgus Hyre is practicing law in Buckhannon, West Virginia. Speaking of Washington and Lee, he says: "It will, and should be, a force after this war in guiding future generations, as it has past generations, in the good old American way and, if possible, to raise those standards."

Flight Officer William Temple Lewis, '40
(See Class Note)

Reuben A. Lewis, Jr., has had an exceptionally fine record of achievement in the world of finance and, after years as Vice-President of one of Chicago's largest banks, is publishing a successful trade journal, "Finance," in Chicago.

Maurice Ridenour, a most dependable contributor, is president of a large contracting firm in Hagerstown, Maryland, and is enmeshed in dealing with priorities and related problems arising from the impact of war conditions.

Selden Spessard McNeer is a member of the Law firm of Campbell and McNeer, Huntington National Bank Building, Huntington, West Virginia. He is disappointed that his oldest son, who is in the Army, could not go to Washington and Lee.

Preston A. Childers runs a Hospital Certified Dairy Farm at Temple, Texas.

Vivian L. Page was a candidate for Congress in the democratic primary, Norfolk, Virginia, August 1, 1944, but was defeated by a small margin.

George D. Shore is a member of the firm of McLeod and Shore, Attorneys-at-Law, Sumter, South Carolina. He says the Alumni Magazine is his only source of information about the University.

1917

David W. Thornburg has been employed by the ASF for about a year in Dallas, Texas, but has now returned to his home in Santa Fe, New Mexico. He is making a street repair and construction survey for the City of Santa Fe and in addition is running a small ranch about ten miles from the city.

William O. Burtner is still in the Department of Justice where he has been for eighteen of the last twenty-one years. He says, "I go back to Washington and Lee as often as I can, and always enjoy my visits immensely. I cannot imagine that it could ever be otherwise."

Joseph R. Campbell is a member of the firm of The Birch Valley Lumber Company, manufacturers of West Virginia hardwoods, Tioga, West Virginia.

Jackson R. Collins is still practicing law at 90 Broad Street, New York 4, New York, but his duties have caused him to "ride the rails" much of the time for the past year. He hopes this is now over.

George N. Danielson is serving for the twenty-sixth year with the United States Naturalization Services in St. Paul, Minnesota. His home is at 1409 Ashland Avenue.

Herbert G. Peters, Jr., is a member of the law firm of Peters, Lavinder, Peters and Rouse, Bristol, Virginia-Tennessee.

Capt. A. E. Lusk is in the U. S. Army and has been overseas since July, 1943. Home: 514 North Halagueno, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Jas. Lewis Howe, Jr., is with the Arthur H. Thomas Company, in charge of the testing of all chemicals and laboratory apparatus and says he is spending more time in "over-time" than his regular job. His home address is 51 West Walnut Avenue, Merchantville, New Jersey.

Murray C. Shoun is with Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Bean, 25 North Pryor Street, Atlanta 1, Georgia. He is married and has two daughters.

William P. Daniel is Superintendent of City Schools, New Albany, Mississippi. His son William John Daniel, B.S. '42, is now a Lt. (j.g.) U. S. Navy.

James C. Ambler is a Director of Ginn & Company, educational publishers, his duties being those of sales manager for the southern territory. His office is at 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, and his home is in Glen Ridge, New Jersey.

Fulton Hoge is still practicing law with the firm of Williamson, Hoge and Judson, Title Insurance Building, Los Angeles 13, California.

Lt. Comdr. Giles S. Terry went on active duty with the Navy in 1943. He is now senior medical officer of a construction battalion of about 1,100 men. Home: 26 Taunton Road, Scarsdale, New York.

Leonard T. Brown has been in the wholesale paper business for twenty-three years. He has a wife and a daughter, Muriel; is still interested in music, his principal hobby, public speaking, Victory gardening and Washington and Lee. Home: 700 West Jackson Avenue, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

C. Houston Patterson is Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Williamson, West Virginia. His son, Robert Glasgow Patterson, is a freshman at Washington and Lee, incidentally, making the "Dean's List."

Clifford McC. Peale is with the United Public Utilities Corporation, 902 Market Street, Wilmington, Delaware, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois.

Arthur M. Cromwell is Sales Manager of Consolidated Machinery and Supply Company of Los Angeles, California, handling woodworking equipment. Home: 4970 Mt. Royal Drive, Los Angeles, California.

Dr. Dewey Davis is practicing his profession in Richmond, Virginia, and, like most of our doctor alumni, is too busy to write a letter. His offices are in the Professional Building.

Pinkney Grissom is a partner in the firm of Thompson, Knight, Harris, Wright & Weisberg, one of the outstanding law offices in the Lone Star State. He didn't say much in his letter except that he has two sons in college and, because of the absence of other men in the office on war duty, he is doing much extra work. Pink always finds time, however, to respond to the Class letter.

Joseph M. Glickstein is practicing law and engaging in various civic and war activities. He has two boys, one of whom, aged 16, was awarded a Carnegie medal for heroism in connection with the rescue last year of two women from drowning off a Florida beach.

John Wilson Drye, Jr., occupies a very special place in the affections of the Class Agent because regularly every year his is the first response to the Class letter. John is on the Alumni Board of Washington and Lee, and probably more closely associated with the present affairs of the University than any of us. With my own eyes I have seen a fireplace in his office, and you have to rate pretty high in the legal world to have an office in a Broadway skyscraper with a fireplace in it.

W. B. F. (Billy) Cole classifies himself as a semi-bachelor. He isn't married but is the guardian of two cousins, a boy and a girl, one now in the Army, the other at Westhampton College in Richmond. I had a fine, long letter from him, on a letterhead showing he is Commonwealth's Attorney at Fredericksburg. He has been president of the General Alumni Society of the University of Richmond, so his loyalty to Washington and Lee also is doubly appreciated.

Eldon P. King has been for some years Special Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue. He is a regular correspondent with your Class Agent, but this year his wife wrote to say he was in London and might be going on to other foreign parts. His being in London is explained by the following quotation picked up by the Class Agent from the September 4th issue of "Business Action" published by the United States Chamber of Commerce:

"Discussions of an exploratory nature have just been concluded in London with a view to negotiating a treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the avoidance of double taxation. Announcement was made that the first phase of the conversations dealing with double taxation on incomes and death duties have been 'satisfactorily concluded.' The conversations are to be resumed shortly in Washington.

Representing the United States in London were Eldon P. King, special deputy commissioner, Bureau of Internal Revenue, and Herbert P. Fales, foreign service officer attached to the Division of Financial and Monetary Affairs, State Department."

Col. Willis M. Everett is Army Public Relations Officer in the Fourth Corps Area. His home address is 2510 Rivers Road, N.W., Atlanta, Georgia.

Col. Randolph Cabell is senior Army Officer of Joint Operations at the Norfolk, Virginia, Naval Base. His home address is Covington, Virginia.

Major Charles Dwight McCabe, of the Air Supply Service, is now stationed overseas. Home address: Box 2684, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

J. Waller Callison is in the real estate and insurance business in Staunton, Virginia.

Henry F. Trotter is agent for the Ford Motor Company at Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

James P. Hill practices law in Jacksonville, Florida.

Fred M. Bailey is in the real estate and insurance business in Huntington, West Virginia.

J. B. Atkins is at Shreveport, Louisiana. His son, John, formerly at Washington and Lee, is now an Army Air Cadet. His daughter, Caroline, attends Randolph-Macon in Lynchburg.

Lewis S. Musgrove says he has the same wife he started with nineteen years ago; the same daughter he has had for sixteen years—even though her daddy is no longer the only male she is interested in going out with. He has been with the same company (United States Guarantee Company) and lived at the same address for nearly seven years. "Incidentally, with the War and prices being what they are, we have had a lot of things a very long time, such as the car, refrigerator, etc. (and as my wife often reminds me, her fur coat)." His business address is 90 John Street, New York.

John Boyd Hoke is with the Potomac Construction Company, General Contractors, Martinsburg, West Virginia. Until the past two years he has been a frequent visitor to Lexington, but the curtailment of business travel has put a stop to these visits.

Lester J. Fox has had a varying career since leaving school and has finally settled down in Nashville, Tennessee, running his own truck sales and service—Fox Truck Service, P.O. Box 655.

F. M. Pollock was in the insurance business in Bristol, Virginia, when his class letter was written in March, but we have a later address for him at 14½ Church Street, Asheville, North Carolina.

Alfred B. Levin is in the Life Insurance business in Joplin, Missouri, selling War Bonds and working with the USO. Camp Crowder is only sixteen miles from Joplin.

B. H. Neblett has his office headquarters at 508 Sharon Building, San Francisco 5, California. He is Counsel with the Treasury Department, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Pacific Division, Technical Staff.

H. Gray Funkhouser is still teaching mathematics at the Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, New Hampshire. In addition to his teaching he has taken on a new job as director of the summer session. He says an indication that time is moving on is the appearance in the school of the sons of his classmates at Washington and Lee. He was a visitor to the campus in the early spring.

Edward J. Moyler is an attorney and counsellor at law, Franklin, Virginia.

Lieut. Comdr. Kenneth W. Heyl, USNR, was appointed District Civil Readjustment Officer of the Fifth Naval District in June, '44, under the Navy Department's program to aid discharged personnel in transition back to civilian life. Home address: 448 Sixth Avenue, Huntington, West Virginia.

James A. Cranford is still Vice-President of The Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, Florida. He is married and has two children.

Dr. R. E. Sherrill is still at the University of Pittsburgh as Professor and Head of the Geology and of the Oil and Gas Departments. He has not been back to Lexington for many years but promises to try to get here when travel conditions are improved.

Samuel L. Sanderson is still living on the farm in the North Carolina Mountains which he bought in 1932. He says it is a busy time for him for in addition to the difficulties of getting out a crop under wartime conditions of labor and material shortage, he has further complicated life by entering the Democratic primary race for nomination to the lower house of the state legislature on a platform of educational reform. Address: R. D. No. 3, Canton, North Carolina.

Second Lieutenant Walter G. Downie, '42
(See Class Note)

Rev. J. Lindsay Patton, formerly of Berkeley, California, is now Rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Colorado Springs, Colorado. He was given the degree of D.D. from Washington and Lee in May, '42.

Dr. Dewey A. Reynolds has been with the United States Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh since 1923, now engaged in fuel research, mostly coal carbonization. His address is 2638 Voelkel Avenue, South Hills Station, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

W. J. L. Patton is Assistant Comptroller of the National City Bank of New York. He hopes that the war will be over and the mess cleared up so that his class can have its quarter-century reunion in 1947. Address: 204 Burns Street, New York.

Harry C. Robert, Jr., says he is still on the old job as sports writer for The Evening Bulletin and says that sports seem to be an anemic proposition with a terrific war going on. He follows the fortunes of Washington and Lee with great interest and hopes they may be good.

Dave Matson, after engineering work with several companies, was called to South America in 1930 to look after a series of power developments in Argentina, but since 1938 he has been dedicating his time to the operation of several public utility companies. He is the Operating Manager of five large companies. He has traveled extensively and is quite familiar with the lay of the land in Argentina from Patagonia to Bolivia, and has spent some time in Chile and Brazil, with vacations in Uruguay.

Dr. Lewis E. Jarrett is now Superintendent of the Turo Hospital, New Orleans, Louisiana, after many years with the Hospital Division of the Medical College of Virginia at Richmond.

S. S. Guerrant has been working for the Hercules Powder Company since 1942. He is an American Red Cross First Aid Instructor. Home: 103 Wellington Avenue, Roanoke, Virginia.

Lyle Sattes is still working with the Belle Alkali Company, a chemical manufacturing plant at Belle, West Virginia, which is eleven miles out of Charleston. He reports an addition to his family since last year in the person of Frederick Lyle Sattes, Jr., born November 11, 1943, and expecting to enter Washington and Lee about 1961. "Please see that things are ready for him."

G. E. Berson in Fort Smith, Arkansas, is connected with the Berry Dry Goods Company. He is anxious to know about the post-war football prospects.

R. H. Carr is president of the R. H. Carr Lumber Company, Jasper, Alabama. His son R. H., Jr., would have entered Washington and Lee this fall but for the war. He joined the Army Air Forces at Christmas time, but when the war is over he expects to be right here. He is grooming another son for a left half back for the Generals, and has a daughter who will go to Sweetbriar.

Ted Harris has just completed a novel, "These, My Kindred." His New York address is 73 Perry Street, New York. Now he is off for his "island paradise," Atlantic Beach, North Carolina.

W. H. Haynes is busy practicing law in Fayetteville, West Virginia. He is also Commissioner of Accounts and a member of the County Board of Education.

1924

Stuart A. McCorkle has been Director of the Bureau of Municipal Research at University of Texas, and during the past year was selected for listing in "Who's Who in America." Last July and August he lectured on American Government and Politics at the National University of Mexico in Mexico City. He indicates that politics in Texas are at present even too hot to talk about in Texas.

Jack Thomas continues as Professor of Theology at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond. He is in much demand as a preacher on weekends, and is constantly on the go throughout adjoining states.

Eddie Cameron, as Director of Athletics at Duke, says that his main job is with the Navy V-12 physical fitness program and seeing that 1,600 naval trainees leave there in good physical condition.

Most of our classmates in the teaching profession have been busy teaching service men. John Higgins Williams and Walter Flick are still at Washington and Lee. "Doc" Flick, however, has been doing some work on the side as consultant for Industrial Rayon Corporation. Markham Peacock continues at V.P.I. Jimmie Logan at Ohio State reports that the ASTP men have dropped from the thousands to the hundreds and his English classes are mostly made of co-eds, look more like Sweetbriar and Hollins (except Virginia pulchritude is not so noticeable). Paul Brawner, Professor of English at West Virginia, on the strength of freshman math at Washington and Lee, says that now he mostly teaches math to service men. Lyman Harris is at University of Omaha, and Walter Lee Simmons at Ohio Wesleyan.

Reed Graves reports that over 12½ per cent of the population of Lynchburg is in the service but that still around are he, Bill Spencer, Commonwealth's Attorney, Billy Lynn, still running the Carroll Hotel (among other things), Jack Caskie, and Alex Mosby. Reed has three brothers abroad, and his own activities are varied. He is running a ready-mix concrete plant, a box and crate factory, a farm, and is connected with a firm, as a sort of general production man, which makes prefabricated houses, barracks, hospitals, etc., and also makes crates to ship Ford trucks overseas. On a recent trip he missed seeing Capt. Jimmie Huff in Columbus, Georgia, talked with Howard Leake in Birmingham. Howard is running John Hendon's garage and other business while John is in the Navy, and reports that Col. Bill Rushton and Lt.-Col. Allen Rushton are in the service—and that Frank Rushton is just about the leading citizen of Birmingham, as recent articles in the "Saturday Evening Post" and "Time" would indicate.

Tom Harman finds law practice in time of war a real headache since most of his clients are engaged in war work, which brings in Government regulations, restraints, and controls. He plans to take a little trip into Canada and I wish I could tag along. Tom writes that Bob Campbell is now Rector of one of the larger Episcopal churches in Cleveland. Tom, when you see him, ask him if he remembers standing on his hands on the foot of a hotel bed in Baltimore, so he could put the prints of his feet on the ceiling! I seen him when he done it!!

Ed Rietze, after closing his Hotpoint Agency because of the war, is now back in business representing Allen Bradley Company, Milwaukee, motor controls and American Tool Works, Cincinnati, machine tools. Ed votes for a reunion in 1945 if the war is over.

Stewart P. Walker is still in the Ford business in Augusta, and "doing all right" in spite of the lack of new cars. (What will he do when he gets new cars again!) His two children are: Stewart, Jr., born June 2, 1937, and Louis, born February 6, 1940. (Stewart, if you still write Joe Clay Roberts, tell him to let me hear from him).

Philip Howerton is still general agent for the Connecticut Life Insurance Company in Charlotte, North Carolina. I know we all extend our sympathy to Phil in the death of his brother, Bob, last December.

George S. Wilson is a member of the law firm of Wilson and Wilson, Owensboro, Kentucky. On a recent trip to New York he and his class agent, William McRitchie had lunch together and discussed the "State of the Nation."

Perry A. Norman is Assistant Superintendent, Western Union Headquarters, Dallas, Texas. His family consists of a wife and one son, Perry Allen, Jr., age 5.

Ensign George Warren Priest, '43
(See Class Note)

Chicago 5, Illinois. He is class agent for the Law Class of 1938 this year. He says: "I watched with interest Washington and Lee's progress during this war, and I have been pleased with the management's aggressive attitude, not only in regard to training persons for the war effort, but for continuing a firm foundation for the school. I had the pleasure of listening to Dr. Gaines make a radio address a week ago Saturday, and it was a pleasure indeed to be able to recall, as I listened to him, many pleasant memories of the school and its people."

1st Lt. Frederick E. Waters, Jr., has been at the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station in Miami Beach for reassignment processing after completing a tour of duty outside the continental United States. He has won the D.F.C. and the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters. The B-24 navigator flew fifty missions in the European theater. He has been in the Army since March, 1942.

Lt. William B. Bagbey's ship, the USS Killen, participated in the initial invasion of the Philippines, and has been in various and sundry other disturbances in that part of the Pacific. They have also participated in numerous—"an understatement"—air actions since the invasion and have shot down five planes. All this was topped off by running into a typhoon. Bill has experienced North Atlantic fogs, storms and icebergs, a fight with a sub, an invasion, a fleet action, air attacks and a typhoon.

Calvert Thomas is an attorney at the Tax Court of the United States. Address: 4520 MacArthur Boulevard, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Nick is married to the former Harriet Ann Rogers.

Lt. Marshall N. Picard, U.S. Marine Corps, has been assigned as instructor to the elite Infantry School Battalion of the Training Command, Hq. Eastern Recruiting Division, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This school, only recently organized, is regarded by military experts as the crack outfit of the Marine Corps. It is unique among all armed services schools in that its entire personnel is made up of men who have had actual combat experience in the jungle-clad islands of the South Pacific. Lt. Picard served overseas 17 months at Samoa, New Zealand, New Caledonia, Guadalcanal and Bougainville, receiving a letter of commendation for action on the latter island. While at Samoa, holding the rank of corporal, he was selected for officer training in a field school and was commissioned April 11, 1943. He was promoted to First Lieutenant March 31, 1944. Home: Orilla del Mar, San Clemente, California.

Major Edward G. Roff, Jr., joined the Marine Corps in February, 1941. Receiving a commission as Second Lieutenant at Quantico, Virginia, he was sent to New River, North Carolina, and assigned to the Tank Corps. With this assignment came the rank of First Lieutenant. 1944

One of the war's strangest sights, believes 2nd Lt. William M. Sterrett, is an artillery-rocked battlefield from 20,000 feet altitude—such as the battlefield during the initial stages of the German thrust through Belgium which Lt. Sterrett witnessed as he flew to participate in an attack on the Wehrmacht's rear communications. The Virginian is pictured on page 29 in flying clothes following a mission in his B-17 Flying Fortress, "Bette-la-Belle." Lt. Sterrett and other bombardiers of the 100th group got heart-warming results on their mission—literally wrecking marshalling yards at Kaiserslautern, as reconnaissance "strike" photos later proved. An ammunition train, undoubtedly headed for the Wehrmacht, was blown up, and trains wrecked. Lt. Sterrett was recently awarded the Air Medal in recognition of "exceptionally meritorious achievement." (Since the above note was written, Lt. Sterrett has been reported missing in action over Germany, and later as a prisoner of war.)

2nd Lt. John H. Stansfield has recently been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" while participating in bombing attacks against military and industrial targets in the Reich and enemy installations in the path of the Allied armies in Western Europe.
