

The Alumni Magazine

of Washington and Lee University

LIBRARY OF
WASHINGTON & LEE UNIVERSITY
LEXINGTON, VA.

Vol. XI—No. 1
OCTOBER, 1935
$2.50 a year

HOMECOMING DAY

Saturday, November 9

VIRGINIA

VS.

WASHINGTON AND LEE

AUG 20 1936

YOU wouldn't miss a chance to see a Homecoming Day game with the traditional football rivals of the Generals, would you? Of course not!

Your friends will be here! Will you?

THE ALUMNI MAGAZINE

Published by Washington and Lee Alumni, Incorporated
Drawer 897, Lexington, Virginia

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office at Lexington, Virginia, September 15, 1924

Vol. XI

OCTOBER, 1935

No. 1

Editor.....HARRY K. ("CY") YOUNG, 1917

Managing Editor RICHARD POWELL CARTER, 1929

THE WASHINGTON AND LEE ALUMNI, INC.

President.....DR. J. W. CLAUDY, 1909

Vice-President...H. ST. G. T. CARMICHAEL, 1899

Secretary.....HARRY K. ("CY") YOUNG, 1917

Treasurer.....M. W. PAXTON, JR., 1918

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

LEWIS F. POWELL, 1929

CLARENCE L. SAGER, 1914

HERBERT JAHNCKE, 1930

KI WILLIAMS, 1915

Contents for October 1935

	PAGE
President's Page.....	3
Cheerful Prospects for the 187th Session.....	4
The University Enrolls 64 Sons of Alumni.....	5
The "VC"—Now Just a Memory.....	7
The Generals March Forth Again.....	9
The Little Generals of 1935.....	13
"Old George" Atop Washington College.....	15
Local Alumni Association Notes.....	17
Class Notes.....	20

Appalachian Association
Hagan Minnich, 318 Park Street, Bristol,
Tenn.-Va.

Arkansas Association
Leighton McKinney, 1100 Prospect Ave., Little Rock.

Atlanta, Georgia
Ewing S. Humphreys, Healey Building.

Baltimore, Maryland
L. W. Milbourne, 3204 St. Paul St.

Birmingham, Alabama
L. R. Hanna, First National Bank Building.

Charleston, West Virginia
C. W. Hall, Kanawha Valley Bank.

Chattanooga, Tennessee
John D. Standard, Chattanooga Bank Bldg.

Chicago
John Culley, 422 Hamilton St., Evanston, Ill.

Cincinnati
Roger J. Bear, Kroger Grocery Co.

Charlotte, North Carolina
Philip F. Howerton, 523 Fenton Place.

Cumberland Valley Association
C. Wells Little, Negley Building, Hagerstown, Maryland.

Dallas, Texas
A. A. Lander, 803 Marvin Building.

Detroit, Michigan
Dr. Edward Lyons, Parke Davis Co.

Florida West Coast Association
K. I. McKay, Citrus Exchange Building,
Tampa, Fla.

Fort Worth, Texas
E. S. McCord, Neil P. Anderson Building,
Ft. Worth.

Gulf Stream Association
Lewis Twyman, Security Building, Miami, Fla.

Jacksonville, Florida
Rhydon Lathem, Greenleaf and Crosby Bldg.

Lynchburg, Virginia
Thos. W. Gilliam, Lynchburg Nat'l Bank Bldg.

Louisville, Kentucky
Edward Rietze, 2063 E. Parkway.

Memphis, Tennessee
John K. Speed, 1159 Linden Avenue.

New York
Edward W. Lee, 1350 Broadway.

New Orleans, Louisiana
Norton Wisdom, 1515 Marengo St.

Norfolk, Virginia
Walter E. Hoffman, Seaboard Bank Bldg.

Northern Louisiana Association
C. C. Hutchinson, Jr., Shreveport.

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
E. W. Wilson, 1419 Land Title Building.

Piedmont Association
Larry W. Wilson, Greensboro, N. C.

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
C. P. Robinson, 802 Park Building.

Pocahontas Club
A. L. Tyree, Bluefield, West Virginia.

Roanoke, Virginia
Earl A. Fitzpatrick, State and City Bank Bldg.

Richmond, Virginia
Stuart Sanders, Sanders Bros. Paint Co.

San Antonio, Texas
Albert Steves, Jr., Steves Sash and Door Co.

Southern California
Bryan Bell, Assoc. Press, 1243 Trenton St.

St. Louis, Missouri
John L. Patterson, 552 Pierce Building.

Tri-State Association
Joe W. Dingess, First Huntington National Bank Building, Huntington, W. Va.

Washington, D. C.
Woodson P. Houghton, Southern Building.

The President's Page

I FEEL THAT I am greeting the alumni upon the beginning of an uncommon year. Perhaps I may best use this space by becoming a kind of administrative reporter.

* * *

The most conspicuous fact about the new session is the number of new students now enrolled. For practical purposes the institution was filled by the middle of August—although due allowance was always made for the exceptional case—and it was our expectation that the enrollment would be at almost exactly 900. But there were amazingly few cancellations on the part of new students, and there was an unexpected number of old students who returned, and the registration today stands 943, nearly 100 more than last year at this same time.

The largest proportionate gain in registration is reported from the state of Kentucky; two years ago we had 35 Kentucky boys and this year we have 61. Arkansas made a notable gain, almost doubling the number of boys who were here last year; and over a two-year period Texas has more than doubled its quota. Virginia sends us ten more boys than last year, Michigan eight more, Missouri five more. New York and New Jersey virtually stand still, while Pennsylvania has lost ground.

But the most impressive factor in this year's enrollment has nothing to do with quantity. It is encouraging to report that the processes of selection were applied this year more intelligently than we have been able to do at any time since I have been connected with the University, and that we not only have more boys, but if there is anything in previous records we have better prepared boys as a whole.

* * *

Of course, the quality of work actually performed by our students, the measure of the students' appreciation for the opportunity presented, had shown gratifying improvement even before this increase of enrollment. Dean Tucker reports that last year the general level of academic performances was noticeably raised. There were more boys who made A's and B's, there were more boys who made the general level of C, there were more boys on the Dean's List, and there were fewer boys under the automatic rule than at any time within recent years. I am not prepared to give an analysis of the causes. It may be that the depression has sobered young men, and it may also be that the "rah-rah" mood is no longer the chief characteristic of college men.

* * *

But certainly one of the elements contributing to the heightened achievement of our students is the effectiveness of our advisory system. The new students actually come under two types of friendly counsel, one from the Faculty Advisers who at great sacrifice and inconvenience assume the task of guiding a small number of freshmen, and the other from the upper-classmen who reside in the dormitories as councilors. The system does not stop with the freshman year. We now arrange for the faculty adviser to give some kind of general direction to his boys in their sophomore year, and the head of a department in which a student majors becomes automatically his adviser for the junior and senior years. The system is not perfect and probably will always be subject to the conditions of human nature; but it is in final analysis the great opportunity of the small college and we are realizing a measure of success here that is inspiring.

* * *

As I jot down these notes on this beautiful day of Indian Summer, I find myself deeply aware of the change in the central sky line of this ancient institution. Tucker Hall, the new law building, has reached its height, with the brick work practically complete and the columns themselves standing out in a kind of bare strength waiting for the white coating that is to be given them. It will be in itself an excellent building, highly satisfactory in terms of the durability of construction and its efficiency for teaching purposes. But it will also add greatly to the grandeur of the perspective.

* * *

The Board of Trustees had endorsed in principle a recommendation that three other central academic buildings—the Washington College group, the Carnegie Library, and Newcomb Hall—are to be fireproofed and modernized in terms of their educational efficiency without any change in the external architecture. The plans

(Continued on page 8)

Cheerful Prospects for the 187th Session

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY appears headed for the most auspicious year in the 186 years of its existence. Enrollment is larger than ever before; scholastic work is on a higher plane than ever before as judged by results last year; the new Tucker Hall is rapidly nearing completion to round out the architectural beauty of the campus; plans are under way for modernizing the interior of Washington College, Newcomb Hall and the Library; and the university's athletic teams seem well able to make their way.

Altogether, things are looking extremely bright on the campus. Enrollment of students the first semester this year is 943, just six more than the former all-time record set the full year of 1930-1931.

University officials believe enrollment for the entire year this session will go well beyond 950 and so establish a mark that will be difficult to break.

More applications for admission to the university were received this year than any other year in the university's history. The process of selection became at once difficult, but was handled deftly by the committee on admissions.

The increased enrollment brought about the appointment of two new members of the faculty, both of them instructors. They are L. G. Tennis of Phoebus, Va., who is teaching French and Spanish; and F. E. Lund of Lexington, Va., an instructor in the department of political science.

Mr. Tennis received his A. B. from the College of William and Mary and his M. A. from the University of Virginia. Mr. Lund was awarded his M. A. at Washington and Lee in 1934.

The new Tucker Hall, replacing the old building destroyed by fire in December of last year, probably will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the next semester in February. Workmen have almost finished the exterior, and are completing construction of the roof in an effort to start on the slower and more detailed interior work when bad weather sets in.

Law students meanwhile are continuing to attend classes in Washington College and in the Chemistry building, with their library housed in the old Y. M. C. A. room in Reid Hall. The law library has been steadily increased, and will be one of the most complete in this section of the country by the time it is ready to be moved to the new building, it is believed. The law students were provided immediately following the fire with a complete working library so that their study has been interrupted only slightly.

The new Tucker Hall will make Washington and Lee's campus, generally regarded as the most beautiful in America, just about architecturally perfect, it has been frequently said.

The board of trustees meeting at the dedication of Stratford Hall, birthplace of Lee, approved tentative plans for remodeling the interior of Washington College, fireproofing it along with similar work on Newcomb Hall and the Carnegie Library. (Dr. Gaines presents a discussion of the plans in his "President's Page" in this issue of the magazine.)

In a survey of scholastic endeavor at Washington and Lee last year, Dr. Robert H. Tucker, dean of the university, found that "improvement was evident on practically every count."

The percentage of A and B grades was higher; the percentage of E and F grades was lower; the general average of the student body was higher; the number of men who made the dean's list was larger; and the number who fell under the automatic rule was lower.

Commenting on the scholastic improvement shown so clearly by figures compiled at his office, Dr. Tucker

(Continued on page 8)

Dean Tucker
"Has the rah-rah age gone?"

The University Enrolls 64 Sons of Alumni

WASHINGTON AND LEE has established some kind of unique record this year with the enrollment of sixty-four sons of men who attended the University. Approximately ten per cent of the entering class are in the "sons of alumni" category, and administration officials believe this is the largest percentage of such students enrolled at any one fall in the history of the University.

"One of the most sincere compliments an institution can receive is to have the approbation of the parents of our boys," Dr. Francis P. Gaines, Washington and Lee's president, said in commenting on the heavy enrollment of alumni sons.

Thirty-one of the alumni sons are members of the entering class; the others are old students who have spent one or more years at the school their fathers before them selected.

These sons of alumni have converged upon the campus from widely separated sections of the world. Two have come all the way from Hawaii—Grover Batten, Jr., and Harry L. Handley, Jr.—to capture the "long distance" record in the unique group.

Represented are the states of Virginia, Florida, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Maryland, Kentucky, Texas, Ohio, Mississippi, New Jersey, Arkansas, Missouri, Alabama, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

"It is gratifying," Dr. Gaines said, "to find these sons of men who attended the institution enrolled as members of our student body. Of course, many more men are the nephews or the brothers or the close relatives of former Washington and Lee students. It is a double compliment to feel that when parents themselves have attended this institution they wish their boys to enjoy the same privilege.

"Every member of the faculty hopes that no single alumnus will be disappointed in the record of his boy at his own alma mater."

Pictured with this story are two photographs of these sons of alumni, the one above showing practically all of the group, and the one below showing most of those in the entering class.

Those in the larger group are:

James B. Akers, Jr., son of James B. Akers '04, Washington, D. C.; John Alexander, Jr., and Sam Alexander, John R. H. Alexander '07, Leesburg, Va.; Bob Arnold, Jr., Robert W. Arnold '08, Waverly, Va.; Fred Bartenstein, Jr., Fred Bartenstein '08, The Plains, Va.; Ernest Beale, Jr., and Vaughan Beale, Ernest L. Beale '08, Franklin, Va.; Turnbull Bernard, D. M. Bernard '05, Jacksonville, Fla.; J. C. Bierer, J. M. Bierer '08, Waban, Mass.; McLain Bowman, Rufus Bowman '11, Salem, Va.; George Boyd, Jr., George Boyd '11, Hagerstown, Md.; Jerry Burke, Jr., Jerry Burke '15, Appomattox, Va.; Albert Burks, *Martin Burks '05, Lexington, Va.; John Campbell, Jr., John Campbell '09, Lexington, Va.; Deverton Carpenter, J. C. Carpenter '08, Clifton Forge, Va.; Thornton Cleek, G. W. Cleek '12, Warm Springs, Va.; Herbert Clendening, Howard N. Clendening '08, MacBeth, W. Va.; John Cover, Russell Cover '08, Staunton, Va.

John J. Davis, Jr., John J. Davis '92, Louisville, Ky.; Kester Denman, Jr., Kester W. Denman '09, Lufkin, Texas; Bill Derr, H. A. Derr '10, Marietta, Ohio; Joe Drake, Jr., J. T. Drake '89, Port Gibson, Miss.; Magruder Drake, H. W. M. Drake '97, Port Gibson, Miss.; Tom Durrance, F. M. Durrance '09, Washington, D. C.;

Bill Dwiggin, Charles I. Dwiggin '10, Lakeland, Fla.; Francis W. Foreman, E. W. Foreman '13, Elizabeth, N. J.; Pendleton Gaines, Jr., Dr. F. P. Gaines, Lexington, Va.; Powell Glass, Jr., Powell Glass '07, Lynchburg, Va.; Harry L. Handley, Jr., H. A. Handley '06, Waiakoa Maui, T. H.; Cecil Hardy, Jr., Waller C. Hardy '04, Charleston, W. Va.; Bernie Harper, Jr., S. Bernie Harper '13, Fort Smith, Ark.; Dexter Hobbie, III, J. D. Hobbie, Jr. '05, Roanoke, Va.; Bob Holland, Jr., R. E. Holland '14, Lexington, Va.; R. R. Hutton, R. L. Hutton '08, Kansas City, Mo.; Bob Ingram, Jr., R. P. Ingram '12, Baltimore, Md.; John Johnston, J. G. Johnston '11, Murat, Va.

Dick Larrick, Jr., Dr. A. R. Larrick '07, Plant City, Fla.; James McClure, Jr., James A. McClure '99, Tampa, Fla.; Fred McWane, Jr., Fred McWane '13, Lynchburg, Va.; Marvin Moore, Dr. Chalmers H. Moore '09, Birmingham, Ala.; Bob Morrison, J. L. Morrison '99, Hazard, Ky.; Milton Morrison, K. L. Morrison '05, Lexington, Va.; Paul Morrison, J. L. Morrison '99, Hazard, Ky.; Claude O'Quin, Jr., John C. O'Quin '13, Alexandria, La.; Walter Page, Vivian Page '16, Norfolk, Va.; David R. Phelps, R. R. Phelps '02, London, Ohio; Heartsill Ragon, Jr., Heartsill Ragon '08, Fort Smith, Ark.; Tom Ripy, Ernest W. Ripy '98, Lawrenceburg, Ky.; Edgar Shannon, Jr., Dr. E. F. Shan-

(Continued on page 8)

The "VC"—Now Just a Memory

THE VIGILANCE COMMITTEE, terror of freshmen and delight of some old men, has lived its life at Washington and Lee.

It died this fall, with the introduction of a Freshman Assimilation Committee, that will deal with recalcitrant new men and undertake to explain campus traditions in a friendly way instead of with the whack of a paddle.

The plan really was put into effect last spring with the election of Amos Bolen of Ashland, Ky., as president of the student body. Members of the student body executive committee explained the idea at the time, and it met with the enthusiastic endorsement of President Gaines and other members of the University administration.

Under the assimilation plan, no physical punishment will be inflicted on freshmen for any reason whatever. The new men, however, are required to wear the familiar little blue caps with white buttons on them; are required to speak to each other and to all students and faculty members in keeping with tradition; and are asked to wear conventional clothing, which includes a ban on sweaters and other wearing apparel not becoming a Washington and Lee gentleman.

The plan was explained in detail to the freshmen at a series of meetings during orientation week, and at freshman camp. Fraternity men undertake to give their pledges the details, and in the dormitories the councilors explain the new regulations to non-fraternity men.

From early reports to Bolen, the scheme is meeting with full success, and old men have greeted heartily the passage of another phase of the rah-rah era of American college life. Their co-operation, the student body president has pointed out repeatedly, is necessary for the completion of the idea. All of the usual campus traditions, including the custom of keeping off the grass, are being observed by the new men with an almost surprising degree of co-operation.

Bolen appointed Angus Powell of Richmond, Va., as chairman of the new committee, and Powell in turn named two members of the executive committee and the two head dormitory councilors to work with him. They are: Kenneth L. Lane of West Newton, Massachusetts, and J. B. Douglass of Harlan, Kentucky, from the executive committee; and Bill Schuhle of Plaquemine, Louisiana, and R. L. Brickhouse of Norfolk, Virginia, head dormitory councilors.

There won't be any paddling and there won't be any little black box out in front of Washington College for reporting stubborn men to the V. C., but the Assimilation Committee has broad powers.

When a man refuses to observe the time-honored traditions of the University, he is responsible directly to the committee, which may counsel with him and outline the necessity for carrying on the spirit of things on the Washington and Lee campus. Old men believe such counsel will correct practically all of the cases brought before them, but if a freshman refuses to co-operate, and becomes a "bad case" the committee has the power to send him home.

The Vigilance Committee was in effect for many years at Washington and Lee—no one seems to know just how long, but available records show that some form of the V. C. or something similar to it apparently existed long before the turn of the century. Certainly there was punishment of freshmen in one way or another.

Dick Smith, genial graduate manager of athletics at the University, was a member of one V. C. back in 1910. He believes that was the first actual organization of a formal Vigilance Committee. Did they mete out much punishment? he was asked the other day.

The answer was yes, and the answer has been yes for years, so the older alumni in Lexington say.

At all events the V. C. is no more. It's as dead as the proverbial Dodo, and from all sentiment expressed on the campus, it won't come back. It's just all washed up.

Amos Bolen
"The VC is no more"

The 187th Session

(Continued from page 4)

said: "The effect of the depression combined with the gradual passing, we hope, of the rah-rah age in college life has done much to bring about better scholastic averages. There is an increasing realization on the part of the student of the importance of his college work and the part it will play in determining his future success."

Other factors to which Dr. Tucker attributed the rise in grades included the development by the faculty of more effective plans for educational guidance; adoption by the faculty of a program of class attendance and student privileges that correspond with the grades made; and improved preparation on the part of the students because of better preparatory work.

"The present day student is not so studious, perhaps, as his predecessor of several decades ago," Dr. Tucker said, "but he is in many ways keener, more resourceful and scholastically better equipped."

Sixty-four Sons of Alumni

(Continued from page 6)

non, Lexington, Va.; Murray Smith, Jr., Murray Smith '05, Richmond, Ky.; Arch Sproul, W. W. Sproul '82, Middlebrook, Va.; Erskine Sproul, *Hugh Sproul '92, Staunton, Va.; William B. Steele, Lawrence A. Steele '13, Brownsville, Pa.; Walter Steves, Albert Steeves, Jr. '06, San Antonio, Texas; S. F. Tompkins, Dr. E. P. Tompkins '88, Lexington, Va.; S. Heth Tyler, Jr., S. Heth Tyler '96, Norfolk, Va.; Ben Wilson and Phil Wilson, Larry Wilson '10, Greensboro, N. C.

Additional men who do not appear in the picture of the large group, but who do appear in that of the smaller, are:

Bill Delaplaine, son of W. T. Delaplaine '09, Frederick, Md.; Ruffin Horne, Jr., Ruffin Horne '97, Fayetteville, N. C.; John Lebus, L. M. Lebus* '19, Lexington, Ky.; and Bruce Seddon, Jr., Bruce Seddon '14, St. Louis, Mo.

Sons of alumni who do not appear in either picture are: Southgate Hoyt and Bob Hoyt, sons of Dr. W. D. Hoyt; Grover Batten, Jr., Dr. Grover Batten '08, Honolulu, H. I.; and Graham Sale, Jr., Graham Sale '13, Welch, West Va.

In the smaller picture, the sons of alumni in the entering class this year, the following men do not appear: Claude O'Quin, Dick Larrick, McLain Bowman, and William B. Steele. The others in this group are:

Back row: John Johnston, Harry L. Handley, Jr., Walter Steves, Bob Ingram, Jr., Ruffin Horne, Jr.

Next row: Thornton Cleek, Bernie Harper, Jr.,

Heartsill Ragon, Jr., Bill Delaplaine III, John Lebus, John Alexander.

Next row: Bruce Seddon, Jr., Pendleton Gaines, Jr., Edgar Shannon, Jr., Murray Smith, Jr., Francis W. Foreman.

Next row: Marvin Moore, Turnbull Bernard, Fred McWane, Jr., Walter Page, Stockton Tyler, Jr.

Bottom row: David R. Phelps, John Campbell, Jr., Bill Derr, Fred Bartenstein, Jr., W. C. Hardy, Jr., Ben Wilson.

One asterisk denotes deceased alumni; two asterisks denote honorary alumni.

The President's Page

(Continued from page 3)

and specifications, together with the estimates of cost, are to be studied by the Executive Committee of the Board and are to be reported back to the full meeting on January 19. It seems more than probable that the recommendation will be finally carried out and that within a year or two our historic buildings will be made indestructible and will be made entirely adequate for serving their parts of the needs of the University, not only for our day but for many generations yet to come. I am sure that all alumni agree with me in a conviction that this is a heartening decision and that the prospects before us are bright.

FRANCIS PENDLETON GAINES,
President.

Dr. Blain Gets Promotion

DR. HUGH MERCER BLAIN, who received his A. B. from Washington and Lee in 1894, has been appointed head of the Loyola university department of English.

Rev. J. W. Hynes, president of Loyola, in announcing the appointment, said "we feel that Dr. Blain will give the English department the prestige it should have."

According to Father Hynes, Dr. Blain inaugurated the teaching of journalism in the three largest institutions of Louisiana, Louisiana State University, Tulane and Loyola, and is considered a pioneer in this work in the South. He received his master's degree from Washington and Lee.

He was awarded membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honor fraternity, by the Washington and Lee university chapter "for distinguished success in life work." Dr. Blain was professor of English and journalism at Louisiana State for thirteen years, professor of journalism at Tulane for two years, and has been at Loyola for three years.

The Generals March Forth Again

By RICHARD POWELL CARTER

WASHINGTON AND LEE, defending champions in the Southern conference, saw the crown of gridiron glory knocked just a little bit cockeyed by the powerful Duke eleven in the Generals' first major game of the season.

With twelve letter men, including the last of the Mattox brothers, lost from the team, the Generals invaded Richmond on October 5 to do battle with the Blue Devils after handing Wofford an 18-0 defeat in the opener here.

But a couple of bad breaks and a steam-roller Duke team aided by an enormous squad took the Generals' measure. The final score was 26-0, and it might have been larger if Coach Tex Tilson's lads had not given such a fine account of themselves in the face of penalties and a decidedly phenomenal passing attack.

Duke was a little bit "on" that day, Washington and Lee was a little bit "off." And that's most of the story.

However, six games, all of them with "major" institutions, remain on the schedule as this is written. There's Centre at Louisville on October 19 as the first, following an idle Saturday after the Blue Devil engagement, an engagement that saw Wallace Wade's eleven display all the superlative weapons of modern football. The score in the Duke game, sports writers have generally agreed, was nothing to the discredit of Tilson's Generals. They say few if any teams could have licked the Blue Devils that day—and that, for your information, is NOT college publicity ballyhoo. It's fact.

Heading the list of veterans back in uniform on Wilson field this year is Captain Jack Bailey of Maysville, Ky., all-state fullback last year by the largest vote cast in the Associated Press poll. He weighs 201 pounds this year, and he played a good game against the Devils.

Along with Captain Bailey are two other Kentuckians, letter men, who constitute main cogs in the gridiron machine. They are Joe Arnold, flashy quarterback of Danville, Ky., and Bill Ellis, one of the greatest kickers ever to don a Washington and Lee uniform, from Ashland, Ky.

Other letter men back this year are: Carl Anderson, guard, of Oak Hill, West Va.; Duane Berry, guard, of Vinton, Va.; Hugo Bonino, tackle and guard, of Hawthorne, N. J.; George Lowry, halfback, of Clinton, Okla.; Preston Moore, halfback, of Lexington, Va.; Wilton Sample, halfback, of Shreveport, La.; Ed Seitz, center, of Cass, West Va.; and Charlie Brasher, end, of Rutherford, N. J.

Overlooking graduation losses for the moment, the most severe setback suffered by the Generals of 1935 was the loss of giant Tubby Owings, of Norfolk, Va., because of illness. Owings, a sophomore all-state tackle last fall, was one of the outstanding members of the team in 1934. He weighs 257 pounds, and is fast on his feet.

Illness, however, has kept him out of uniform and at home most of the fall. Coaches hope he will be able to play next year.

One of the most stalwart men in the Generals' heavy line this year is the veteran Hugo Bonino, 240 pounds of football energy. Bonino, all-state guard last season, has been shifted to tackle this year in an effort to make up for the loss of Owings, and has been giving just as good an account of himself in that position as he did in 1934.

The other tackle job this season is being held down by lanky Bob Spessard of Roanoke, Va., a sophomore who stands six feet, seven inches and scales 219 pounds.

Other sophomores who are showing up well and are destined to see a great deal of service, include Dorsey Wilson of Versailles, Ky., center and guard; Frank

Left to right: Spessard, tackle; Wilson, center; Jones, end; Marchant, tackle.

Jones of Richmond, Va., end; Tony Young of Louisville, Ky., end; Kerford Marchant of Norfolk, Va., guard and tackle; Layton Cox of Irvine, Ky., quarterback; Earl Carson of Danville, Ky., quarterback; and Roger Williams of Lynchburg, Va., fullback.

Hopes of repeating the quest for Southern conference honors appear slight this year, although the Generals will play four more conference schools during the season while Duke faces tremendous assignments in taking on the powerful North Carolina and North Carolina State teams, neither of which Washington and Lee will meet.

The Washington and Lee squad of 1935 is small—approximately thirty men are in uniform, about half of them sophomores. The squad, incidentally, is one of the smallest in the conference. The same thing was true last year, and the team, contrastingly, was one of the most powerful. Here's the squad roster:

Carl Dennis Anderson*, junior, Oak Hill, W. Va.; Joseph Lee Arnold*, senior, Danville, Ky.; Jack Foley Bailey* (Captain), senior, Maysville, Ky.; Lyle Ernest Benvenuti, sophomore, Adams, Mass.; Porter Du-

Robert W. Spessard, sophomore, Roanoke, Va.; Charles Atwater Sweet, senior, Bronxville, N. Y.; A. Joseph Szymanski, sophomore, Yonkers, N. Y.; James Owen Watts, senior, Lynchburg, Va.; John Clark White, sophomore, Charleston, W. Va.; Robert M. White, sophomore, Mexico, Mo.; Roger W. Williams, sophomore, Lynchburg, Va.; James Dorsey Wilson, sophomore, Versailles, Ky.; Anthony Brooks Young, sophomore, Louisville, Ky. —*Indicates letter men.

The schedule for 1935 is as follows:

September 28, Wofford, Lexington (18-0); October 5, Duke, Richmond (0-26); October 19, Centre, Louisville; October 26, V. P. I., Bluefield; November 2, West Virginia, Charleston; November 9, University of Virginia (Homecoming), Lexington; November 16, Maryland, College Park; November 28, South Carolina, Columbia. * *

An unexpected delay in printing this issue of The Alumni Magazine makes it possible to tell you about the way the Generals broke a fourteen-year old jinx out at Louisville, whipping the tough Colonels of Centre college 14-7.

ane Berry*, junior, Vinton, Va.; Hugo Joseph Bonino*, senior, Hawthorne, N. J.; Earl Jennings Carson, sophomore, Danville, Ky.; Layton Cox, sophomore, Irvine, Ky.; Haskell T. Dickinson, sophomore, Little Rock, Ark.; William David Ellis*, senior, Ashland, Ky.; William D. Fishback, junior, Versailles, Ky.; Frank Jones, sophomore, Richmond, Va.; George Woodrow Lowry*, junior, Clinton, Okla.; Kerford A. Marchant, sophomore, Norfolk, Va.; Harry Harrison Meeks, sophomore, Baltimore, Md.; Alfred Preston Moore*, junior, Lexington, Va.; William Mahone Rogers, sophomore, Petersburg, Va.; Wilton Wade Sample*, junior, Shreveport, La.; Edward Leroy Seitz*, senior, Cass, W. Va.; Ralph Carleton Sharretts, sophomore, Baltimore, Md.;

Left to right: Cox, quarter; Young, end; Szymanski, tackle; Carson, quarterback.

Appropriately enough, it was a couple of Kentuckians who carried the brunt of the attack on home territory. Joe Arnold, who hails from Danville, right in Centre territory, and Bill Ellis, the Ashland lad, stood out in the game for their performances. It was Arnold who quarterbacked the team to victory and who made a 47-yard run for one of the touchdowns that broke the jinx; and it was Ellis whose long boots helped turn the tide. Another Kentuckian, Captain Jack Bailey, played at full-back despite a foot injury. The headline writers don't often say a great deal about the linemen who make it possible for the ball carriers to get through, but the work of big Hugo Bonino caught more than usual attention in the Centre affair. He smashed his way through and blocked a kick, forcing a Centre man to recover behind his own goal line for a safety.

Benvenuti, halfback

The Generals are missing tremendously the trusty toe of Sam Mattox, last of the Mattox brothers, who did all of the place kicking last year. Both of Arnold's tries for point after touchdown by placement failed in Louisville, and in the Wofford game at Lexington the Generals missed three attempts at conversion after scoring.

Ed Seitz tried his toe at place kicking with some success in practice, but observers have pointed out that the services of Mattox would be badly needed if the Generals were placed in a tight spot and forced to rely on one point for the margin of victory or defeat.

The football players who adorn the cover of this issue of The Alumni Magazine are the Generals' letter men from last year. They are, left to right, top row, Sample, Berry and Bonino; second row, Ellis, Captain Bailey and Seitz; third row, Moore, Anderson and Arnold; bottom, left, Lowry, and right, Brasher.

162 Applicants for Degrees

FIGURES at the office of E. S. Mattingly, registrar of the University, show that 162 seniors have made applications for degrees this year at Washington and Lee. Last year's applicants totaled 131.

Men applying for the Bachelor of Arts degree lead the other departments this year, with 87 registered, 29 more than those seeking the A.B. last year. Seven are asking for the Master of Arts.

A decrease of seven, however, was shown in the number of men asking degrees from the law school, only 19 potential attorneys filing their applications.

The commerce school shows a gain of one student over last year in the applications, 31 seeking the Bachelor of Science degree in commerce. Eighteen students are applying for degrees in the science school, two of them seeking the Master of Science degree.

The Old Covered Bridge

THE OLD covered bridge across North river, delight of historians and pet peeve of many motorists, will soon give way to a modern structure. Work on the new bridge, which crosses the river just below the railway tracks, is fast nearing completion, and alumni returning to the campus soon will drive over a new road all the way in to Lexington from Timber Ridge, on the Lee highway.

The historic covered bridge, one of the few left standing in this section of the country, and one of the few in the United States to withstand heavy modern motor travel, was built in its present form shortly after being burned during the War Between the States. It was, however, originally constructed many years before that.

Students Usher at Stratford Hall

WASHINGTON AND LEE university students played an appropriate part in the dedication of Stratford Hall, birthplace of General Robert E. Lee, on October 12, the anniversary of his death. A group of twenty students, chosen for the honor by Omicron Delta Kappa, acted as ushers at the ceremony.

Exercises, brief and impressive, also were held in Lee Chapel on the anniversary of the Southern hero's death. Dr. Tucker presided at the Lee Chapel exercises in the absence of Dr. Gaines, who was at Stratford for the ceremonies there and the meeting of the University's board of trustees. Dr. Tucker read excerpts from the minutes of the faculty adopted the day after Lee's death at his home on the campus. He read the original transcript, which is preserved in the University's vault.

The Little Generals of 1935

INCLUDING twelve men from the state of Virginia itself, the Washington and Lee freshman football squad this year has representatives from seventeen states, the District of Columbia and Peru. Lexington is contributing two men to the team, P. F. Davis and Ed Shannon, end and guard, respectively.

The South holds the majority with twenty-nine men from below the Mason and Dixon line as compared to twenty-one from the North. They come from as far north as Massachusetts, as far west as Arkansas and as far south as Texas.

The state of Kentucky not only presents the second largest aggregation, eight men, but one of the potentially strong players is Bill Borries from Louisville. Bill is the younger brother of "Buzz" Borries, famous all-American Navy back of last season, and has capably held down an end position on the Little Generals' eleven so far this fall.

Although their season has not been totally successful to date, having lost the opening game to Richmond and won one from V. P. I., the yearlings promise to be the best such group in recent years.

One of the outstanding players is Joe Oschie, tackle, from Paterson, New Jersey, who was elected to captain his team against the West Virginia frosh. The back-field has unusually plentiful material and it has been a difficult task for Coach Amos Bolen to select a first string. Due to their excellent work in the first two games, the following have been tentatively selected to carry the ball as "regulars":

J. R. Kately, Adams, Mass.; Bob Mefford, Winchester, Kentucky; Raymond Craft, Clifton Forge, Va.; and Donald Dunlap, Washington, D. C.

The Little Generals' roster:

P. F. Davis, guard, Lexington, Va.; B. R. Lawton, back, Birmingham, Ala.; Ed Gough, back, Lexington, Ky.; Jim Lindsay, guard, Ringgold, Va.; John Frost, back, San Antonio, Texas; Bill Hesketh, end, Irvington, N. J.; Tom Tennant, center, Hammond, Ind.; C. W. Collier, back, W. Hartford, Conn.; Tom White, center, Richmond, Va.; F. C. Wiley, end, Salem, Va.; Frank McNicol, back, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Cecil Taylor, back, Lynchburg, Va.; Ed Rimpow, back, Paterson, N. J.; Jack Fey, back, Cumberland, Md.; Bill Hillier, guard, Chicago, Ill.; John Alexander, tackle, Leesburg, Va.; Charles Middleburg, tackle, Charleston, W. Va.; Walter Hamilton, guard, Chicago, Ill.; Ed Shannon, end, Lexington, Va.; G. M. Smith, tackle, Richmond, Va.

W. P. Kesel, back, Valley Stream, N. Y.; James McClure, tackle, Chicago, Ill.; John Powell, back, Suffolk, Va.; Charles Lykes, tackle, Houston, Texas; John Wright, end, Charleston, W. Va.; Bill Borries, end, Louisville, Ky.; J. R. Kately, back, Adams, Mass.; Joe Ochsie, tackle, Paterson, N. J.; Denny Gooch, tackle, Somerset, Ky.; Shack Parrish, guard, Paris, Ky.; Bill Brown, guard, Louisville, Ky.; Allen Craig, center, Woodhaven, N. Y.; Bob Mefford, back, Winchester, Ky.; Raymond Craft, back, Clifton Forge, Va.; Donald Dunlap, back, Washington, D. C.; L. E. Long, center, Abilene, Texas; T. J. Harlan, end, Paris, Ky.; M. T. Howard, tackle, Oroya, Peru.

J. R. Howard, back, Lynch, Ky.; A. J. White, back, Charleston, W. Va.; Stuart Allen, back, Staunton, Va.; Bernie Harper, end, Fort Smith, Ark.; John Campbell, tackle, Chelyan, W. Va.; G. W. Parsons, back, Natural Bridge, Va.; Tom Mercein, end, Milwaukee, Wis.; Allen Legare, end, Charleston, S. C.; George Goodwin, back, Atlanta, Ga.; Howard Schriver, end, Cincinnati, Ohio; Dick Steelman, back, Hammond, Ind.; F. L. Powell, back, Huntsville, Ala.

Football Coaches and Law

WANT TO READ a unique football story?

Here it is, anyway:

Tex Tilson, who coaches the Washington and Lee Generals, and Bill Raftery, who directs the destinies of the V. M. I. Cadets, are attending law school at Washington and Lee this year.

So far as the records go, it's the only time in history that the coaches of rival major institutions have gone to school together during the gridiron season.

They're not taking the same class—each is registered in only one subject—but they meet in the library and they meet on the campus, and those who see them smile and say that it's just another indication of improved relations between Washington and Lee and the Virginia Military Institute.

Tilson was a member of the class of 1926; Raftery was a member of Washington and Lee's class of 1915.

And that's the unique football story of the year.

He Prints Your Magazine

THE EDITORS of The Alumni Magazine want you to meet and know a little bit about a man who has about as much to do with the appearance of your publication as anyone:

He is C. Harold Lauck, director of the journalism laboratory at Washington and Lee, and typographical godfather of this magazine. The publication, as we've pointed out, comes from the press of the journalism laboratory, technically known as the Virginian Publishing Company.

C. Harold Lauck

The editors feel that Mr. Lauck's time and effort toward the pleasant typographical aspect of the magazine at least warrants a few words about him, as well as his picture. So:

Mr. Lauck, first of all, is the man who has put the mechanical end of journalism at Washington and Lee on the map. He is among the best known figures in the graphic arts industry in Virginia, and is becoming well known in other parts of the nation and the world, especially since his publication of "The Beginnings of Printing in Virginia," a little book that has won much acclaim.

Lauck was graduated from Roanoke college in 1918. he came to Washington and Lee in 1932, and under his supervision, in co-operation with the directors of the Lee School of Journalism, the mechanical laboratory has grown steadily.

"The Beginnings of Printing in Virginia," a detailed study of the typographical development in the Old Dominion, was written by Douglas C. McMurtrie, and printed during the summer by Mr. Lauck in the journalism laboratory. The book, attractively bound in black paper, with the title on a white label, has received increasing praise from bibliographers and has been added to numerous private and public collections. The book is being distributed from the School of Journalism at Washington and Lee.

Mr. Lauck won further recognition last summer by taking first place in a typographic contest for teachers of printing of the United States and Canada at the annual printing education conference held this year in Boston. He teaches courses in the mechanics of journalism at Washington and Lee.

That's C. Harold Lauck, "a swell fellow," who takes as much interest in putting out The Alumni Magazine as the most enthusiastic alumnus takes in reading it.

—R. P. C.

Dr. Derr's Own Obituary

DR. EZRA Z. DERR, one of the university's most brilliant alumni, died last month at his home in Frederick county, Maryland. He wrote his own obituary, which The Alumni Magazine reprints as a tribute to his accomplishments. The self-prepared obituary follows:

"Dr. Derr was the last of the immediate family of John Derr, Esq., who died here in 1866. He was born on the 12th of January, 1851, and received his education at the Frederick Academy, Washington College, (now Washington and Lee University), the University of Virginia, and the University of New York.

"He entered the Navy in 1873 as a medical officer, and passed through the various ranks of lieutenant, lieutenant-commander, commander and captain, and retired on account of age in 1910. During his career on the active list he served in every quarter of the world, was shipwrecked, and came near losing his life in the great hurricane at Samoa, March 15, 1889, in which two ships of the squadron were lost and many perished.

"Dr. Derr was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and is the author of two works on science and philosophy, viz: 'The Uncaused Being' and 'Evolution Versus Involution,' both of which were highly commended by the critics.

"In 1933 he announced his Spiral theory of the revolution of the planets around the sun in a paper entitled 'The Spiral Versus the Elliptical Theory.' A model demonstrating the theory is to be seen at the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

"In 1880 Dr. Derr married Miss Julia Latham, daughter of Robert W. Latham, Esq., of Fauquier county, Virginia.

"Dr. Derr was a member of the Reformed church of Frederick. His ancestor, Sebastian Derr, who came to this country in 1728, was one of the founders of this church."

DR. WILLIAM THOMSON HANZSCHE, class of 1913, broadcast as "The Trail Finder" on a nation-wide hook-up from Radio City during July, August and September. The broadcasts were under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches.

"Old George" Atop Washington College

THE story of "Old George," who adorns the bell-tower of Washington College, has been a source of considerable speculation on the campus for years. Here is a true story, reprinted from the Rockbridge County News of 1899. It was written by Captain J. D. Morrison, grandfather of Turner Morrison, '37. Captain Morrison was valedictorian of the graduating class at Washington College in 1854.

I have had a number of requests to write a sketch of the Kahle statue of Washington that occupies the top of the cupola of the main building of Washington and Lee university. A long familiarity connected with a knowledge of the disparaging criticisms and the contemptuous treatment it has received makes a serious article on the subject a rather difficult task. My acquaintance with it began when I was a small boy and when it was a huge white pine log fresh from the forests of the Blue Ridge near where Buena now is. This was in 1842 in Kahle's shop in the rear of one of the brick buildings on Main street in Lexington opposite the present engine house. I watched it from time to time whilst it was being adzed and shaved and chiselled into the shape and similitude of the Father of his Country and mounted on its lofty pedestal. I have seen it ever since, through foul weather and fair, sometimes, as at present, in its peerless coat of white paint and again streaked and striped with all the variegated colors of Joseph's coat, or again embellished like an Indian chief in his feathers and war paint. I have seen it posing in the breeze adorned with a flowing red flannel shirt with a tall, old fashioned military cap on top tipped with a long red pompon.

Captain Matthew S. Kahle, who did this work, was a cabinet-maker of the town and had the reputation of being a remarkably skillful and ingenious worker in wood. I don't know that he ever before had any experience in the line of art, especially of sculpture. In fact I doubt whether he had ever seen anything of the kind as there was nothing in Lexington or even in the state at that time unless it was Houdon's statue of Washington in Richmond. The bronze copy of the last at the V. M. I. and "Pettigrew's Injun" were later works. I remember to have seen in his shop some portraits and other pictures and some medalions. I take it that these and his native skill was all that he had to guide him in the work. It is a wonder he succeeded so well.

The statue was not furnished and paid for by college as is generally supposed. It was gotten up by subscription, and was poorly paid for at that, as I learn that Kahle's compensation was less than $100. The only action of the college authorities I can find on the subject is a single sentence in the proceedings of the board of trustees at a meeting February 22, 1842, to this effect: "That permission is hereby given for a wooden statue of Washington to be built to be placed on the cupola and to be paid for by subscription." Who the subscribers were and what was subscribed, and who suggested and planned the work does not appear.

I was not at the "unveiling," which I am informed consisted in hauling the statue over to the college in a wheel-barrow and hoisting to its position. In the discussion as to how to get it up some of the boys suggested putting a rope around the neck and hoisting it that way. This made Captain Kahle furiously angry.

It is not a great work of art but I have always defended it among the many stupid criticisms and attempted witticisms which have been aimed at it. I have doubted whether Phidias himself could have done better with nothing but a pine log and a broad-axe, a foot-adze and a draw-knife and a few chisels and gouges to work with.

The idea—the conception of the work, is good. It is a fair likeness. The pose of the figure is fine. The drapery and style of dress are well chosen. The toga or cloak of civil life, partially hiding the military dress beneath, the sword in one hand and the scroll in the other, indicate the warrior and statesman which he was. (I have often wondered whether the idea of this figure was original or a copy.)

The conception is grand. The Father of His Country stands upon his elevated pedestal and surveys the exquisite scene around him which vision is limited by a cordon of blue mountains and canopied by a vault of bluer skies. He seems to scan with the placid countenance of pleasure the scene of the fruits of his own gifts and to contemplate the land and homes of the descendants of the men upon whom he relied had the dark hour of defeat overtaken him in his battle for the freedom of his country.

"Old George"

He's a Cartoonist Now

BILL DYER, the husky lad from Johnson City, Tenn., who had rather draw funny pictures than play football, has landed a newspaper job.

He'll do sports writing and cartooning on the staff of the Knoxville News-Sentinel, and that's just exactly what he has been many years. Bill tackle last season and Lee team that ginia and Southern championships. During sketched some of including Charleston, his cartoons sized and ed over the Associated year, too, Dyer drew covers for The Southern Collegian, Washington and Lee student magazine, that attracted much attention. He also has done cartooning for other newspapers, and one of his drawings, we know, appeared in the Johnson City Press, which Bill Davis, an alumnus, serves as managing editor.

Bill Dyer

Sports writers dubbed Dyer "the artistic tackle" and predicted that with his knowledge of football and his skill with pen and ink, he would soon land in the most logical spot—a newspaper job.

Dyer was graduated in June of this year after playing his last year of football for the Generals. His loss left a mighty hole in the sturdy forewall of 1934 for Tex Tilson to plug up. The problem has been solved, however, by the lanky Bob Spessard of Roanoke, a sophomore, and the dependable, hard-hitting Hugo Bonino of Hawthorne, New Jersey, both playing tackle this season.

How long has Bill Dyer been drawing those funny little pictures and caricatures of sports luminaries?

Ever since he can remember, he declares.

W. B. HESSELTINE, who received the A. B. degree from Washington and Lee in 1922, and who is now assistant professor of history at the University of Wisconsin, is the author of a new life of General U. S. Grant which is arousing a great deal of interest and attention. The book deals particularly with the political phases of Grant's life, and his presidency. There have been interesting reviews of this book in the New York Times Book Review section and the Saturday Review of Literature.

General Lee's "Peace Letter"

A LETTER written by General Robert E. Lee while president of Washington College, setting forth his faith in the Constitution of the United States, was "discovered" last month in Tennessee. The letter, written by Lee to one of his staff officers, General George W. Jones, on March 22, 1869, appears interesting enough to reprint in part:

"My Dear General—I am very much gratified at the reception this morning of your letter of the 16th inst., inclosing for my perusal one that you had received from General A. C. Dodge, and which as you have given me permission I will retain; not merely for the expression of his kind sentiments towards me which I feel I illy deserve, but in remembrance of the writer. Were it worth his while to refer to my political record he would find I was not in favor of secession and was opposed to war. In fact, that I was for the constitution and the Union established by our forefathers. No one now is more in favor of that Union and that constitution and as far as I know it is that for which the South has all along contended, and if restored as I trust they will be, I am sure there will be no truer supporters of that Union and that constitution than the Southern people. But I must not wander into politics, a subject I carefully avoid, and return to your letter."

A Cowboy Turns Engraver

BEN F. SEWARD, class of 1914, has become internationally famous in the world of graphic arts as a maker of four-color printing plates. Seward, a Texas cowboy, attended Washington and Lee a year, then went to the University of Missouri to graduate in chemical engineering. Later he became a copywriter in an advertising firm, and in 1923 went to Kansas City, purchasing an engraving company and settling down to the business of becoming the tops in his profession. The magazine "Printing," organ of the graphic arts industry, carried in a recent issue an article on Mr. Seward that was a tribute to his accomplishments.

TODD ROBBINS, who penned the words to the immortal Washington and Lee Swing, has been playing still more tennis on the French Riviera. One of his opponents in a recent international tournament was the King of Sweden, almost as well known a tennis figure as Bill Tilden. Robbins and his wife say they intend to return to America shortly—they have been living abroad for some time. Robbins, in addition to his accomplishments with the Swing, is a well-known writer of fiction.

937378.755
W31704
v. 11

78919

Local Alumni Association Notes

Charleston

ALUMNI of Charleston and vicinity held their summer meeting on September 29 at the Edgewood Country club in Charleston, staging a well-attended buffet supper with Cyrus Hall, class of 1923, acting as toastmaster.

John W. Moore, class of 1889, oldest alumnus at the meeting, reminisced of the good old days in Lexington in a short talk. Other addresses were made by Waller C. Hardy, class of 1904; and Homer Holt, attorney general of West Virginia.

Those present included: John J. D. Preston, John W. Mason, Jerome W. Schwabe, Cyrus W. Hall, Wayland R. Kerns, Forest E. Huffman, Dorr Tucker, Brown Lewis, W. E. R. Byrne, Jr., W. B. Watts, S. L. MacCorkle, Waller C. Hardy, C. Bernard Gates, H. W. Bowers, Jr., Zan Campbell, S. L. Clark, Jr., J. T. Martin, S. M. Preston, M. D. Campbell, Jr., Kay Thomas, J. M. Woods, D. N. Mohler, Brown Truslow, John C. White, W. H. Truslow, Jr., Joe Blackburn, M. F. Blaney, Eddie Hiserman, Kelley Reed, C. A. Wood, Jr., W. Todd DeVan, P. A. Herscher, C. H. Zerkle, J. B. Hoke, Alex W. Quarrier, L. O. Fagan, Norman S. Fitzhugh, Norman S. Fitzhugh, Jr., Rocky Holt, R. P. DeVan, Jr., Dr. Andrew Amick, Charles G. Peters, C. F. Stuart, W. H. Seaton, J. H. Thomas, and Kenneth Hines.

Little Rock

THE ARKANSAS Alumni Association of Washington and Lee University met at the Peacock in Little Rock, June 12. James H. Penick, president, presided. The meeting was the most enthusiastic since the association was formed last fall.

Vincent M. Miles of Fort Smith, commander of the Arkansas department of the American Legion and member of the class of 1907, made the principal address, reminiscing on his college days. He recalled that he and Mrs. Miles were married in Lexington in 1910, the eve of the first Fancy Dress ball.

He urged alumni to stand by the university, to remember the old traditions of their alma mater and support their state alumni associations.

Following a talk by Tyndall Dickinson, sophomore member of the football squad from Little Rock who discussed the football prospects for this fall, gave the method of training and gave a brief biography of every man on the team, an enthusiastic discussion on football was held.

Vint Miles disclosed that he formerly played end on a Washington and Lee team and Walter W. Terry of Little Rock, class of 1913, said he played half on the same team with Cy Young. The meeting adopted resolutions of thanks for the work which Coach Tex Tilson and Cy Young have done.

Tom Sparks of Fordyce, 1935 graduate from the law school, outlined the building program for the law school.

Everett Tucker of Little Rock, class of 1934, gave a report on finals this year. Alfred Kahn, Jr., of Little Rock, who will finish at the university next year, discussed several campus highlights during the past year. J. H. McMillan of Arkadelphia, class of 1895, recalled memories of campus life at Lexington. Gus Ottenheimer of Little Rock, class of 1917, also recalled his memories of Washington and Lee and enthusiastically endorsed the state alumni association.

The following men attended: Little Rock—James H. Penick, 1917; W. W. Terry, 1913; Bruce Bullion, 1932; Everett Tucker, 1934; George Smith, 1931; Leighton McKinney, 1932; Tom Fitzhugh, 1931; Allan Woolfolk, 1935; John W. Newman, 1906; Gus Ottenheimer, 1917; Tyndall Dickinson, 1938; Alfred Kahn, Jr., 1936; and Curtis McKinney and Jimmy Rice, who will enter the university next fall.

Fordyce—Tom Sparks, 1935.

Lake Village—Robert L. Buffington, 1934.

Fort Smith—Vincent M. Miles, 1907.

Conway—Robert W. Mosley, 1930.

Arkadelphia—John Henry McMillan, 1895.

Holly Grove—Beverly J. Lambert, Jr., 1931.

Chattanooga

ALUMNI of Chattanooga at their organization meeting August 30 elected Charles Luther Claunch as president and formulated enthusiastic plans for making their organization one of the liveliest in the country.

The initial gathering was a dinner-meeting at the Chattanooga Golf and Country club, with Attorney General Peabody Howard speaking on "The Washington and Lee Ideal." Frank A. Nelson, unanimously elected honorary president of the new group, talked on "My School Days at Washington and Lee."

Mr. Claunch is connected with the law firm of Charles A. Noone; Mr. Nelson is manager of the Chattanooga Clearing House Association and has been prominently identified with Washington and Lee alumni affairs for many years.

Ed Brown, general agent for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, was elected vice-president, and John D. Stanard, advertising counsel of Advertising Associates, was elected secretary-treasurer. Harry Spencer, manager of the Armored Motor Service, Inc., was appointed by President Claunch to head, as chairman, the school committee of the chapter.

Members of the alumni chapter formed at the meeting are Earle Clemons, E. Lea Davis, William M. Davis, Fred A. Hahn, William R. Henderson, Dr. J. McChesney Hogshead, Charles F. Hood, Jr., W. N. Jones, Jr., Dr. Tom McCallie, the Rev. Battle McLester, Frank W. Moore, Byron C. Browder, William E. Brock, Jr., John Morgan Bright, Charles B. Bagley, Jr., Clarence R. Avery, Edward E. Brown, James W. Cassell, Jr., William Cassell, Thomas M. Semmes, H. Knox Smartt, Howell F. Snodgrass, Glenn Richard Stoutt, Neal L. Thompson, C. W. Tharpe, William H. Trotter, Jr., Raymond Wallace, Lewis A. Wilkins, Mr. Claunch, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Spencer, Mr. Howard and Mr. Stanard.

Saint Louis

It's a somewhat belated notice, but it reached us too late for the last issue of the 1934-1935 session: The St. Louis alumni, meeting in April, voted the scholarship award to Joe Edwards of St. Louis, and pledged themselves to "at least $500" for the new law school. All officers of the chapter were re-elected.

Greensboro

THE Piedmont Alumni Club, meeting at the O. Henry hotel in Greensboro October 2, heard Sam Mattox, captain of the Generals' football team last year, discuss the team's prospects for the 1935 season. Sam is now a resident of the Carolina city.

Larry W. Wilson, of Greensboro, was re-elected president for the second successive year. Clayborne Darden was named vice-president; Edwin Payne, vice-president of the High Point delegation; Robert A. Merritt, re-elected secretary and Harry S. Spiers, treasurer. All officers will serve for one year.

Short talks were also made by Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president emeritus, and Mr. Scott, of Roanoke, Virginia. Out-of-town visitors included Mr. Scott and John W. Wright, both of Roanoke, and John L. Crisp, of Charlotte.

Richmond

ALUMNI of Richmond gathered at the historic Westmoreland club in the capital city of the Old Dominion October 4 on the eve of the Duke game for one of the most successful dinner meetings in the history of the city's organization.

Governor George C. Peery headed a long list of notables who attended the meeting, which became a "pep" meeting for the Duke classic at the stadium the following afternoon. Lieutenant Governor James H. Price, candidate for chief executive of Virginia in the forthcoming Democratic primary, presided and introduced several speakers, including Dr. J. Morrison Hutcheson, of Richmond, newly-elected member of the board of trustees of Washington and Lee.

Dick Smith and Cy Young, attending the dinner, slipped away after the first course and appeared on a radio program from station WRVA, in the city, discussing the athletic outlook at the university, particularly in reference to the Duke game. However, they found themselves in for still more speech-making when they returned to the club for their dessert, Cy injecting enthusiasm into the alumni with one of his best rally speeches.

Some seventy alumni of Richmond and vicinity attended the dinner. The Alumni Magazine regrets that the list of those who were present is not available as this issue goes to press.

WASHINGTON AND LEE graduates not only get choice assignments in state offices—they gain recognition by the federal government as well. Vincent Miles, class of 1907, was one of the three men named to the National Security Board to inaugurate the nation-wide security program in its various phases.

A TOURIST asked this question the other day at Lee Chapel: "Why is Washington and Lee named for two men who fought against each other in the revolution?" The custodian says that's just one of the many curious queries put to her.

EMMETT W. MACCORKLE, JR., formerly of Ashland, Kentucky, is now connected with the sales department of the Air Reduction Sales company, with headquarters at Wheeling, West Virginia.

1935 Alumni Class Fund

CLASS	NO. OF CONTRIBUTORS	AMOUNT
1869-1889	10	$ 72.50
1890	2	50.00
1891	1	5.00
1892	11	233.50
1893	7	50.00
1894	6	55.00
1895	6	23.00
1896	10	116.00
1897	13	43.00
1898	8	102.00
1899	15	90.50
1900	2	15.00
1901	8	34.50
1902	9	59.00
1903	8	35.50
1904	14	98.00
1905	4	17.00
1906	28	119.00
1907	5	26.00
1908	37	83.00
1909	21	270.50
1910	8	83.50
1911	27	81.00
1912	10	82.50
1913	13	47.00
1914	14	111.50
1915	24	149.50
1916	13	42.50
1917	27	181.50
1918	9	43.50
1919	23	116.00
1920	26	124.50
1921	24	108.00
1922	9	28.00
1923	8	27.50
1924	20	59.50
1925	21	95.00
1926	8	30.50
1927	5	14.00
1928	6	15.00
1929	24	93.50
1930	20	76.00
1931	14	53.00
1932	22	46.00
1933	10	25.00
1934	24	60.00
1935	4	4.00
1936-1937	6	34.00
1957	1	10.00
Total	645	$3440.05

Three Brothers at University

UNIVERSITY student bodies often have two members of the same family enrolled the same year, but it isn't often that one institution finds three brothers in school at one time. The three Basile brothers, however, are attending Washington and Lee this year. They are sons of the Rev. and Mrs. Giustino Basile of Brooklyn, New York, and are the only members of the family who have ever attended W. and L. They are Arthur E. Basile, 17, freshman; Robert M. Basile, 19, sophomore; and David G. Basile, 21, a senior. The Rev. Mr. Basile is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canarsie in Brooklyn.

In Memoriam

JOHN RANDOLPH ANDERSON, member of the class of 1877, died at his home in Richmond, Va., on September 4, 1935. He was 75 years old, and had been an active leader in the business life of the Virginia state capital for fifty years. Most of his childhood was spent in Lexington.

The REV. WILLIAM MARCELLUS MCPHEETERS, D. D., retired professor-emeritus of Columbia Theological Seminary at Decatur, Ga., died August 14 at his home in Charlotte, N. C. He was a member of the class of 1874 at Washington and Lee.

RICHARD HAMILTON, one of the most promising young newspapermen of the Old Dominion, died at Portsmouth, Va., the latter part of last May. He was associate publisher of the Portsmouth Star, and was graduated in journalism from Washington and Lee in 1930.

JOHN M. ROBINSON of Bayou la Chute, La., frequently referred to in Louisiana as "Washington and Lee's most loyal alumnus," died last April after a long illness. He was one of the leading citizens of his state.

Marriage

WEDDING bells have rung for Rhydon Call Latham, class of 1928, center on the Generals football team, and now secretary of the Jacksonville, Fla., alumni association. He and Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens Smith were married at Jacksonville on August 6, 1935.

Birth

A SON, Richard Michael Williams, was born last July 26, to Mr. and Mrs. Ki Williams of Waynesboro. Ki is class agent for the class of 1915.

Class Notes

1870

JOHN SAMUEL McCUTCHAN moved to Missouri a year after leaving Washington and Lee, and has lived on his farm near Monticello, Missouri, continuously since that time. In 1898 he was elected county judge and served in that capacity for sixteen years.

1873

WILLIAM H. TAYLOR, who entered Washington and Lee in 1869, received his A. B. in 1873, M. A. in 1874, and LL. B. in 1875, and remained at Washington and Lee as a teacher for several years, has retired from the practice of law in Uniontown, Alabama. Judge Taylor and his wife visited Lexington for some weeks this summer and he particularly enjoyed renewing his acquaintance with the college.

1876

JOHN MILTON ROBINSON lives in Shreveport, Louisiana (Route 1, Box 282), and devotes most of his time to cotton farming. He is a member of the board of trustees of Centenary College and is a member of the board of directors of the Commercial National Bank in Shreveport.

1883

WILLIAM S. CAMPBELL attended the Union Theological Seminary after leaving Washington and Lee, and since that time has been a minister of the Presbyterian church. He is at present editor and publisher of The Presbyterian of the South, Richmond, Virginia.

1884

HARRISON BROOKS SMITH, who attended Washington and Lee from 1882 to 1884, received the A. B. degree from Princeton in 1886. He studied law at the University of Virginia and has practiced law ever since. He lives in Charleston, West Virginia.

1885

ASA LELAND DUNCAN entered the practice of law in Missoula, Montana, in 1892, and in 1898 enlisted and served as captain in the Spanish-American War, being promoted to the rank of major while in Manila. In 1899 he returned to Missoula, where he has lived ever since. In 1912 he was elected judge of the fourth judicial district of Montana, which position he still holds.

1887

LESLIE LYLE CAMPBELL, who made an enviable record at Washington and Lee as president of the Y. M. C. A., president of the Athletic Association, winner of the Robinson Medal and Howard Houston Fellowship in mathematics, is professor of physics at Simmons College, Boston, Massachusetts. He received his M. A. from Harvard, studied further at Cambridge University, and is a member of numerous learned societies. He has published a book in his field, as well as a great many research papers.

1888

OSWALD S. HAWKINS, of Parkersburg, West Virginia, is now state director for the Federal Housing Administration. Prior to this appointment he had been in teaching, farming, real estate, insurance, and mining.

1890

DAVID BELL MACGOWAN retired this year, after a most interesting career, and is living in Lynchburg, Virginia. Following post-graduate study at the Universities of Halle and Berlin, he was engaged in reportorial work in Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago, and then became a foreign correspondent in Berlin and St. Petersburg. He was a war correspondent for the Associated Press in Russia, Turkey and Persia. From 1915 until 1935 he was in the United States Consular Service and the Diplomatic Service.

1891

JOSEPH ANDERSON GLASGOW, class agent for 1891, has been judge of the eighteenth judicial circuit of Virginia since 1928. He began practicing law in Staunton, Virginia, in 1891, becoming police justice and later commonwealth's attorney for that city.

1892

JOHN M. WOODS has been prosecuting attorney of Berkeley county, West Virginia, and judge of the twenty-third judicial circuit. He resigned from the bench in 1925 and since that time has practiced law in Charleston as a member of the firm of Price, Smith and Spilman.

WILLIAM G. WIGLESWORTH practiced law until 1907, and since that time has been owner and operator of loose leaf tobacco sales warehouses in Cynthiana, Kentucky. His son, William G., Jr., was graduated from Washington and Lee in 1935.

1893

JAKE FISHER, of Sutton, West Virginia, has been a judge of the circuit court since 1913. In 1924, he was Democratic nominee for governor.

WILLIAM ISAAC PAINTER graduated from Jefferson Medical College, in Philadelphia, in 1894. He has practiced medicine in Tazewell, Virginia, continuously since 1899.

LON H. KELLY, class agent for 1893, is a member of the law firm of Brown, Jackson and Knight, Charleston, W. Va. He has held high positions in the legal field, and in 1934 was president of the West Virginia State Bar Association.

1894

MATTHEW ERNEST HANSEL, a member of the first Washington and Lee Glee Club, lives in Old Fort, North Carolina. From 1894 until 1898, he taught English and Greek at Fishburn School and was principal of a private high school, and in 1901 graduated from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia. Since that time, he has been a home missionary and pastor, continuously, in West Virginia and North Carolina. Last (but not least) he is the father of eight children.

JAMES BELL BULLITT, football captain of 1893 and 1894 and president of final ball in 1894, received an M. D. degree from the University of Virginia in 1897. After one year in a New York hospital, he returned to the University of Virginia as demonstrator of anatomy, and in 1903 went to the University of Mississippi as professor of anatomy and pathology. Since 1913, he has been professor of pathology at the University of North Carolina.

1895

LYNE STARLING SMITH, captain of the baseball team of 1892, lives at 441 West 7th St., Erie, Pennsylvania. He represented the Proctor and Gamble Distributing Company in Pennsylvania and Ohio, but has retired.

SAM CRAIG LOWREY was elected city attorney of LaGrange, Texas, in 1899. He held the offices of county attorney (1900-1911) and district attorney (1911-1922), and practiced law until 1929, when he retired.

1896

JAMES WALTER LATTOMUS lives in Wilmington, Delaware, with offices in the Citizens Bank Building. He has practiced law, been judge of the juvenile court, and since 1931 has been director of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. He has three sons and a daughter.

Two of the sons have graduated from the University of Delaware.

FRANKLIN BROCKSON, of Wilmington, Delaware, was admitted to the bar of Delaware in 1896, and is still engaged in the general practice of law. He was a member of the legislature of Delaware from 1909 to 1911, and was representative-at-large from Delaware in Congress from 1913 to 1915. He has never married.

FLOYD WILSON KING, of Alexandria, Virginia, has been a member of the state senate, was a member of the Commission to Paris to present a statue of Washington, and is now chairman of the board and general counsel for the Virginia Public Service company. He married Miss Sadie Johnson, and their children are Marjorie, Floyd, Jr., Elizabeth, Ruth St. George, Winston and Wilmer.

HENRY GILBERT REYNOLDS graduated from the medical school of the University of Louisville in 1897. He practiced medicine in Jefferson county, Kentucky, for several years, and then took post graduate work in Chicago, New York, Boston and Europe. He is now in charge of the eye and ear department of the Illinois Central Hospital in Paducah, Kentucky.

1897

THOMAS EDMUNDS MARSHALL is a cotton manufacturer and lives in Rocky Mount, N. C. He has a son and a daughter.

CHARLES HENRY PHINIZY is president of the Georgia Railroad Bank & Trust Company in Augusta, Georgia, having moved there from Athens, Georgia, in 1923. Prior to that time, he had been in the cotton business and had been connected with banking and insurance businesses in Athens. He married Miss Nellie Carter Wright in 1898, and they have two sons.

THOMAS HENRY WEBB is an engineer with the Texas highway department and lives in Austin, Texas. He married Miss Ione McLain, and they have one daughter, Francis Ione Webb.

1898

SAMUEL GARLAND HAMNER is a member of the law firm of Edmunds and Hamner, Lynchburg, Va. He has a son and daughter, S. Garland Hamner, Jr., and Sarah H. Hamner.

RUEL ELBERTON EBERSOLE lives at 1055 Cambridge Crescent, Norfolk, Va. He attended medical school at the University of Virginia and entered the United States Marine hospital service in 1900, later being commissioned in the medical corps, where he served for twenty-seven years in various grades and at various stations in the United States and abroad. He was retired in 1927, and since that time has lived in Norfolk. Dr. Ebersole is a most interested alumnus and keeps in close touch with the University.

ERNEST WHITNEY RIPPY is vice-president of the Kentucky-Virginia Stone Company, and vice-president of the Central Rock Company, living in Lawrenceburg, Kentucky. He has three sons, one of whom is a junior at Washington and Lee this year.

1899

JOHN EDWARD BURWELL practices law in Floyd, Virginia. For the past several years he has been trial justice for Floyd county and also commissioner of accounts of the circuit court of Floyd county. He was a guard on the Washington and Lee football team and recalls that his last game was played against West Virginia University in Charleston on November 28, 1895.

GUSTAVUS BENZ CAPITO received an M. A. from Columbia University in 1900, an M. D. from the same university in 1903, and continued his medical studies at the University of Berlin. During the World War he was a captain in the medical corps. At present, he is vice-president of the Kanawha Valley hospital in Charleston, West Virginia.

KIRBY L. CHAMBERS has spent a great deal of time traveling over the world, and twenty years ago entered the wholesale seed business with his father in Louisville, Kentucky. He is now president of the Chambers Seed Company in Louisville.

HERBERT BROOKE CHERMSIDE practiced law until 1917, when he became county clerk of Charlotte county, Virginia. He has held this position ever since and lives at Charlotte Courthouse, Va.

1900

GEORGE P. FISHBURNE was engaged in the private practice of law in Tacoma, Washington, from 1905 until 1933, except for a period of four years when he was assistant United States district attorney for the western district of Washington. In 1918 he was appointed post-master of Tacoma, which office he still holds.

JOHN RANDOLPH HENRY practices law in Roanoke, Virginia. He has two daughters and a son.

1901

STEWART L. CREBS, president of final ball in 1901, lives at 500 South Westmoreland Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif. He has a daughter and two sons, one of whom is a graduate of Stanford and the other a graduate of U. C. L. A. and Southern California.

MATTHEW PAGE ANDREWS is an author and editor, a highly recognized authority on American history. His address is 849 Park Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland.

1902

WILLIAM ALLAN, class agent for 1902, is a physician in Charlotte, North Carolina, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at Washington and Lee in 1931. He has two sons and two daughters.

ELBERT W. G. BOOGER lives at 325 W. Maple Avenue, Merchantsville, N. J. In 1925 he took an A. M. from the University of Pennsylvania, and in 1932 he received his Ph. D. from that institution. At present, he is teaching at Rider College in Trenton, N. J.

1903

CARY RANDOLPH BLAIN graduated from the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary in 1910 and held various pastorates in Kentucky until 1927, when he became superintendent of the Highland Institution, Guerrant, Kentucky, a home mission plant, including a school, orphanage, hospital, farm and church. He has twin daughters nine years old and a baby daughter of fifteen months.

ALDINE CLIFFORD BURKHOLDER has been for twenty years professor of economics and sociology in the Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos, Texas. He has a daughter seventeen and a son fifteen.

1904

JAMES BYRNSIDE AKERS has been with the Southern Railway since 1904, and is now in charge of maintenance of way and structures for that system, with offices in the Southern Railway building, Washington, D. C. His son, James B., Jr., is a sophomore at Washington and Lee this year.

WALLER CECIL HARDY practiced law his first ten years out of school, then organized the Central Trust Company. In 1919, he became a member of the New York Stock Exchange, but retired in 1929, shortly thereafter becoming vice-president of the Kanawha Valley Bank in Charleston, West Virginia. He reentered the brokerage business in 1932 as a member of the New York Stock Exchange from the Winthrop, Mitchell Co., but retains his connection in Charleston, where he makes his home. His son, Waller Cecil, Jr., is a student at Washington and Lee.

CHARLES GIBSON MASSIE was in civil engineering until 1917, when he went with the farm credit administration as chief of the appraisal division. Since 1934 he has been chief of the loan division. He married Miss Louise Rucker and they have one son, C. G., Jr., aged eleven.

1906

THOMAS BALL is practicing law in Los Angeles, with offices in the Title Insurance Building. He is unmarried.

GEORGE HENRY CAPERTON, JR., is in the coal business, being at present sales agent for the New River Coal company in western Virginia. He married Miss Hale Austin, and they have a daughter, Anna Perry Caperton.

JAMES R. CASKIE is a member of the law firm of Caskie and Frost, Lynchburg, Virginia. He is on the board of trustees of Washington and Lee, and is a member of the executive committee of the board. Jimmie is unmarried, in spite of the fact that the Calyx of his senior year in Washington and Lee predicted that he would be the first member of the class to be married.

BRENT E. CLARK is consulting engineer in Oklahoma for the Portland Cement Industry, and lives in Oklahoma City. B. E., Jr., is seventeen years old, and there are two daughters, slightly younger.

WALLER RAYMOND COOPER was professor of history in Palmer College his first two years out of Washington and Lee. He took an A. M. from Harvard in 1910, an A. B. from Oxford in 1912, and an LL. B. from the University of Alabama in 1913. From 1913 to 1917, he practiced law in Montgomery, Alabama, and during the World War was an officer in the British Army. Since 1920 he has been professor of history and dean of men at Southwestern University, Memphis, Tennessee.

FRANK R. CRAWFORD graduated from Johns Hopkins Medical School in 1911 and spent eighteen years in mission work in China. His present address is Farmville, Virginia.

1907

WILLIAM RANSOM JOHNSON DUNN is in the construction business, specializing in street and highway paving, with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, Birmingham, Alabama. He has two sons and a daughter.

JOHN WILLIAM FLANNAGAN, JR., practices law in Bristol, Virginia. He has been a member of Congress since 1930.

ISAAC PAUL GASSMAN is a manufacturer in Freeport, Illinois. He visited Lexington last spring to see his older son, Loyal, graduated from Washington and Lee, and says his younger son will enter in a couple of years.

JOHN LEWIS GIBBS entered the ministry of the Episcopal Church in 1910, and since 1919 has been rector of Emmanuel Church, Staunton, Virginia, chaplain and instructor in Bible, Stuart Hall, and editor of the Southwestern Episcopalian. He has three daughters and a son.

1908

GROVER A. BATTEN is an M. D. from Johns Hopkins, and has been practicing surgery in Honolulu since 1915. He was president of the Hawaii Territorial Medical Association, 1932-33, and is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

JAMES CLIVIE CARPENTER, JR., has been president of the First National Bank of Clifton Forge, Virginia, since 1914, when he was elected to that office at the age of twenty-seven. He has three children, one of whom, Deverton, is a junior at Washington and Lee.

T. RUSSELL CATHER was commonwealth's attorney of Frederick County, Virginia, from 1916 to 1932; was elected to the Virginia senate in 1932 and is a member of that body at present. He married Miss Edna Menear, and they have two daughters.

GROVER CLEVELAND GABRIEL has been a minister in the Evangelical Church since 1909, serving churches in Enola, Pa., York, Pa., Baltimore, Md., Wrightsville, Pa., Williamsport, Pa., and at present is in Red Lion, Pa. He has two sons and three daughters.

HARRY W. GASSMAN has instructed in mathematics at the Walnut Hills High school, Cincinnati, Ohio, for fifteen years. He married Miss Grace Telford and they have one daughter.

WILLIAM SNEAD GRAHAM attended the University of Virginia law school after leaving Washington and Lee. Since that time he has been district manager for various coal companies, and his office is 604 Citizens Bank Bldg., Norfolk, Virginia.

1909

LAWRENCE CARL CALDWELL has been practicing law in Richmond since 1916, with offices at 6 S. 10th St. He married Miss Mary McFaden, and they have two sons.

ROBERT ROSWELL BROWN has been athletic director of New Mexico Military Institute since 1910, with the exception of four years at New Mexico State College. His home is Roswell, New Mexico.

1910

ROBERT GRAHAM AYRES is office manager and purchasing agent for the Logan-Long Company, manufacturers of asphalt roofing, etc., in Franklin, Ohio. He has three sons and a daughter.

LOUIS WILSON BAKER is engaged in civil and mining engineering, and his office is 500 Plain Dealer Building, Cleveland, Ohio. He married Miss Mary Handley of St. Albans, West Virginia.

JOE R. BLACKBURN is at present employed by the state of West Virginia as engineer for the liquor control commission, with offices in the Capitol building. He married Miss Elizabeth Price Jones and they have a son, seventeen, and a daughter, eleven.

JAMES MILTON (JIM) CARSON has been practicing law in Miami since 1916. Before that time he practiced in Jacksonville. He has also taught law in the University of Miami, and is the author of a book on Florida common law pleading. He has two children, Carol and John Calhoun.

1912

BYRON LEROY BALLARD is a member of the law firm of Shields, Silsbee, Ballard and Jennings, of Lansing, Michigan. He is president of the Lansing Rotary Club and a director of the Lansing National Bank.

GEORGE WASHINGTON CLEEK is farming in Bath County, Virginia, and has held numerous offices in that county. He has one daughter and four sons.

LLOYD RUTHERFORD CRAIGHILL has taught in several schools in China, and is at present missionary in charge of Nanchang Station, American Church Mission. He married Miss Marian Walklee Gardner in 1918 and they have three children.

JOHN LETCHER CRIST is southern sales manager of the Calco Chemical Company, Inc., with offices at Charlotte, N. C. He has one son, John L., Jr., twelve years old.

THOMAS MCPHEETERS GLASGOW was a captain in the field artillery during the World War. Since that time, he has been president of Glasgow-Stewart & Co.; president, Virginia-Carolina Jobbers; president, Southern Jobbers; president, Charlotte Auto Merchants Association; deputy administrator of N. R. A. His home address is 2301 Sherwood Avenue, Charlotte, N. C.

1913

ROBERT BURROW, JR., is practicing law in Bristol, Tennessee.

JOHN MILLS NEWTON has been employed as deputy collector, inspector and agent (examining income tax returns) in the bureau of internal revenue of the United States since 1913, with offices in the court house building, Fort Worth, Texas. In the past few years, he has been a member of the executive and Davis cup committees of the United States Lawn Tennis association. He married Miss Lena Brammer and they have two daughters and a son.

1914

SAMUEL REDMOND ADAMS (STACY) is operating the DeSoto Hotel in Tampa, Florida. He was an ensign in the United States Navy from 1916 to 1921, and until he went to Florida in 1924, was in the real estate business in North Carolina.

HARVEY BLACK APPERSON, 511 Boxley Building, Roanoke, Virginia, is at present a member of the state senate. He married Miss Louise Logan, and they have two sons.

HENRY N. BARKER took a law degree from Columbia University in 1921 and is now practicing law in Bristol, Tennessee. He married Miss Catherine McKinney in 1924 and they have two children, Henry, ten, and Catherine, seven.

ROGER J. BEAR lives at 3163 Lookout Circle in Cincinnati, and is an executive of the Kroger Baking and Grocery Company, in the engineering department. He married Miss Mary J. Moore, of Pulaski, Virginia, and they have two sons, six and twelve years old.

LEWIS BERKELEY COX is with the Aetna Life Insurance Company in Hartford, Connecticut. He recently had an interesting article in Harper's Magazine on automobile accidents. He has five children—two boys and three girls.

R. LEE BEUHRING is practicing law in Huntington, West Virginia. He saw active service in the World War, having been wounded twice and awarded the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf and the Silver Star medal. In 1929 he was a member of the West Virginia legislature, serving on several important committees.

1915

NICHOLSON BARNEY ADAMS is professor of Spanish, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. He was with the A. E. F. in France until 1919, after which he taught in the high school in Lynchburg, Virginia, for several years. In 1922 he took his Doctor's degree at Columbia and followed this with a year's study in Madrid. He married Miss Agatha Boyd and they have one daughter.

ROBERT P. ADAMS is a member of the law firm of Taylor, Adams & Freeman, in Trenton, Tenn. He confesses to being still unmarried.

MALVERN S. BARROW has been president of the Bank of Alberta, Alberta, Va., since 1917. He married Miss Francis Harris, of Kenbridge, Va., and they have two sons and a daughter.

JAMES EDWIN BEAR, who has spent several years as a missionary of the Southern Presbyterian Church in China, is now teaching at the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond. He married Miss Margaret Irvine White, and they have two daughters.

L. NELSON BELL, after receiving his M. D. from the Medical College of Virginia and interning at the Memorial hospital in Richmond, joined the staff of the General Hospital at Tsingkiangpu, Ku., China. He is now chief surgeon and administration superintendent of the hospital. He married Miss Virginia Leftwich and their four children are Rosa, Ruth, Virginia and Benjamin Clayton.

ARTHUR M. BIRDSALL lives at 711 Bendermere Ave., Interlaken, N. J. He has been practicing law since 1919. Arthur says he never misses an opportunity to see Washington and Lee worry Princeton on the gridiron.

1916

L. BATTLE BAGLEY is in the insurance business in Fayetteville, Tenn. He married Miss Eula Scott, and they have five children—Mary, Jack, Sam, Virge and L. Battle, Jr.

CHARLES LYNCH CHRISTIAN is living in Lynchburg, Va. His wife was Miss Jessie Darden, and they have a son and a daughter.

ROBERT MITCHELL CURTIS practiced law in Atlanta two years and one year in Roanoke, and is now assistant business manager of the Times-World Newspaper corporation, in Roanoke, Va. He was married in 1920 and has a daughter, Nancy.

NORVIN CHARLES (CHICK) EVANS is with Gimbel Brothers in New York. During the war he was a lieutenant in the signal corps, and since that time has advanced steadily in merchandising positions, until his present position as Merchandise Manager of Gimbel's. He is married and has two children.

CARROLL PRATT FINLAYSON is county superintendent of public instruction in Jackson county, Florida, and lives in Marianna, Florida. He married Miss Marguerite Folsom, and their three children are Shirley, Carroll Pratt, Jr., and John Howard.

1917

EDWARD E. BAIN, JR., is traveling for the National Gypsum Company, Buffalo, N. Y., for the state of South Carolina. He lives at 1804 Gervais Street, Columbia, South Carolina. Is married and has two daughters.

DR. GEORGE HOLBROOK BARBER is a practicing physician in Brooklyn and New York City, on the staff of St. John's Hospital,—Caledonia Hospital, New York, attending staff, Kings County Hospital.

EMORY POWELL BARROW is representing Brunswick county in the House of Delegates of Virginia. He lives in Alberta, Virginia. He married Virginia Me cartney.

JOHN MORGAN BRIGHT is business manager of Retail Credit Men's Association of Chattanooga, Tenn. His offices are in the Times Building. He is married and has two daughters.

W. O. BURTNER is with the department of justice, Washington, D. C. Is an attorney in the office of the assistant solicitor general.

HARRY VAN METRE CAMPBELL is a member of the law firm of Blue, Dayton and Campbell, Charleston, W. Va.

JACKSON R. COLLINS is practicing law in New York City. He is a lecturer on business law at Columbia University. He married Elizabeth Bodine and they have two children, Ann Elizabeth and Jackson Bosse, Jr. They live at 212 Midland Ave., Montclair, N. J.

WILLIAM JUNKIN COX is professor in the department of engineering mechanics at Yale.

1918

JAMES C. AMBLER is living at 1630 Monument Avenue, Richmond, Virginia. Since leaving Washington and Lee, Jimmy has spent eighteen months in France with the A. E. F., has studied at the University of Virginia, has been superintendent of schools of Fauquier county, Virginia, and is now representing Ginn & Company, educational publishers. In 1933 he married Miss Elsie Gilliam Carter, and they have a daughter, Jaquelin Carter Ambler, born in January of this year.

LESTER D. ARNOLD, 803 S. Stewart St., Winchester, Virginia, is the father of two boys and two girls. He is secretary to Senator Harry F. Byrd, sales manager for his apple business and editorial writer for the Winchester Star, so he must be a fairly busy man.

EDWIN THURMAN BOYD is practicing law in Lynchburg, Virginia, after having graduated in law at the University of Virginia, taken post-graduate work at Columbia University and taught law at the University of Virginia. He was also sent to the Virginia legislature for several sessions. Thurman was married in 1923, and has three children, Edwin Thurman, Jr., Betty Kinnier, and Lucy Wells.

ROY BRYANT, who hailed from New Orleans, has lived in New York since the war. His business is investment, banking and finance and his address is 930 Chrysler Building. Roy has an enviable war record. Overseas for two years as captain of the 16th United States Infantry, he was wounded in action, decorated with the Croix de Guerre by the French government, the Military Cross by the British government and received citations by Generals Petain, Pershing and Bullard. He was a member of the Byrd Arctic Expedition in 1926.

JAMES EDWARDS CANTRILL is secretary of the Kentucky State Tax Commission at Frankfort, Ky. He married Miss Corinne Aswell of Natchitoches, Louisiana, and they have two children, Virginia Aswell, aged 13, and James Campbell, aged 12.

1919

SAM ANDERSON, professionally known as Dr. Samuel A. Anderson, Jr., is practicing medicine in Richmond, Virginia. His address is 2326 W. Grace Street. Sam took his medical work at Johns Hopkins and later served in various hospitals for children. Since the fall of 1927 he has been on the teaching staff of the Medical College of Virginia, and practicing pediatrics in that city. He has a son, Samuel A. III, born in December, 1933—Washington and Lee, class of 1955.

WILLIE F. BARRON is with the Rome Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Rome, Georgia. He is married and has two children, Virginia Gordon, and W. F., Jr. A public spirited citizen, as evidenced by his membership in the Kiwanis club and the board of education of the old home town.

"BROWNIE" BROWN—Leonard T., is secretary of Lott-Merlin, Inc., paper merchants, of Bridgeport, Conn. He is married and has a daughter, Muriel Keith, ten years old. Your class agent for the past two years, and a good one. Brownie is very civic minded and has countless jobs, without pay. Always present at the New York alumni meetings and lends his assistance to any Washington and Lee project.

SIM CHRISTY—Sim Bush Christy, Jr., was employed by the Sun Oil Company of Dallas, Texas, from 1919 to 1930, transferred to Philadelphia, and is now district manager of the Sun Oil Company, Lansing, Michigan. His address is Box 28, Sun Oil Co., Lansing, Michigan. He has a son, Sim Bush, IV.

SAMUEL HIGINBOTHAM BAKER lives at 1729 Spruce St., Philadelphia, Pa. He married Miss Frances Elizabeth Trotter.

"ART" CROMWELL—Arthur M., lives at 4841 Townsend Ave., Eagle Rock, California. Is married and has a son twelve years old, who, by the way, plans to become a student at Washington and Lee. Was in the furniture manufacturing business from 1923 to 1934; migrated to California in search of health; is at present factory representative in Pasadena and Glendale for the Venetian Blind Corporation of Los Angeles.

T. DEWEY DAVIS, practicing medicine with offices at 608 Professional Building, Richmond, Virginia. Has a son, Thomas Dewey (Tommy), Jr., "—five years old, and already has his eye on Washington and Lee."

1920

EDWARD GEE BAILY (BIG ED) is with the Federal Land Bank, located in the Central National Bank Building, Richmond, Va. He married Miss Fannie Louise Eggleston of Charlotte Courthouse, Virginia, on May 30, and they will make their home at 1600 Monument Avenue, Richmond.

HENRY BAKER is with the Sharon Steel Hoop Co., of Sharon, Pa. He is married and has two children—Reid, aged five, and Ann, aged three.

HARRY BURNS, who originally hailed from the red hills of north Georgia, is now making his headquarters at the Ansley Hotel in Atlanta, and is the southern representative for the Belding Hemingway Corticelli Silk Company, having been in the silk business since 1921.

HOMER STAFFORD BRYANT (BUCK) is with the Imperial Coal Sales Company, in the Lynch Building, Lynchburg, Virginia. He is married and has one son, Homer, Jr.

L. PRESTON COLLINS (PAT) writes from Marion, Va., where he is practicing law, that he knows of little news he can add to what he gave us last year.

JAMES WALLER CALLISON, of Staunton, Va., is another of our most confirmed bachelors who have married during the past year. His wife was Miss Braxton, of Staunton, a sister of Miss Mary Braxton, who led junior prom in 1920.

JOHN DRYE, who is located at 70 Broadway, New York, attended the homecoming football game last fall. John was married in 1926 to Miss Loraine Caldwell, and they have two children, Robert and Ann.

JOSEPH T. ENGBLY, JR., of Roanoke, Virginia, is practicing law in Roanoke. He is married and has two children, Joe III and Dudley.

1921

JOHN T. BATE received his M.D. degree from the University of Virginia Medical School in 1922. Was at St. Mary's free Hospital for Children, New York City 1922; St. Luke's Hospital, New York City, 1922-25; Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, 1926; University of Vienna, 1929. He is a surgeon—741 Francis Building, Louisville, Kentucky.

ROBERT WALKER COLE is in the general insurance business in Richmond, Virginia, at 1101 E. Main Street. He married Mary Kathlyn Davis and they have two children, Robert W., Jr., age eleven and Mary Kathlyn, age five.

WILLIAM HENRY CONNELLY is practicing law at Lawrenceville, Virginia.

H. GRAY FUNKHOUSER is instructor in mathematics at Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, New Hampshire. He married Louise H. Thompson of Lexington and they have one son, John Gray Funkhouser.

ROBERT L. GARNETT lives at 627 Unadilla Street, Shreveport, La. He is married and has two daughters.

HOWARD KEMPER GIBBONS is business manager of the State Teachers College, Harrisonburg, Virginia. He married Jessie Diana Conrad and they have three children, William Conrad, John Howard and Robert Allen.

WILLIAM A. GIBBONS, JR., is mortgage loan inspector for the Prudential Insurance Company, inspecting and appraising property in Westchester county and on Long Island.

CARL E. L. GILL is conciliator on the textile labor relations board, consulting economist. He married Elfrida von Poellnitz.

1922

WILL HAMILTON BARRETT has been principal of the Narrows high school at Narrows, Virginia, for the past four years.

ROBERT M. (CUBBY) BEAR is assistant professor of education, Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H. He married Gladys M. Center, of Danville, Ky., and they have one son, Robert M., Jr.

CHARLES MILLER CAMPBELL is representative in Kentucky for Cruden Martin Manufacturing Co., of St. Louis, Mo. He lives at 311 Main Street, Irvine, Kentucky.

DAYTON E. (RUNT) CARTER is located in Logan, W. Va., with the Loose Wiles Biscuit Company—i. e. Sunshine Biscuits, in the capacity of a salesman. This is his eighth year in the same territory. It is interesting to note that he married Mary Nowlan with whom he led the final ball in 1922. He says since 1923 "she has been leading me." This is the first couple to be married who led the final ball together, it is believed.

JOHN W. CHILD is with the Gilliam Coal and Coke Company, Gilliam, W. Va.

1923

JOHN B. H. BONNER graduated from the Virginia Medical College in 1932. Is surgeon and resident physician to the Virginia Industrial School for Boys, Beaumont, Virginia; also general practitioner in Powhatan county. He married Margaret Susan Moore and they have a daughter, Margaret Susan.

CLYDE H. C. BRADEN lives in Golden, Colorado, is married and has two children, Mayme Lee and Robert Austin.

AUGUSTINE (GUS) BRYAN is employed by the Prudential Insurance Company of America, as mortgage loan and property inspector. Lives at Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga, Tenn.

TEMPLE OVERTON CAMPBELL practiced law in Richmond, Virginia, and still maintains his law office, but his special interest is farming. He is married and lives on R.F.D. 4, Brook Hill, Richmond, Va.

ROBERT H. CARR is in the lumber business at Jasper, Alabama. He is married and has three children.

GERALD EDWARD CORRY lives at 59 N. Monterey St., Mobile, Alabama.

1924

JOSEPH WILSFORD HOPKINS graduated from the University of Mississippi in 1925 with the degree of LL.B. Since that time has practiced law. Elected to the house of representatives from Coahoma county in 1937, re-elected in 1931, and now a candidate for re-election.

DR. JOSEPH STUART McMATH took his M.D. from Emory University in 1928, interned at Cincinnati General Hospital 1928, 1929, 1930. General practitioner, Wyoming, Cincinnati, 1930 to 1935.

JOHN D. T. BOLD attended Ohio State after leaving Washington and Lee, and is now practicing law in Evansville, Indiana.

ROBERT BAILEY CAMPBELL, son of the late and beloved "Dean Harry," is a minister of the Presbyterian church in Winchester, Virginia. Bob lived on the Washington and Lee campus for seventeen years before entering as a freshman.

J. A. CUMMINGS is manager of the C. & P. Telephone Company in Clarendon, Virginia.

1925

LUTHER LAKIN COPLEY is practicing law in Miami, Florida, with offices in Florida National Bank Bldg. He married Hilda O. Nettum.

WILLIAM J. DRIVER, JR., was in the real estate and insurance business in Gulfport, Mississippi from 1925 to 1929; has been farming at Osceola, Arkansas, since that time. He married Peggy Fox and they have two children, Peggy Jane and Clara Lon.

JOHN WESLEY HOCKER is practicing medicine in Chattanooga, Tennessee. The engagement of Miss Helen Katherine Sloan to Dr. Hocker has recently been announced.

1926

RAMON PAUL ACEVEDO, from 1926 to 1929, sales manager General Motors branch office, Panama City; 1929 to 1932, general secretary Panama Association of Commerce; 1932, elected for four year term to the municipal council of Panama City, and appointed for the same term as chief of the anticontraband office of Panama.

PAUL C. BENSON lives at 303 West 72nd Street, New York, New York.

ROBERT C. BENTLEY, JR., is a counsellor at law, Peoples Trust Building, Hackensack, New Jersey.

ROGER E. BLUM is vice-president of Sol Blum & Sons, Incorporated, Bakers Supplies and Equipment, at 1868 Alvason Road, East Cleveland, Ohio.

WILLIAM H. BOYER has been practicing law in federal and state courts of North Carolina, for the past eight years. He married Hughey Hull and they have one son.

W. TILL BROWN is trial justice, Prince William county, Virginia; secretary-treasurer Federal Savings and Loan Association of Prince William county; commissioner in chancery, circuit court of Prince William county; general receiver, circuit court of Prince William county; attorney, Federal Land Bank of Baltimore; Southern Railway Company; Warrenton Production; Credit Association, and Federal Savings and Loan Association of Prince William county.

ERNEST L. COX, JR., North Carolina state banking department, liquidating agent and examiner. Married Rachel Grimsley. Lives in Jacksonville, North Carolina.

1927

GORDON ELLIOTT ADAMS married Harriet Staples and they have a son, "Teddy." They live at 100 Central Ave., Caldwell, New Jersey.

RICHARD A. (DICK) BALL took his LL. B. at Emory University, Ga. He is practicing in Montgomery, Alabama.

ANDREW GESSNER BRIGGS is with the Investors' Syndicate in the Richmond Trust Building, Richmond, Va. He married Nan Walker and they have a son, Andrew, III.

JOHN DEWEESE (JACK) CARTER is practicing in Denton, Maryland.

GEORGE ADOLPHUS (DOLPH) CLARK, JR., has been assistant manager of A. G. Spalding & Bros., for the past five years, 106 Madison, Memphis, Tennessee.

GEORGE DENMAN CONRAD is a member of the law firm of Conrad & Conrad, of Harrisonburg, Va. He married Vera Melone.

WILLIAM R. COSBY married Lorraine Johnson and they have three sons, William Randolph, John Marshall and Richard Keith. They live at 617 W. University Place, Champaign, Ill.

CYRUS R. COTTON is an attorney-at-law and in the oil business, offices in the Second National Bank Bldg., Houston, Texas. He married Josephine Gowen and they have a son, Cyrus R., Jr.

DR. CHARLES DUFFY is practicing in New Bern, North Carolina.

CHRISTOPHER BRYAN (JUNE) EDWARDS is with the Moeschl Edwards Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CHARLES TEAKLE SMITH is with the United States Internal Revenue department in the Philippine Islands. His address is 423 Hancock Building, Manila, P. I. He married Edith A. Pontier.

ALEX S. MOFFETT graduated from Vanderbilt Medical School in 1932; married Virginia Evans Billings, and on August 20, 1935, sailed for China and will be a medical missionary of the Southern Presbyterian church, Kiangyin, Kiangsu, China.

DAVID CURRY PORTER took graduate work at Oklahoma University, and has been with Treat Orchard Co., Esom Hill, Georgia, since 1930. He has been president of this company since 1933. Curry married Miss Margaret Dean, and has a son, Davis Curry, Jr.

FANNING HEARON is with the Department of the Interior, and lives at the Embassy Apartments, Washington, D. C. He and Mrs. Hearon, formerly Miss Baylies Brewster, have an infant daughter, born in September. They have another daughter two years old.

JAMES R. WILDE was a sophomore in the architectural college, University of Michigan, last session. Was with the "Michigan Friars," dance orchestra, played on the S. S. New Yorker for the summer.

1928

ROBERT C. BARNETT was at Washington and Lee only a short time, but is interested in the institution. After leaving here he attended Davidson College. He is now cashier of the Shelby, North Carolina, branch of the Southern Cotton Oil Company.

WILLIAM M. BELL is president of the Bell Lumber Company, of Shawnee, Oklahoma.

HAROLD BUSOLD was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1932, and is practicing law at 301 Main street, Orange, New Jersey.

JOE CLOWER, JR., is minister of the First Presbyterian church, Virginia Beach, Va. He married Mary Margaret Cox.

PERCY COHEN is a partner in the H. Cohen Furniture Co., Nashville, Tenn.

IRVIN W. CUBINE is in the general practice of law at Martinsville, Virginia. He married Mildred Cameron and they have two children, Irwin Williams, II, and Carol Mildred.

WILLIAM FREDERICK DELPH graduated from the Medical College of Virginia in 1934. He is practicing in Pulaski, Virginia. He married Dorothy Steuben Crawford.

GUY WALDO DUNNINGTON is a professor in the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

JOHN BEARD ECKER, JR., took graduate work at Harvard in 1928-29. He married Theodora Lawrence, and is now with the Capitol Traction Company, Washington, D. C.

1929

"BUCK" BAILEY has been in the life insurance business for the past six years, with the Aetna Life Insurance Co.

FRANKLIN MULLISS (DICK) BAKER married Jean Watkins and they have two children, Jack and Betty. Four years with the General Outdoor Advertising Co., and three years at the M. E. Cunningham Co., as manager of sales.

PHILIP R. BECKER lives in Dayton, Ohio, at R. R. 13, Box 444a. He married Mary E. Latta and has two children, Molly Ann and Philip.

DAVIS BELL lives in Waynesboro, Va.

WILLIAM THOMAS (BILL) BLACK, JR., graduated from the University of Alabama, A. B., took his medical training at Northwestern University Medical School, M. D., in 1935, interning in Kings County hospital, Brooklyn, New York. His address is 1234 Peabody Ave., Brooklyn.

WORTHINGTON BROWN lives at 899 Barksdale Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

ROBERT CLARK COPENHAVER, JR., has been engaged in the loose leaf tobacco business in Georgia, Eastern North Carolina and Southwest Virginia. When not on tobacco markets has worked in banks, livestock auction market and weekly newspaper.

PAUL E. DAUGHERTY finished law at Texas University in 1928 and has been practicing alone since, specializing in oil and land matters.

1930

EARL DWIGHT ARMITAGE has worked for the Underwood Elliott Fisher Company for about six years. He married Mary Louise Chumlea and they live at 1003 W. Clinch Ave., Knoxville, Tenn.

JAMES HENRY ADAMSON graduated in law from Indiana University in 1930. He married Margaret Jane Hutchinson and they have a son, James H., Jr., about four years old. They live at 2130 College Ave., Terre Haute, Indiana.

THEODORE L. BAUER studied law at Tulane and is now practicing in Houston, Texas. His address is 505 Hadley Apt. No. 3, Houston, Texas.

FRANKLIN RUTHERFORD BIGHAM was admitted to the practice of law in Pennsylvania, May 21, 1934. His offices are in the First National Bank Bldg., Gettysburg, Pa.

EDGAR I. BOSTWICK has been employed by the Travelers Insurance Company in the legal department since leaving college. He was married June 30, 1934, to Mary Wilson Turner. They live at 111 N. Hamil Street, Richmond, Va.

LINCOLN PALMER BROWN is secretary-treasurer of Brown and Bolton, Inc., Exchange Building, Memphis, Tennessee.

W. E. R. (PECK) BYRNE is auditor and statistician with the West Virginia state tax commission. He married Frances Wilson Parrent and they have a daughter, Francis Marion. Their address is 1422 Quarrier St., Charleston, W. Va.

JULIAN H. BLACK, formerly of Chattanooga, Tenn., but now living in Washington, D. C., is soon to be married to Miss Charlotte Atlee, of Chattanooga.

JIM CASTNER received his LL. B. degree from St. Lawrence University, Brooklyn, New York, in 1931. Is practicing law in New Jersey. He lives at 135 Harrison street, East Orange, N. J.

ROBERT E. CLAPP, JR., received his LL. B. from Harvard in 1933. He lives at 303 Bockwell Terrace, Frederick, Md.

J. M. COUNTISS is a member of the firm of J. M. Countiss & Son, merchants and planters, Elaine, Ark.

GEORGE B. CRADDOCK graduated from Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia in June, and will be interning in Philadelphia for the next two years at the Philadelphia General hospital.

JACK GORDON CRAFT, JR., is manager of the Monterey Hotel, West Palm Beach, Florida. He is married and has two children, Rebecca Lawton Craft and Jacquelin Gordon Craft.

JOHN PRESTON DAVIS graduated in June, 1934, from the University of Pennsylvania Medical school; is now serving a two-year internship at the Philadelphia General hospital.

JAMES WILLIAM DAVIS is managing editor of the Johnson City Press-Chronicle, Johnson City, Tenn.

ROBERT WILLIAM DAVIS, JR., received his M. S. degree from the University of California in 1932. Has been in the oil business since that time. His address is 1911 Esperson Building, Houston, Texas.

1931

TURNER HEARST ADAMS is practicing law in Lubbock, Texas. He married Sue Mozelle Gable.

JOSEPH C. ARMOUR says he is "employed by the Pennsylvania liquor control board and is studying for the Episcopal ministry." He married Clara E. Pearsall and has a daughter, Violet M. Armour.

BEN AYARS received his LL. B. degree from Mercer University, Macon, Georgia, 1933. Practiced law in Macon from June, 1933, to December 28, 1933. Now connected with the legal department of the Farm Credit Administration of Columbia, Columbia, S. C.

BOB BAER married Mary M. Patterson. They live at 150 Harrison St., East Orange, New Jersey.

W. P. BALLARD is in the wholesale fish and oyster business in Norfolk, Virginia.

FRANCIS LORAIN BOWMAN is an orchardist in Shenandoah county, Virginia. His address is R. R. No. 2, Mt. Jackson, Va.

EDGAR M. CHURCH has been for five years with the Bank of Commerce & Trust, Memphis, Tenn., and for the past two years in the practice of law with Roy Church, Memphis, Tenn. He married Louise Wills.

JOHNNY FAULKNER, JR., lives at 716 Pecan St., Helena, Ark.

THOMAS FITZHUGH lives at the Capitol Hill apartments, Little Rock, Ark. He is first assistant attorney general of the state of Arkansas.

1932

CLAXTON EDMONDS ALLEN, JR., was a reporter on the Paris, France, edition of the Chicago Tribune in 1933. Reporter on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch since February, 1934.

ROBERT WALLACE ANNIN has moved to California. His address is 414 N. Maple Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif.

JOHN EVERETT ARMSTRONG is a partner with Armstrong & Armstrong, real estate, at 485 Madison avenue, New York City.

JOHN W. BARGER is publishing a daily newspaper at Keyser, W. Va.

WILLIAM E. BEARD was a district manager for McFadden Publications, Inc., New York City, for three years. He is now with the Birmingham Flour Co., Birmingham, Alabama.

CHARLES HIBBITT BLAKE is in dramatic work. He lives in Louisville, Kentucky.

EVERETT CROSS, Washington Daily News; police court reporter; sports department; Washington Community Center Supervisor. Supervisor District of Columbia playground department.

ROBERT CHAMPLIN is secretary to the manager of L. D. Caulk Dental Depot, Newark Branch. His address is 88 No. Walnut St., East Orange, N. J.

HERBERT G. DOLLAHITE spent the summer as office manager of a resort hotel in the Wisconsin north woods, and is now at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago.

ALLEN S. CARR, class agent for 1932, who is practicing law in Portsmouth, Virginia, was selected as one of the two Democratic nominees to the House of Delegates from that district and led his nearest opponent by over 700 votes.

SIDNEY H. NEWMAN, who graduated in 1932, has since received his Ph. D. degree in psychology at Clarke University (1935) and is now an instructor in the department of psychology, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

1933

HAROLD ABRAMSON is in the candy business at 171 Winthrop, Mass.

WILLIAM S. BARKER lives at 207 Orange Road, Montclair, N. J.

SHELBY BLATTERMAN moved to Kentucky to take up farming in May, 1932. His address is Mayfield, Kentucky.

WILLIAM BOURS BOND is located at the Atlantic National Bank Building, Jacksonville, Florida.

IRVING BUCK BRICKEN attended the Harvard law school and is now engaged in the real estate business at 565 Fifth Avenue, New York.

EDMUND BURKE, JR., graduated from the law school of the University of Montana in 1934. He is now an attorney-at-law in Bozeman, Montana; county attorney, Gallatin county, state of Montana, since January 7, 1935. Is married and has a son, Edmund Burke, III, born September 22, 1934.

JOSEPH C. CONNER is editor of The Independent, weekly newspaper in Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania.

FRED COOK, 1933-1934, fellowship at the University of Tennessee, Master of Science degree, August 24, 1934; 1934-1935, graduate student in chemistry at Princeton. His home is in Waynesboro, Va.

"MO" CRIGHTON, JR., is a special agent of the Fidelity and Deposit Co., 99 John St., New York, N. Y.

TED CURTIS is in the advertising department of the Richmond News-Leader, Richmond, Virginia.

1934

THOMAS D. ANDERSON is associated with Andrews, Kelley, Kurth, and Campbell, Attorneys, Gulf Building, Houston, Texas.

JOHNNY BATTLE, JR., is in the University of Pennsylvania Medical School.

THORNTON G. BERRY, JR., is practicing law in Welch, W. Va. He is a member of the firm of Strother, Curd and Berry. He married Rita Crockett Brewster.

BARBY BROWN is planning to enter the Virginia Theological Seminary this fall at Alexandria, Va., and plans to become an Episcopal minister. His home is at 123 Peeke Ave., Kirkwood, Missouri.

FRANK CULLEN BRYANT is in the automobile business in Orangeburg, South Carolina.

ROBERT LAVY BUFFINGTON is employed by the Missouri Pacific Railway in Little Rock, Ark. He lives in Lake Village, Ark.

JAMES DUNCAN BURN is working for a retail credit company in Washington. His address is 2107 S St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

RUGE DEVAN, JR., attended the Aetna Casualty & Surety Company's sales training course in Hartford, Conn., and is now engaged in the insurance business with his father in Charleston, W. Va.

JOHN WALTER DEXTER is with the Guthrie Daily Leader, Guthrie, Oklahoma.

WALTER DIXON is with the emergency relief board, Somerset, Pa.

1935

DICK BANKS, since leaving the University, has been working with the Chesapeake & Ohio railway, at 835 Terminal Tower, Cleveland, Ohio.

EDWARD L. BOND, JR., worked in the chemistry laboratory of McAndrews and Forbes Co., Camden, N. J., after leaving college. He is now in the law office of Peaslee and Brigham at 501 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

GEORGE SHORT is teaching English and coaching three sports at Macclesfield High school, in North Carolina.

1936

HARRIS EWALT ANDERSON is conducting the Anderson Flying Service at the Albert Whitted Airport, St. Petersburg, Florida. Best mailing address, 211 E. Wilson Ave., Girard, Ohio. He married Nedra Jane Bushong.

SAM HALLEY, JR., was in the agricultural college of the University of Kentucky last year and is running the family farm and tobacco seed business. Home address, Meadowthorpe Farm, Lexington, Kentucky.

Attention Alumni

THIS IS THE FIRST TIME IT HAS BEEN POSSIBLE TO GET A COAT-OF-ARMS
OF THE UNIVERSITY

Price Postpaid framed $2.00; unframed $1.00

As the supply is limited, send in your order early to

LEE MUSEUM
Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va.

McCRUM'S

DRUG STORE

FLOWER SHOP

SODA FOUNTAIN

BUS TERMINAL

* * * * *

Where Students, Alumni, and Their Friends Get Together to Enjoy the Best of Ice Cream, Toasted
Sandwiches, and Fountain Drinks

Boley's Book Store

HENRY BOLEY, MANAGER

Lexington, Virginia

SPECIAL

Biographies of Lee and Jackson
(Prices on Application)

ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPHS

General Robert E. Lee, size 7x 9, prepaid	$1.50
General Robert E. Lee, size 9x13, prepaid	3.00
Stonewall Jackson, size 7x9, prepaid	1.50
Campus Views, size 7x9, prepaid	1.50

Money Order or Check should accompany order

Virginia Smokeless Coal Company

Exclusive Miners and Shippers of
JEWEL POCAHONTAS COAL

Bluefield, West Virginia

Correspondence from Washington and Lee men about the use of coal either upon large contracts or for domestic consumption can be addressed to anyone of the three officers below. If interested in the technical side ask for special booklet.

Geo. W. St. Clair
Class of 1891

C. R. Brown, Jr.,
Class of 1916

Huston St. Clair
Class of 1922

Professional Directory

This directory is published for the purpose of affording a convenient guide to Washington and Lee alumni of the various professions who may wish to secure reliable correspondents of the same profession to transact business at a distance, or of a special professional character. Alumni of all professions who by reason of specialty or location are in a position to be of service to the alumni of the same profession are invited to place their cards in this directory.

Gibson Witherspoon

Attorney-at-Law

204-208 Lawyers Building
Meridian, Mississippi

Philip P. Gibson

Attorney-at-Law

Marcum and Gibson
First National Bank Building
Huntington, W. Va.

Elwood H. Seal

Seal and Dice

General practice in the courts of the District of Columbia and Federal Departments
Associate Income Tax Specialists
Tower Bldg., Washington, D. C.

William A. Hyman

Counsellor-at-Law

100 William Street
New York

E. C. Caffrey

1909

Court House
Hackensack, N. J.

Carlton D. Dethlefsen

Attorney-at-Law

Suite 916 Nevada Bank Bldg.
14 Montgomery Street
San Francisco, California

Woodruff and Ward

Bruce F. Woodruff, 1916
Wm. A. Ward, Jr., 1930

Attorneys-at-Law

928 Healey Building
Atlanta, Georgia

James R. Caskie

1909

Attorney-at-Law

Peoples Bank Building
Lynchburg, Virginia

John H. Tucker, Jr.

1910

Tucker and Mason

Law Offices
Commercial National Bank Bldg.
Shreveport, Louisiana

Edmund D. Campbell

1918-1922

Attorney-at-Law

Douglass, Obear, Morgan and Campbell

Southern Building
Washington, D. C.

Laurence Claiborne Witten, 1910

General Agent

Department of Southern Ohio
Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company
1507 Union Trust Building, Cincinnati, Ohio

Washington and Lee, Virginia, Cincinnati, Yale, Harvard, Ohio State, Brown, Columbia, Miami, Wisconsin, and Pennsylvania are represented in this Agency. There are usually one or two openings for exceptionally good college men. Applications from Washington and Lee Alumni have the preference.

They tell about an Englishman—

*Who closely scrutinized
His income tax blank
And then sent it back*

With the following notation:

*“I have given the matter careful thought
And have decided not to join
The Income Tax.”*

*Now getting around to cigarettes
There are no ifs ands or buts
About Chesterfield
Two words make everything clear . . .*

They Satisfy

*Chesterfield ... the cigarette that's Milder
Chesterfield ... the cigarette that Tastes Better*

