THE COVER

217 Graduates Receive Degrees

Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines conferred academic and law degrees upon 217 of the Washington and Lee University class of 1951 on the morning of June 8. Uncertain weather made it impossible to hold the graduation ceremonies on the front campus according to plan, and the event took place in Doremus Gymnasium.

Rain Thursday afternoon also caused cancellation of the boat races between the Albert Sidney and Harry Lee crews, always a popular Finals event with townspeople and returning alumni.

Among the activities which were climaxed by Friday graduation ceremonies were the Alumni smoker, held in the Student Union on Wednesday evening, followed by the Senior-Alumni Ball, led by Mr. and Mrs. H. K. (Cy) Young, and the meetings on the following morning of the University Board of Trustees, the Alumni Board of Trustees, the luncheon for alumni, graduates and their families, and the annual General Alumni meeting, after the luncheon. The Final Ball on Thursday night was led by Jack Kay, president of Finals with Miss Betty Thomas, both of Charleston, West Virginia, and a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gaines, preceding the ball,

The Academic Procession. On account of threatening weather the site of commencement exercises was Doremus Gymnasium instead of the campus in front of Lee Chapel for the graduates and their families.

Honorary degrees were awarded three outstanding Virginians in religious and educational fields and a substantial gift to the university was announced at the Friday exercises.

President Gaines, at present on leave of absence from the University, returned to the campus to award the degrees and deliver the traditional president's message to the graduating seniors.

An emergency gift of $50,000 donated by Mrs. Alfred I. duPont, was announced by President Gaines. The gift is designed to act as a cushion against the possibility of falling enrollment in the current period of uncertainty.

In announcing the grant, Dr. Gaines called attention to previous donations by Mrs. duPont, amounting to $200,000 for explicit University purposes and a residuary interest in trust funds that amount to approximately $1,000,000.

Some of the 34 sons of alumni who graduated in June, with their fathers

The 1951 Senior Law Class—the largest to graduate from Washington and Lee—64 in number

President Gaines also announced that alumni contributions have broken all records, already exceeding $30,000, with many more reports yet to be received. He recalled year-end gifts of approximately $90,000, and added that the total resources of the University had increased during the year by approximately a quarter million dollars.

Honored with doctorate degrees at the commencement exercises were the Rev. Benjamin O. Lynes, pastor of Manly Baptist Church, Lexington; Dr. Frank B. Lewis, president of Mary Baldwin College, Staunton; and the Rev. Charles C. Fishburne, of Christ Episcopal Church of Martinsville.

The Rev. Mr. Lynes and the Rev. Mr. Fishburne were accorded Doctor of Divinity degrees. Dr. Lewis, W. and L. Class of '32, was awarded the Doctor of Laws degree.

Dr. Gaines, speaking to the graduating seniors, declared that youth today must establish the philosophy of a personal attitude.

"Today as never before in our history," he said, "youth, trained by the deposited faith of benefactors or by the expenditures of tax money, must establish the philosophy of a personal attitude.

"There are encouragements to make this philosophy completely selfish. It is a day when among the free peoples there is more corruption than any generation has known. It is the unhappy and unholy distinction of our day that there is more militarism, more excellence of man's power to destroy man than ever before. It could easily be a philosophy of 'dog eat dog'—on a loftier plane it might easily be a philosophy of escapism, the fugitiveness of the wounded spirit.

"It would be easy to flee into the annals of history, because contemporary events are ugly; we could retreat into the ivory tower. Washington and Lee men will always recall that Robert E. Lee did not want ease or affluence of prestige. He wanted only one thing, to work, to toil, to serve. He dreamed of future progress and he wanted a part of it.

"You who are sons of the spirit of Lee will be anointed by his spirit. You will covet the personal attitude, that you may serve, that this troubled world will be made more peaceful, more hopeful because of your effort, your transfigured service."

David D. Bien, of Baltimore, was awarded the Mapleson scholarship, presented annually to the bachelor of arts graduate who holds the highest scholastic record. Bien was class valedictorian.

The five oldest Washington and Lee alumni to attend the university's Finals on June 7 and 8 are shown gathered at the alumni luncheon on the campus. Wes Brown, a senior from Chattanooga, chats with the group who are, left to right: B. F. Harlow, '96, Lexington; Ran T. Shields, '98, Winchester; G. D. Letcher, '88, Lexington; Leslie Crouch, '94, Harrisonville, Missouri; and Elijah Funkhouser, '93, Lexington Sons of 34 alumni were among the graduates at Washington and Lee on Friday, June 8. Most of the fathers of these graduates who are living were in attendance.

The oldest alumnus to register at the Finals was Capt. G. D. Letcher of Lexington, class of '88. Of those attending from elsewhere, Mr. Leslie Crouch, of the law class of 1894, was the oldest. He came back from his home at Harrisonville, Missouri, for the first time since his graduation.

At the annual meeting of the Alumni Association Thursday afternoon, Secretary H. K. Young announced that the alumni fund for 1951 now amounted to $35,000 and is expected to reach $40,000, much the largest figure in the history of the association.

President Francis P. Gaines of the university greeted the alumni at the meeting which followed a luncheon served on the campus. President Kenneth P. Lane of the association presided.

The association elected as new members of its board Emmett Poin-dexter, '20, New York, and Hugh Bonino, '36, of Centerdale, R. I. Ralph Daves, '26, of Lexington, and Daniel Sherby, '31, of Cleveland, Ohio, were named alumni members of the athletic board.

Officers elected by the board of trustees for the coming year were Kenneth P. Lane, '36, re-elected president; George Burks, '27, Louisville, Ky., vice-president; and Arch Sproul, '37, Staunton, treasurer.

Alumni attended a smoker Wednesday night, June 6, and marched in a figure at the ball Thursday night which has been an annual feature of Final dances for many years.

Report of the Alumni Secretary

The 202nd session of the University opened with uncertainty. The possibility of another war and military service again loomed over students as the academic year began. This same uncertainty applied to the activities of your Alumni Association. However, our fears were unfounded, and I am happy to report the Association has had its most successful year. In looking back over former reports I find this statement has been made on many occasions, but this is as it should be. Alumni work at Washington and Lee is a growing business and we hope we can continue to make such a statement from year to year in the future.

Regardless of our attitudes towards a winning football team, there is one thing certain—it makes for alumni enthusiasm and cooperative helpfulness, as well as much added work on the part of your Alumni Office. I have never seen as much enthusiasm at alumni meetings as those held this fall throughout the country. Outstanding among these meetings were those held in Louisville, Kentucky, with an attendance of 400, and in Jacksonville, Florida, on New Year's Day, preceding the 'Gator Bowl game, with an estimated attendance of 1,000.

Alumni Secretary and Mrs. Young lead the Alumni Figure

The Chow Line waiting for mess call

This year has been the most active one the Alumni Office has ever had and we feel certain the Alumni body has been kept better informed on the affairs of the University than ever before. At least 150,000 pieces of mail have been addressed to alumni from our stencil files.

It is a known fact that if a person is not sold on his university after spending four years on the campus, no amount of persuasive talk or literature can make him an interested alumnus. Fortunately, we at Washington and Lee are not faced with many such cases. However, your Association makes every effort to inform the students as to their privileges and obligations as alumni through our Student-Alumni relations program. We have been able this year to assist many organizations on the campus financially and otherwise. The annual Senior Banquet, sponsored by your Association at a cost of $750, was the best we have ever had. Your Secretary each year has the privilege of speaking to the freshman class during orientation week and always takes this occasion to inform the class that the Alumni staff is glad to be of any possible service to students. We are happy to report that they use this service freely.

The year 1933 saw the beginning of the Washington and Lee Alumni Fund. That year 505 alumni responded to their class agents' letters, contributing $3,741.80. We were most enthusiastic about this beginning. Naturally, in the 18 intervening years, we have learned a lot about Fund raising. It may be monotonous, or even boring, to you that we have reported each year that the Fund has had its best year. It is certainly not boring to the alumni staff who live with it the year 'round, and beginning the first of April and until the 30th of June look forward to the morning's mail with hopeful enthusiasm. This Fund has grown to such proportions that it is of appreciable financial assistance to the University. Especially is this true in this year of emergency. We think its greatest value has been the revival of interest among alumni through correspondence with their Class Agents. The men acting in this capacity are rendering the greatest service possible to the University. Our hats are off to them and we take this occasion to express our appreciation for their splendid efforts.

Also, I personally want to thank Miss Barclay, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Lauck and Miss Ravenhorst of our staff. They have shown an unbelievable interest and a cooperation that has made my part of it easy.

To bring this report to a close

This group at the Alumni Luncheon seems to be oblivious to the speed limit sign on the left

It is apparent that Ed Moyler, '21, facing camera, did not relate a humorous story to this group and get to the point; the $30,660 received to date is the most money ever received in the Alumni Fund. The largest number of contributors we have ever had was in 1946 when approximately 2,000 alumni responded. To date 1265 have been heard from and we have high hopes of exceeding this number when the campaign closes.

Faculty News

Three promotions to full professorships at Washington and Lee are among a half dozen faculty advancements announced by President Francis P. Gaines.

Effective next September, the W. and L. board of trustees has approved promotions in the departments of history, psychology, biology, English, and mathematics.

Dr. Allen W. Moger, a specialist in Virginia history, has been promoted to professor of history. Dr. Moger, a native of Nansemond county, attended Randolph-Macon College and Johns Hopkins University and received his doctorate from Columbia University. His publications include a book on "The Rebuilding of the Old Dominion, 1880-1902." He joined the W. and L. faculty in 1929.

Dr. William M. Hinton, who holds the bachelor and master of arts degrees from Washington and Lee and a doctorate from Ohio State University, was named professor of education and psychology. Appointed to the W. and L. faculty in 1930, he also served for a time as chairman of the Virginia Academy of Science, psychology section, and has published many learned articles.

Dr. James H. Starling has been elevated to the rank of professor of biology. A native of Troy, Ala., he attended the University of Alabama and Duke University. Prior to accepting a position at W. and L. in 1942, he served on the faculties of Alabama College and Alabama State Teachers College.

The board of trustees has also approved promotions for the following:

Dr. George H. Foster, to be associate professor of English. Dr. Foster, who specializes in American literature and English drama of the late 17th and early 18th centuries, has achieved recognition as author of aviation training literature for the U. S. Navy. He received the bachelor and master of arts degrees at W. and L. and his doctorate at the University of North Carolina.

Dr. William A. Jenks, to be associate professor of history. Dr. Jenks holds the bachelor of arts degree from W. and L. and master's and doctor's degrees from Columbia University. He served with the Office of Strategic Services and the Department of State in World War II. His book on "The Austrian Electoral Reform of 1907" appeared last year.

Dr. Charles W. Williams, to be associate professor of mathematics. A graduate of Harvard, with a master's degree from Maryland and a doctorate from the University of Virginia, Dr. Williams has taught at the Universities of Kentucky and North Carolina and at North Carolina State College. He has made special studies in the field of transcendental numbers. He was appointed to the W. and L. faculty in 1948.

Dr. Marvin Banks Perry, Jr., has been appointed assistant professor of English at Washington and Lee University, effective with the opening of the school's 203rd session next September. He has taught English classes at the University of Virginia at Charlottesville since 1947.

Dr. Perry received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Virginia and his master's and Ph.D. from Harvard University. He has had articles published in the Georgia Review, Notes and Queries, the Virginia Quarterly Review, and is co-author with Howard Mumford Jones and Richard M. Ludwig of Modern Minds: An anthology of Ideas.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, the Raven Society, Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity, the Modern Language Association, and the College English Association.

Dr. Perry, a native of Powhatan, Virginia, grew up in Atlanta and in Newton, Massachusetts. He saw naval duty from 1941 to 1946. His wife is the former Miss Ellen Coalter Gilliam of Lynchburg. They have one daughter.

Dr. Linton L. Barrett, professor of Spanish at Washington and Lee University, has been granted a two-year leave of absence by the university to accept a State Department position in Venezuela.

Dr. Barrett has been appointed cultural attache at the United States Embassy in Caracas, Venezuela. He will serve for a period of two years, beginning this summer.

Preparatory to taking up his new duties, the W. and L. professor will attend a four to six-week orientation course in Washington. He will leave late in July for Venezuela.

As cultural attache, he will be charged with interpreting the United States to the people of Venezuela. His duties will include supervision of State Department films and radio broadcasting time and the handling of applications from citizens of Venezuela who wish to study or conduct research in the United States.

In addition, he will deliver occasional lectures on various aspects of the U. S. to groups in Venezuela.

A native of Alabama, Dr. Barrett attended Mercer University and received his doctorate from the University of North Carolina. Prior to joining the W. and L. faculty in 1948, he had taught at Mercer, the University of Virginia, Alabama, North Carolina, Princeton, and the University of Kansas.

Dr. Barrett, who has a working knowledge of several languages in addition to Spanish and Portuguese, is the author of several books, including works on Spanish literature and Brazilian plays.

O. W. Reigel, director of the Lee Memorial Journalism Foundation, will direct a research survey of intercultural influences this summer in Western Europe.

Sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and Foreign Affairs, Princeton University, the cultural contacts study to be undertaken will be supported by a Rockefeller Foundation grant.

As projected, the survey will explore the long-term impact of the contacts between Americans and American culture and the culture and people of Western Europe.

Mr. Reigel plans to begin his survey with a pilot study in Belgium. Under the arrangements for the survey, a local staff will be organized in each of the various places of operation to assist in conducting the study.

Mr. Reigel has acquired a broad background of knowledge of Europe through his service with various branches of the U. S. Government and through educational and professional channels.

Last summer, he was engaged by the Department of State to survey German universities and non-educational institutions in respect to the development of public opinion training and research.

Dr. John S. Baxter, professor of chemistry at Washington and Lee University, will engage in research work this summer at the Oak Ridge plant of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Baxter will spend three months at the Oak Ridge development, the largest atomic research laboratory in the United States. He left June 4 to begin the research project.

While participating in the program, he will be affiliated with the chemistry section of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Dr. Baxter is among approximately 70 scientists from universities throughout the South who will participate in the summer program. The project is sponsored jointly by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Dr. Edward D. Myers, professor of philosophy at Washington and Lee University, has been named to the newly-created committee on university-agency relations by the Board of Control for Southern Regional Education.

Formed to assist in the board's expanded program of activity, the new committee will serve as the advisory group in the field of contract relations and use of off-campus agencies. A major goal of the expanded program involves assistance to colleges and universities in establishing effective working relations with governmental and industrial agencies.

Dean Clayton E. Williams of the Washington and Lee Law School was honored with the degree of Doctor of Laws by Hampden-Sydney College at its commencement exercises on June 11, 1951. Mr. Williams joined the Washington and Lee faculty in 1919 and became dean of the law school in 1945, succeeding the late Mr. William H. Moreland.

A native of Woodstock, Virginia, he was commonwealth's attorney of Shenandoah county before coming to Washington and Lee. He was graduated in law here in the class of 1912.

C. Harold Lauck, instructor in journalism, has been called "one of the nation's leading typographers" in a special editorial in the spring issue of the Graphic Arts Education magazine.

Lauck, who has been with the Lee Memorial Journalism Foundation since 1932, was cited for outstanding service to graphic arts education.

"Although he has never been a teacher of printing in the orthodox sense, except in connection with the classes in journalism at Washington and Lee University, yet few have influenced education for printing as widely and effectively as he has," the editorial said.

Research Grants

Twenty-two professors—almost one-third of the Washington and Lee University faculty—will begin research projects this summer under a Carnegie grant that will scatter many of them around the nation and take three to foreign lands.

Funds for the projects, designed to advance the calibre of undergraduate college instruction, come from a three-year grants-in-aid program of $25,000 recently established at Washington and Lee by the Carnegie Foundation. University approval of the individual projects was announced by the Washington and Lee Board of Trustees during commencement week.

Professors who will seek knowledge in foreign countries include Marion M. Junkin, Francis Drake, and L. R. Criminale.

Dr. Junkin, noted Southern artist and head of the fine arts department, will leave in mid-July for Mexico City. There he will study techniques of mural painting by the great Mexican muralists, Orozco, Rivera, Siqueiros and Montenegro.

Upon returning to Lexington in September, Dr. Junkin will begin work on a mural in the lower lobby of McCormick Library on the campus.

Dr. Drake, assistant professor of French, already is on his way to France to study Voltaire's use of history and legend. Most of Dr. Drake's time will be spent at the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris.

Criminale, assistant professor of Spanish, will do research at the University of Madrid in Spain. He will study the effect of England and English historical personages on the imaginative literature of Spain from 1550 to 1625.

In addition to these three, other faculty members will be abroad this summer working on projects sponsored by other agencies. One is Professor O. W. Riegel, head of the Lee Memorial Journalism Foundation, who will direct a research survey of intercultural influences in Western Europe.

The other 19 Washington and Lee faculty members granted Carnegie grants-in-aid include:

Professor W. G. Bean, for research in Washington, Richmond, West Virginia, and North Carolina, for an article on "The Ruffner Pamphlet and John Letcher."

Professor Ollinger Crenshaw, for reasearch at Harvard, Princeton, and Philadelphia in connection with his forthcoming "History of Washington and Lee University."

Professor Almand R. Coleman, for study of public school financing in Virginia.

Professor L. J. Desha, for additional research for a new and revised edition of his textbook, "Organic Chemistry."

Assistant Professor Marshall W. Fishwick, for extension of his research in the Southwest on "the culture hero in America."

Professor Fitzgerald Flournoy, for research in a private library in Norfolk for additional chapters on "Hugh Blair Grigsby and his Virginia."

Professor E. C. Griffith, for work on a book on labor problems.

Assistant Professor E. S. Gilreath, for work on a chemistry textbook.

Assistant Professor Hugh K. Hawk, for research on American trade policy and the aluminum industry.

Associate Professor William A. Jenks, for research on political and social developments in pre-1914 Austria.

Professor Lewis K. Johnson, for research on a textbook in sales administration.

Assistant Professor Daniel C. Lewis, for graduate work at Duke University.

Professor Allen W. Moger, for a study of the correspondence to and from General Robert E. Lee, from 1865 to 1870.

Professor Edward D. Myers, for the preparation of an atlas and gazetteer to appear as Volume 10 of Arnold J. Toynbee's "A Study of History."

Professor William W. Pusey, for additional study of the Russian language.

Assistant Professor R. W. Royston, for mathematical research.

Assistant Professor B. Stuart Stephenson, for music study.

Assistant Professor Charles W. Turner, for research upon a "history of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad."

Finals Leader, Jack Kay with Miss Betty Thomas

Assistant Professor Charles O. Voigt, Jr., for a study of recent technological practices in newspaper production.

The general aim of the Carnegie grants-in-aid, as explained by University Dean James G. Leyburn, is "to advance undergraduate instruction, to vitalize it, to improve its quality." A faculty committee considers applicants for the grants, makes selections, and administers the allocation. Final approval is given by the Board of Trustees.

The total Carnegie grant of $25,000 will be spread evenly over three years—with this year's group of 22 professors getting $8,333 to finance their research projects.

Library Receives Valuable Gift

Cyrus Hall McCormick Library, has been presented by a Lynchburg alumnus, who has chosen to remain anonymous, with a first edition, dated 1622, of one of the rarest early books in English, the work of Francis Bacon, English philosopher, statesman and essayist, lord chancellor of England.

The book is The Historie of the Raigne of King Henry the Seventh, written by the Right Honourable Francis, Lord Verulam, Viscount St. Albans, known to the literary world as Francis Bacon. It was printed in London by W. Stansby, 1622.

Henry E. Coleman, Jr., identifying the book, said "Parts of the book were written under great difficulty while Bacon was imprisoned in the Tower as a result of his having been found guilty of bribery and corruption when serving as Lord Chancellor to James I. In March of 1622, the first copies of the book were bound and ready for release to public sale on March 30."

"The Historie," Mr. Coleman continues, "had immediate popularity and was republished rapidly in several editions. There was an early French edition in spite of Voltaire's criticizing Bacon's language as bombastic and exuberant."

Encyclopedia Britannica speaks of this book, together with others written in the last five years before his death in 1624 as "work far more valuable to the world than anything he had accomplished in his high office."

The book was presented by the writer to Prince Charles before public distribution.

A valuable collection of old publications, including more than a dozen first editions, has been received by the University for inclusion in its archives.

More than 300 publications have been presented to Cyrus McCormick Library by Beverly Douglas Causey, of St. Augustine, Florida, W. and L. academic class of 1902 and law class of 1913. In addition to books, pamphlets and magazine groups, the gift includes a number of newspaper files.

Gathered during the first decade of this century, the collection names among its authors Thomas Jefferson, William Keith, John Smith, William Stith, Robert Beverly and John Burk.

A first edition of Boswell's Life of Johnson, published in 1791 in London, leads the group of first issues printed in this country and in England in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Also included among the first editions are Sir Walter Raleigh's Judicious and Selected Essays and Observations (London, 1758); Burk's Female Patriotism or The Death of Joan D'Arc (New York, 1789); Derham's Miscellanea Curiosa (London, 1726); and Mrs. Aphra Behn's The Widow Ranter or The History of Bacon in Virginia (London, 1690).

First editions of four books by Virginia poet Daniel Byron, published between 1813 and 1830, hold a prominent place in the collection. A Washington and Lee alumnus, John Esten Cooke (Washington College, 1865-67), also is represented.

"The Causey collection also is rich in Virginia imprints, Confederate imprints and valuable items concerning the early anti-slavery movement, secession and the War Between the States," Henry E. Coleman, Jr., Washington and Lee librarian, said.

Publishing trends during the war period are represented in textbooks, almanacs, reprints of famous novels and poetry collections, and official documents of the Confederate government and army.

One of the rarest items in the collection is a copy of the June 2, 1863, edition of the Vicksburg, Miss., Daily Citizen. This issue of the newspaper, started by Southern printers and completed by Northern printers after the city was captured, is printed on the back of wall paper, which was the only material available in the paper-starved city.

Famous cartoons and battle sketches are contained in files of the New York Times for the period 1861-65 and a file of Harper's Weekly magazine for the same period, which are included in the Causey gift.

W. and L. Crew Second in Races

Washington and Lee rated second place in the Dad Vail crew races on the Charles River, Boston, Massachusetts, in the Union Boat Club's 100th anniversary regatta on May 19, 1951.

With the Local Chapters

CLEVELAND

The Cleveland Alumni Chapter held its Spring business meeting at the Cleveland Athletic Club on May 28, 1951.

At a business meeting following the dinner the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: Dr. John Battle, Jr., '34, President; William A. Murray, '41, Vice-President and Program Chairman; Clinton VanVliet, '41, re-elected Secretary; and Roland J. Fraier, '49, Treasurer.

Dan Sherby, '31, again invited the group and their wives in Northern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania to a football game of the Cleveland Browns.

Tentative plans were made for future meetings of the chapter.

PHILADELPHIA

A small group of Washington and Lee alumni met at Kugler's Restaurant on June 11, principally concerned with organizational plans for the local alumni group. Following this meeting a nominating ballot was mailed to members of the local chapter, resulting from which the following officers were elected: Allen T. Snyder, '39, President; William L. Leopold, '39, Vice-President; Jackson A. Hauslein, '42, Secretary, and William J. Luria, '28, Treasurer.

NEW YORK

The annual spring stag beer party, complete with German dinner, of the New York chapter was held at the Hans Jaeger Restaurant in the Yorkville section of New York, with some 40 alumni present. After dinner the 'Gator Bowl film was shown. The chapter planned to hold a dinner dance on May 4.

Quotation from Letter from an Alumnus

"Our generation has made a pretty sorry mess of national and world affairs and the least we can do is to give sound guidance to the youngsters of today who will have the job of straightening out this chaos if America is to survive. I feel that no educational institution in America is doing a better job than Washington and Lee. She is blessed with able guidance and we should support her to the fullest."

ALAN PORTER LEE, '08, is a Chemical and Mechanical Engineer, specializing in the design and construction of Process Equipment for fats, oils, soaps, fatty acids and derivative products of all these. He reports being very busy at present, having assignments in several southern states and in some foreign countries, ranging from Brazil, Venezuela and Mexico to Portugal and Holland. He was recently initiated as an honorary member of Pi Tau Sigma, the honorary Mechanical Engineering fraternity at Brooklyn Polytechnic

Serious consultation between Ed Walker, custodian of Washington Hall, and Registrar Charlie Green

WALTER M. HOOD, '10, has retired as secretary of the Alabama Power Company, Birmingham, Alabama, after 39 years with the company. He joined the Alabama Power Company in 1912, and was elected Secretary in 1926. Address: 2704 Hanover Circle, Birmingham, Alabama.

DANIEL C. BUCHANAN, '14, has had an interesting and successful career, as a Presbyterian missionary in Japan for 20 years in educational and religious work. He left Japan shortly before 1942, having sent his family home a year before, as he realized what was inevitable. Since the summer of 1946 he has been in the Department of State and is now in the Bureau of Far Eastern Affairs. Address: 6911 Beverly Road, Bethesda 14, Maryland.

Notes

Dr. John Henry Day completed 25 years of service as minister of Seventh Baptist Church, North Avenue and St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Maryland, on March 4, 1951. Dr. Day received his L.L.B. from Washington and Lee in 1904 and the honorary degree of D.D. in 1923.

1905

F. R. Flournoy has been teaching in The College of Emporia, Emporia, Kansas, for thirteen years. His plans for the summer included a trip to California and then back across the continent to Maryland.

G. W. Rader is operating a stock farm about nine miles from Lexington. Address: R. F. D. No. 3, Lexington, Virginia.

Brent Clark is still operating The James Hotel, 219 N. W. 4th Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, with occasional visits with his children and five grandchildren.

C. S. Carpenter has lived in thirty-four towns since leaving Washington and Lee. He began work with the Norfolk and Western, following railroad work until 1918; then went into construction work. At present he is an accountant for the Bureau of Public Roads. Home address: 912 South Oak Street, Arlington, Virginia.

Horace W. (Rags) Phillips is president of the Argent Lumber Company. He is fortunate in having his son, Horace W., Jr., in business with him, and is proud of his two grandchildren.

Rev. William P. Hooper, D.D., resigned as Pastor of the Highlawn Presbyterian Church, Huntington, West Virginia, after 32 years of service there, on April 1, 1951. He will continue to live in Huntington.

Rev. James N. Montgomery, for many years in mission work for the Southern Presbyterian Church, is now stationed in Formosa. He writes that there are few Americans in Formosa now but the number is increasing. He hopes there will be some Washington and Lee Alumni among them, and promises to report. Mail sent to P. O. Box 330, Nashville, Tennessee, will reach him.

---

Let us remind you again that the material from which these notes was compiled consists of letters received by the class agents during the past spring and summer and from questionnaires returned by alumni during that period. If notes are not up-to-date, we would appreciate any further information you can let us have.

Elton Watkins, since leaving Washington and Lee, has had a rather full, exciting and exacting life. His law practice has been varied and vigorous from police court to the Supreme Court of the United States. His political career has covered the field from precinct committeeman to Congress, and his church membership has carried him to the roll of teacher and at one time to the pulpit. Address: Failing Building, Portland, Oregon.

Bronson L. Wood married a Highland County girl some 29 years ago and they have three sons and a daughter. The eldest, Captain B. L. W., Jr., is a pilot stationed at the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk. The daughter is a graduate of Montreal College, and is now in training at the University Hospital, Charlottesville, to go to the Belgian Congo as a missionary nurse. The second son, a last year's graduate of King College, Bristol, is teaching in Carolina County. The youngest boy, age 10½, is the only child at home. The Rev. Mr. Wood, who has spent almost a lifetime serving along the Virginia-West Virginia border as Minister in the Iron Gate Presbyterian Field, Iron Gate, Virginia, is moving after August 1 to North Carolina, where he will be Pastor of two country churches. One of these churches was organized in 1775, but Mr. Wood will be its first resident pastor, the other is an outpost. Mr. Wood and his family will live in the new manse. Address after August 1: Burlington, North Carolina, Route 2.

James W. Rader has charge of Fort McHenry National Monument and Hampton National Historic Site for the National Park Service; the former in Baltimore, and the latter in Baltimore County, adjacent to Goucher College. Address: care of Fort McHenry National Monument and Historic Shrine, Baltimore 30, Maryland.

Rosser J. Coke is senior member of the law firm of Coke & Coke, which is one of the oldest firms in Texas. He has three sons, two of whom are practicing law with him. Address: First National Bank Building, Dallas 1, Texas.

John O. Adams, Representative, Eighty-fourth District, House of Representatives, Osborne, Kansas, is the first Democrat ever elected to a State office from his district in Kansas.

Rev. Lloyd R. Craighill, D.D., after many years service as a missionary of the Episcopal Church in China, is now Rector of Saint James Parish, Herring Creek, Lothian, Maryland. His oldest son, Lloyd, is now a student at the Virginia Episcopal Theological Seminary, Alexandria, and the second son, Peyton, will enter there next fall.

Ben F. Seward is President of Burger-Baird Engraving Company, Graphic Arts Building, Kansas City, Missouri.

Francis Pickens Miller of Charlottesville, prominent layman of the Southern Presbyterian Church, will be one of 25 churchmen from all over the world to meet at Geneva, Switzerland, July 20-29. The group will form a commission to serve as an advisory group for the next World Council of Churches to be held in Evanston, Illinois, in 1954. The commission will include such internationally famous leaders as T. S. Elliot, London; Reinhold Neibur, New York; D. Karl Barth, and Emil Brunner, Switzerland; and Bishop J. E. L. Newbigin of India. The chairman will be Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen of Union Theological Seminary, New York.

Robert C. Colhoun is recovering satisfactorily from a serious operation. He is now in the cotton shipping business and has large planting interests in Holmes County, Mississippi. Address: P. O. Box 210, Yazoo City, Mississippi.

Judge Taylor H. Stukes is Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of South Carolina. Except for one week of each month, when his court is in session in Columbia, he lives in the house in which he was born in Manning, So. Carolina.

1916

T. A. Myles has engaged in the practice of law in Fayetteville, West Virginia, since leaving Washington and Lee. His son, T. E. Myles, has been associated with him for the past two years and his daughter is his secretary—so it is a family affair. He has been Mayor of Fayetteville for the past twelve years, but “didn’t choose” to run again.

1917

Major General A. G. Paxton, commander of the 31st Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, was recently awarded the Distinguished Service Medal by the State of Alabama, for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished military service. The citation accompanying the medal said that General Paxton rendered outstanding service while his division was an Alabama-Mississippi National Guard Unit.

Theodore C. Waters is practicing law in Baltimore as a member of the firm of Mullikin, Stockbridge & Waters, 10 Light Street, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

Henry J. Blackford is continuing in the investment business as a member of the firm of A. M. Law & Company, Spartanburg, South Carolina. His son, Henry, Jr., '45, is with him for a brief period before entering World War II.

Marshall G. Twyman, subsequent to his honorable discharge from the service in World War I, attended the Harvard Law School for three years and obtained the LL.B. degree. He began the practice of law in Miami, Florida, and with an interruption of about two years, has been practicing that profession there ever since. He and his brother, Lewis, LL.B., '13, are partners under the firm name of Twyman Brothers, 999 Southwest First Street, Miami, Florida, but Lewis has more or less retired from active practice and spends the winters in Miami and the summers on his farm in Virginia, at Wingina, Buckingham County.

Clifford M. Peale is Middle West Wholesale Representative for Wellington Ford Shares. His work requires him to travel some ten states in the middle west and southwest, so consequently he is away from the home office about 75 per cent of the time. Address: 39 South LaSalle Street, Chicago 3, Illinois.

James H. (Gander) Bryan has been in the real estate and mortgage loan business in Birmingham, Alabama, since graduation. He is married and has two daughters; Margaret, a junior at Auburn, and Louise, a freshman in High School. For the past several years he has been Appraiser and Property Manager for the Birmingham Federal Savings and Loan Association. He is an Elder and Trustee of the Third Presbyterian Church, where his father served as pastor for 52 years. Address: 3190 Cliff Road, South, Birmingham, Alabama.

M. Bishop Alexander was in Lexington during the summer entering his second son, Tom, as a freshman at Washington and Lee this fall. Address: P. O. Box 267, Charleston 25, South Carolina.

W. J. L. Patton is Assistant Comptroller of the National City Bank of New York. Two other officers of the National City Bank are also Washington and Lee alumni, F. T. (Pete) Mitchell, '25 and Riley P. Stevenson, '29, both Assistant Vice-Presidents.

William (Bill) F. McCann has been with the New York Central Railroad since September, 1922. He has many outside interests, stamp collecting, flower raising, fishing, and something new this year—raising six White Pekin ducks. Address: 413 Northview Avenue, New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Richard David (Snake) Maben has been Town Manager of Blackstone, Virginia, for eight years. During this time, like the town he manages, Snake has sometimes been pushed pretty hard, and as his office has three exits he says if the going gets too tough he can always get out in a hurry. Blackstone is like the tail of a kite, rising and falling with Camp Pickett. When the camp is in full operation, as it is now, the town is swept along in the updraft. When the camp is abandoned, it sinks rapidly. During the war years Camp Pickett reached a peak of 80,000 soldiers at one time. Since then the kite has fallen and soared again, taking Blackstone with it each time. Right now the town is bursting at the seams with an estimated 37,000-40,000 troops in its backyard. That is five to six times the town's estimated population. The erstwhile southpaw pitcher for Washington and Lee has been able to stay in the box and is still in there pitching now for Blackstone.

Samuel L. Sanderson, proprietor of The Kid Store, has recently changed his address to 113 Church Street, Waynesville, North Carolina.

Jimmie Cranford is Vice-President of The Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, Florida. His daughter made her debut this year and his son, Jimmie, Jr., graduated from the Duke Medical School in June and will interne at Medical Center in Jacksonville.

C. M. Campbell is proprietor of Continental Stores, electrical appliances, housewares, hardware, tools, at Vincennes, Indiana.

Ward C. Elliott is Vice-President of The Elliott School of Business, Inc., Wheeling, West Virginia. He has become involved in many civic affairs, now serving as President of the Wheeling Civic Clubs Association (the coordinating organization to which most of the Wheeling civic clubs belong—about 30 in number) and is connected with many other affiliated groups.

Joseph R. Long has been practicing law in St. Louis, Missouri, since 1927, and has been a member of the firm of Fordyce, Mayne, Hartman, Renard and Stribling, 508 Olive Street, since 1935.

William L. Leap is Associate Professor and Director of Research, School of Social Welfare, The Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida. He is married and has a girl twelve, and a boy five.

Robert H. Carr is still in the lumber business in Jasper, Alabama. His son, Bob, Jr., is a partner in the business, R. H. Carr Lumber Company.

Edward D. Matz has been living in Chicago for a number of years, having moved from Louisville, Kentucky, before World War II. He is president of the Kurly Kate Corporation and the Metal Moss Manufacturing Company. Kurly Kate manufactures metal sponges and filters for the automotive and air conditioning industries, and Metal Moss manufactures educational toys and table tennis sets. His son, Eddie, Jr., completed his junior year at W. and L. in June.

Herbert M. Gould is General Manager of the Motors Holding Division, Generals Motors Corporation. His daughter, Elizabeth, graduated from Syracuse University in 1950 and has done considerable radio and television work. This summer she is in the cast of the Will-O-Way Playhouse—Detroit's leading theatre in the “Straw Hat” circuit.

Luther L. Copley, as relaxation from his law practice, finds time to work in his garden, lawn and orchard range and snare the elusive tarpon. He and Mrs. Copley make frequent visits to the cattle and sheep farm of his brother in the Green Valley near White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. Address: Pan American Bank Building, Miami 32, Florida.

John Morrison is a member of Jackson, Kelly, Morrison & Moxley, Charleston, West Virginia, having practiced continuously with this firm since graduation. He is now president of the Charleston Bar Association and acting Chairman of Kanawha-Clay Chapter of American Red Cross. Address: 1601 Kanawha Valley Building, Charleston, West Virginia.

Clarence Hinkle is a member of the law firm of Hervey, Dow and Hinkle, Roswell, New Mexico. The second member of the firm, Hiram M. Dow is also an L.L.B. of Washington and Lee, class of '08. Mr. Hinkle's oldest son, James, will be a freshman at Washington and Lee in the fall.

John R. Van Buren, M.D., has been practicing his profession for the past two years in Benica, California, at 77 East M. Street. He started the study of medicine at the age of 40 after doing many things between then and 1926, when he graduated from Washington and Lee. He hopes that his oldest son, John L., who is in his second year of high school, will come to W. and L. He himself was a transfer from another school but says; "W. and L. was, is and shall always be my Alma Mater and school and much more."

Tom Foley, after taking a whirl at the banking business for five years, returned to his old love—the finance business—last August. He is now with Motor Credit Corporation, 2024 West Broad Street, Richmond 20, Virginia. His daughter, Sue, graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School in June, while his 13 year old son just started as a freshman in January at the same school.

Lee Fagan has recently completed a twenty-year stretch with Atlantic Greyhound Corporation, Box 2553, Charleston 29, West Virginia. In his regular travels he gets to Lexington several times a year and has an opportunity to say "hello" to the University.

James R. Hendrix is in the investment banking business under the firm name of Hendrix & Mayes, Inc., First National Building, Birmingham, Alabama.

Luther H. Redcay, his wife and two daughters, live on an island in the Susquehanna River, Isle of Que, Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania. He says this is not so formidable as it sounds because there are connecting bridges with the mainland. The elder daughter, Elizabeth, is a junior in college, and the younger, Helen, a senior in high school. For the past 13 years he has been Executive Director of the Snyder County Board of Assistance. During the current year he is also serving as President of the Executive Directors of Public Assistance in Pennsylvania, an organization which includes the Executive Directors of every county Board of Assistance in Pennsylvania.

Garland T. Davis has been with International Business Machines Corporation for the past eleven years with the exception of a year and a half. His IBM service includes about four years as an Ordnance Officer during World War II when he was on military leave from the company. During this time he had an opportunity to see a good part of the Pacific Ocean and some of the Philippine Islands as well as Japan. He is now Branch Manager for IBM in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Paul A. (Jerry) Holstein, L.L.B., '32, was elected Mayor of the Town of Lexington, Virginia, on June 12, 1951. The new mayor and his council will take office on September 1, 1951. Jerry played football here as guard and center; served as line coach of the 150 lb. team in 1941, and as head varsity coach in 1942.

Jim Wilbourn is still engaged in the practice of law in Meridian, Mississippi, where he has been almost continuously since college days. He is married and they have a son 14, a daughter 11, and a son 3½ years of age. Address: Wilbourn & Wilbourn, Citizens National Bank Building, Meridian, Mississippi.

Harry Lee Williams is with the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Corinth, Mississippi. He has a daughter who is a freshman at Randolph Macon and a son 16, whom he hopes will decide to go to Washington and Lee.

Dr. W. Edgar (Ned) Waddell, Lexington surgeon, has gone to Farmville, Virginia, to engage in the practice of general surgery. He received his medical education at the University of Virginia Medical School and interned in Farmville. He is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and is certified by the American Board of Surgery. He was in the service for four years during World War II after which he spent six months in a New York hospital, coming to Lexington in 1946. Prior to entering the service he was located in Newfoundland. His family will join him in Farmville in the fall.

Dr. R. T. Shields, Jr., has been practicing surgery in Staunton, Virginia, for the past two years.

R. L. McKinney is still in the insurance business in Denison, Texas. However, he has a most interesting sideline—Durable Plastics, Inc., Sherman, Texas. They make Whopper Stopper baits and tackle boxes and a six-bottle plastic carrier for Coca-Cola.

Charles Francis Richardson is starting his fifth year as Property Custodian in the Biology Department at the A. and M. College of Texas. Address: P. O. Box 1512, College Station, Texas.

Kemper Jennings, following war service, went into business for himself in Melbourne, Florida, in "Apparel for Men." In 1940 he was married to Virginia Edwards, and they have a 10-year old daughter and two sons, Melville 4, and Scott, 1½ years old.

C. Edmonds Allen is still Director of special services for the United Press Association, 220 East 42nd Street, New York 17, New York. He has two daughters, eight and four years old, and a son, six.
