Transition and Permanence

(THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE)

As I write these words, in the crisp autumnal beauty of the fading November, I seem to see an impenetrable curtain of obscurity fall across the future of Washington and Lee, as of all colleges for men. Let us hope the curtain is down but for a moment.

Not for a minute do I imply that our regular academic work is faltering; and I hope my words will not be taken to mean that we are failing to seek the best adjustments in the way of national service.

On this very day we are signing the contracts with the United States Government by which the Army School for Special Service is to be located on our campus, on a rental basis, to train the continuing flood of officers for duties in connection with morale work. The alumni have already been advised of this development.

It seems probable that the Government will send to the regular colleges certain groups of students, actually enlisted men. Presumably these men will come in fixed units, perhaps on an active status, to pursue for a limited time certain subjects within a restricted curriculum. This idea is excellent; if it should be adopted, the Government for its present need will have the benefit of better trained men, and the men will have made a long stride toward a completed education after the war.

It may come to pass that beyond these fixed units our enrollment will consist of very, very few boys. We hope—and indeed we expect—to keep the institution open always for the regular students, however few.

But what I should like for the alumni to bear in mind is that in this period, when many institutions, like many ancient memorials of scrap, are being melted for fusion into new implements, Washington and Lee must be sustained. Come what may, your Alma Mater must always be sustained.

Of course, when I say sustained I am thinking of much more than the physical or even the organic life of the institution. Naturally our pay rolls must be met and our property must be kept in good order. But there is something more important in the destiny of Washington and Lee than these obvious things. Continuity, if it be the type that means the steady accumulation of enriching traditions and strengthening compulsions, will be of immense significance to the new world. That world, like any other land of our nobler dreams, must draw heavily on all fine things that we have already achieved.

The independence of your Alma Mater will perhaps have a new connotation and a new worthiness. There must be little question that the very processes of total war tend to draw the units of society into the fixed pattern of Governmental authorities. The institution that is devoted to the best principles but is not controlled by the immediate politics can find an even larger opportunity for service.

I hope the sentiments of pure and joyful memories will suggest to the alumni enlarged support for Alma Mater during these critical days. I hope that these sentiments may be enforced by a faith which looks toward the future as confidently as the heart looks backward joyfully.

President

The Army School for Special Service

By AL DARBY, 1943

Most emphatically Washington and Lee will continue its regular work. We are expecting to maintain a student body of reasonable size and we are prepared to offer the essential work of our standard curriculum in addition to specialized courses previously announced for the emergency."

With these words, at a University assembly in Lee Chapel, November 14, President Francis P. Gaines emphasized that Washington and Lee will continue its regular functions when the Army School for Special Service is transferred here December 6, from Fort George Meade, Maryland.

Transfer of the Special Service school is another considerable contribution by Washington and Lee to the war effort. Already at least 1300 of our alumni are in the armed services. Almost two-thirds of the present student body of 650 are in the various reserve units, and the curriculum of the school has been revamped to offer courses pertinent to the war effort.

The new Army school, which was organized last February, has rented certain facilities from the University. Included in the rental agreement are the dormitory, dining hall and Tucker Hall. The new school also will have the right to use Doremus gymnasium from 1 p.m. until 4:45 p.m., and the use of one of the athletic fields in a program "that will not impair the services of these facilities for our own use," according to Dr. Gaines. The agreement, he said, also included "certain minor concessions such as the use of the Student Union basement as a medical center."

Colonel Leon David, commandant of the Fort Meade school, will be in charge here. Under his jurisdiction will be between 200 and 500 commissioned officers. At first there will be between 200 and 300 officers here, but eventually as many as 500 officers will be accommodated on the Washington and Lee campus.

This new addition to the Washington and Lee campus is operated for special service officers of combat units. These officers will be trained for work they will be called upon to do in the field. The instruction periods, which last four to six weeks for each group of officers, will feature methods of directing athletics, recreation, and other aids to welfare and morale of combat units.

The school will bring its own faculty of 21 members from Fort Meade, and gradually will increase it to as many as 50 men. No member of the Washington and Lee faculty will be called upon to instruct in the Army school. The school will keep all records, supervise discipline, and provide mess and recreational requirements for student officers.

Student personnel in the new school is selected for leadership from all sections of the country. Averaging 30 years in age, these students will all have at least the rank of second lieutenant. Glenn Miller, the former orchestra leader, is finishing his instruction at Fort Meade now.

Army officers and civilian personnel, who will serve as instructors, are men of prominence in their fields. Families of the instructors will be with them and will reside in Lexington.

For its classrooms the Army school will have exclusive use of Tucker Hall and also will use four other classrooms, probably in adjoining Robinson Hall.

The Law School, which formerly used Tucker Hall for its classes, will conduct its classes in seminar rooms in the McCormick Library. Army reference books will be placed in what is now the propaganda room of the main library.

Adequate rooming facilities for 143 of the freshmen who are vacating the dormitory by November 28 are available in fraternity houses, which are not filled because of the reduced enrollment of the University. Rooming facilities for the remaining freshmen are being found in private homes.

The University dining hall will probably be converted into a cafeteria with the addition of much government equipment. Some of the 60 enlisted men who will be brought from Fort Meade to carry out routine functions will help with the operation of the cafeteria.

An analogy to the School of Special Service may be drawn from the School of Government now located at the University of Virginia. There, Army officers are learning to govern occupied countries.

The Army school will maintain and promote its own social functions, athletic events and newspaper. Problems arising between the two schools will be ironed out by conference and mutual agreement.

Concerning the new school, Lee Kenna, president of the student body, said: "I feel confident that the student body will find genuine pleasure in extending its hospital-

Campus Comment

By JOE ELLIS, 1943

ALMOST a year has passed since Pearl Harbor, and during that year student life at Washington and Lee has made many changes to adjust itself to the tempo of wartime conditions. But during this time all of those little things which have been such an important part of Washington and Lee—the football games, the dances, the politics, the activities—have been carried on, though in a greatly different fashion.

The students after some understandable delays have at last realized the significant part which they are being called upon to play in the war effort, and today before anything is undertaken on the campus it is tested to see if it meets requirements of Washington and Lee's "All Out for the War Effort" program.

The big news of the fall session, of course, was the announcement two weeks ago that the Army School of Special Service would transfer from Fort Meade to Washington and Lee on December 6. This week, as the nearly 300 freshmen began their exodus from the dorms to fraternity houses and rooming houses around town, as the law library was moved to Payne Hall, and as more and more khaki-clad officers appeared in Lexington to make preparations for the coming of the first class of trainees, the full significance of the important part that Washington and Lee would occupy for the duration was appreciated by the students.

On the weekend of November 20-21—when the Big Blue Generals were closing the season with their brilliant but losing game with Clark Shaughnessy's Maryland Terps—the students and their 319 dates were celebrating with the 1942 edition of Opening Dances. As president of the Cotillion Club, Earl Alverson and Miss Jane Harris, both of Decatur, Alabama, led the Saturday night formal. Holly Smith, class president, led the Sophomore Prom. Music for the two-day set was supplied by the V. M. I. Commanders and Bobby Byrne's orchestra.

The first week in November was climaxed by the Executive Committee's announcement that a total of $6,050.82 had been saved students by its wartime economic program. Part of these savings were direct refunds on Campus Tax subscriptions ($1.50 in war stamps to each of the 546 subscribers) and the rest of the savings were effected through cuts in club initiation fees, dance set subscriptions and the abolition of honorary society keys and dance figure favors for the duration.

But in many respects the first three months of the session have been typically "college." Greater participation than ever before was noted in intramural athletics.

The intramural football season was one of the best ever, largely due to the use of the new Alumni Field. The PiKAs finally came through to win the fraternity title in a close game with the Deltas.

During the week preceding the game with the Wahoos, Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, sponsored a "Beat the Wahoos" program which drummed student spirit to the highest point in recent years. However, this was not the year for Jerry Holstein's fightin' boys to take the Cavaliers, and the game went to Virginia 34 to 7.

Scheduled for production before the beginning of

Notes About Alumni in Service

EMORY MORRIS ABERNATHY, '25, and CHARLES DUFFY BUFORD, '26, are both serving as field supervisors for the American Red Cross with our armed forces. Mr. Buford is stationed in London, England, and has worked at Fort Moultrie, South Carolina, and the Jackson Air Base in Mississippi. Mr. Abernathy has been at Camp Lee, Virginia, since March, 1941, having served previously at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Six Lexington men, four of them Washington and Lee alumni, held their own Homecoming Day in the south Pacific area on October 11, a letter recently received from one of them informs us. The meeting, which took place at an undisclosed point, was attended by Captain Reid White, '19, U.S.A.M.C.; Lieut. Edgar Shannon, '39, U.S.N.; Lieut. Willard King, '38, U.S.N.A.C.; Lieut. William Drewry, '28, U.S.N. General Lloyd Leech and Lieut. Robert Steidtmann of the Marine Corps rounded out the party.

ERIC M. JAMES, '39, is on active duty as a first lieutenant in the Princess Anne Dragoon Guards of the British Imperial Army. In school in Wales at the outbreak of the war, he enlisted as a private in September, 1941, and was commissioned this fall.

RALPH DAVID KIRCHER, '39, is now serving as a lieutenant with the United States Army Corps of Engineers in Australia. He enlisted in the Army in Melbourne, on March 12 of this year, after a narrow escape from the Japanese invasion of Batavia, Java.

LIEUT. BAYARD S. BERGHAUS, U.S.M.C., class of '41, received a severe shrapnel wound during the fighting on

THE ALUMNI OFFICE is pleased to announce that a new service is being established to enable alumni to keep in touch with friends and classmates in the armed forces of the nation. This office, acting on a suggestion made by an alumnus, has secured permission from the Office of Censorship to forward mail to alumni in service.

As of the date of publication of this issue, we have 1307 alumni listed in the armed forces. In almost every case, we have either a permanent forwarding address or the current service address for these men. Any letter addressed to alumni in service in care of this office's Servicemen's File will be forwarded. Although this office cannot assume responsibility for this mail because of the highly impermanent nature of some of these addresses, we will make every effort to see that such mail reaches the addressee.

Guadalcanal Island in the South Pacific war area, and has been removed to a station hospital out of the zone of immediate combat. Lieut. Berghaus is reported to be in good condition.

LT. CLAUDE C. DUNN, '41, ranked second in his class of 2,000 when he was graduated from the Army Air Force officers candidate school in Miami Beach, Florida, September 16. During his training period, he was elected commander of Wing I by his mates in the school. He is now stationed at Daniel Field in Augusta, Georgia, where he is commanding officer in charge of a training squadron.

ENSIGN HENRY THOMAS MARTIN, '41, reported missing by the Navy after the sinking of the U.S.S. Quincy, has been officially reported safe, it was learned recently.

WILLIAM BRADFORD DUNSON, '42, ranked first in a large class at the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School in Athens, Georgia, when he was graduated from there recently. Following his graduation from basic military, academic and physical training at Athens, he was transferred to the Naval Reserve Air Base at Dallas, Texas, for primary flight training. Brad was a member of Phi Delta Theta while in school, and was president of the 1942 Finals dance set.

LIEUTENANT THOMAS BROOKES SKINNER, '37, Army Air Force is one of the first men in the country to graduate as a glider pilot. He graduated last month before schedule from the South Plains Army Flying School in Lubbock, Texas. On December 3, Lieut. Skinner broadcast from the school, with Dorothy Lamour, on Bing Crosby's Kraft Music Hall over a national NBC hook-up.

Additions to List of Alumni in Service

As of November 28, 1942

NOTE: This list of 306 alumni in service comprises the third published addition to the list of Washington and Lee men in service published in the May, 1942, Magazine. Washington and Lee now has 1307 men listed in the armed forces.

In compliance with the military and naval authorities, we have refrained from giving information about service men save their class and branch of service, and indicating whether or not they are commissioned officers. However, the Alumni Office is vitally interested in other pertinent data, such as actual rank, station, permanent home address, or other address from which mail will be forwarded, special activities, type of service or training, etc.

It is our policy to keep as close a connection as possible with our alumni in this time of stress, and any information concerning alumni in service will be greatly appreciated by this office.

In the listing below, certain symbols have been used to conserve space. These symbols, and their meaning, are as follows:

Professor George S. Jackson, managing editor of the Alumni Magazine since October, 1939, has been commissioned a lieutenant in the United States Naval Reserve, and is now taking indoctrination training at the Naval Air Station at Quonset Point, Rhode Island. Mary Barclay and Paul B. (Jerry) Shamhart, Jr., '45, of the Alumni Office, are attempting to carry on his work as managing editors of the Magazine. Lieutenant Jackson has been an assistant professor of English at Washington and Lee since 1931, and was coach of the varsity debate team. The work for which he is training will be with the Air Combat Intelligence staff of the Navy.

Students Enlist in Reserves

RECENTLY tabulated figures show that 358 students—just 71 less than two-thirds of the University student body—have enlisted in one of the several reserve programs, having decided that they will be better able to serve their country by sticking behind the books until graduation. This provides “an excellent record which the University can examine with pride,” states a recent issue of the Ring-tum Phi, student paper.

Records of student enlistments (to November 24) show that 53 undergraduates are now in the Army Air Force Reserve, with 15 still in the process of getting their papers in order. There are 150 students in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps, whose examining board visited the campus early in November. The Marine Corps has enlisted 40 men, and the Naval Reserve about 100. Professors Johnson, Moger, and Paxton are campus representatives of the Navy, Army and Marine Corps, respectively.

Summary of 1942 Football Season

By DICK HOUSKA, 1943

LOOKING back on Washington and Lee's 1942 football record most observers would be inclined to rank it as one of the worst in the school's gridiron history and as far as the won and lost columns in the record books go, they would probably be right.

However, those who were fortunate enough to see the Generals in action, especially in the season finale against Maryland, know that Coach Jerry Holstein and the 30-odd men who worked with him deserve a great deal of respect and credit for playing out an extremely tough schedule under every possible disadvantage.

The performance of the Generals under the difficulties they faced won editorial recognition on the pages of The Roanoke Times with a tribute of "Hats Off to the Generals" not for their record of one win against eight losses, but for the determined spirit with which they squared off against every foe on the slate regardless of the odds against them.

The fighting spirit which characterized Washington and Lee this season rose to its heights against the Clark Shaughnessy-coached Maryland team, which held a 20-point lead over the Generals at the end of the first quarter. Staging one of the greatest comebacks any team ever has in College Park, the Big Blue, sparked by reserve halfback Dave Russell, rolled up 28 points and was threatening a dazed and unnerved Terp team through the air as the final whistle sounded. That blast of scoring failed to top the 32-point total of Maryland, and another near victory became another loss on the record.

Just what the season's result might have been if the gallant Generals hadn't been nipped at the outset by a pair of aerial bombs from the hands of Mountaineers that gave West Virginia a 21-7 victory in the opening game, no one knows. But that setback plus some three thousand miles of traveling, most of it in day coaches, combined to balance the scales in favor of Kentucky and Rollins, and to provide W. and L. with three losses and a host of injuries.

Returning to their own backyard, the Blue ran and passed a scrappy Hampden-Sydney team into the Wilson Field turf for their lone win of the season and that by a 20 to 13 score which might have been doubled save for penalties. "Lighthorse" Harry Lee Harner provided most of that afternoon's thrills as he galloped 50 yards to a touchdown, returning a Tiger punt, and passed 28 yards to Ray Norman in the end zone for another score.

Virginia Tech snagged their victory from the Generals much the same way West Virginia did as they fired a pair of "way down the field" passes to nullify Washington and Lee's continually threatening offense and won by a 19 to 6 count.

Injuries robbed the Generals of a win over an underrated Richmond team and raucous Wahoos, blessed with a sure-eyed passer, spoiled Homecoming by an amazing 34 to 7 score. Tossin' Tabb Gillette was the Wahoo wonder boy as he set a national record for completed passes—23 out of 35.

Even this failed to keep the Big Blue team from staging near upsets against Davidson and Maryland. They scored 41 points in these two final games, losing the first by a 21-13 count and barely being edged by the Terps 32 to 28.

Reconciling the Generals' record this season with the manner in which they played is rather hard. Averaging 9.6 points per game and using a passing attack that netted over 125 yards in each contest would normally give any team more than one victory. Yet with this as their average Washington and Lee holds only a lone win.

Such factors as the loss of three members of Coach Jerry Holstein's staff, the lack of adequate blocking and tackling dummies, long trips to many games, injuries such as those incurred in the Kentucky game and the absence of a fullback all hampered the team this season.

However, if football is played at Washington and Lee in 1943, alumni can look forward to seeing the fruits of a "T" formation offense run by men who have a year of bitter experience behind them. Now known as the "fighting Generals," next season may bring the addition of "winning" to that title.

With the football season over and the opening of basketball and wrestling scant weeks away, Washington and Lee lacks a cage coach for the unusual array of court material on tap for this season. Headed by Captain Leo Signaigo, lettermen Harry Baugher, George Wood, Leon Harris, Jack Roehl, Clancy Ballenger and Bill Bryan await the first call for practice. Sophomores sure to see plenty of action after coming up from a race-horse Brigadier quintet last year are Harry Harner, Dick Working and Ray Norman—all three as dangerous on the court as on the football field.

At present the W. and L. basketball slate lists 15 games with the majority being conference and "Big Six" foes.

The future of basketball will depend largely on the rulings of the athletic committee which meets during the first week in December, at which time the problem of a coach and the time of practice (since army service school men will be using the gymnasium during the afternoon) will be decided.

Cy Young Called to Washington

NEWs of the departure of Harry K. (Cy) Young, Alumni Secretary for the last twelve years, for duties with the Office of Censorship in Washington, will be received with genuine regret by Washington and Lee Alumni everywhere.

Leaving Lexington on brief notice only two days in advance of the meeting of the Alumni Board of Trustees held on November 7, "Cy" submitted a written report, expressing his deep appreciation for the cooperation and support received from Alumni generally and from the University Board of Trustees, the Administration and Faculty during his service as Alumni Secretary.

Temporarily, Miss Mary Barclay, who has acted as his secretary, was placed in charge of the Alumni office and will be assisted as heretofore by Jerry Shamhart and Bob Boucher, students at the University. A meeting of the Alumni Board of Trustees is to be called in the immediate future to consider further continuance of the work of the Alumni office.

On behalf of the officers and members of the Alumni Board of Trustees and for the Alumni as a whole, I desire to record full recognition of the unswerving loyalty, industry and devotion which "Cy" has always shown in connection with Alumni affairs, and to extend to him every possible good wish for success in his new duties.

ity to the Army school and that all of us are looking forward with the keenest anticipation to a very enjoyable and beneficial association."

In explaining the new school, Dr. Gaines stated: "The University has sustained its existence through every war in which our nation has been engaged. We have full confidence that throughout this mighty struggle to save our country, Washington and Lee will continue to perform its immemorial task, will continue to make effective its purposes and its allegiances."

R. C. Maddux, '26, Promoted

R. C. MADDUX, B.S., '26, vice-president of radio station WOR in Newark, New Jersey, was elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Bamberger Broadcasting Service, Inc., operators of WOR, at a recent meeting of the board. Mr. Maddux joined the WOR staff in December, 1940, as director of sales and was appointed a vice-president a year later. After leaving Washington and Lee, he attended the Harvard Business School. Before joining WOR in 1940, he held several posts in the advertising and sales fields and was managing director of the New Jersey Council for Industrial Development.

Local Alumni Chapter Notes

Washington

WASHINGTON AND LEE Alumni of Richmond, Virginia, held a dinner meeting at Ewart's Cafe on the evening of October 30. Dr. Walter Flick represented the University. At this meeting Judge Carlton E. Jewett was elected president of the chapter.

Charlotte

CAROLINA alumni held an informal dinner meeting in the Gold Room of the William R. Barrington Hotel in Charlotte, North Carolina, on the evening of November 13, prior to the Washington and Lee-Davidson game on the following day. The wives of alumni, the football squad, coach and managers, were guests of the occasion.

John L. Crist, '13, presided, and short talks were made by Larry Wilson, '10, Don Hostetter, '32, Tom Glasgow, '12, and R. M. ("Student") Frew, '23. Coach Jerry Holstein, '33, introduced each member of the team with fitting remarks.

Christmas holidays, which were not lengthened as had been expected because of the transportation problem, is the Troubadours' revival of "Ten Nights in a Barroom." This old melodrama of tearful children and rum-soaked fathers is expected to play before packed houses in the Troub Theatre.

Walt Browder's first issue of The Southern Collegian indicated that the campus quarterly had at last received a much needed blood transfusion. Full of cartoons and jokes and sporting a completely different makeup, the fall issue was just what the students wanted.

NOTES FROM ALL OVER: On October 21 ODK tapped 17 students and five alumni in its first fall pledging service . . . The administration revealed that a "June in January" graduation exercise would be held for the 52 seniors and law students who were able to complete degree requirements by attending summer school . . . Bates Bryan, Chattanooga, Tennessee, was elected vice-president of the student body to fill the vacancy left when Felix Smart entered the armed forces . . . 563 students signed to have their pictures included in Al Darby's 1943 Calyx . . . The Ring-tum Phi appeared in a new six-column tabloid size . . . the Campus Charity Chest reached its goal of $2,000 after a highly successful ten-day drive . . . 177 freshmen are going through pledge training programs of the 17 social fraternities remaining on the campus . . . The Interfraternity Audit System was retained by the Interfraternity Council as a necessary insurance for standardized fraternity accounting . . . from now on, weekends will be spent in Lexington, it seems. Only three or four of the once great fleet of automobiles are still seen whipping around the town, and these will soon be rationing casualties as well.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of this article was too modest to mention the recent election of seven members of the January, 1943 class, to Phi Beta Kappa, being one of the electees himself. The candidates elected, to be initiated December 15, are Walter R. Browder, Richard E. Cook, Joseph F. Ellis, Jr., D. E. Garretson, Albert D. Tull, N. F. Wyatt, and Edwin A. Zelnicker, Jr.)

Political Activities of Alumni

Among Washington and Lee alumni elected (or defeated) in elections held November 3, 1942 were:

JOHN W. FLANNAGAN, JR., LL.B., '07, Democrat, reelected to House of Representatives from ninth district of Virginia.

CLIFTON A. WOODRUM, '09, Democrat, reelected to House of Representatives from the sixth district of Virginia.

CHAPMAN REVERCOMB, '18, Republican, elected as United States Senator from West Virginia.

WILLIAM H. SMATHERS, '14, Democrat, defeated for reelection to United States Senate from New Jersey.

JARED Y. SANDERS, JR., '16, Democrat, defeated for reelection to House of Representatives in the Democratic Primary, sixth district, Louisiana. He thus retires from Congress at the end of this year.

FADJO CRAVENS, LL.B., '20, Democrat, reelected to the House of Representatives from the fourth district, Arkansas.

JOHN C. MORRISON, LL.B., '25, elected to the House of Representatives from Charleston district, West Virginia.

JAMES KAY THOMAS, LL.B., '26, was elected Attorney-General of the State of West Virginia, despite the fact that he is now serving as a Captain in the Army Air Corps.

In Memoriam

TALBOT J. BARTLETTE, M.A., one of the "Lee boys," died at his home in Pasadena, California, on March 12, 1942, at the age of 95. Mr. Bartlette was an honor student of the University during the presidency of General Robert E. Lee, and one of his most treasured possessions was a letter from General Lee to his family, commending Bartlette's work as a student. He had been retired since 1938, having served for many years as the manager of the New Orleans Credit Men's Association in that city.

1876

DR. WILLIAM E. DOLD, retired New York physician, died at his home in Charlottesville, Virginia, on November 9, aged 85 years. Dr. Dold was a valued and loyal alumnus of Washington and Lee.

1878

DR. NATHANIEL PALMER PRATT, former president of Georgia Tech, died September 15, 1942, at the age of 84. Dr. Pratt was the discoverer of the Pratt process for manufacturing sulphuric acid, which was used so extensively by the United States and Great Britain during the First World War. His achievements in developing a high-grade soluble phosphoric acid from tricalcium phosphate resulted in the organization of several plants to develop deposits of this mineral, which has been the foundation of the national fertilizer industry. Dr. Pratt served as president of the Georgia School of Technology for a brief time in 1922, and was for many years an officer and member of the board of trustees of that school. He founded the N. P. Pratt Laboratory of Georgia.

CHARLES J. CROCKETT, JR., B.S., met sudden death on September 24, when the train on which he was traveling to Washington was wrecked in Dickerson, Maryland. This information reached the Alumni Office too late for publication in the last issue of the Alumni Magazine.

Charlie had been an executive of the Aetna Life Insurance Company since 1927, and served as a field supervisor, working from Philadelphia.

CYRUS R. COTTON died at home in Houston, Texas, on September 27, 1942. This advice reached the Alumni Office too late for publication in the October issue. Mr. Cotton was the vice-president of the Commercial Iron Works in Houston.

Service Casualties

SAMUEL TIPTON JONES, JR., was killed in an airplane crash on October 22 while training at Moore Field, Texas, just eighteen days before he was to be awarded his Army Wings. Lieut. Jones was given full military honors at his funeral in Sweetwater, Tennessee, his home.

Sam, a Kappa Sigma here at Washington and Lee, lost his life when the plane which he was flying hit the tail of another plane; Army Air Force sources stated that his efforts to save his plane kept him in the cockpit until he was only a hundred feet above the ground, too short a fall for his attempted parachute jump to be successful.

ROBERT A. KEMP was killed in action with the United States Army Air Force in a British war area early this fall. He was a radio operator on an American bomber. While in school, Bob made quite a name for himself as captain of the varsity wrestling squad, and as a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. His home town of Shamokin, Pennsylvania, doing dual honor to an athlete and a soldier, named the new Shamokin high school stadium the Robert A. Kemp Memorial Stadium.

DR. W. J. HUMPHREYS, B.A., '86, C.E. '88, Sc.D., '42, Washington and Lee, Ph.D. Johns-Hopkins, is the author of Ways of the Weather (The Jaques Cattell Press, Lancaster, Pennsylvania).

While the weather is the most common of all topics, none shows a greater or more regrettable lack of knowledge than that which prevails universally about it. This simple, yet comprehensive, study of weather will afford every reader the general and specific knowledge for which he has sought. Dr. Humphreys' energetic style, his distinct manner of expression, and his sparkling humor have combined to make this an unusual volume.

FREEMAN HANSFORD HART, B.A., '12, has recently published his book, The Valley of Virginia in the American Revolution (The University of North Carolina Press).

Dr. Hart paints the scene of life in the Valley during the Revolution with the utmost fidelity and uses for its colors, the words of the settlers themselves, extracted from old diaries and other papers. One marvels at the amount of research he put into the volume.

Marriages and Births

OUR heartiest congratulations to the happy couples in recent weddings:

1935

LIEUT. JAMES DOUGLAS FINLEY, II, U.S.C.G.R., to Miss Frances Marie Johnson in Norfolk on October 3, 1942. They are living at present in Norfolk, Lieut. Finley being attached to the Captain of the Port's office there.

1936

LIEUTENANT PRICE MORGAN DAVIS, JR., A.A.F., to Miss Margaret Kable Russell on October 28, 1942, in Miami Beach, Florida.

1937

CAPTAIN GEORGE TODD CROWELL, A.A.F., to Miss Eyvonne Dumond, October 12, 1942, in Tocoma, Washington.

LIEUT. FRANCIS PENDLETON GAINES, JR., A.U.S., to Miss Dorothy Ruth Bloomhardt in Washington, D. C., on October 10, 1942.

JOHN LEE HAWKINS, II, to Miss Mildred Chelyan Huffman, in Charleston, West Virginia on October 23, 1942.

LIEUT. EDWARD EMERSON BROWN, JR., A.U.S., to Miss Esther Sanford Allen in Fort Sill, Oklahoma on November 6, 1942.

FRANKLIN SCOTT SMITHER to Miss Mary Martha Lough on October 10, 1942. They will make their home in Terre Haute, Indiana.

LIEUTENANT JAMES HUGHSON WILLIS, A.U.S., to Miss Anne Faulkner Booth on November 2, 1942, in Danville, Virginia.

LIEUT. JAMES R. McCONNELL, A.A.F., to Miss Patricia Palmer on October 3, 1942. They may be reached through Box 345, Randolph Field, Texas, where Lieut. McConnell is a flying instructor.

CAPTAIN RALPH EDWARD KEEHN, A.A.F., to Miss Kathryn Sanford, Hollins, '42, in Washington, D. C., on July 18, 1942. Captain Keehn is a member of General Arnold's program planning staff at Army Air Force headquarters in Washington.

LIEUT. GEORGE MACGREGOR MURRAY, JR., A.A.F., to Miss Dorothy Lytle in Highland Park, Illinois, on September 26, 1942.

ENSIGN FELIX GARRETT SMART, JR., U.S.N.R., to Miss Isabelle Lane Cutting in Fort Smith, Arkansas on October 17, 1942.

LIEUTENANT WILLIAM HUNTER OSWALD, A.A.F., to Miss Jean A. Nutt on October 24, 1942, at Valdosta, Georgia. Lieutenant Oswald was then in flight training for the Army, and was commissioned on November 10 in Valdosta.

PROF. AND MRS. OLLINGER CRENSHAW, a son, Albert Buford, on October 4, in Jackson Memorial Hospital, Lexington, Virginia.

1939

MR. AND MRS. DONALD B. HOUGHTON, a son, Bruce Thomson, on October 22, 1942.

Dr. Shields, '98, Returns From China

DR. RANDOLPH T. SHIELDS, '98, B.A., who has been a medical missionary in China since 1904, returning to this country in August on the Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm. He and his wife are now visiting relatives in Lexington. For the past twenty-five years he has been stationed at the Cheeloo University School of Medicine at Tsinan.

Word has been received by Dr. Shields that his son, Randolph T. Shields, Jr., '32, B.A., captain in the Army Medical Corps, has reached his destination overseas, presumably China.

WILLIAM LEE SHANNON, '41, has been teaching and coaching athletics at Shelbyville High School this year. He has been assisting at the Shannon Funeral Service; is Assistant Scout Master and is very active in Boy Scout organization work in Shelbyville and is a leader in the salvage program through the scouts. Present classification is 4-F. He plans to take a defense job this summer.

Class Notes

ROBERT A. WATSON, Charlottesville, Virginia, is chairman of his local draft board and busy with other war activities. His son is a First Lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

L. R. HOLMES, Furness, Withy and Company, Ltd., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, being in the shipping business, is talking very little about what he is doing. Sufficient to say he is very busy and has plenty of trouble.

We wish to apologize for any errors in the class notes appearing in this issue. The letters from which these notes are taken were written, for the most part, early last spring. The rapid influx of alumni into the several branches of the armed forces of the United States and the recent elections, have no doubt rendered some of these notes inaccurate.

JUDGE WALTER J. RIDDICK practiced law in Little Rock, Arkansas, after leaving Washington and Lee, until his appointment to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in December, 1941.

E. W. KELLY is with the Central Insurance Agency, Inc., Bristol, Virginia. He has a married daughter and a son eighteen years old.

HENRY C. TILLMAN, after returning from World War I with the title of Major, resumed the practice of law in Greenwood, South Carolina; was elected judge of the Circuit Court at Greenwood in 1922 and served until 1926, when he moved to Florida, taking up the practice in Tampa. He has served as state senator and county attorney. He is now a member of the Tampa Utility Board and a member of the law firm of Tillman and Henderson.

JAMES R. ("JIMMIE") CASKIE is a member of the law firm of Caskie, Frost and Watts, Lynchburg, Virginia, his home town. His activities outside his practice are taken up with the Presbyterian Church, of which he is an elder; Washington and Lee, as a member of the University Board of Trustees; and golf, in which he says he continues as an "enthusiastic duffer, enjoying the society and exercise, but taking no prizes."

DONALD W. M. MACCLUER is pastor of the Rose City Park Community Church, Portland, Oregon. He is familiar with the Pacific War Zone, having traveled extensively in that part of the world.

W. L. LORD is head of the department of Mathematics, Woodberry Forest School, Woodberry Forest, Virginia. He has enjoyed studying and giving his Math boys a bit of navigation, which he thought might be useful to them if they have to cross the Pacific.

ERNEST L. BEALE is practicing law in Franklin, Virginia. He has three grown sons, two of whom went to Washington and Lee; Vaughan, B.A., '36, LL.B., '39, is now with the FBI, and Ernest, Jr., '38, is in the army; Jack, who went to V. P. I., is also in the army.

R. C. MILLING is a member of the law firm of Milling, Godchaux, Saal and Milling, Whitney Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

EARL K. PAXTON says he always thinks of the Class of 1908 as being made up of presidential timber because he remembers "Mike" Denny handing out diplomas to Grover Cleveland Gabriel, Thomas Jefferson Hale, and George Washington Effinger. Earl was recently elected president of the Rockbridge Historical Society.

PEYTON HOBSON is practicing law in Pikeville, Kentucky. His oldest son, Peyton, III, graduated from Annapolis in December, and has been at sea most of the time since his graduation.

W. G. LONG, SR., is in the private practice of law at

Paul's Valley, Oklahoma, with his son, W. G., Jr., who is also an alumnus of Washington and Lee. W. G., Sr., (writing May 8, 1942) says he is a candidate for district judge. He says: "I have always thought, and do yet, that 'Daddy' Burks was one of the greatest, if not the greatest, law teacher that this country has ever produced. Of course he failed on some of his students who became politicians instead of lawyers, and that includes you and me."

R. P. ASHLEY is vice-president of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, with administrative duties in connection with the management of the New England business. He says his family is now grown up and he is a grandfather, although he feels no older than he did "when playing tennis with Rube Gwathney or boxing with Tod Robbins." His older boy is teaching English at Colby Junior College, the younger is a plebe at the United States Naval Academy.

ROBERT W. RUSSELL is practicing law in Rustburg, Virginia. He says the general disorder which has attacked all of our institutions reminds him of the janitor of old New London Academy who said that Washington was dead, Lincoln was dead, and great men were dying every day, and he felt kinda bad himself.

ROGER WINBORNE is in the furniture business in Lenoir, North Carolina. He says: "I feel that I owe a great deal to Washington and Lee, far more than I can ever repay. What I learned from books could have been learned anywhere, but the campus, the stately old buildings, the chapel, and the tomb of Lee, the honor system, and the men who were and are attracted by these things, are its exclusive possessions. Together they create an atmosphere, a soil, in which I believe great manhood and true Americanism is nurtured, as it is in only a few other places in America. And this University is ours."

1912

DR. FRANK R. RUFF is with the Burnett Sanitarium, Fresno, California. His three children are all in college this fall.

DR. ROBERT C. HOOD, JR., formerly director of Maternal and Child Health with the Florida State Board of Health, Jacksonville, has changed his address to 3260

Wilson Boulevard, The Doctors Building, Arlington, Virginia.

PAUL A. ROCKWELL is a major in the Army Air Corps. He served with the French Foreign Legion in World War I. He has a daughter and two sons, and two grandchildren.

BEN F. FIERY, Baker, Hostetler and Patterson, Union Commerce Building, Cleveland, Ohio, says: "We are indeed in a changing world, but to me there are two places in this country that I hope will still retain their inspiring traditions, and those are West Point and Washington and Lee. To me each of them has an atmosphere and an inspiration which is priceless and can never be replaced if it is ever lost."

HOWARD L. ROBINSON, in addition to practicing law in the Union National Bank Building, Clarksburg, West Virginia, is now farming and says it beats golf and any other relaxation he has ever tried with a view of relieving strenuous work in the practice of law.

WILLIAM A. HYMAN graduated with the class of '12, although he entered with the class of '13. He is practicing law at 111 Fulton Street, New York.

WILLIAM H. NEBLETT is now a colonel with the United States Army in Australia. His 20-year old son is a flying instructor.

SAM WILLIAMS is a member of the law firm of Williams, Robertson and Sackett, Lynchburg, Virginia. One of his partners is in the service and he is carrying on the best he can with his numerous outside duties, and serving as special assistant to the attorney general of the United States as hearing officer in conscientious objector appeals.

KENNON C. WHITTLE is practicing law in Martinsville, Virginia. Two of his partners, William F. Stone and Hannibal N. Joyce are both Washington and Lee men. Stone is now in the United States Navy. Kennon has three children: his daughter, Mary, graduated at Holton-Arms School, Washington, in June, and the sons, Stafford G. and Kennon C., Jr., are doing preparatory work toward entering Washington and Lee.

J. W. MILNER is still doing business at the old stand as far as Coca-Cola is concerned; serving his eighteenth year as mayor of the city of Gulfport, Mississippi; and has taken over the additional responsibility of running a military high school with three hundred and eighty boys.

LEON W. HARRIS, Anderson, South Carolina, is busy with the practice of law and looking after his farming interests. When his letter was written in April, he was trying to get back in the service. He was a member of the A.E.F. during the last world war and since that time has been in the reserve corps, Judge Advocate General's Department, U. S. Army. He is making application for active duty. His son, Leon W., Jr., is a member of the student body. Mr. Harris was a recent visitor to the campus.

WILLIAM H. OAST was for twenty-five years senior member of the law firm of Oast, Oast and Oast, being associated in the practice with his brothers, J. Alden and Edward L., both graduates of Washington and Lee. He recently withdrew from the firm to take the judgeship of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Courts and the Civil and Police Court of the City of Portsmouth, Virginia.

WALTER C. PRESTON is a chemist with the Procter and Gamble Company, Cincinnati, Ohio. His residence address is 3901 Clifton Avenue, Cincinnati.

J. CARL FISHER gives his address as 208 Witherspoon Road, Homeland, Baltimore, Maryland, but no news of himself.

DR. T. PRESTON WHITE is unit director of the 38th Evacuation Hospital Unit and is a Lieutenant-Colonel in the United States Army Medical Corps. His family is in Lexington for the duration.

R. BRUCE MORRISON is in the insurance business in Lexington, Virginia.

CHARLIE McNITT, M.D., writing in April, says: "Having joined F.D.R.'s old men who had to register on April 27, I am now one of those who only 'stand and wait.' While standing I try to engage my attention in running a practice; doing some teaching at Columbia Medical School and training the ubiquitous 'First Aiders.'" His address is 130 East 67th Street, New York.

R. M. BEAR is still engaged in the engineering of the Navy's aircraft propellers, and says he is kept plenty busy in these tumultuous days. His address is 1401 Fairmont Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

JOHN C. BLOCKER is practicing law in St. Petersburg, Florida. He is county attorney for Pinellas County and city attorney for Safety Harbor. He is married and has three daughters.

GLEN EVINS is still with the Lykes Brothers Insurance Agency in Tampa, Florida, where he has been for the past seventeen years. He has built a new home, right on one of the best golf courses, which is very satisfactory.

ED G. ("BIG BILL") BAILEY has been working for "Uncle FHA" for some time, but hopes he will get a kick at the Japs before this war is over. He says the lady he works for has had him dig a "Victory Garden" in the backyard and he now has two blistered hands and the new work shoes have given him two blistered heels.

HENRY BAKER is manager of Cold Rolled Sales, Sharon Steel Corporation, Sharon, Pennsylvania. He does not give any news of himself.

C. G. GORDON MOSS says that at Martha Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia, they are busy rushing girls through college—"apparently so they can marry our soldiers before they leave for parts unknown."

HARVEY ENLOE, JR., is still with the Social Security Board as administrative officer, having supervision of several offices located in Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. His residence is at 214 Malaya Avenue, Hollywood, Birmingham, Alabama. He has a family of four girls and a boy, who will enter Washington and Lee in 1956.

BILL RUSHTON is a major in the United States Army.

E. B. BEATTY has been practicing law at Beattyville, Kentucky, since he left the portals of Tucker Hall. He is in partnership with his brother, V. S. Beatty, '07. The Judge is quite active in civic and fraternal affairs too, and his offices and honors in these activities make an imposing array: Past Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis, Kentucky-Tennessee District; presently Grand Senior Warden, Grand Lodge of Kentucky, F&AM, and in line for Grand Master; presently Grand Patron, Order of the Eastern Star in Kentucky; and presently chairman for Lee County for the American Red Cross and for the sale of war bonds and stamps. Small wonder the Judge hasn't had the time to marry. But he indicates a feeling that he should get around to that while he is still a young man. Applications will be considered in order of receipt if mailed to him, care Beatty and Beatty, Beattyville, Kentucky.

FADJO CRAVENS is our only representative in the halls of Congress, so far as is known to your agent. He has represented the Fourth Arkansas District here since 1939, and is a member of the Judiciary Committee. Fadjo is married, has two children, and lives, while in Washington, at 4735 Woodway Lane, N.W.

GARLAND GRAY served in the Senate of Virginia during the past session. He was elected to fill the unexpired term of Senator Robert W. Daniel, deceased, of Brandon, Virginia.

WILFRED WEBB is still teaching at Augusta Military Academy, Fort Defiance, Virginia.

VERBON E. KEMP is executive secretary of the Virginia Chamber of Commerce, which organization recently held its annual meeting and elected Dr. Huston St. Clair, of Tazewell, also of the Class of '22, its president. Dr. Gaines was the toastmaster at the banquet held on that occasion.

MATTHEW CAMPBELL GIVENS HENDERSON has been promoted from a captain to a major of the 391st Armored F.A. Battalion.

A. F. ("AL") PIEROTTI is teaching English and Italian at the Chelsea High School, Chelsea, Massachusetts, besides coaching the baseball team. His address is 270 Beach Street, Revere, Massachusetts.

F. L. SATTES is employed by the Belle Alkali Company, a chemical plant engaged in the manufacture of heavy chemicals, which by the way, supplies you with drinking water sterilization. He has a family of three very charming daughters. His address is P. O. Box 1371, Charleston, West Virginia.

FRANK HURT is assistant professor of History and Political Science in Western Maryland College, Westminster, Maryland. His home address is Ferrum, Virginia.

ED AULL makes an annual summer pilgrimage to the campus, where his many friends are delighted to see him. For the past three years he has been Boys' Advisor and head of the History department of Phillips High School, Birmingham, Alabama.

THOMAS P. DUNCAN, 311-64 Street, Newport News, Virginia, is now the owner of a 1400 acre hunting place known as Puritan Island, where Pocahontas officially saved John Smith's life. He is married and has been engaged in manufacturing various articles, and has recently made a military invention which has apparently been used by the United Nations with success.

STUART A. McCORKLE, last summer, was granted a leave of absence from the University of Texas, where he holds the positions of professor of government and director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, in order to permit him to serve as Visiting Educational Counsellor to the National Institute of Public Affairs in Washington, D. C. He expected to enter the service of the U. S. Army Air Corps on June 1st, in the management and control division with the rank of colonel.

OTIS HOWE is very busy with his saw mill and large farming operations at Wabash, Arkansas. He has a wife and two sons now eight and twelve years old.

REV. BRUCE F. GANNAWAY, Class Agent for '25-A, wrote a digest of the letters he received from members of his class, sending each one of them a mimeographed copy. We are using his notes. He says:

"Speaking for myself, I've been returned to this appointment for my third year, and we are having a fine time. People seem to be realizing more in these times that there is a real need for religion. I hope I can be of some help to them. We have a membership of a little over 500, and about 70 young men have gone from our church families into the service. They are scattered all over the world. One has been lost on the U.S.S. Truxton. We have put our building fund money into defense bonds, and are contented to wait until after the war to put up our new plant. Now for some news about the class of 1925."

JOHN S. STRAHORN, JR., is teaching in the University of Maryland Law School. He has followed with a great deal of interest, the accelerated wartime program of Washington and Lee, inasmuch as he is caught up in the toils of a similar situation.

PETE MITCHELL, National City Bank of New York, San Paulo, Brazil, has been in Brazil for the past fifteen years. On October 29, 1930, he married Miss Ada Mae Peyton, and they have a daughter, Elizabeth Ann, who will be 10 (or rather was, on September 18.) Pete carries the title of sub-manager. He has gained 38 pounds, and says that his hair is gray rather than brown, and practically gone.

"Bo" McMILLAN writes from Athens, Tennessee, where he is agent for the East Tennessee and Western North Carolina Motor Transportation Company. Bo is still very active in civic affairs. I know he is married and has a family, but since he did not return the blank, I can't give the details.

HERMAN WOMELDORF, Bayview, Virginia, is pastor of the Holmes Presbyterian Church. He received his B.D. from Union in 1930. On June 17, 1937, he married Miss Ruth Neal Walker. (Herman, we both started preaching in 1930, and batched for 7 years—how did we do it?) They now have two children, Ann Neal, who was 3 on August 4, and Herman, Jr., who was born May 15, 1942. Herman is 10 pounds heavier than he was, and his hair has begun to turn.

JOHN WISDOM is a captain in the Army Air Force, so he will be away from his law practice in New Orleans for the duration.

C. T. ALTFATHER, Rankin Avenue, Baskin Ridge, New Jersey, married Miss Elizabeth Bonham on July 16, 1927. They have two daughters: Elizabeth Jean, born November 25, 1931, and Constance, born October 31, 1934. Alt is relay engineer for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and says his appearance and weight have not changed.

VERNON KREINBAUM writes a brief note. He is still at Emporia, Virginia, and we suppose is still in the lumber business. We believe he has two daughters, but Vernon didn't return the blank, so you'll have to guess.

STEWART P. WALKER, Broad and 14th, Augusta, Georgia, is vice-president and manager of Walker and duPont Motor Company. He has picked up 35 pounds, and is slightly gray. On October 12, 1935, he married Miss Eleanor Gerecke, and they have two sons, Stewart, Jr., nearly 4, and Louis G., between 2 and 3.

JOE HOLT, 635 Malvern Road, Ardmore, Pennsylvania, is senior attorney, Registration Division, U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission. On April 6, 1935, he married Miss Julia Deat Beury, and they have two sons, Joseph, Jr., born April 16, 1936, and John B., born April 8, 1939.

WM. B. MACK, Fort Mill, South Carolina, received his LL.B. at Cumberland in 1932, and is now practicing law. He married Miss Elizabeth Mills on July 13, 1930, and they have a son, Barron Bayles, who was 8 on September 19. Bill has gained 20 pounds, but hard work and worry have not yet marred his raven locks.

KEN GOODE, Box 6119, Cleveland, Ohio, is secretary to the assistant to the president of the C. and O. Railroad. Ken will celebrate his fifth wedding anniversary on November 27. He married Miss Dorothy Ethel Stanton. They have a daughter Geraldine Lee, born December 29, 1938. Ken says that outside of 10 additional pounds, he has not changed.

G. T. DAVIS is still with the International Business Machine Corporation as manager of their Moline office. His address is 503-5th Avenue Building, Moline, Illinois.

J. T. ("JACK") LOWE is judge of the County Court of Tunica County, Mississippi. He is Class Agent for '27-A.

WILLIAM J. LURIA gives his residence address as 1901 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, but gives no personal news. His firm is Luria Brothers and Company, Inc., Lincoln-Liberty Building, Philadelphia.

ROGER J. HALLER is completing his fourteenth year with the duPont Company, eleven of which have been spent in Waynesboro, Virginia. He has been married nine years and has a three and one-half year old daughter.

IRWIN T. SANDERS, Class Agent for '29, wrote a digest of the letters he received from members of his class, sending each one of them a mimeographed copy. We are using his notes.

ROBERT B. LEE, assistant comptroller, Bankers Trust Company, 16 Wall Street, New York: "There is no news to report in my own case. I am still associated with the Bankers Trust Company, where I came after graduation, and up to this time have not gone off in the army. I maintain a small home in the suburbs with a wife and one child. Reading our Alumni News is a source of real enjoyment to me, and I wish that it were possible for me to keep in touch with our classmates, but I am able to see very few of them."

FINLEY WADDELL is in the insurance business in Lexington, Virginia. He is married and has two small children.

HENRY P. JOHNSTON has just wound up two years on the code committee that makes recommendations and writes all the code operations for radio stations over the entire country. There are seven men on this board from seven different states. Henry is vice-president and general manager of WSGN, The News Age-Herald Station, Birmingham, Alabama.

O. NORRIS SMITH, M.D., has been commissioned a major in the medical corps as a member of the 65th General Hospital Unit, sponsored by the Duke Hospital. He was recently elected a Fellow of the American College of Physicians. He says "Young Henry Louis, II, is thriving as is his grandfather."

JAMES LANDON RULES: "To begin with, my address has only recently been changed from Hobart, Oklahoma, to Box 468, Muskogee, Oklahoma. I lived on the west side of this state for thirty-five years and now I hope to live on the east side for that many. At the end of that time I should know which side I like the better and will then try to settle down for the remainder of my days.

"It was with interest that I noted the change which is to take place at Washington and Lee as a result of the war. Apparently it is the only thing for the school officials to do, but I cannot help wondering just what is to become of the men (and women) in the teaching profession. They seem to be taken advantage of more than any other group, yet it is to them that we ordinary citizens look when our children's education is considered. It would probably be difficult to get most of us to do two or three months extra work, or forego a planned vacation of one sort or another, but we do not hesitate to ask our teachers to do so. In other words. I think it reflects a fine attitude on the part of the professors and the school to make the change that is to be made. Of course, these are not ordinary times."

FRANK BEADY has been married nine years and has a daughter in the second grade at school. Has his own Ford brokerage business in New York and commutes daily from Philadelphia to New York. His residence address is 58 West Upsal Street, Philadelphia.

JOHN O. McNEEL, M.D., was in the University of Virginia Hospital until last May, when he entered the service as a major with the Army Medical Corps.

JAMES HOGUE ("TOBY") TYLER, III, has been practicing law in Norfolk, Virginia, since leaving school. For three years he served as assistant commonwealth's attorney for the City of Norfolk, and is at present a member of the State Legislature. He was married in 1936, and has two children—both girls.

EDWIN W. CHITTUM is principal of the Middlebrook High School, Middlebrook, Virginia, where he has been for the past four years.

HOMER G. RAY, JR., is vice-president of the Georgia Peanut Company, Moultrie, Georgia.

THORNTON BERRY is prosecuting attorney of McDowell County, Welch, West Virginia. Reports that his two assistants in the office are both Washington and Lee graduates.

FOSTER PALMER is first reference assistant in the Harvard College library. He is a member of the Faculty Club of Harvard.

WILLIAM J. MORAN, JR., is a research chemist in the laboratories of Merck and Company, Incorporated, at Rahway, N. J. He was married June 15, 1940, to Harriet M. Ritter and their residence address is 10 Madison Avenue, Cranford, N. J. He is also working toward his Ph.D. in Chemistry at Brooklyn Polytechnic.

RALPH EDWARD LEHR is with the National Bank of Commerce, San Antonio, Texas. His home address is 119 Paseo Encinal, San Antonio, Texas.

GEORGE BIGGER KERR is working as a claims investigator for Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in Boston. His permanent address is Cherry Hill Road, Parsippany, New Jersey.

LOUIS S. SCHULTZ, B.A., '40, member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, was serving as a first lieutenant with the Philippine Scouts at the time of the final surrender, and is now, presumably, a prisoner of war.

ERNEST WOODWARD, II, home on his first furlough since joining the Army, after taking his bar examination, was admitted to practice before the Kentucky Court of Appeals. He was introduced to the court by his father, Ernest M. Woodward.

DON BUCK has been in the Army since February, '41. He can't say where he is except that "it's bleak, barren, and windswept (official U. S. Army permissible description.)"

ART CARMAN is terminal manager of the Gowanda Union Bus Terminal, operated by the Greyhound Lines, Buffalo and Erie Coach Company, West Ridge Lines, Inc., and Edward Motor Transit Company. Also he is the Travel Bureau manager handling airlines, steamship, bus and sightseeing tours for all parts of the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Gowanda is 32 miles south of Buffalo, New York.
